RED RIVER RAGING.

A Rapid Rise and an Ice Shove Carry Away an Immense Bridge.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 19.—Toward the end of last week the ice on the Red River began to give signs of breaking up. By Sunday last clear water was to be seen from Broadway Bridge down to the foot of McWilliam street. While the news of the high flood at Fargo and the carrying away of the Emerson Bridge were exciting public attention, citizens were congratulating themselves that the river was going to empty itself without causing a loss of property on its banks, nor yet occasioning alarm for the safety of the bridges. It was hard to see how people here should have believed that Winnipeg was to escape scot free when the river had to bear the floods on the upper stream and all the contribufions of streams between.

THE NOTE OF ALARM.

That the fancied security of the city was only fancied was made abundantly evident to-day when about 1.15 p.m. Broadway Bridge was seen to surge and sway and then plunge down the river upon the breast of the current, travelling fully six miles an hour. Tht water had been rising steadily all night, and when the field of ice became disengaged it had risen about three feet above the level reached yesterday afternoon. The river was still many feet below the high flood mark, but it may be said to have been above the usual height at which the ice is broken up. About one o'clock traffic on the bridge was light. and when the descending ice came abreast of the iron piers there was no one on the second span from the St. Boniface shore, and only one rancher on the bridge driving his ox and Red River cart loaded with flour. The gatekeeper said to a reporter that at the time mentioned the ice came tumbling and plunging down the river, and struck the piers,

THE CRASH.

The arch seemed to sway back and forth for a few moments, then it toppled over on the top of the pack, upon whose surface it was carried down the river as if its weight were no greater than a wool sack instead of scores of tons of iron. When the rancher saw the arch disappear before his eyes he stopped dead short, and good, careful man, began immediately to unhitch his ox. He hastened back to the Winnipeg shore, leaving his cart to its fate, but though the loss of the arch temporarily relieved the structure it did not save it. The ice became momentarily more threatening, and soon the timbers of the piles protecting the swing were heard creaking, and on-lookers feared that the ice would crunch them into matchwood, but the pier is solidly packed with stone, and the ice meeting with solid resistance swung round, and floating round gradually, worked itself though the open space, but it was not before some huge blocks had been lifted over the pier and pressed against the caissons upon which the swing's apparatus rests. A few minutes after the first arch gave away another heavy pack of ice hove in sight and swung round the bend of the river, decending ominously and exactly upon the third span. Nearer and nearer it came and disaster was assured before the pack hurled against the caissons.

THIRD SPAN CARRIED AWAY.

For a moment or two it seemed as if the work of man would defy the power of nature, but it was only for a moment. The ice came crashing down in the river in the rear, and piled upon the first span, which trembled, swayed, and, as it were, made one effort to repel the assailing forces, then collapsed, falling upon the field of ice, which bore off its prey upon its back. The first span disappeared round the bend, with the second in hot pursuit, but the people standing at the foot of McWilliam street saw only one span pass there, so it is supposed that the other slipped off the ice and lies at the bottom of the river near the shipyards. The workmanship of the superstructure must have been excellent because though the mass fell a distance of about twenty-five feet, it seemed to sustain no damage. The ice sank under its burden until there was only about a foot of ironwork above the water.

DAZZLING SCENE.

The river both above and below the bridge is a magnificent and dazzling sight, for the whole three hundred yards of its breadth is one seething mass of ice, boiling, twisting and writhing in most fantastic shapes. Here and there the floes become jammed, and the decending rush of ice behind piles an immense block weighing many tons on the top of others, great blocks meet and grind each other into pieces, and floating logs are driven out of the water and landed high and dry upon the ice. The ice is not more than two feet thick, and the under ridges are honeycombed, while the upper surface looks as smooth and hard as flint. The bright sunshine striking upon the blocks make them glisten with all the prismatic hues of the diamond. The river banks are thronged with spectators enjoying the grand sight. The work was constructed by the Cleveland Iron Company under the superintendence of Mr. Deans, and consisted of six spans and was about 900 feet long. The piers were iron, caissons piled and filled with cement, a kind of pier which elsewhere has been found strong enough to withstand all strains. The bridge has not been open for traffic one week.

THE LOUISE BRIDGE DAMAGED.

OPENING OF THE CAR WINDOW.

The Experience a Gallant Man Goes Through in the Effort.

Maybe a man feels happy and proud and flattered, and envied and blessed among men when he sees a pretty girl trying to raise a window on a railway car, and he jumps up and gets in ahead of the other boys and says "allow me?" oh, so courteously, and she says "if you please; I would be so glad," and the other male passengers turn green with envy, and he leans over the back of the seat and tackles the window in a knowing way with one hand, if preadventure he may toss it airily, with a simple turn of the wrist, but it kind of holds on, and he takes hold of it with both hands, but is sort of dosen't let go to any alarming extent, then he pounds it with his fists, but it only seemps to seetle a "leetle closer into place," and then he curses and gets into the seat to give him a fair chance, and he tackles that window and bows up his back and tugs and tugs and pulls and sweats and strains and his hat comes off, and his suspenders loosen and his vest buckle parts, and people laugh, and irreverent young men in remote seats grunt and groan every time he lifts, and cry out "Now, then, altogether," as if in mockery, and he bursts his collar at the forward button, and the pretty young, lady, vexed at having been made so conspicuous, says, in her iciest manner, "Oh, never mind, thank you; it dosen't make any difference," and then calmly goes away and sits down in another seat, and that wearied man gathers himself together and reads a book upside down—oh, dosen't he feel good, just? Maybe he isn't happy, but if you think he isn't don't be fool enough to extend any of your sympathy. He doesen't want it.

HOW people do change, to be sure. There are the Pingreys, for instance. This morning, when he left home, instead of a kiss, Martha threw a fire-shovel.

LADIES ARE THE BEST JUDGES.—On all matters connected with the toilet. They have decided that sozodont is what they will have. "When a woman will, she will, you may depend on't; and when she wont, she wont, so there's an end on't.' This accounts for the popularity of sozodont.

DR. VINNEDGE has been expelled from the Indiana medical society. He has for many years been the foremost physician in Tippecanoe county, and still remains so; but he committed the crime against professional ethics of advertising a prescription and refused to say he was sorry.

POPULAR DEMAND.—The great superiority of Downs' Elixir, over all other cough remedies, is attested by the immense" popular demand for that old established remedy" for the cure of Coughs, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the throat, Chest and Lungs.

THE new material known as leatherette is being brought into use in numerous mechanical and ornamental applications. It is so perfect an imitation of leather that people are utterly unaware that thty are handling something other than leather itself, and its serviceable nature renders the detection still more difficult. For all uses to which it has been applied, the article is said to have proved nearly, if not quite, equal in serviceableness to natural leather.

GOV. D. W. MR. KNOWLES relates in the Nineteenth Century, in connection with the protest against the channel tunnel, that the French engineer to whom Marshal McMahon had given the order to blow up the Vosges tunnel thought that it was "not necessary immediately to destroy such finely constructed works," and did not execute the order at once. The consequence was that the Germans seized the tunnel and got possession of the line, and the capitulation of Sedan followed.

The following is the common sense treatment for a horse out of condition (in fact all horses require like treatment this time of year) a good Purging Ball followed by a course of strong tonic powder. These are both to be had in Zock's Tonic Compound and Blood Mixture, as each package contains a thoroughly good purging ball and over a pound of strong Tonic Powder. Ask your druggist about it.

In the month of April almost everyone requires a good and reliable Blood Purifier. We know of none so safe and effectual as Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They act directly on all the secretions, their purgative action carrying off all impurities from the system, they invigorate the Liver and Kinneys, purify the Stomach, cleanse the Bowels, and give strength and tone to the whole system. Try a course of this valuable, safe and reliable vegetable preparation, Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urniary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Pretty Nearly Correct.

An exchange thus moralizes on the 19th century custom of reading a neighbor's paper in preference to subscribing for one:—There is a certain amount of satisfaction that a publisher realizes when he finds out that some people are so fond of his paper that they tramp out regularly to some store or house where they know the paper is subscribed for and swallow its contents with surprising rapacity. Every publisher knows this is done, and he also knows those same newspaper spongers are the ones who find the most faults with a paper's contents. To sponge a meal and then growl about its qualities, is not a bit worse than the actions of these penurious critics.

Shade Trees.

We observe it is becoming quite customary in many cities and towns throughout the Dominion as well as the neighbouring states, to set apart a special day for tree planting. No better time than the present could be selected for this purpose, and we would strongly urge upon our fellow townsmen to take the opportunity of beautifying our otherwise pretty town. There is probably nothing that takes the eye of the stranger quicker than to see the streets on each side thickly lined with fine maples or beeches. In some places the councils give the trees provided the citizens plant them, and perhaps if such was done here for a year or two it might give the planting an impetus.

Streets and Bridges.

We notice by our exchanges that the members of the Street and Bridge Committies of many of the towns in the Province are on the warpath for the purpose of inspecting the condition of the streets, sidewalks, etc. Our Council have not yet appointed the day, and we would advise them to do so at an early date, as at this season they can review the town better than at any other season, particularly, as regards bad crossings, or overflowed culverts, and drains, and defective sidewalks, of which they will find many in all portions of the town. As the Council meets on Monday night, we expect that some of the members will bring this matter up.

The Weather.

The weather continues miserable, the sky is overcast and threatening, the streets muddy and April showers prevalent. Last night was exceedingly dark and dismal, a drizzling rain helping to make it uncomfortable for those who had business outside. The outlook according to the probabilities is far better. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a.m. today, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes—Fresh to strong north-westerly winds, cool clearing weather to-day. Fine and warmer weather to-morrow, with easterly winds.

Draughts.

The Herd Laddie, the champion draught player of the world, is at present at Belleville. He has played some fifty games, winning all but one, which was drawn. He lost more games here than in any other place in Canada, as far as we have noticed.

Lacrosse.

The Lindsay Lacrosse Club is now fully organized. Mr. Joseph Joyal, one of the best players of the Peterborough Club, has been elected Captain. The club made a good selection, as "Joe" fully understands the game.

Old Friends.

The celebrated Kennedy family of Scottish vocalists are playing to crowded houses in Winnipeg. There are Scotchmen even there who can appreciate the fine songs of their native land.

Arrived.

The Millbrook excursion train arrived in Winnipeg on Friday night, after being ten days on the road. The party had a few mishaps but everything considered the trip was a good one.

Messrs. Moss, Q. C., and J. Burnham for plaintiff, and Messrs. Blake, Q. C., and Dennistoun and Hall for defendant.

HILLIARD VS. THURSTON.

An action brought by Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M. P., to recover the amount of loss sustained by him, by the burning of his sawmill, etc., at Fenelon Falls, caused as is alleged by the negligence of defendant in not providing proper appliances for preventing sparks from flying from the smokestack of his steamer. The case is in progress as we go to press. A large number of experts, steamboat men, engineers, etc., are witnesses.

Messrs. Blake, Q.C., and Smith and Peck for plaintiff, and Messrs. Moss, Q.C., and Huspeth, Q.C., for defendant.

Millinery.

The reputation of Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co., for the genuine quality of their goods, and for the taste displayed in their selection is too well established for many words on the subject to be necessary. In preparation for the spring season they have opened a stock of bonnet, hats, mantles and the thousand and one other articles of feminine adornment, till their millinery show rooms present a sight so attractive that it should been seen by all interested in such matters. So choice and varied a display would well repay a visit if merely of inspection, but we warn the fair visitors that they could hardly escape becoming purchasers also. Their chief difficulty will probably be fix their choice amid so many conflicting attractions.

Railway Time Table.

On and after the 1st of April, trains will arrive and depart from the Union Station as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY TRAINS DEPART at 7 and 10.10 a.m., 12.05, 4.45, 6.45 and 7.40 p.m.

ARRIVE at 8.25 and 11.50 a.m., 6.20, 9.00 and 9.55,

GRAND JUNCTION TRAINS DEPART at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

ARRIVE at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.

Travellers should note the fact that those who leave Peterborough at 4.45 o'clock p.m. cannot get through to Port Hope any quicker than if they do not leave here until 6.45 p.m. Those who do not desire to remain in Port Hope to wait for the express going east, on the Grand Trunk, can leave here at 7.40 and arrive at Port Hope in time to catch it.

Carworks.

And now Belleville is agitating for the construction of carworks in that city. The Intelligencer says that a scheme for the establishment of carworks in the city is now being matured. Already $60,000 worth of stock has been promised, and several of the best men in the city are identified with it. A contract for the construction of 400 cars has been promised. The arrangements are being quietly but energetically made, and there is every reason for regarding the scheme hopefully—especially as it is in good hands. Surely there must be something in a carworks factory when so many places are agitating for their erection.

Hospitable.

Regarding the recent meeting here of the Woman's Foreign Missianary Society, a correspondent of the Lindsay Post says:—

"The Peterborough people, so long known for their courtesy and generous hospitality to strangers, so noticeable by visitors, fairly outdid themselves in showing the most cordial and friendly attentions to the visitors attending the mission. This is the first occasion this society has met outside the city of Toronto, except on one occasion when they met in Hamilton."

Sentenced.

The Intelligencer says that Daniel Fox and Edward Dayton, who burglarized Casement's hardware store, Madoc, on the 11th inst., were sentenced at noon on Thursday by Judge Lazier. Fox (who was found inside the store) received one year in Central Prison, and Dayton nine months. The men were both well satisfied with their punishment, and well they might be, for it was very lenient.

Ministerial.

The Norwood Register says that the Rev. Mr. Bennett, of Peterborough, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last and after the service, formally declared the presbyterian congregations of Norwood and Hastings separated and without pastors. At a meeting of the congregation, held immediately after the close of the service, it was decided to give the Rev. Mr. James a call.

Railway Notes.

A meeting of the various officials of the Midland Railway, including the Superintendents of the various Divisions, Roadmasters, etc., is in progress to-day at the Head Office.

Sign boards for the convenience of strangers are to be placed at the Union Station, pointing out the various stations to which the trains run.

Educational Sermons.

The education sermons in connection with the Methodist Church of this town will be preached next Sabbath morning in Charlotte Street Church and evening in George Street Church by the Rev. S. S. Nelles, D. D., L. L. D., President of Victoria University, Cobourg.

Their First Duty.

Mr. John Foote, Secretery of the East Durham Agricultural Society, a gentleman identified with the reform party, says: "It was my opinion for some time previous to 1878 that Mr. Mackenzie would not return to power unless he adopted some measure of relief to the agricultural and manufacturing classes. I believe it to be the duty of all Governments to foster and protect home industries and home productions."

FEAR NOT.—All kidney and urinary complaints, especially Bright's Disease, Diabetes and liver troubles Hop Bitters will surely and lastingly cure. Cases exactly like your own have been cured in your own neighborhood, and you can find reliable proof at home of what Hop Bitters has and can do.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. It will cure croup in a few minutes. A few bottles has often cured asthma. Colic has been cured by a teaspoonful dose. It cures with the utmost rapidity. It is really a wonderful medicine.

NINE PHYSICIANS OUTDONE.—It is generally considered a pertty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will conclusively prove where nine were completely outdone. Mrs. Helen Pharviz, 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., was treated for Consumption by nine physicians, and all pronounced her case incurable. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones please drop her a postal and convince yourselves. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

THE CONTENTED MAN,
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1882.

WILL THEY TELL US?

WE have heard, and no doubt will hear a good deal about the increased taxation which has been imposed upon the necessaries of life, and consequently upon the poor man, by the present tariff, and as a consequence we should esteem it a special favour if some of our anti-N.P. friends would come down to hard-pan and give us a list of the "necessaries of life" to which they refer. So far all we have been able to learn on this point is that tea is not a "necessary of life." Will they give us the desired information.

THE TRUE LIBERALS.

The Toronto World, a Reform journal says:—"It is something important to learn what Sir Charles Tupper stated in committee the other day, that the Dominion Government has considered the question of taking the telegraph business into its own hands. But he added that were this to be done the government would rather put up new wires of its own than buy out existing lines at company prices. The government had the right to do so in the public interest, still he let it be understood that under certain restrictions the companies might be allowed to go on without immediate prospect of the government being in the field against them as a competitor. Mr. Mackenzie, we regret to observe, threw ridicule on the idea of the government doing anything for the people in this matter. We are safe to say, most emphatically, that Mr. Mackenzie's view is not the true liberal view of this question. What the people are going to demand is that the government must and shall make it its business to protect them from the exactions of railway, telegraph, express and gas companies, and all such corporations. If government ownership be too great a jump for us to take all at once, the question of control by act of parliament and government supervision together will at least have to come to the front immediately. We may well ask whither are political parties drifting. A tory leader declares that the government holds in reserve its power, which may one day be exercised, of at once emancipating the people from the tyranny of telegraph companies. A liberal leader ridicules any such attempt, and takes the side of the corporations against the people. There is something wrong about this kind of liberalism; it will not do for the people."

Their First Duty.

Mr. John Foote, Secretery of the East Durham Agricultural Society, a gentleman identified with the reform party, says: "It was my opinion for some time previous to 1878 that Mr. Mackenzie would not return to power unless he adopted some measure of relief to the agricultural and manufacturing classes. I believe it to be the duty of all Governments to foster and protect home industries and home productions."

AN OFFER SPURNED.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Herald's Philadelphia despatch states that James Mantrop, who has been imprisoned on the complaint of Peter Hevenar, the discoverer of the Cochet claim, yesterday said that half of the claim was divided into ten-twentieths and the shares purchased by a few men. The whole trick was to sell the stock at the best figure and to get out. Most of us knew it was a fraud and swindle. An attempt was made to approach Blaine, even with stock to a large amount, but it failed miserably. The man who made the offer was insulted on the spot and almost kicked out of the Secretary's presence. I was the man. Minister Hurlburt was offered stock to my certain knowledge, but he spurned the offer indignantly. A large number of others were afterwards supplied with stock.

INDIANS ON THE WAR PATH.

TUCSON, Texas, April 22.—Rumours from Eagle Creek say McMaster and six Mexicans were killed there by a large force of Indians. A party from Safforo says at Eagle Creek yesterday three prospectors were killed. Their bodies were warm when the troops came up. The Indians destroyed the freight, shot some of the horses, and carried others off. They also tried to fire the waggons. Later news says that ten Mexicans were killed at Eagle Creek, including McMaster's wife and children. An Indian herder was captured but escaped. He says that Newland and his wife and McMurren and others were killed. A San Carlos special says the Chiricahuas made a raid there after the Lucos band, killing twenty-people as far as heard from. There are not sufficient troops to protect the place. General Sheridan telegraphs that the troops in Arizona are strong enough to cope with the Indians.

THE WOMEN'S ADDRESS TO THE QUEEN.

Presented to the Gov.-General, to be Forwarded to Her Majesty.

We mentioned a few days ago that a deputation of ladies had waited on His Excellency the Governor-General during his recent visit to Montreal for the purpose of presenting him with the address of the women of Canada to Her Majesty the Queen, with a request that he should forward it. The following address was read:—

May it please your Excellency:

In respectfully requesting your Excellency to transmit our address to Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, we would beg leave to state the following facts: That though over 50,000 names have been collected the correct number attached to the address is 45,000. Several books have been lost in transmit, others came too late for insertion, and some are yet due, but every Province in the Dominion is represented, not alone by the wealthy and great, but the poor and lowly, without distinction of position or creed. From ocean to ocean, over a distance of 3,000 miles, through forest and plains, the welcome address has travelled and has been readily signed by willing hands. A few had their names written for them; these were chiefly among our early settlers, but the education has made such rapid progress of late years in our Dominion that it would be rare to find a young girl unable so sign her own name. None under 15 signed the address. A great similarity will be noticed amongst the French signitures; this I believe, results from a convent education; certainly they carry off the palm in neatness and regularity. We much regret carelessness, blots, &c.; this it was really impossible to avoid, indeed some pages are worn from the natural curiosity of a sex to look over the names, in closing, we wish to say had time permitted and convenience granted us an approach to every home in our Dominion, we would have had more than 100,000 signatures, for our name is legion in love and loyalty to the best Queen that the world has ever seen. As the work connected with this address has been strictly confined to our own sex, we fondly hoped that her Royal Highness the Princess Louise would have been here to receive it from our hands. We deeply deplore the cause of her absence, and trust that a kind Providence will restore her in renewed health to Your Excellency and our Dominion.

Signed on behalf of the women of the Dominion of Canada.

MRS. F. W. BLAIRLOCK.

His Excellency, in a few graceful remarks, thanked the ladies for the address, and said that he would at once forward it to Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise with a request that she will present it to Her Majesty.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

CAMPBELLFORD.

APPOINTMENT OF A CONSTABLE.—The Herald says that about as judicious a step as any made by the Village Council, was that which called for a special meeting on Thursday last, the business being the appointment of a regular constable for the village. The "peeler" engaged is Mr. Saylor, Madoc, who is not a novice in police movements, and who it is said, has the physique for extinguishing the light of those characters who are so desirous of gaining notoriety as pugilists. Mr. Saylor will recieve a salary of $300 per year, together with such fees as are allowed a constable for every arrest. He will commence his duties on the first of May. Anything more needful just at the present time could not be named, and we are glad that the interested Reeve and councillors have put the matter into a practical shape. The expenditure which may be required in protecting the good name of a municipality if it ever had one, should it be five times that which has been voted, should be cheerfully made by a Council, and as cheerfully borne by the people.

TEMPORARY RESIGNATION OF THE MINISTRY.—Consequent upon a defect in hearing, the Rev. R. B. Denike, of the M. E. Church, Campbellford, has found ministerial labor so arduous, that he has docided to leave the ministry for a period and seek medical treatment.

RATHER DIFFERENT.—Four years ago, this week, one of the residents of Campbellford, had potatoes whose tops were six inches high, growing in the garden. There is quite a contrast between the weather of the two seasons.

BUSINESS.—Occasional extra trains, bearing freight, make their appearance on the Midland, running over this division.

BONE BROKEN.—Mrs. Peter Meiklejohn who resides near the boundary line between Seymour and Rawdon townships, fell in her house, on Sunday last, and broke a bone of the hip. The unfortunate lady was attending to her duties about the household at the time of the accident. The fracture is said to be of a serious character.

IMPORTED STALLION "AUTOCRAT."—Messrs. J. Douglas, of Percy, and D. Johnston, of Seymour, have purchased a thorough-bred Imported Clydesdale Stallion, from Mr. Beith, of Bowmanville. The price paid was about $2,000. The animal is a dark brown, and weighs over 18000 pounds. This will afford the farmers of this locality a fine opportunity of improving their stock.

THOROUGH-BRED CATTLE AND SHEEP.—Mr. D. Johnston, of Seymour township, lately purchased four head of thorough-bred cattle, and a number of South Down Sheep, from a breeder in the neighborhood of Guelph.

OUR POPULATION.—After completing his assessments the Assessor, Jas. M. LeVesconte Esq., finds that the population of Campbellford is sixteen hundred. This is an increase over last year, according to the Dominion census, of last spring, of about 472, the population at that time having been given as 1,418.

LINDSAY.

PERSONAL.—The Post says that there called at that office on Wednesday Caroline Johnston, a near relative of Sir Walter Scott, her mother having been a direct cousin of the author. Her father, Thos. Johnston, was for many years butler to the Duke of Buccleuch. Miss Johnston came to this country in 1850 with her parents, but the latter shortly died after their arrival. Miss Johnston received a paralytic stroke in her fourth year, by which her left hand and side were rendered useless and she had to depend on the charity of her friends and the public for a living. She has a small house on the boundary of Eldon and Thorah, where she lives in the winter, and in the summer she goes from place to place through the country. She has done this for years and the contributions thus received go to her maintenance. She is now in her fifty-third year. She bears a strong resemblance to her distinguished relatives. Rev. David Watson of Beaverton is a warm friend, and she speaks gratefully of his many kindnesses and of the kind deeds of others. We commend her as one deserving assistance. This worthy woman ought indeed to be placed above want by a small sustentation fund, and we have no doubt one could be raised if the case were properly presented.

GOOD FOR TRADE.—The advantage resulting from the new time-table of the Midland have been strikingly demonstrated on the last two Saturdays. The streets have been thronged all day, the several trains arriving in the morning from nine to eleven being crowded with passengers, who come in from the radius to which the Saturday half-fare arrangement applies. Merchants did a very large business, and as the people have all day—until five and seven in the evening—to make purchases, it goes without saying that all the stores did a thriving trade. We may add that the railway authorities have been anxious to do all in their power to facilitate this plan as it gives them a considerable item of traffic. Conductors have been furnished with the half-fare tickets for way-stations, so that people getting on there will be at no disadvantage on account of there being no agent at the place. The Saturday half-fare system has been extended to the Nippissing section from the Junction to Coboconk, so that people in that part of the north riding desiring to visit Lindsay on Saturday can do so at the reduced rate.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A subscriber writes: On Thursday, 29th March, Wm. Down, eldest son of Thomas Down, formerly of Somerville, was killed by a tree falling on him. He and his father were engaged in chopping a fallow when the sad accident occurred. Mr. Down and family have the sympathy of the community. Mr. Down is very much respected.

GASWORKS.—Mr. Pearson of the Toronto gas works was in town on Friday, and together with our local capitalists interested in the gas supply for Lindsay, visited the several localities which had been selected as available for the purposes in view. That property almost at the corner of William and Wellington-sts. was purchased, and thereon will be erected the gas house, gasometer, purifiers, storehouse, etc.

ACCIDENT.—A little boy named Charles Henderson, son of John Henderson of Makin's foundry, had his arm broken when returning from school the other day. He was playing along the way when he tripped, falling on his arm and breaking one of the bones between the wrist and the elbow. He had the other bone in the same arm broken an inch or so lower a month ago.

THE DREDGE.—The dredge mentioned last week as the government dredge is the property of Mr. Alex. Ross, contractor. It was sent down the river on Wednesday to go to work on the cut or canal near Groose lake. Mr. Ross will be at work there during the season with about ten hands.

DISAPPOINTED MEN.

MR. DRINKWATER, secretary of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, writes to the Witness contradicting some misrepresentation of that journal. At the end of his letter he says:—

"These regulations have been framed expressly in the interest of the actual settler, and the report of the Land Commissioner is to the effect that they gave entire satisfaction.

"They do not perhaps suit the speculator, who has no idea of settling upon or cultivating the land, but then it was never intended they should."

The company is doing its best to promote settlement. The dissatisfaction expressed with the regulations, exists only in the minds of disappointed speculators and disappointed politicians.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

ON Thursday the Bill authorising the construction of the Canada Pacific Railway, through some other pass than the Yellow Head Pass, was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Costigan, in a very able and temperate speech moved the following resolution concerning the condition of Ireland:—

"That an humble address be presented to the Queen's most excellent Majesty in the following words:—"Most gracious sovereign,—We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled, desire most earnestly in our own name, and on behalf of the people whom we represent, to renew the expression of our unswerving loyalty and devotion to your Majesty's person and Government. (1) We have observed, may it please your Majesty, with feelings of profound regret and concern, the distress and discontent which have prevailed for some time among your Majesty's subjects in Ireland. (2) We would respectfully represent to your Majesty that your Irish subjects in the Dominion of Canada are among the most loyal, most prosperous, and most contented of your Majesty's subjects. (3) We would further respectfully represent to your Majesty that the Dominion of Canada, while offering the greatest advantage and attractions for these of our fellow-subjects who may desire to make their homes amonst us, does not receive that proportion of emigrants from Ireland which might reasonably be expected, and that this is due in a great measure in the case of many of our Irish fellow-subjects who have sought foreign homes to their feelings of estrangement towards the Imperial Government. (4) We would further most respectfully represent to your Majesty that in the interest of this your loyal Dominion, and of the entire Empire, it is extremely to be desired that your Majesty may not be deprived in the development of your Majesty's possessions on this continent of the valuable aid of those of your Majesty's Irish subjects who may feel disposed to leave their native land to seek more prosperous homes. (5) We desire respectfully to suggest to your Majesty that Canada and its inhabitants have prospered exceedingly under the federal system, allowing to each province of the Dominion considerable power of self-government, and would venture to express the hope that, if consistent with the integrity and well-being of the empire, and if the rights and status of the minority are fully protected and secured, some means may be found to meet the expressed desire of so many of your Irish subjects in that regard, so that Ireland may become a source of strength to your Majesty's empire, and that your Majesty's Irish subjects at home and abroad may feel the same pride in the greatness of your Majesty's Empire, the same veneration for the justice of your Majesty's rule, and the same devotion to and affection for our common flag, which are now felt by all classes of your Majesty's loyal subjects in this Dominion. (6) We would further express the hope that the time has come when your Majesty's clemency may, without injury to the interests of the United Kingdom, be extended to those persons who are now in prison in Ireland, charged with political offences only, and the inestimable blessing of personal liberty be restored to them. We pray that the blessings of your Majesty's reign may for your people's sake be long continued.'"

Mr. Blake sneered at the resolution for not being strong enough. After a long speech however he said he would vote for them.

Sir John Macdonald supported the resolutions and defended Mr. Costigan from Mr. Blake's criticism, as too strong language would only defeat their object. He contrasted the two speeeches, Mr. Costigan being solely actuated by the hope of benefitting Ireland, while Mr. Blake was attempting to make political capital.

Several other members spoke, all in favour of the motion, Mr. Anglin among them, differing from the leader of his party by saying that he did not wish the resolutions to be any stronger, so that no one could object to them.

The resolutions were carried and Sir John Macdonald undertook that they should be laid at once before the Senate for their concurrence.

The House then went into Committee of Supply and passed several items.

SURROUNDED BY ICEBERGS.

The Awful Perils Through which the Steamer Hermod Passed.

The Danish steamship Hermod, under command of Captain Hein, arrived on Wednesday from Havre, seventeen days out, after a most perilous and adventurous passage. The vessel was laden with merchandise and consigned to Funch, Edye & Co. About 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the 8th inst., while in latitude 46.30, longitude 46.50, a heavy snow storm began and large fields of drift ice were discovered on the starboard. Though the vessel's course was changed and they steered almost directly south, the ice drifted toward them very rapidly, and when night began to fall they were surrounded. The weather cleared away somewhat, and through the snowflakes they could see that the steamer had got into an opening in the ice, which stretched away on all sides as far as they could see. In the storm and darkness it was impossible to get out. The engines were stopped, and the steamer lay idly waiting for daybreak, while neither captain nor crew knew what moment the field might come together and crush the vessel to pieces. The boats were got ready and all the moment that the field began to close. When day dawned they saw a little space of clear water to the south. The vessel had not room to turn around where it was, and only a narrow strait led to the open space. With great care they steered through this and luckily reached the clear water. At noon a strong gale sprang up and the ice began to move. The swells were very large and the whole field heaved up and down occasionally approaching dangerously near them. The vessel steamed along, keeping time with the movement of the ice so as to retain its position in the little lake. During the day a leak was sprung and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon water was discovered in the forehold. All the pumps were worked, notwithstanding which the water steadily gained, and when darkness came on the water had reached between the deck. All hands were put at work on the cargo and 150 tons of goods, mostly beams, were thrown overboard. The gale increased with the darkness, while the ice slowly drifted towards the vessel from all sides and began to wedge againt her sides. The crew passed the night

PREPARED TO DISEMBARK

STANDING BY THE BOATS,

ready to launch them at a moment's notice, and expecting the notice at every moment. When morning dawned the vessel lay in one vast ice field on which hundreds of seals where at play, while at little distances immense icebergs towered away above the masts. Some of them were over 1,000 feet long, while the meanest of them reached upward of 500 and 600 feet. Shortly after dawn the vessel floated, though much by the head. The free ocean was seen a short distance to the south-west. The sails were set and they attempted several times to cut their way through the densely-packed intervening ice, but without success. The dangerous position of the vessel, with her bow lying so deep in the water, rendered their progress very slow. The screw was broken and they drifted along with the ice. About 10 o'clock the field began to separate and the bergs drifted rapidly away to the south, leaving the "Hermod" at last clear of ice on the open sea. A new danger now

THREATENED THE VESSEL.

The water in the forehold soon crushed and drifted the cargo, while the pumps, though ever at work, only kept the water at a standstill. The bulkhead to the main hold was strengthened, and the Hermod was steered for New York, the high westerly winds preventing their reaching Halifax, whither the vessel was bound. A heavy cross sea succeeded the long swell and the leaks gained on the pumps. A sail was spread over the bow to prevent the in-rush of water, but the sea tore it to pieces several times and at length washed it away. The boats were still kept ready, for it was feared that the main bulkhead might burst suddenly, which would very shortly send the vessel to the bottom. With this momentary peril beneath their feet they steamed along for 1,100 miles, with westerly gales for the first four days succeeded by fine weather. Captain Hein says the ship was saved only by the wonderfully good work of the crew. The field of ice, he says, seemed to end in latitude 44.10.—N. Y. World, April 18.

THE OTHER SIDE.

What a Kingston Man Thinks of Manitoba—A Few Items of Interest.

Mr. Houghton, for eleven years gardener at Alwington, went to Manitoba a short while ago intending to settle there on a farm and share the universal prosperity which is attributed to that haven of immigrants. He has returned and will remain in Ontario, imbued with an increased affection for life in this Province. He went to the Turtle Mountain district, reputed to be one of the richest parts of Manitoba, and had soon laid up experience enough to do him for years to come. A good pair of steers could not be got less than $300, and none at all for less than $200. He found that there were more labourers and mechanics in Winnipeg than work could be provided for, young carpenters whom he came across stating that they could only secure odd jobs at $1.50 per day. There would be more building going on if it were possible to procure lumber, but this was very scarce and dear. The severity of the climate proves fatal to man and beast, and Mr. Houghton saw many dead horses along the sides of the railway track where they had been frozen to death. A whole carload of sixteen animals was destroyed in this way within our informant's experience while on the road to the Northwest. Instead of the land being invariably fertile, he found the oldest divisions of good and bad strongly marked in the new country as in the rest of the world. At the Mennonite settlement Mr. Hougton found the snow up to the tops of the houses with the exception of small breathing holes cut out by the inhabitants. Great complaint and inconvenience was caused by the land grabbing of speculative capitalists who have purchased large tracts which they hold for a rise in value. Mr. Houghton believes that no farmer need go to Manitoba without considerable capital, as the high prices prevalent will swamp him before he is fairly afloat.—News.

The Fastest on Record.

The new Guion steamship Alaska, from Liverpool, arrived at the bar yesterday at noon, having made, it is claimed, the quickest western passage on record. Leaving port on the 8th inst., she sailed from the Fastnet on the afternoon of the 9th, and made the voyage to Sandy Hook in seven days, six hours and twenty minutes. The number of miles ran each day was 380, 383, 392, 417, 409, 397, and 419. The weather, except on the 10 th inst., when a gale and a head sea was encountered, was light and favourable. The quickest voyage before this was that of the Arizona, in May, 1880, when she made the passage in seven days, nine hours and twenty minutes, but on her last passage to Liverpool the Alaska is said to have passed the Fastnet in the unparalleled time of seven days, three hours and fifty-eight minutes from Sandy Hook.

LOYALTY OF CANADIANS.

How They Sing God Save the Queen—A Chairman in a Box.

Archibald Forbes in the Century Magazine for May says: The loyalty of the Canadians to the British crown is beautifully fervent; they would rather, I am sure, be torn limb from limb than suffer annexation to the United States. Indeed, I have some idea that, deep down in Canadian hearts, there lurks the notion of, one of these fine mornings, annexing the United States to Canada. A little Canadian town will fly more royal bunting on the Queen's birthday than you can see, on the same auspicious occasion, in the whole of the mother country. In the provincial region of Canada, it is the practice to conclude all public gatherings with singing "God save the Queen." In every community there is a champion vocalist, for whose power this practice gives scope; and he springs to the chance as if he had found a nugget. But occasionally the champion vocalist is not on hand; he may be "under the weather," or behind the bars, or may not have a taste for the performance of the evening. Probably the latter cause had kept away the champion on one occasion which I remember. The chairman had duly made the stereotyped announcement, "The audience will disperse, singing 'God save the queen," but there was no response. There was no one present who dared to initate the vocal performance. Here was a perdicament! Obviously, the loyalty of the place would be compromised if the audience should disperse without fulfiling the behest! In despair, the chairman, isolated on the platform as he was, himself essayed to set the ball a-rolling. But in the first place, he could not sing; in the second place he didn't know the words; in the third place, as I learned afterwards, he was not popular, and the audience rather enjoyed his discomfiture. Valiantly he plunged into the breach. "God save our precious Queen!" came from him in an inharmonious strain; but he never got any further, and nobody would help him. He tried it again, but with the same untoward result; and then he turned and left the platform a sadder and wiser man."

VIA SOLITARIA.

AN UNPUBLISHED POEM, BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

(From the Independent.)

Alone I walked the peopled city,
Where each seemed happy with his own;
Oh! friends, I ask not for your pity—
I walk alone.

No more for me yon lake rejoices,
Though moved by loving airs of June.
Oh! birds, your sweet and piping voices
Are out of tune.

In vain for me the elm tree arches
Its plumes in many a feathery spra
In vain the evening's starry marches
And sunlit day.

In vain your beauty, summer flowers;
Ye cannot greet these cordial eyes;
They gaze on other fields than ours—
On other skies.

The gold is rifled from the coffer,
The blade is stolen from the sheath;
Life has but one more boon to offer,
And that is—Death.

Yet will I know the voice of duty,
And, therefore, life and health must crave.
Though she who gave the world its beauty
Is in her grave.

I live, O lost one! for the living
Who drew their earliest life from thee,
And wait, until with glad thanksgiving
I shall be free.

For life to me is as a station
Wherein apart a traveller stands—
One absent long from home and nation,
In other lands.

And I, as he who stands and listens,
Amid the twilight's chill and gloom,
To hear, approaching in the distance,
The train for home.

For death shall bring another mating,
Beyond the shadows of the tomb,
On yonder shore a bride is waiting
Until I come.

In yonder field are children playing,
And there—Oh! vision of delight!—
I see the child and mother straying
In robes of white.

Thou, then, the longing heart that breakest,
Stealing the treasures one by one,
I'll call thee blessed when thou makest
The parted—one.

September 18, 1863.

Now that our best and sweetest poet has left us, rending by his departure the veil of that sanctuary—his inmost life and feeling—it may not be unlawful to publish, what would have been sacrilige before, the above tuching poem, not written for the public eye, but simply to give utterance to his heart-crushing sorrow after the death of his wife, in 1861. It was sent to me by a friend in Boston some years ago, after my own great affliction, and has therefore, a double sacredness to all who have passed through a similar sorrow. It will be read by many with tearful eyes, when they remember how long and how patiently, with what brave and uncomplaining heart, he has waited at the "station," till now, at last, "the parted," are made "one." A TRIP TO HASTINGS.

DEAR REVIEW,—As I promised yez some time ago to go down to Hastings again, I have jist returned with lots of news, but as I am purty bizy I'll not bother yere pashuns wid only a part of it this time, but as shure as your living if they hav'nt had the hottest time there for a time, yez ever saw or herd of. I got it from purty good authority; and I am inclined to belave quite a considerable of it myself. It sames the whole defickulty has arose out a very small affair, as near as I can find out they have had two balls, and both of them came very close to coming off on the same night, the difference in the two is this, the one was got up to ripresent the party known down there as the rather arristocratic, or some kind of cratic, and the other lower or second class, or sphaking more politely yez might say the 25c. and 50c. There has been all kinds of people brought into the affair, and niver did tongues be kept as busy in all their life as down there. I suppose will yez be at a curiosity to know how I know so much about thim, but I was sthaying wid a friend of my mother-in-law, for a few days, and kept purty close from their view as I think they had a shmall kind of a suspicion, whin I was down there before that they knew what I was after. I think the hotel keeper of the Royal saw me once he did not sphake to me as I was dressed some different than before when I was there; but about the ball, the aristocrats, I belave, proposed to have a big time at their own expense and they appointed a committee of about 10 12, and put in so much wealth each of them and invited who they liked. They represented all classes.

I might, if I tried, in a very short time
Bring their names in a kind of a rhyme.

There was one from the Montreal House—
A nice dacent chap, but sly as a mouse,
He waits on his customers wid the greatest of aze,
He's a good judge of sherry, far more than of chaze.

Another a Dr., who slapes all alone,
But he'd better trade pills for a wife of his own;
He lives in a sthone house and boards at the brick,
The divel such a fellow as him wid a sthick.

Two lawyers were there to quote law on the occasion,
Also the boss of the Grand Junction station.
Then came a six footer resembling a wood ranger,
Another who classes himself as a granger.

Also a man handling handling flour before its ground,
Wid a nice dacent young chap selling hardware by the pound.
Thin success to those min, who never refuses,
That pay their bills when called on, right down if he chooses.

As I have got trough wid my poetry I will go on wid my letter. Well, you see, they sphoke to Mr. Barber to furnish dem music, and allowed him to come up to town to get help, and when he sphoke to the boys to go and hilp him dey had been engaged long before. By jabers, yez might call that a dirty trick for aristocrats to be guilty of. He said he never was used as mane by the lowest class, but he says he will come up schware wid dem some time. There was a lot of dim who expected a bid and got fooled. Thin their backs flew up so high it will take them all summer to coax them back to places. Some had ordered suits of clothes, and when they were shlighted they sint and had de order countermanded as quickly as possible—and some a precious sight quicker. I am towld they invited some for the sake of borrowing dishes (any port in a storm, yez know). Some wouldn't go nor lend dishes either. Some of the oulder class says, "We know how to shtand in the eyes of the public now we are classifyed." It's you may scratch my back and I'll scratch yours, but the divel such a time as they had down there I niver saw in all my life since I left the ould sod, and I hope they will get quieted down by the time I go down again, as I expect that won't be long, for I would like to be afther writing a letter worth reading, but I will close the ball business.

I saw Mr. Crowley while I was down; he is making great repairs to the Government works, also John Simonds; it seem kind av good to mate some from the same place, he is doing a job of painting and decorating John Peter's building, I understand he (Peters) is going to open a grocery and liquor sthore. Perhaps ye think they don't punish lots of Paddy's eye-water down there, I was told four taverns had applied, and three wholesale stores, for licence, what do yez think of that? Thunder and turf, who is going to pay for all that? some one I spose; but as I have taken up quite a space I will intrude no longer, but I'll bid you good bye with my kindest regards till some future time, hoping there will be no offence taken as I mention, no names, as I knew none.

I am dear REVIEW your old friend, second cusin to Young Dan,

POPULAR DEMAND.—The great superiority of Downs' Elixir, over all other cough remedies, is attested by the immense" popular demand for that old established remedy" for the cure of Coughs, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the throat, Chest and Lungs.

These are both to be had in Zock's Tonic Compound and Blood Mixture, as each package contains a thoroughly good purging ball and over a pound of strong Tonic Powder. Ask your druggist about it.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

A Singular Discovery.

A strange discovery has been made in the Berg or Castle at Vienna. There is a certain lofty gallery leading from the chambers of the Crown Prince to the chapel, and the walls of this passage are lined with historical pictures of immense value. This gallery is neither very well lighted nor much used, and the pictures have only been placed there because of their great size. Workmen have lately been employed in repairing the telegraphic communication between the different parts of the vast building, and in the course of their labors a skylight overlooking the corridor has been opened, whereby prying sunrays have been able to stream upon the dark canvas. To the horror of the Captain of the palace, who is the responsible personage, the eyes of all the figures of those pictures have been found to be cut out, so that staring holes are left. The perpetrator of this piece of vandalism is as unknown as the motive which induced the act.

Fell from the Rigging.

MIDLAND, April 21.—As a young man named Dan. Masson, a sailor on the schooner McLeod, was up in the rigging working, he fell a distance of forty feet, breaking both legs at the ankle. He is without friends here, and after having his legs properly dressed by the doctors of the village he was sent by the afternoon's train to Toronto General Hospital.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

He Got Left.

We often hear of passengers missing a train, but it is very seldom that a conductor gets in the same fix. Occasionally, however, such a thing occurs, and we learn of an instance at Hastings recently. The conductor of the evening train from Belleville is not by any means entitled to enter the ring as a light weight, and one can imagine his feelings while he was attending to business as he saw his train leaving the station, while he remained on the platform. He whistled and signaled, but of no use, the engineer was bound for home and evidently intended to reach it on time. Suddenly the conductor started off on a brisk run, but he very soon found out that although he might be a good one in a fat man's race, he was nowhere when his competitor was an iron horse, so he gave up the contest in disgust. A freight engine standing at the depot whistled, in vain, and the Peterborough train was making good speed for town. As a last resource the conductor boarded the freight engine and started in hot pursuit, and after a lively chase, overhauled his train and was taken on board to his great relief. Even when he did get settled down the passengers remarked that his breath was almost gone, and it was only with an effort that he could articulate the magic word "tickets." He has taken the precaution ever since that incident to step on in time.

A Necessity.

At this season of the year the Health Inspectors generally go their rounds and visit the yards and premises of our citizens, and order the removal of any dirt or other matter that may seem obnoxious to them, or act as a fever breeder or stench producer. In former years the citizens have been allowed to deposit this filth in certain places, but this year placards are posted up warning all and every person not to deposit rubbish there, or they will come under the ban of the law. Now it seems but fair to us that the Council, if they desire to have the yards cleaned, should provide some place in which to deposit the refuse, or do they desire that it shall be burned and the town filled with the sweet smelling odor produced by such a course? Perhaps some of the Councillors will move in the matter at the next meeting, and see what can be done. The refuse as well as the mud off the streets might be put to a good purpose by filling up Spaulding's Bay, thus reclaiming what would be a very valuable piece of ground to the town.

The Ontario Bank.

As various rumors were in circulation here regarding the suicide of Mr. Alex. Fisher, late manager of the Ontario Bank at Toronto, and the amount of money he was behind in his accounts, it may be well to publish the following letter which was addressed to the editor of each of the Toronto dailies:—

"SIR,—Inasmuch as the unfortunate and lamentable death of the late manager of the Toronto Branch of this Bank is being made the occasion for the spread of rumours prejudical to the interests of the shareholders, I am authorized by the Board of Directors to intimate that from an investigation commenced yesterday and concluded to-day under my personal supervision, they desire to assure the shareholders that the deficiency in the accounts of the late local manager will not exceed $33,000, and that no loss will occur to the Bank in respect of this deficiency.

Your obedient servant,
C. HOLLAND,
General Manager.

Toronto, April 20, 1882.

"Hazel Kirke."

The great play of "Hazel Kirke" is to be presented here by the Madison Square Theatre, N. Y., within a few weeks. This play has a remarkable history. It was first performed at the Madison Square Theatre three years ago and ran 486 nights. It was then transferred to this country, and now, three years after its first performance is still being played through the country by the Madison Square Theatre. It has now been presented nearly 2,000 times. It is a remarkable play, and the tearful and delighted audiences, who witness it over and over again, are the best evidence of its popularity; while the reputation of the theatre is a sufficient guarantee of the character of the company.

West Peterborough Licenses.

At a meeting of the License Commissioners for the West Riding of the County of Peterborough, held on Friday, there were present Commissioners Dolan, McClelland and Elliott, and Inspector Leary. After some consideration the following licenses were grated:—

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH—Hotels—Oriental, J. E. McIntyre; Chamberlain's Hotel, W. H. Chamberlain; Caisse House, T. G. Choate; City Hotel, Bank's & Dolan; Faucher's Hotel, D. Faucher; St. James, J. Daly; Montreal House, J. Brault; Stewart House, T. Cavanagh; Phelan's Hotel, W. Snowden; Croft House, W. Croft; Morgan House, A. P. Morgan; Darcy's Hotel, T. Darcy; Peterborough House, J. Sullivan & Co.; American, M. Halpin; Royal Oak, J. Wilson; Royal, Mrs. Barbino, and Commercial House, W. Kennealy. There were only eighteen applications this year, seventeen of which were granted, and one, that of Wm. Bell, for the St. George's was refused. No wine and beer licenses were asked for or granted.

SHOPS—Messrs. J. Garvey, Rush & Elliott, B. Morrow, G. Pope, John Cameron, George Mitchell, Charles Butler, J. L. Brown, T. McKeiver and Geo. Schneider.

Ten were granted, no others applying.

LAKEFIELD—Hotels—Mrs. R. Purser, Geo. Berubee and T. Mason.

One was laid over.

BRIDGENORTH—Hotel—G. Fobert.

YOUNG'S POINT—Hotel—J. C. Kearney.

BUCKHORN—Hotel—T. Pettit.

NORTH MONAGHAN—Hotel—J. Newall.

The meeting adjourned until next week, when they will finish their business.

Very Stringent.

The License Commissioners of East Durham are evidently very stringent in their interpretation of the law, as at their meeting the other day the following resolution was carried:—

"That in order to provide for a more careful observance of the License Act, and to protect the interests of those tavern keepers who are willing to confine themselves to a legitimate and legal business, and believing that the public welfare can be best served with the License Act carried out in every particular,—the Board of License Commissioners for East Durham embrace this opportunity of notifying all interested parties, that in the opinion of this Board, the proprietors of hotels, taverns, or saloons who may be convicted by a magistrate of this county, during the license year, commencing on the first day of May next, with selling liquor during the prohibited hours between Saturday nights and Monday mornings; or with selling liquor to minors; or with selling to persons to whom they may have been legally notified not to sell liquor, are persons who shall not be considered worthy of being entrusted with licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors during the year 1883-4."

Railway Time Table.

On and after the 1st of April, trains will arrive and depart from the Union Station as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY TRAINS DEPART at 7 and 10.10 a.m., 12.05, 4.45, 6.45 and 7.40 p.m.

ARRIVE at 8.25 and 11.50 a.m., 6.20, 9.00 and 9.55,

GRAND JUNCTION TRAINS DEPART at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

ARRIVE at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.

Travellers should note the fact that those who leave Peterborough at 4.45 o'clock p.m. cannot get through to Port Hope any quicker than if they do not leave here until 6.45 p.m. Those who do not desire to remain in Port Hope to wait for the express going east, on the Grand Trunk, can leave here at 7.40 and arrive at Port Hope in time to catch it.

The Weather.

The weather yesterday was cold and raw and last night many predicted rain or snow, but contrary to the general opinion neither came. To-day is somewhat finer with the sun shining brightly at intervals, but if probs. is right more rain can be looked for. The rather high wind blowing to-day makes things rather cool. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes—Northerly to easterly winds increasing, to a moderate gale on lower lakes, fair weather to-day, followed by increasing cloudiness and light rain to-morrow.

As It Should Be.

The street inspector has taken time by the forelock and already has four teams at work drawing away the mud scraped off the streets. It is being placed on the west side of Bethune street in front of the residence of Mr. R. Rowe, and will fill up a very low spot, where the sidewalk is always overflowed in wet weather. The street inspector also informs us that he has any number of similar places to fill and can find use for all the mud that will be taken off the streets during the present year.

Ourselves.

The Brantford Evening Telegram says:—

"A neater, better arranged and more readable paper than the Peterborough EVENING REVIEW, does not come into our sanctum. It is a credit not only to the town in which it is published, but to the Conservative party, whose interests it upholds in an able and dignified manner."

Town Council.

The regular meeting of the Town Council takes place on Monday evening. From the talk heard on all sides, we should judge that the question of waterworks will again agitate the city fathers.

Something Extra.

Ladies will find some very handsome patterns of Brocaded Silks at the store of Thos. Kelly. They are said to be the finest in town, and are well worth examination.

Tender Accepted.

We notice that the tender of Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M. P., to supply Port Hope with 35,000 feet of pine plank at $10 per thousand, has been accepted by the town council.

White and Grey Cottons, very cheap, at Turnbull & Gray's.

Grand Junction Railway.

On Thursday night about 6 o'clock as the mail train was going east, the postal car ran off the metals about half a mile west of Campbellford station, running for some distance on the sleepers, and kept that position till the train was stopped, resulting in damaging the wheels to such an extent that the car had to be abandoned. Beyond a few unpleasant bumps, nothing of a serious nature occurred. Remarkable to state after the mails being transferred the train reached Belleville only an hour and thirty minutes late. The mail conductor Mr. Hoyland had rather an unpleasant trip on Friday, having to receive and distribute the mails in a box car, the only available means at hand for him to use, a rather primitive and uncomfortable post office, but he informs us that he got through all right and the public have been put to little, if any inconvenience by the mishap. We understand new running gear was added during Friday, and on Saturday the car was doing its usual duty once more, to the comfort of all concerned.

C. O. F.

Court of Peterborough No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, elected the following officers for the ensuing term at their regular meeting on Friday evening:—

Bro. Jas. Byrne re-elected	W. C. R.
" F. J. Jameson re-elected	W. V. C. R
" Rich'd C. Wright re-elected	W. R. S
" W. Strain re-elected	W. F. S
" Geo. Kingdon re-elected	W. Treas
" R. Robertson re-elected	W. Chap
" R. McWhinnie	W. S. W
" W. H. McElwain	W. J. W
" W. James	W. S. B
" Chas. James	W. J. B

Bro. H. W. Watson is W. P. C. R., of the Peterborough court, Bro. H. Nesbitt is D.D.H. C. R., for the County of Peterborough. He receives his appointment from the High Court of Canada, and is a High Court delegate by virtue of his office. Bros. Jas. Byrne and F. J. Jameson, were elected additional delegates to the meeting of the High Court in June.

Railway Notes.

It is said that the Ontario and Quebec R. R. eurveyors have finally located a line through the village of Tweed.

Passengers can now leave Madoc by the 2:50 p.m. train on the Midland and reach Toronto via Peterborough and Port Hope at 10:55 the same night.

Work on the Toronto and Ottawa division of the Midland, between Madoc and Bridgewater, goes on as usual. The grading is nearly completed, and it is expected to have the rails laid in July. A large force is now at the bridge over Deer Creek in Madoc. Some difficulty is being experienced in getting a solid foundation for the stone piers on the western side of the creek, but it is understood this has been overcome. The bridge will be of stone and iron, as will also the one over Black Creek near Bridgewater. Mr. Breskell has also commenced work on his contract for building the barbed wire fence.

St. John's Church.

The extensive repairs now being made to St. John's Episcopal Church will make the structure almost as good as an entire new building. The work is very tedious and it takes a long time to make any show. The whole interior has been remodelled, the gallery torn down and a commodious chancel built, in which is a capacious organ chamber, wherein will be placed a handsome new organ from the factory of Warren, Toronto. The building will be heated throughout with hot air, and the stone walls are being plastered. Extensive alterations are also being made to the tower and its appearance will be greatly enhanced. Some of the stone used has been brought a distance of twenty miles and is of an extra good quality. The work is steadily progressing, but will not be completed before the beginning of July.

Business.

Business in town to-day appears to have been very brisk judging from the large number of people in town and the crowded condition of the stores.

Have you seen that 15c. Print which Turnbull & Gray are selling for 12½ cents.

FEAR NOT.—All kidney and urinary complaints, especially Bright's Disease, Diabetes and liver troubles Hop Bitters will surely and lastingly cure. Cases exactly like your own have been cured in your own neighborhood, and you can find reliable proof at home of what Hop Bitters has and can do.

NINE PHYSICIANS OUTDONE.—It is generally considered a pretty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will conclusively prove where nine were completely outdone. Mrs. Helen Pharviz, 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., was treated for Consumption by nine physicians, and all pronounced her case incurable. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones please drop her a postal and convince yourselves. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

EMBROIDERIES!

AGAIN.

Nothing in the trade to compare with our embroideries of 23 and 30 inches in width. Selling at $2.00 and $2.25.

AS A PROOF.

The ladies of the Boston Opera Company purchased some of this class of EMBROIDERIES during their stay in town. Since then they have repeated the order and have pronounced them to be the finest they had seen on their operatic tour.

T. DOLAN & Co

Nos. 1 and 2, Cluxton's Block, Corner of George and Hunter Streets.

Personals.

Among the many strangers in town to-day we noticed Sheriff Kempt, of Lindsay.

Mr. Henry Calcutt has again taken his departure for the city of Winnipeg, where he will remain for some time and carry on the brewing business. He is bound to succeed.

Scarcely a day passes that one or more persons does not leave for the North West, either from the town or surrounding country.

The Rev. Kenneth Maclennan, of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, formerly pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here, was in town during the week.

The Rev. Mr. Stobo will preach to-morrow in Belleville Baptist Church.

The Excavator.

Since the timbers and new rails have been procured and the plan of moving the excavator, referred to by us some days ago adopted, very satisfactory progress has been made and the machine is now about Park street, up which it intended to turn, the idea of running it up Reid street having been abandoned. The men in charge are now very hopeful and expect to be busily at work in the course of a week.

Snow.

The snow flurries of yesterday caused many to believe that winter was coming again, but beyond an exceedingly light fall of snow and the cold weather there was no approach to it.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

BUCK LAKE MURDER.

Trial of the prisoner Vankoughnet at Kingston—History of the Crime.

KINGSTON, April 21.—The case of the Queen vs. Vankoughnet came on again for trial at the assizes. It will be remembered that Saturday, the 18th August last, John Richardson was shot at Buck Lake, township of Longhboro'. Vankoughnet, who lived on the next farm was charged with committing the deed. The day before the shooting the prisoner purchased some shot, powder and gun caps, and remarked to one Lyman Seers that he intended leaving the neighbourhood, but before he went he would do something that he would be remembered by. The day after the prisoner bought the shot Richardson was killed and his barn was burnt. Among the ruins of the barn was the carcase of Vankoughnet's horse, but Richardson's was no where to be found. On Monday morning the neighbours, seeing the smoke of a fire, went on deceased's farm, and not finding him, made a search. His body was found not far from the house, the chest riddled with shot, and lying on the handle of a scythe. The deceased's gun had been stolen out of the house about a week before he was shot, and he was under the impression that Vankoughnet had it. He was therefore intending to leave the place, and go to live on another farm, fearing that that the prisoner would shoot him. In fact he had made up his mind to go on Sunday, the day after he was shot. On Sunday Vankoughnet borrowed a buggy and hitching his own horse to it drove to Richardson's, where he left his own horse and took that of the deceased's. Before leaving however he fired the barn. He proceeded to Elgin, and sold the horse for $35, getting $29 cash. That was the last seen of him till captured on an island in Buck Lake, where he had been hiding for three days. When Mr. Downey, who arrested him, approached him on the island, the prisoner drew a knife to kill himself, but Downey told him that it would be better for himself and family to give himself up. He submitted, when he was brought to Kingston, and on the way here he confessed having committed the crime to two or three persons, and also told them he had shot Richardson with his (the deceased's) own gun, and that he had hidden it under a haystack. The gun was found by Downey where the prisoner stated, showing that he had stolen the gun for the purpose of committing the murder.

THE EVIDENCE.

The prisoner looked better than he did before, but cried all the time the trial was in progress. The evidence of a number of witnesses who were first at the scene of the murder and fire and found the body of the dead man, given substantially the same as at the last trial, was taken and also that of the man who made the arrest.

A POINT RAISED.

J. Stoness, who assisted Downey to bring the prisoner to the city, was the next witness. The prisoner had made a confession (which was admitted as evidence on the ground that no inducement had been held out to the prisoner by anyone in authority.)

The prisoner's counsel thought that Downey, who is now dead, though not a constable, was in authority. Vankoughnet thought he was, and what he had said to the prisoner on the island, that it was better for him and his family to give himself up, was an inducement to make the confession.

After considerable discussion the judge adjourned the court till to-morrow, in order to give the matter consideration.

It is generally believed that Vankoughnet will be found guilty.

RELIGIOUS SCRUPLE.

LONDON, April 22.—London has its outrages on Jews as well as Russia. At an inquest held recently Mr. Cohen, a Levite, objected to serve on a jury because his religion forbade him to look upon a dead body on that day. The coroner insisted that Mr. Cohen should attend, which he did, warning the coroner that the sin he was about to commit was upon his head, whereupon the coroner said he would put up with all that, and the inquest proceeded. This action has not apparently been publicly denounced by anybody.

"NEXT-OF-KIN" FRAUDS.

LONDON, April 22.—Much astonishment is shown at the exposure of the "next-of-kin" frauds. A man named Rogers, having agents in several towns, has victimized persons to the extent of thousands of pounds on the pretence of securing them large fortunes lying in Chancery. The metropolitan police were warned of the frauds years ago, but with their usual obtuseness refused to move.

The London mission is to be given to Count Valanieff, who was censured by the recent commission of enquiry for negligence in office. M. Denelidoff, an attache of the Dresden embassy, goes to Constanople, where he was secretary in General Ignatieff's time. The influence of General Ignatieff has contributed largely to these changes, as also to the nomination of M. de Giers for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

THE BALTA RIOTS.

MISREPRESENTATION.

If the Globe did not feel that it had a bad cause it would not indulge in such disreputable means of advocating it. The system adopted by its Commissioner of interviewing only those who would be likely to give evidence to suit it, though these partisan statements are represented as the opinion of manufacturers generally, has been thoroughly exposed. Even with these precautions the representations obtained do not always suit the purpose, and then the interviewer coolly falsifies them and has to be corrected, as has happened over and over again, by the gentlemen whose statements he has thus misrepresented.

Even these base methods of falsifying public opinion are, however, not sufficient. A Globe interviewer learns from partners of R. Hay & Co., the Toronto manufacturers, that "wages are higher than in 1878 by between 10 and 15 per cent.," and publishes their statement, yet in an editorial in the same issue it says:—

"What he (Mr. Hay) got was a tariff which forced him to cut down wages as a means of paying new taxes."

If the present tariff were prejudicial to the country, it could surely be combatted without having resort to such gross dishonesty.

PRICE OF MEAT.

In a recent article upon the above subject the Globe says:—

"But there is a special cause in Canada operating to aggravate the price of meat. The effect of the corn tax has been not so much to cause the substitution of Canadian coarse grains for corn as the fattening medium, but to cause farmers to drop altogether the business of fattening cattle. The addition of 7½ cents to the cost of corn means an increase of fully one cent a pound in the cost of producing beef; and this increase takes place whether the Canadian farmer uses American corn and pays the duty, or uses his own more expensive coarse grains. Thus the corn tax raises the price of meat without benefitting the farmer."

Truly what an extraordinary thing the N. P. is, for it invariably raises the price of everything without benefitting anybody. Notwithstanding that, according to the Globe, the price of meat has advanced fifty per cent in Toronto, within the last two months, yet, nobody is benefitted. The butcher is not benefitted because the price on the hoof has advanced from 4½ cents in last October, to 5½ per pound, now; the farmer is not benefitted because there is a tax on corn, although the Globe gives itself away by admitting that the tax has caused farmers "to drop altogether the business of fattening cattle." If the farmers have "dropped,' the fattening of cattle, where in the world have all the cattle we have shipped to England, during the last three years, come from? Perhaps, like Topsey, in Uncle Tom's Cabin, they "growed" of themselves, and without the aid of either American corn, or the Canadian farmers' "more expensive" coarse grains, to say nothing of Canadian straw, hay, and turnips. The statement that cattle raising, and fattening, is being "dropped" by our farmers, is so contrary to facts, and so patent a misstatement, that it is unnecessary to treat it seriously. The statements of shipments which have been made, and for which preparation is now being made, is the best answer to the Globe's unwarrantable and injurious statement.

On the other hand no doubt many of our readers are under the impression that corn is really the best and cheapest "fattening medium." This, however, would appear to be a mistake, if the experiments conducted at the Ontario Agricultural Farm, are to be relied upon. We have before us Prof. Brown's report for the year 1881, and from it we learn that pease—yea, Canadian grown pease—are the best "medium" for this purpose. He says:—

"On the 25th of June we closed our experiments, specially arranged with these grains (corn, oats, and pease,) having been very carefully carried out for 75 days. The animals were, fair, but not extra samples of three year old short horn, Hereford and grade steers, one of each in each of the three batches. All grain was roughly ground, being neither fine nor very rough; turnips pulped, and hay long. The food consumed during the 75 days, by the average animal of each division was: Turnips 3,525 lbs.; mangolds, 600 lbs.; grain, 657 lbs.; bran 50 lbs.; hay, 770 lbs.; and green fodder, 252 lbs. Result in increased weight: Corn fed, 1,163 lbs. on entry, 1271 lbs. at finish, total increase 108 lbs.; daily increase 1.44-100 lbs. Oats fed; 1,301 lbs. on entry, 1411 lbs. at finish, total increase 110 lbs., daily increase 1.47 lbs. Pease fed; 1,243 lbs. on entry, 1,388 lbs. at finish, total increase 146 lbs., daily increase 1.94 lbs." or exactly one half pound more per day than that of those fed on corn, and Prof. Brown adds in reply to the question; What may be the cause of this? "It was not by reason of larger animals at the start, nor greater amount of food, nor any difference whatever in conditions, so far as human skill was concerned, and consequently it must be sought for in the properties of the food." So much for the relative values of corn and peas, pound for pound for this purpose, let us see what the Professor has to say about the "cost of production."

He says:—"Without reference, meantime, to the crediting of any items so as to make a proper balance sheet as exhibited in other parts of this report, it will suffice to note the actual cost of producing the several increased weights. The price of each of the grains will be held at one cent per pound, which they are in the Canadian market on an average at present. Corn 14½ cents per pound; oats 14½ cents per pound and pease 11 one-sixth per pound. This is no less than 21 per cent in favour of pease which is equivalent to $4.50 per head of increased profit during one winter's feeding, or $4,500 in a stable of 1,000. Is there not reflection here for a very important national question with us? Much of our agricultural talk of late has been about the inability of the Province to grow corn and the restriction put upon its importation from the States. But, after all, is corn the cheapest producer of beef—weight for weight and price for price with other coarse grains easily and cheaply cultivated in Ontario?"

We venture to think Prof. Brown's opinion backed up by actual experience is worthy of considerable more attention than the ipse dixit of the editor of the Globe as to the relative values of American corn and the "expensive" Canadian coarse grains. If further experience should justify the conclusions to which Prof. Brown and his experiments point, it is evident that instead of the tax on corn proving injurious to Ontario farming it will prove a blessing, inasmuch as it will cause our farmers to devote greater attention to the growth of a grain, which possesses many advantages as one of a rotation of Canadian crops.

A LUMBERING DISTRICT OF THE NORTH-WEST.

SELKIRK, April 8.—In my last letter, writen from Derby's house, Lake Winnipeg, I mentioned that we expected to reach the mouth of the Winnipeg river the next evening. In this I intend to discribe that day's trip, with a short description of the lumbering country, and also of the return journey. * * * * Our direction, by compass, was north-easterly, and for a few miles after leaving Derby's was over a hilly country, sparsely timbered with young spruce trees. We soon, however, reached a more thickly wooded tract, and for the first time saw traces of the lumbering regions of the North West. The road ran through a twenty-mile limit of Messrs Walkley & Burrows. Spruce and tamarac trees of good size, straight but not growing to any great height, were thick. Besides these a few birch and poplar trees were scattered here and there amongst the more valuable timber. About six miles from our starting point we came to Jackfish lake. This lake is about three-quarters of a mile wide, a mile and a half long, and has and outlet by a creek of the same name flowing into Lake Winhipeg. * * * * * * *

As we moved out from the creek, we could see the mouth of the Winnipeg river, and on the south side Walkley & Burrows' mill. Our course lay east along the shore of the lake, and in a short time we reached our destination. The Winnipeg River, directly about the mouth, widens out into a deep bay on each side until it resembles a small lake more than a river. The banks on each side are high, and covered with trees. Close to the water the timber is chiefly poplar, but further back spruce and tamarac abound. Messrs. Walkley & Borrows' saw mill stands on a low sandy point exactly at the mouth of the river. The mill is the pioneer saw mill of Lake Winnipeg, and has been running for nearly twelve years. It was formerly worked by Mr. Macarthur, of Winnipeg; but since the year 1878 has been leased to the present proprietors. During the past winter Messrs. Walkley & Burrows have, with commendable enterprise, erected an entirely new building on the site once occupied by the old one. This building, built of spruce lumber, is seventy-six feet by thirty-six feet, and will contain a fifty horse power engine, running one circular saw and a edger. The capacity will be about 20,000 feet in ten hours. During the winter Messrs. Walkley & Burrows have employed about fifty men in the woods and had taken out about 3,000,000 feet of uncut lumber. these logs are on Catfish creek waiting for that stream to open. Sawing will be commenced about the first of May, and will continue night and day until the supply is exhausted.

Running some distance up stream from the mouth the land each side is taken up in the Indian reserve known as Fort Alexander.

Just above a deep bay widens the river, and at the upper end of this

THE MANITOU RAPIDS COMMENCE.

These rapids are navigable for small steamers and "York" boats, and owing to the swiftness of the current are rarely entirely frozen over in the winter time. This winter portions of them remained open until the very severe weather of a few weeks ago. From this point, going up the river the banks on both sides are high and rocky, and covered with spruce and tamarac trees, almost to the water's edge. The river is wide and deep, and in the summer time the scenery must be exceptionally grand. Of course but a very vague idea can be gathered of the scenery in the winter, but even then it has a peculiarly picturesque though bleak grandeur. Eight miles from the mouth are the Pine falls. The fall is perpendicular, and is only about ten or twelve feet high. It is broken by a small wooded island. The river if about 200 feet wide, and on both sides is heavily timbered. The fall forms a natural water power for another saw mill, that owned and worked by Messrs. Adams & Schneider. The Pine fall, of course, puts a stoppage to the navigation of the stream, except in small boats and canoes, and in them necessitates a short "portage." A short distance above the Pine falls the river again widens, and the Great or Little Bear falls or rapids occur. Above these the river is nearly a quarter of a mile wide, and is studded with small, rocky islands, with a few scrubby trees growing on them. Seven miles above the Pine falls are and one of the prettiest and grandest pieces of scenery on the Winnipeg river, if not in North America. The distance between the banks on each side is about three hundred yards, while the fall is nearly a quarter of a mile long. High masses of rock, their summits snow-covered, are piled in the course of the stream. These cause the water to break and form several "chutes" or rapids, while the foam, hurled high in the air, glitters in the sun like burnished silver, thus giving, I suppose, the name to the falls. Each bank is high and rocky, while growing in the crevices are gigantic spruce trees, and their sombre shadows on the white snow, the roar of the water, and the wild and dreary grandeur of the scene, make it an impressive and ever-to-be remembered one. The still water near the shores is frozen over, but out in the stream the rushing, tumbling water bids the Frost King defiance. Logs going down the falls are, I am told, as completely denuded of bark as if they had been subjected to the knife. The "trail" or road above Silver falls being so bad and rough I did not go further, but I have been informed that, counting the ones already mentioned, there are no less than thirty seven falls and rapids between Rat Portage and the mouth of the river.

THE SILVER FALLS,

The land around the Winnipeg river above the Pine falls is too stoney to admit of very successful tillage, yet it has in its timber another source of wealth. Below the falls just mentioned the soil is more valuable, and when cleared would make excellent farming land. The same may be said concerning the soil on the eastern shores of Lake Winnipeg. In addition to the comparatively inhaustible timber supply, there is little land that, once cleared of brush, cannot be used for purposes of husbandry. The only drawback at present is the difficulty of reaching these places in summer other than by boat. This drewback may continue for years yet, but I do not think that it will be long before this region also receives its quota of settlers.

I left Fort Alexander yesterday morning, on my return journey to Selkirk. This time I went further up the Catfish creek, and across to Jackfish lake, by another road known as Beaupre's from a logging camp of that name situation upon it. In travelling by this road I passed through an even finer stretch of lumbering country than on the out-ward journey. The ground was more irregular, and hills abounded. some parts of it would, I consider, make more than average farming land. There is plenty of poplar wood of a size sufficient to build log houses. The spruce and tamarac suitable for lumboring purposes have been pretty well thinned out in the neighbourhood, but further to the south there are yet some heavy growths. Joining the old "trail" at Jackfish lake, we reached old McLean's about sunset last evening, the only episode on the road being a dinner from a part of a moose just killed by an Indian near the lake just mentioned. Making an early start this morning, we reached Selkirk about six o'clock this evening, and thus ended my trip with "freighters."—Mail

MURDERS AT QUEBEC.

Two of the Prisoners in the Genest Case Convicted of Manslaughter.

QUEBEC, April 21.—The jury this morning returned a verdict of manslaughter against Bezeau and one of the Roberts, accused of killing Genest in St. Sauveur, and acquitted the other Roberts. Judge Monk then sentenced each of the two guilty parties to twenty years in the penitentiary.

The coroner commenced this morning his inquest on the remains of the murdered woman Mrs. Angers.

"THROW PHYSIC TO THE DOGS, I'LL NONE OF IT."—We do not feel like blaming Macbeth for this expression of disgust. Even nowadays most of the cathartics are great repulsive pills. enough to "turn one's stomach." Had Macbeth ever taken Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets" he would not have uttered those words of contempt. By druggists.

DO YOUR CHILDREN HAVE fits or convulsions, grind their teeth, pick their nose, have a bad breath, or a changeable appetite? Are they restless or feverish at night? If so, ask your druggist for Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy (take no other), it only costs 25 cents. It is simple safe, and pleasant to take. If there are no worms, it removes the slime and bile that breeds them, tones up the system, and will save many a doctor's bill. A word to the wise, etc. Thousands of testimonials.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

FENELON FALLS.

FIRE.—The Gazette says that on Monday morning last Mr. Wm. Fielding's eldest son, a boy about 9 years old, undertook to burn a stump not very far from the stable, which by some means took fire and was soon destroyed, together with a small quantity of hay and a set of harness, and about 150 cedar posts, which lay near, were also burned. The loss is estimated at about $75, and there was no insurance.

UPSET.—Last Sunday two of our youthful villagers hired Mr. Cochrane's horse and buggy for a trip to Bobcaygeon and returned at about nightfall at a slapping pace, which the driver failed to slacken as they went round the corner at Manning's store, and the result was that the buggy was upset with such violence that both shafts were broken. Fortunately neither of the occupants of the vehicle was hurt.

OMEMEE.

LARD AT THE BOTTOM.—The Herald says that it is not very often one hears of a row taking place over a pail of lard, but such was the case about ten o'clock on Saturday night last. It seems that a few days before a farmer from Emily brought a pail of the above mentioned article to Omemee and left it standing in front of a north-side of King street store, while he went off to transact some other business. On his return he found that the storekeeper had carried it into his shop and was to weigh it, when he (the farmer) asked what he (the merchant) was paying for it, he (the merchant) replied that 13 cents was the market price. When he (the farmer) said that he could get 15 cents a pound for his lard at a store on the south side of the street, he (the merchant) said that the southsider could not pay five dollars cash for anything he bought, (at least so the story goes). When the farmer took the lard to the south side store he of course told the whole story. The eyes of the southsider are said to have sparkled like stars on a frosty night in winter when the farmer related what the merchant at the store across the way had said. All went well till Saturday night when the merchant from the north side entered the store of the southsider for five cents worth of clay pipes. After getting the articles he said that it was a paying business selling pipes; the southsider retaliated by saying that it paid almost as well as lard. Words came fast and furious, but the climax was reached when the merchant called the southsider a d——l——. Tableau.

POLICE COURT.—During the last two weeks there were seven summons issued from the magistrate's office in this village for the following offences, drunk and disorderly and using insulting language. The cases were all settled before going to court save three which were tried on Saturday and fines and costs imposed on the guilty ones.

FALL WHEAT.—On fields lying to the south in Emily and Ops, fall wheat looks remarkably well. The farmers in these two townships, we are glad to learn expect to have a fair yield of this grain. Spring work has pretty well commenced.

LOOK TO YOUR CELLARS.

It is unquestionable, whatever may be the cause, that there has been a great increase of malarial diseases, both in the city and in country within the last twenty-five years. We are not about to add another dissertation to the many that have been written on malaria—what it is; what is its origin what is the best remedy for the diseases that pass under its name. There are some things that were settled long before scientific men gave this matter so much attention, and some things that are taught just as clearly by common sense as by what is called advanced science. One of these is, that to preserve health, it is necessary to prevent or remove all nuisances, especially when they are confined within a limited space.

One of the most fruitful sources of disease in the household is a dirty cellar. We have had occasion within the last few years, to record many instances in which desolating sickness has entered families through this cause, carrying off one after another, by diphtheria or some other deadly disease. The cause was not suspected until it was too late to avoid the consequences. An apparently slight exhalation from standing water or from a damp cellar, where water cannot be found, especially if there should happen to be any decaying vegetable matter in it, may affect a whole family. New brown-stone houses in this city that have become uninhabitable, owing to the closing of the general sewer perhaps at the end of the block, thus preventing the free passing away of the natural dampness of the soil, or the accumulation of water, and compelling it by a law of nature,, to pass upward through the house. The presence of this malarial atmosphere in the house is not detected until fever or some other disease breaks out. Even those who are aware of the existence of dampness and of their exposure to malarial influences, do not always take immediate measures to correct the evil, but live on in security or in hopr, until sickness awakens them to their danger.

In the country there is often as great if not greater indifference to the prolific causes of disease. Many a farmer, occupied with spring work, leaves his cellar to take care of itself and his family to take care of themselves, when the remnant of the vegetables that were stored up in the fall begin to decay and breed a pestilence in the house.

One of the first duties of the farmer in the spring is to make a thorough overhauling and cleansing of his cellar, removing everything that has a tendency to decay, and using disinfectants where there is the least danger from decaying matter. A single leaf of cabbage left until the spring may infect a cellar. A few roots that have been stored up during the winter may produce an offensive odor or a still more dangerous, because unsuspected, bane to health. Now is the time for this work to be done, and it ought to be thoroughly done.—N. Y. Observer.

A Big Claim.

A claim to the Scotch title of Lord Lovat, and to part also of the Fraser estates in Scotland, is about to be preferred by Mr. John Fraser, or Frazer, an architect in Dublin, on the ground that the descent of the Frazers of Strichen and Lovat is derived from the Lord Lovat who suffered decapitation on Tower Hill in 1747 for his share in the Scottish rebellion of the previous year, but who really was not Lord Lovat at all, having had an older brother, who unfortunately killed a man in a drunken brawl, and was obliged in consequence to take refuge in North Wales, where he hid himself in the mines. It is alleged that his descendants have never become extinct, and that Mr. Fraser of Dublin had in his possession the proofs of his direct descent from the ancient Lords Lovat, whose title was revived in 1857 in favor of the father of the present lord.

A RELIABLE FACT.—It is an established fact that Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is the best cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, croup, bronchitis, and all troubles arising from neglected colds. Price 25 cents.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.

Death of a Waterloo Veteran in His 106th Year.

On Thursday there died at Uxbridge a man named Angus McDonald, who passed the usually allotted span by over 35 years. On the 12th of February lost he celebrated his 105th birthday. Mr. McDonald was born in the island of Islay, Scotland, in February, 1777, and in 1803 enlisted as a driver in the Royal Artillery, and afterwards served in the Peninsula under Sir John Moore and the Duke of Wellington. He participated in the disastrous Walcheron expedition in 1809, and was one of the remnant left of the one hundred thousand who coped with the French batteries in the Scheldt. He fought in the battles of St. Sebastian, and was engaged in the rout of the remains of Marshal Soult's army at Toulouse. But his most vivid recollections of the past were in connection with the decisive battle of Waterloo. His reminiscences of the Iron Duke and his vivid delineations of the Titanic struggle were always interesting episodes of a visit to the brave Highland veteran. He belonged to a race who have almost passed away, but not before adding lustre to the history of the land that now prides itself on giving them birth.

Mr. McDonald emigrated to Canada in 1832, having been discharged from the army sixteen years before. He settled on a farm near the village of Acton, where he has lived ever since, except when at rare intervals he visited some of his numerous descendants. He had seven children, the majority of whom are still living, and leaves a large progeny extending through four generations.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them, It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Guernsey Listeman Combination.

Mr. Singleton, by considerable exertion, has secured the Guernsey Listeman Combination to perform here on Wednesday, May 3rd. This is the finest combination of artists in America. The instrumentalists are from the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, the Mendelssohn Quintette Club, and the Boston Philharmonic Club. Miss Guernsey, in her dramatic impersonations, is excellent and has received the highest encomiums of the press. The Boston Journal says of her :—

"A delightful entertainment was given at Wesleyan Hall, last evening, by Miss Minerva Guernsey, assisted by the Bernhard Listemann Concert Company. Miss Guernsey's part of the programme consisted of "Impersonations from Literature.' With a charming presence, a face full of intelligence and expression, a remarkably flexible as well as musical voice, Miss G. brings to bear just the qualities required to make her efforts forcible and pleasing. Her interpretation of the characters of Topsy and Poor Joe showed conclusively that she possesses undoubted histrionic ability. Whether she devotes her attention to the stage, or marks out a style of entertainment of her own after the style of these 'Impersonations,' she is bound to meet with success."

The vocal soloist, Miss Marie Barnes, is also very highly commended. The Boston Journal says :—

"Miss Mary Evelyn Barnes of Detroit, who has been quietly pursuing her studies with Mr. Lyman Wheeler, in Boston, graduated June 25th, at the New England Conservatory of Music, with highest honors, her singing creating quite a furore before a very critical audience. Her contralto voice is an unusually fine one, equal, as Mr. Wheeler asserts, to Annie Louise Cary's, at the time of her debut."

There is a guarantee list for signature at Davidson's bookstore, and all those who wish to encourage good music should at once enter their names, so as to assist those who bring these first class entertainments to our town.

Important.

A corespondant at Winnipeg sends the Monetary Times some suggestions as to the shipment of merchandise to Manitoba from the Eastern provinces, which may be of service to parties having goods to consign thither. He suggests to shippers :

Make three (3) copies of the Invoice, writing only on one side of the paper.

Take one copy of the Invoice to the Customs' officer or Justice of the peace, and have it certified on the face that the goods are either Canadian manufacture or duty paid, and stamped with the Customs' official seal. The certified copy and one of the others to be sent to consignee.

One of the copies to be handed to the company shipping the goods, or if the goods are shipped via Duluth it may be sent to the United States Customs' officer there.

A duplicate copy of the Shipping Bill, with separate and added weights and rates marked thereon, to be sent to the consignee along with the Invoices.

When practicable, packages are to be weighed and the weight marked on the package as well as on the Shipping Bill.

Always make contract for rate of freight and see that contract rate is marked on Shipping Bill, and when possible ship in car load lots and at car load rates.

The Band.

Now that the weather is rapidly becoming summer-like, and the promenaders therefore plentiful every evening, would it not be a good idea for some enterprising music-loving citizens to take steps to secure a suitable place for our band to discourse sweet music during the summer months? We might just suggest to the band that the market square would be a very good place for them to play until more suitable quarters could be obtained, the large sidewalk making a first class promenade walk.

Honors.

At the recent examination at Queen's College, Kingston, Mr. J. J. Wright, formerly of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, took the Church No. 2 scholarship for English Literature, and the Governor General's prize.

Town Council.

There will be a meeting of the Town Council this evening. Among other subjects it is expected that the hydrants will be discussed.

OUR BOATING CLUB.

We have received the following letter from an old member of the Peterborough Boating Club now residing at Lindsay :—

DEAR SIR,—I am keeping my eye on the Rowing Club, your Club, and expected to see the utmost enthusiasm shown at the annual meeting. I was prepared to hear of an outburst of aquatic hilarity, and of a determination to nail the black and red to the mast—that is, the stern post—to get together a crew that would fairly row over the miscellaneous assortment of rowing clubs comprising the Amateur Rowing Association.

Now I hear of no such intention. I don't even hear of an intention of coming in second. I have not noticed any vow that the Club will turn out a crew at all this season. Now this is a serious matter and must be looked into. I believe that the Club will get along much better, and draw a large accession of new members, if they, that is the Club, come out squarely and say that they will get up a crew to send to the Association regatta. Start on that square understanding. Let it be fairly understood that the best four that can be picked will row for the honour of the Club and things will run up to about forty-six strokes to the minute, so to speak.

It is unnecessary for me to say anything in eulogy of either the Club or of the sport. The management and members are gentlemen, but they must not allow the attractions of other games to detract from rowing. There is no better recreation than a good smart pull in a well equipped craft. The sport is free from the violent contortions of lacrosse, is immeasurably more considerate to the athlete's shins than football, and you do not have to hang pensively over the fence while ten dilatory players saunter up to play at cricket—in short, it is the sport par excellence.

Don't neglect your opportunities, gentlemen. You have a fair sheet of water quite handy. You have a Club that gives the use and privileges of its equipment for a sum so small that even the salaried clerk of two weeks standing need not hang back on the grounds of expense. I write with my eye on a strip of water over which a paternal government having run a lawn mower, has been rendered navigable. I expect to go over the channel with a garden rake and take out the balance.

Let the Club back up Capt. Edwards as they should. The Captain is stroke, bow, and the two heavy men in the middle, as it were. Peterborough has the reputation of having the best equipped boathouse in the Province. Now let us see something for it.

Yours,
ROWLOCK.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The members of the congregation of St. John's Church were doubtless rejoiced to learn from the REVIEW of last Saturday that there is a prospect of the restoration being completed so far as is necessary for the occupancy of the fabric, by next July. The work, as you justly observe, has been "very tedious," and it certainly did occasionally "take a long time to make any show." There is, however, one word in your article to which I must take exception. You say "the work is steadily progressing. Now, the adverb "steadily" implies, so Worcester informs us, "regular, constant, undeviating, unremitted" progress ; and as the church was to have been finished by the first of last October, and as a hope was subsequently held out that we should take possession of it by Christmas, and as, once more, the expectation was indulged that it would be opened at Easter, and as now the beginning of July is suggested as the period, the word "steadily" is, in my opinion, singularly inappropriate.

A MEMBER OF THE CONGREGATION.
Peterborough, April 24, 1882.

Railway Time Table.

On and after the 1st of April, trains will arrive and depart from the Union Station as follows :—

MIDLAND RAILWAY TRAINS DEPART at 7 and 10.10 a.m., 12.05, 4.45, 6.45 and 7.40 p.m.

ARRIVE at 8.25 and 11.50 a.m., 6.20, 9.00 and 9.55,

GRAND JUNCTION TRAINS DEPART at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

ARRIVE at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.

Travellers should note the fact that those who leave Peterborough at 4.45 o'clock p.m. cannot get through to Port Hope any quicker than if they do not leave here until 6.45 p.m. Those who do not desire to remain in Port Hope to wait for the express going east, on the Grand Trunk, can leave here at 7.40 and arrive at Port Hope in time to catch it.

St. John Church.

At seven o'clock this evening the adjourned Easter meeting of the vestry of St. John Churh, will be held for the purpose of receiving the auditor's report, and for other business. Arrangements will be made for the allotment of the pews in the church.

The Defalcation.

There has been very little learned concerning the deficiencies in the account of the late Toronto manager of the Ontario Bank, although it is probable that there is very little to learn, beyond what was stated by Mr. C. Holland, general manager. The other officials under him are also very reticent. Mr. Holland, however states very positively that he is in possession of no information respecting the extent of the deficiencies further than what he has already made public. As far as he has been able to find out, the amount involved reaches only the sum of $33,000, and this, of couse, will not seriously affect the bank, as there are real estate, life policies, and the usual guarantee bonds which will more than cover the amount. He asserts that his disinclination to discuss the affair is due to a regard for the family of the deceased, and for other reasons of a similar nature. It is reported that a memo in a passbook discovered shows that Mr. Fisher made entries relating to the transfers of £4,500 from the Alliance Bank, in London, England, agents of the Ontario Bank, to the Bank of Montreal. There is as yet no clue to the causes by which Mr. Fisher became involved, but apparently speculation has had nothing to do with it.

IN the Monte Building, Larimer street, Denver, Col., is located the office of Mr. F. A. Park, extensivly engaged in coal mining. In Mr. Park's opinion, St, Jacobs Oil is an exceedingly valauble article for rhumatism. His wife suffered with a very painful affection, which finally required the use of an external remedy. Deciding upon St. Jacobs Oil, she used it with such gratifying success that she would not be without it for anything, and considers it a household panacea.

THE LATE ARCHBISHOP HANNAN.

Funeral Services and Interment of the Remains.—A long and Imposing Procession.

HALIFAX, April 21.—Early this morning people began to gather at St. Mary's to be present at the solemn obsequies of the late Archbishop Hannan, and by nine o'clock every pew and even the standing room in the vast cathedral was occupied. Shortly after that hour the bishops and priests, including all from the city and abroad, entered the sanctuary. These having taken up their position lauds from the office for the dead were chanted by the Right Rev. Dr. Sweeny, Bishop of St. John, assisted by Rev. Father Dowd, of Montreal ; Mgr. Power, Rev. Dr. O'Brien of Charlottetown, P. E. I ; Rev. E. P. Murphy, Rev. W. Varilly, of New Brunswick ; Rev. W. J. Manning, of Tusket ; Rev. W.B. Hamilton, of Londonderry, and J. C. Bernard, of Digby county. The office having been gone through, Dr. Sweeny ascended the altar steps and commenced Pontifical requiem mass. The solemn high mass over, Father Wissell delivered a lengthy and most impressive panegyric, The "Libera" was then sung bp the ecclesiastics and the absolution pronounced, and at 15.30 o,clock the funeral cortege moved out of the church.

The streets on the route of the procession were lined part of the way by the Roman Catholic men of the various imperial troops in garrison and of the 63rd H. V.B. rifles. The whole wheeled in at the close of the procession, marching four deep. Every window and available point of vantage on the line of the procession was crowded, and business throughout the city almost entirely suspended. Flags were displayed at half-mast from the citadel and public buildings, as well as the shipping in port and many places of business and private residences. The big bell of St. Mary's has been tolling ever since the death, and to-day, as the funeral passed through the streets, the bells of St. Luke's cathedral and St. Paul's church were also tolled. Among the mourners in the procession were many clergymen of Protestant churches. Some idea of the length of the procession may be gathered from the fact that it took over half an hour to pass a given point. On arriving at the cemetery of the Holy Cross the burial service was repeated, and the coffin was lowered to its final resting-place.

FEAR NOT.—All kidney and urinary complaints, especially Bright's Disease, Diabetes and liver troubles Hop Bitters will surely and lastingly cure. Cases exactly like your own have been cured in your own neighborhood, and you can find reliable proof at home of what Hop Bitters has and can do.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. It will cure croup in a few minutes. A few bottles has often cured asthma. Colic has been cured by a teaspoonful dose. It cures with the utmost rapidity. It is really a wonderful medicine.

NINE PHYSICIANS OUTDONE.—It is generally considered a pertty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will conclusively prove where nine were completely outdone. Mrs. Helen Pharviz, 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., was treated for Consumption by nine physicians, and all pronounced her case incurable. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones please drop her a postal and convince yourselves. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

THE CONTENTED MAN,
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

LONDON, April 24.—The Home Rule members of Parliament will meet on Wednesday and pass a vote of thanks to the Canadian House of Commons for adopting a resolution in favor of an address to the Qneen, praying for autonomy for Ireland.

THE IMPERIAL BUDGET.

LONDON, April 24.—Mr Gladstone, in introducing the budget, referred to the growing expenditure and sluggish revenue, and the slowness of the recovery of trade, especially so far as its connection with the revenue is concerned. He could not recommend the abolition of the duty on silver plate, because the drawback would be too great for the revenue to bear. He admitted that it was desirable to abolish the duty as soon as possible. The change in the probate and legacy duties worked exceedingly well, but the proceeds had been less than had been expected. The receipts from the beer duty had fallen short of the estimate £220,000. The £1,400,000 of increased expenditure was due to special charges on account of the Indian and Transvaal wars. The actual surplus of revenue over expenditure for the past year was £352,000. The revenue from tea has increased in late years, but not the revenue from coffee. It is proposed to prevent the adulteration of coffee with any other substance than chicory. Mr. Gladstone attributed the diminution in the revenue from alcohol to the increased savings of the people. The condition of trade could not be called unsatisfactory, but the effect of its improvement upon the revenue was sluggish. He attributed the systems not to a diminution of the resources of the country, but to the absence of those extreme prices which marked the previous period of prosperity. The expenditure for the past year was £85,472,000, or £718,000 below the estimates, but a comparison of the expenditures of 1881-1882 with 1880-81 was more serious showing an augmentation of over two and a quarter million pounds. The actual revenue was £85,822,000. The expenditure of the coming year was estimated at £84,630,000, which included £180,000 added pay for the forces in Ireland, £90,000 on account of Cyprus, &c. There was a relief of two and a quarter million pounds in the war charges. Mr. Gladstone regretted the growing popular indifference regarding the increase of expenditure. He thought the system of framing the estimates on the sole responsibility of the Ministry had not worked satisfactorily. The Americans had shown extraordinary vigour and fortitude in reducing their debt and bearing heavy taxation for the purpose. He thought our modern history was hardly so creditable. The revenue for the coming year was estimated at £84,935,000, showing an estimated surplus of £305,000. The meagreness of the surplus was such that he had to abandon the hope of a great financial readjustment in connection with the County Government bill. He proposed to raise £250,000 more by a slight increase on the carriage duty. This was the only novelty in the budget. Although wages are lower than in the very prosperous year 1872, the deposits in the savings banks had been larger. The national debt had been reduced £7,169,000 during the year.

Trampled by a Horse.

THE WHEAT QUESTION.

INASMUCH as the omission of a single fact may prove as disastrous to a conclusion drawn from the remaining facts connected with any subject as the omission of a lynch-pin may prove to a loaded waggon, it is of vital importance to the intelligent and honest discussion of any question that all the facts connected therewith should be ascertained and duly weighed and considered before a conclusion is drawn therefrom. And if this be true generally, it is particularly true in the discussion of such questions as that of, the effect which the imposition of a duty on wheat and flour coming into Canada has had, and which no doubt will prove a prominent subject of discussion during the campaign upon which we may be said to have entered, whether the election takes place this year or next. Under these circumstance, and as our readers are in the hadit of looking at the facts for themselves and drawing their own conclusions therefrom it may not be amiss for us to collate from official sources and lay before them all the facts calculated to throw light upon and assist them in arriving at a correct conclusion upon so important a subject.

It will no doubt be remembered that in 1878 we proved conclusively by the trade and navigation returns that during the five preceeding years Canada had not, in the aggregate, produced as much wheat as she consumed. We also pointed out that this apparent shortage was materially increased by the fact that our "white" wheat found a market in the Eastern States in spite of the heavy duty imposed upon its importation into that country, and from these two facts we drew the conclusion that the imposition of a duty on wheat and flour coming into Canada could scarcely fail to prove beneficial to Canadian producers of wheat.

Since the 15th of March 1879 we have had such a duty in force, and we have now before us the trade and navigation returns from that time down to the 30th June last, covering the period affected by the more than average crops of 1879 and 1880, and from them we learn, that notwithstanding the duty, the following quantities of wheat and flour have been imported and gone into consumption in Canada during the periods named viz;

	Wheat Bush.	Flour Bls.
1879 (3½ months)	1,388	20,283
1880	10,169	100,257
1881	76,632	195,802
Total for 2 years & 3½ mons.	88,189	316,342

Taken by themselves, these figures prove that for some reason or another, the Dominion of Canada required for its own consumption, and paid duty upon the quantities of wheat and flour above named, and were we to adopt the theory generally held by our free trade opponents, namely; that the duty imposed and paid upon any article has not only to be paid by the consumer, but also that all of the same article produced within the country is also advanced in price over what it would otherwise bring to the extent of the duty, we would be justified in claiming that every bushel of wheat grown in Canada of the same kind and quality as that imported had been enhanced in price to the extent of the duty. Unfortunately for this theory but fortunately for the country, Canada covers a vast area of territory including within its bounds a great variety of resources and productions, enabling one province to produce a surplus of that which another Province requires to import, and rendering it necessary for us in the discussion of this and kindred questions, to keep constantly in mind that it is no more safe to draw conclusions from the circumstances of the Dominion viewed merely in the aggregate, than it is to draw conclusions from the circumstances of any single Province and assume that these must be applicable to the whole Dominion. We therefore proceed to lay before our readers the figures of our importations by provinces for the period already named—flour being converted into wheat on the basis of four and a half bushels to the barrell:—

	1879 (3¼ Mos.)	1880	1881
Ontario	8,198	38,234	68,166
Quebec	4,009	94,585	507,329
Nova Scotia	37,366	93,633	99,327
New Brunswick	17,055	70,256	63,192
P. E. Island	4,901	7,802	9,522
B. Columbia	21,131	121,438	163,112
N. W. Territory		21,107	29,638
Manitoba		14,269	17,229
Totals	92,660	461,323	957,516

From these figures it will be observed: First, that every Province appears as an importer of wheat and flour, and secondly, that the importations for the five Eastern Provinces have been as follows:—

	Wheat	Flour.
1879 3½ mos.	538	15,766
1880	5,576	66,388
1881	69,198	150,742
Total	75,502	232,896

or converting flour into wheat as before a total of 1,103,534 bushels of American wheat which has been consumed, or at least paid the duty for the purpose of being consumed by Canadians in the five Eastern Provinces during the 27½ months with which we are dealing. As Ontario is the only surplus producing Province of the five, this is a most important fact, and proves that even when we have good crops, our production of certain qualities of wheat falls short of that required by our own people.

Unfortunately owing to all the wheat and flour which passed through the country en route for Europe as well as that actually consumed in the country, being entered for consumption, previous to the imposition of the duty, we are not in a position to produce similar figures for the preceding years under free trade in wheat and flour. We can, however, give the gross imports and exports of foreign grain, into and out of these Provinces, and by taking the one from the other we shall no doubt arrive at a tolerable fair estimate of the amount of American grain which went into consumption in Canada during the two years and eight and a half months preceding the imposition of the duty. Dealing with the figures as before we find them to foot up as follows:—

	Imports, Bush.	Exports, Bush.
1877	6,853,083	1,200,193
1878	6,892,074	4,128,371
1879 to 15 Mar.	5,375,987	3,183,061
Total	19,121,144	8,511,625

amount left in the country to displace Canadian grown wheat 10,609,519 bushels during these 32½ months, equal to 3,917,352 bushels per annum, or over three times as much in one year then, as there has been imported in two and a quarter years since the imposition of the duty, or in other words for eight bushels of American wheat consumed in Canada under free trade in wheat less than one bushel is now consumed under the N. P.

But it may be urged, owing to Ontario and Quebec's position on one of the great routes to Liverpool, that these figures are not to be relied upon for the purpose for which we are using them. Very well! We will institute a comparison between the importations into the three Maritime Provinces, to which this remark does not apply, before and since the N. P., for the purpose of seeing what the result will be.

IMPORTATIONS BEFORE THE N. P.

Or less than one bushel now for five that were imported into these Provinces previous to the 15th March, 1879.

The only other figures that occur to us as calculated to throw additional light upon the subject under consideration are those relating to our own exports to the United States, and these are of value only as an additional proof that a country may at once be an exporter and importer of an article of production, i. e. when we look at the article generally and without reference to its minor divisions, and qualities. During the last five years our exports of wheat from Ontario and from the Dominion (including Ontario) to the United States have been as follows:—

	Ontario.	Dominion.
1877	475,756	485,768
1878	1,074,647	1,085,453
1879	1,631,581	1,748,996
1880	913,848	948,443
1881	131,983	142,079

Of course the reader will understand that as these figures are for the twelve months (as is the case throughout this article) ending the 30th of June of the year named, they in reality relate to the crop of the preceding year—the wheat given as exported in 1877, for instance, being the produce of 1876 and so on down to 1881, thus leaving out of consideration altogether the crop of 1881, for which we have not yet the figures.

We think we have now laid before the reader all the facts to be culled from the Trade and Navigation returns which are calculated to enable him to decide for himself whether the duty on wheat and flour coming into Canada has proved beneficial or the reverse. Without attempting to discuss them, at the present time, we think we may be permitted to summarize what we believe to be the legitimate conclusions deducible from the figures we have submitted.

First. We believe these figures prove that the imposition of the duty has substantially curtailed the importation of foreign grown wheat, and its produce, for consumption, and thereby increased the home demand for the home grown article.

Second. We believe these figures prove that the Eastern section of the Dominion, even when favoured with good crops and a considerable surplus, requires to import more or less of certain kinds of wheat and flour, and that, as a consequence, the producers of this kind of wheat and flour in these Provinces are benefitted by the imposition of the duty.

Third. We believe that these figures prove that the imposition of the duty has not only given the Ontario farmer the market of the Maritime Provinces, but has largely transferred the grinding of the flour consumed in these Provinces from American to Canadian mills and the carrying of it from American to Canadian channels, thereby giving employment to our own people, and materially aided in rendering the Intercolonial Railway self-supporting, and in developing an inter-provincial trade which must prove of increasing value to all sections of this wide Dominion.

Fourth. We believe these figures afford valuable corroborative evidence in support of the claim that the duty has had a beneficial effect upon the prices obtained by the Canadian farmer for certain qualities of wheat, but we prefer to leave the discussion of this aspect of the question for a future issue, when we hope to have the Globe's valuable explanation of the "cause" which has led to a change of 13½ cents per bushel in the relative values of fall and spring wheat under the old and new tariffs.

Practical Joking in French Schools.

The Minister of Public Instruction in France and his colleagues have determined to strain a point to abolish the system of brimades, or practical joking, which takes place when new scholars enter any Government establishing or training school. The senior pupils inflict a series of tortures on the freshmen, and this is supposed to impress the latter with a wholesome awe of their superiors. A couple of years ago a youth named Guizot, who entered the School of Arts and Manufacturers of Angers, was killed by his comrades. They pushed him between two tables, and crushed him with such violence that he died from the injuries he had received. The new comers of this year at the School of Arts and Manufactures at Chalons-sur-Marne refused to submit to be bullied by their seniors. They declined the ceremony of initiation, and intimated retaliation. The honour of the senior was at stake, and they insisted on distributing the cuffs and blows they had received when they entered the school. An attack was made on the juniors, who barricaded themselves in their dormitories, offering a gallant and desperate defence. Desks and chairs were used as weapons of offence or defence, ink bottles, rulers, heavy dictionaries, &c., became so many missiles in the hands of the combatants. The Prefect had to be sent for, and the gendarmes were called in to put a stop to the battle being waged furiously on either side. A court of inquiry has been held, and while the wounded on both sides are being attended to in the infirmary, seventeen of the senior pupils, on the eve of passing their final examination, and receiving their certificates as civil engineers, have been expelled. They have lost the benefit of three years' hard study, just for the sake of perpetuating a tradition which should have been allowed to lapse. The lesson inflicted has been a very severe one, reflecting to a great extent on parents who have made pecuniary sacrifices to enable their sons to continue their studies, and possibly the authorities may be induced to modify their decision while passing some strict rule which will abolish the absurd practice of the brimade.—Globe.

DO YOUR CHILDREN HAVE fits or convulsions, grind their teeth, pick their nose, have a bad breath, or a changeable appetite? Are they restless or feverish at night? If so, ask your druggist for Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy (take no other), it only costs 25 cents. It is simple safe, and pleasant to take. If there are no worms, it removes the slime and bile that breeds them, tones up the system, and will save many a doctor's bill. A word to the wise, etc. Thousands of testimonials.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The following is the verbatim report of the judgment of Mr. Justice Proudfoot in the case of Hilliard vs. Thurston, tried at the sitting of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice at Peterborough, on Friday, April 21st:

JUDGMENT,—MR. JUSTICE PROUDFOOT—Seeing the doubtful facts, it would have been better if the case had been tried by a jury.

There are two or three questions to be determined. The first is whether this fire was caused by sparks from the steamboat, the next whether there was negligence either in construction or management of the boat.

Well, I think under all the various principles that ought to guide one in arriving at a conclusion from facts sworn, and circumstances that appear in evidence, that I must necessarily conclude that the fire did result from the sparks from this steamboat. It is just such evidence that would have been made use of and have been properly admissable to a jury in case of a man indicted for arson in setting fire to the place. Then there is the numerous lot of witnesses who testify to the fact of the steamer passing there almost immediately within 5 or 10 minutes afterwards—after the fire burst out. There is no fire shown to have been in the neighbourhood—not to have been within 30 or 40 rods or more, except the steamboat's fire.

There is not even shown to be a man with a pipe going around looking at the mill, or in the neighbourhood of the mill, and the only fire within reasonable distance at all was that down the river, of Green & Ellis', some 30 or 40 rods off. It was the nearest: I am not sure but what it was farther. I think it was Green & Ellis' saw mill; not the shingle mill. It was some 30 or 40 rods down the river. It was most favorable to defendant's case to show that the stream of air crossing Green & Ellis' smoke stack would not come within 30 or 40 rods of the south side of plaintiff's mill, and of course if it would not come within that distance, it could not send sparks to the mill.

So that it seems to me that every circumstance in connection with the occurrence of the fire would rather tend to show that it came from the steamboat than from anything else.

There is another thing to be borne in mind in that connection, which I mentioned during the argument,—the number of pounds of steam allowed by the Inspector was 85, and it had been up to 87 pounds, and they were blowing it off to get down to the 85 when passing the mill.

Now it does seem to me that circumstances rather weaken the effect of defendant's testimony, for I can hardly suppose that when the damper closed they would have been able to raise the steam to that height. He tells us the damper was put on when stopped at Green & Ellis' mill, by the obstruction in front of that mill. It must have been consequently that they put the steam on after leaving and coming up the stream, and before they reached this other mill building, with full head of steam and two pounds more.

Then we have evidence also that when full steam was on, and the escape pipe sending the waste steam into the smoke stack, that it necessarily caused a large draft of sparks up the chimney, and the lower screen was open and there was nothing but the bonnet on top of the smokestack, and the meshes about the bonnet, as shown in the evidence here, and as sworn to by some of the witnesses, would have permitted the escape of sparks quite sufficient to have set fire to the mill, especially in that very dry period. The defendant himself tells us it was a period when the greatest care ought to be taken, and when he desired his men to exercise the greatest care.

Well, I think that under these circumstances it would be going against my own judgment to find anything but that the fire had been caused by the issue of these sparks.

The next question is whether there was any negligence on the defendant's part either in construction or management of the boat. It is said that the boat was just as he had got it, and that it was necessary, to run the boat, that he should employ steam, and keep a smoke stack; but I do not know that a man is at liberty even to make or to buy a defective instrument, or a dangerous instrument, and then say, oh, that is just as I had it, and in order to make it useful I must use it. I don't know that there is anything in the law or in common sense that would justify defendant in doing that. I don't think it would justify him in carrying a dangerous instrument of that kind among inflammable property, without he had done the best he could to prevent evil consequences, and I think that probably there will be found the distinction between the cases cited by Mr. Moss and those cited by Mr. Blake, that in the case of railways the Legislature has authorised them to run their engines. If they use all skilful and scientific precautions to prevent accidents, they are not affected, but the same exemption does not apply to a person using any of the other ordinary avocations of life which he is not authorised to do by the Legislature.

He can only then rely upon the protection given him by the common law. Now the protection of the common law is that you must use your own property in such a way as not to injuring your neighbors, and here the defendant must show that he had used his own property so as not to injure his neighbor. I suppose if he was going to show that he had done everything possible, within the range of science, within the range of care, precaution and skill, that he ran his steamer without injuring his neighbors, that he might probably be exempted, BUT I think the evidence goes to show that there were various ways in which the running of the steamboat might have been improved.

I don't think it is necessary for the decision of this case to go into the question of the improper construction of the boat. I will take simply the improper management of the boat, including in that management, the mode in which the steam was made to escape, and I think that one circumstance alone of throwing the escaped steam into the smokestack, when it might have been thrown otherwise, and when the usefulness of the boat might have been retained by making it otherwise when passing inflammable property shows the improper management.

That is a thing that might have been done, and could have been done at a very small expense, having the steam deflected instead of throwing it into the smokestack, and would not have involved the defendant in any great trouble.

Then defendant in the part read from his examination, says that the lower screen should have been shut, at least that is the way I understood it—that the lower screen should have been shut when passing the mill.

Now the evidence here seems to me to be conclusive that it was not so, that the screen was open and that there was nothing but the bonnet to protect it, and the evidence of the other witnesses is that that damper would permit the escape of sparks quite sufficient to set fire to the mill.

That evidence given by Lane seems to me most important as to the head of steam. It shows they were running the whole head of steam that the Inspector allowed, and that could'nt have been done without having a full fire, and the full fire necessarily involved a great crowd of sparks. They were not visible, of course, in the daytime, but they must have been there, and the natural result seems to have followed, that they caused the fire.

It is said this steamer was constructed in the same way as other steamers are on those waters. I don't think evidence has been given to bring it within the same character of those other vessels. It is not shown that the other vessels were constructed in the same way as this, that the boiler and engine were of the same horse power, in which case it requires a greater draft to make the machinery available.

Then with regard to the proper channel. What would be the proper channel in an ordinary wind might not be the channel when a heavy wind was blowing from westward.

The evidence of the captain is merely that he was more towards the east than towards the west at the time of passing the mill. Well that would be satisfied if he was simply over in the middle of the stream.

Then the other witnesses. I think all the other witnesses say the proper channel is rather towards the west side than towards the east, BUT whether he was in the proper channel or in the improper channel, whether he was on the east or west side, he could not have been more than 30 or 40 feet from the middle, and it seems to me not at all impossible that the wind blowing briskly from the west side of the stream, would carry sparks of that magnitude and cause it to escape through the wire gauge, and set fire to inflammable property, inflammable as gunpowder almost after a long heated spell in July to a distance of 30 or 40 feet.

The best conclusion I can come to is that defendant is responsible for this loss, and there will have to be a reference to the Master to ascertain the amount of it.

The above is the judgment as delivered herein.

Death Caused by a Sewing-machine Needle.

The Cork Examiner records the death of Mrs. Charles Sullivan, the well-known Irish actress, which sad event occured at her residence, Queen's square, Dublin. The cause of death was blood-poisoning, brought about by receiving a puncture in one of the fingers from the needle of a sewing machine which the lady was working. Mrs. Sullivan had only recovered from a severe illness when the accident happened which culminated in her comparatively early demise. The lady was a gifted actress, and her place in the representation of Irish dramas on the stage will not readily be filled up.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Railway Notes.

About 10.30 this morning the main line and all the sidings in the vicinity of the Union Station were filled with cars. Several trains with long lines of flat cares, to be loaded with lumber did considerable shunting and moving about in order to pass each other.

The conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen of the Midland have received an increase of pay, to date from the first of the present month.

Two of the locomotives stationed here were taken to Port Hope on Saturday night to be cleaned out.

A large number of new flat and box cars for the Midland are here. They are all painted the same and present a very neat appearance.

A Recommendation.

We find the following paragraph in the Kingston Whig:—

"Mr. C. B. Routley took leave of his friends to-day for Peterborough, where he resumes the fancy goods business. Mr. Routley has done well here in that line, in spite of the overcrowded nature of the trade, and has besides won many friends by highly courteous and honorable dealing. We have great confidence in commending him to the people of Peterborough, and trust to hear of him doing well in that lively town."

Mr. Routley who has taken possession of Mr. Austin's store has replenished the stock with well selected fancy articles. From what we have seen of Mr. Routley we believe that he will be even more successful in Peterborough than in his old location.

Sale of Stock.

The first annual stock sale at the Kincaid Farm, to take place on Thursday, April 27th, is an important one. Farmers and dealers will find it a good opportunity of procuring well-bred stock, and there are householders who will be eager to make a selection from the 26 milch cows that will be offered. Dr. Kincaid is doing a public service by setting this example of systematic stock farming, and we hope that he will also find it profitable, so that if the present is his first annual stock sale it may be far from being the last.

The Excavator.

Good progress is now being made with the work of taking the steam excavator to the scene of operations. The men having had a week's experience at the work are now adepts, and better progress is being made every day. The worst part of the work is now over and those in charge expect to have the machine at the "cut" by the end of the present week. It has now reached Smith street. On Sunday it was visited by a large number of persons who examined the ponderous affair with much curiosity.

The Weather.

The weather during the last two days has been remarkably fine and pleasant. The slight wind still continues but is rather agreeable than otherwise. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate to fresh winds mostly from the eastward, continued fine weather, higher temperatures.

St. John's Church.

The adjourned vestry meeting of St. John's Church was held on Monday evening. The auditors reported that they had found the Churchwarden's accounts correct, and they were adopted. Pews were allotted to those who applied for them, the freeholders obtaining sittings in the same relative position as those they had before, and the others being allotted by ballot.

Good Prices.

As an evidence of the fact that good stock is worth money, we may state that at Mr. Curran's sale on Monday, a milch cow sold for $47.50 and a three year old colt, not yet broken in, brought $121,00.

The New Comet.

The new comet can be readily seen with a pair of good glasses. It has an unusually bright head and a long tail. In June it will be a magnificient object to the naked eye.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

AN UNEXPECTEDLY QUIET SESSION OF OUR CIVIC FATHERS.

Are we Railway Stockholders? Petitions for Street Watering—Street Improvement in Request—The Town Printing.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on last Monday evening.

Present,—Councillors Paterson, Richardson, Denne, Menzies, Wilson, McNaughton, Douglas, Kelly and Alford.

There was also a very large number of citizens in attendance, completely filling the seats outside the bar.

In the absence of His Worship the Mayor, Councillor Paterson was, on motion, called to the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the American Hose Company and from John Bertram, giving rates of prices for fire hose.—Fire, Water and Gas Committee with power to act.

From R. H. Green and others, asking for street improvements.—Street and Bridge Committee.

From Enos Dunford, asking for a butcher's license.—Granted

From McDonald Bros., offering scantling at $12,50 per M. board measure.—Street and Bridge Committee.

From Alex. Davidson, Smith, asking the Council to pay for a light of glass which he broke by slipping into a hole in the sidewalk.—Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

George Pope	$ 1 20
John Shannahan	7 20
Peterborough Gas Company	9 60
" " "	11 70

John Shannahan's account was ordered to be paid, as was also that of George Pope. The accounts of the Peterborough Gas Company were referred to the Finance Committee.

PRINTING.

Councillor MENZIES read the report of the Printing Committee, recommending that the town printing be divided the same as last year at the same schedule of prices, and that the chairman of the Printing Committee and the clerk be the parties to order printing and examine and certify to the correctness of accounts.—Adopted.

CHARITY.

The clerk read the report of the Charity Committee, as follows:—

The Charity committee beg leave to report and recommend that the Treasurer issue his cheques payable to William Cumming, collector, for the following amounts:—

John Newton, amount of his taxes		$3 33
Miss E. Kennedy	" "	4 44
S. Johnston,	" "	5 53
Letitia Martin,	" "	4 44

They cannot recomend the granting of the prayer of Esther Johnston.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
H. H. SMITH, Mayor,
Chairman.

FINANCE.

The clerk read the report of the Finance Committee, which was as follows:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

Toker & Co.	$67 40
McKee & Davidson	10 62

The committee recommended that the Treasurer issue his cheque in favor of Joseph Langton for $2.33.

In reference to the application of Mr. Alex. Graham, your committee recommend that he be required to furish a statement of the amounts received by him for costs in all cases which have not been proceeded with or withdrawn.

That the Finance Committee examine the auditors' report on Friday next, and that they commence at 9 o'clock, and that the auditors' receive an additional sum of $10 each.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
THOMAS CAHILL,
Chairman.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON opposed the granting of the increase of salary to the Auditors, and moved that that clause of the report be struck out.

Councillor DENNE said that the reason the increase was recommended was that the auditors had more work to do this year than was done last year.

Councillor MENZIES said he had opposed the increase in Committee because many competent gentlemen had asked for the position at the same salary as was paid last year, and the present auditors had petitioned for the work and accepted it knowing that the salary was $40. He criticized the auditors, report and seconded Councillor McNaughton's motion.

The report, with the exception of the clause granting the increase of salary to the Auditors was adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Clerk read the following communication from the Town Solicitor:—

H. H. Smith, Esq., Mayor.

DEAR SIR,—McGhee vs. Bradburn. I am of opinion that there is good ground for successfully opposing the appeal of Mr. Bradburn. I have examined the lease from the Town Council to W. A. Scott, dated in December, 1857, and running for 21 years from the 4th of May, 1857, and I find that it gives only 80 feet depth along Simcoe Street, without any right to build a stairway or place an awning beyond that depth.

Yours truly,
E. B. EDWARDS,

The letter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Clerk also read a communication from George M. Roger, asking for street improvements. which was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

A petition was read from a large number of ratepayers on Charlotte and Aylmer Streets, asking that portions of these streets be watered, those residing on these streets to bear the expense.—Received.

Councillor Cahill came in and took his seat.

Councillor CAHILL's notice of motion for the filling of Spaulding's Bay was allowed to stand.

RAILWAY STOCK.

Councillor DENNE moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES,—That whereas by the Auditors' report of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1880, the opinion is therein expressed that the town still holds 3,000 shares of the capital stock of the Midland Railway of Canada, therefore, in order to obtain a true position of the town in reference to the same, the whole matter be left to E. Pearce and the Clerk to enquire into and report to this council, the facts as regards the present position of the town in the matter, with power to consult counsel.—Carried.

WATERING STREETS.

Mr. HENDERSON was, on motion, heard by the Council, and he spoke in support of the petition asking that portions of Charlotte and Aylmer streets be watered. He said that the dust on these streets was a nuisance, and the ratepayers resident on the streets were willing to pay the cost of watering them. He believed that a majority of their names was attached to the petition.

Councillor MENZIES said that as the portions of the streets to be watered were defined in the petition, and as the ratepayers residing on the streets were willing to pay the cost, the prayer of the petition should be granted.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON maintained that the petition should be referred to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee. Some of the persons whose names appeared on the petition, he said, did not live on the streets named.

The petition was, on motion, referred to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee to ascertain whether it met the requirements of the By-law.

The Council then adjourned for four weeks.

The Guernsey-Listeman Combination.

The plan of the hall for the entertainment to be given on Wednesday week by the Gurnsey-Listeman Combination will be open at Davidson's Bookstore to-morrow. Seats should be secured early, as many people are expected from Port Hope and Millbrook. Special arrangements are being made with the Midland Railway for passengers from those places.

THE CONTENTED MAN,
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

SOUTH AMERICA.

PANAMA, April 15.—At Oipaguira a disturbance occurred a few days ago, when several persons were killed, among the number General Morales. The Colombian guard dispersed the disaffected. Lima advices say Montero, who styles himself provisional President of Peru, has been visiting a number of small northern towns, where he was well received. His power, to which the people begin to look as the means of saving the country, is threatened by one Puga, of the province of Chota, who styles himself "Supreme Chief of Peru," and has twelve hundred armed men. The indications are that the Montero party desires peace at any price. It is said Mr. Trescott will visit Montero and endeavour to effect a cessation of hostilities as a preliminary to treating for peace by all three belligerents. From this it would appear that Mr. Trescott does not regard as true the report that peace has been concluded between Bolivia and Chili. Mr. Trescott's efforts, it is thought will be successful.

A WEAK ROPE.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 26.—Two girls attempted to escape from the third storey of the reformatory here early on Monday morning. Both at the same time got on a rope made of sheets. The rope broke, and both were badly hurt.

CHICAGO, April 26.—The Chicago Mining Exchange has arranged a consolidation with the American Mining Stock Exchange of New York.

CHILI, PERU, U. S.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Geo. H. Hurlbutt a son of the late Minister, states that his father did not prepare a formal answer to the charges against him, but expected easily to vindicate himself on the witness stand. Hurlbutt says that his father's famous memorandum given to the Chilian commander was in accord with his instructions from Garfield and Blaine. The memorandum caused such a change in the attitude of the Chilian authorities as to justify the belief that a resolute endorsment at Washington of the views expressed in the memorandum, would have secured peace on terms perfectly honorable to all concerned. Hurbutt states that his father accepted the Peruvian mission reluctantly at the personal solicitation of Garfield who told him there was no reason why the result aimed at could not accomplished, and his father return in six months to the United States. Hurlbutt says the condition of Peru when the he left was anarchy pure and simple. The only policy of the Chilian's is to get all they can. The exhorbitant customs duties they impose not only support the army of occupation but return a surplus revenue of $600.000 a month. The country is getting nearer a financial crash every day.

TIT FOR TAT.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The conditions of release made by the Irish authorities in the cases of the imprisoned Americans are precisely ths same as insisted on on several occasions by the United States during the rebellion, when the British Government asked for the trial or release of English suspects imprisoned here for incendiary conduct. In one case the release was granted on condition that the Englishmen would go out of the United States and remain away during the war, and furnish sureties to keep their agreements. When the House gets all the facts which it has asked for, probably it will probably discover that the President has not neglected to look after the interests and rights of Americans in Ireland, and that our just demands have been complied with, and that the real or pretended American citizens continue in jail because they refuse to accept their release on the conditions insisted on by our Government during the war.

GUILTY OR INNOCENT?

BROOKLYN, April 26.—Edward O'Brien, was recently sentenced to a year, on a charge of sending obsceue communications to Abe Daily, his employer who has discharged him. Daily is still receving vile epistles in the same handwriting. It is now thought that O'Brien was innocent.

He and Downer had the same state-room. Downer helped Smith and both jumped overboard. The water was only 6 feet deep, but the current carried Downer away and he was drowned, while Smith floated on his back till saved. Downer was the son of a prominent citizen of Brooklyn N. Y.

NORTHERN PERILS.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Herald publishes a seven column letter from Irkt'usk giving Danehour's setailed statement regarding the first year of the Jeannette's voyage. Danuenhowers, whose eyes are effected was confined in a darkened berth for six months, and underwent 13 operations this year and until the time of the disaster he was incapacitated for duty.

MR. BLAKE'S SHARP CURVE.

The Winnipeg Sun in an article on the disallowance debate speaks as follows:—

"It was most righteously disallowed if ever a measure was. We observe that the action of the Federal Government in this behalf has been sustained in the House of Commons by a vote of 110 to 50, and that Mr. Blake spoke and voted with the minority. Mr. Blake's position is a rather awkward one. As counsel for McLaren, the aggrieved party, Mr. Blake argued in Osgoode hall that he was a much injured man, while as counsel for the Grit party of Ontario he argues that McLaren has no grievance at all, and that the alienation of his riparian rights was an eminently wise and just proceeding. Gentlemen who combine politics and law sometimes have to take what a Hamilton editor once described as "a —— sharp curve."

DR. LAMSON'S CASE.

LONDON, April 25.—In the House of Lords to-day Earl Granville, replying to Earl Milltown, quoted precedents where the British Government made representations similar to those of the United States in the Lambson case. The United States, he said, did not interfere with the English administration of justice, but merely intimated that there might be cause for clemency. Generally a fortnight was allowed for the consideration of such cases, but as the evidence in this one came from the United States the time was somewhat extended. Had the United States interfered with British municipal law no language would have been too strong to resent the indignity, but no Minister would undertake the responsibility of declining to listen to the statement that important information was forthcoming in the case of man condemned to death. Lord Salisbury spoke in a similar strain, but deprecated any expression of opinion until the papers were seen.

A LAMENTABLE ERROR.

ODESSA, April 25.—The poorer Jews are reported to be marrying here at the rate of 150 couples a day. They imagine that if they are married land will be given them free in America or in Palestine.

EXPELLED JEWS.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 25.—Thousands of Jews who had settled in Moscow have been expelled. Prince Dolgourouki, governor of Moscow, in replying to a deputation who waited upon him, said he was powerless to aid them, having received direct orders not to assist them in any manner whatever, and therefore he must obey.

THOSE IRISH RESOLUTIONS.

LONDON, April 25.—Great excitement prevailed in the House of Commons to-night, among the Irish members over the meeting to-morrow, when a vote of thanks will be passed to Canada for her sympathy. Mr. Philip Callan's notice in the House of Commons of a question to the Ministry about the Canadian resolutions is the talk of the clubs. The Daily News says the Canadian House of Commons seems to labour under a slight misconception as to its duty to-war ls the Mother Country. America has already given us gratuitous advice, and Canada follows the precedent—perhaps improves upon it. The singular motion carried by the Canadian House of Commons is an eccentric proceeding. We prefer to manage our own affairs, and will not be dictated to by Canada. Perhaps the Canadian Legislature will recognize the fact that the administration of Ireland does not lie within its jurisdiction." The Glasgow News says:—"Canada contemplates throwing off the British yoke, and lectures us as to how to manage the Kingdom. The declaration of Canadian independence is a serious affair, showing that the separatist idea is floating in Canadian minds. We are glad the motion was rejected, as it shows that the majority of the Canadians are loyal to the British Crown. The possession of Canada is a vital necessity to the British Empire. Canada belonging to Great Britain keeps others from touching her treaties, negociated by her under the British Crown, and therefore respected. If separated she would be the vassal of the United States. Canada cannot do without us, but we should shape our policy to strengthen the mutual sympathy that exists between us." The Irish Times says:—"The action of the Dominion House of Commons is sure to cause a stir. The incident shows the attention bestowed on Irish affairs in the colonies."

AMERICAN.

BELMONT AND BLAINE.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Before the Shipperd Committee a somewhat lively scene ensued. Belmont and Blaine's controversy was suddenly brought to a close by Blaine remarking with emphasis, "I hope Mr. Belmont you will be a gentleman, I shall be one and shall treat you as such. I am not in a police court to be badgered I must answer my questions in my own way. You must not undertake to correct me." Belmont disclaimed any lack of courtsy or any design to badger and peace prevailed.

THE NORTH-WEST BLOCKADE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 25.—One train of Canadians left for Emerson last night, where they will be transported by boat to St. Vincent. The balance leave to-night. Whether they will get through remains to be seen. Immigrants from the east should not leave until word is received of the arrival of the others in Winnipeg.

YOUNG'S POINT.

THE TIGER.—The steamer Tiger has been thoroughly overhauled, and commenced the season's work on Monday last, towing logs, timber &c. C. Grills is the engineer. This little steamer will be kept busy till navigation closes.

THE CRUISER.—The Cruiser from Lakefield paid us her first visit on Thursday en route to Burleigh Falls. She carried a few passengers from Lakefield, also took one or two on board from this place. Captain Sacret looks as jolly and contented as ever. They expect to do quite a large trade this season in the passenger traffic to Burleigh Falls Hotel and for camping parties.

THE DISRUPTIONISTS' LEADER.

Those who are in favour of severing our connection with the British Empire, are now loudly hailing Mr. Blake as their leader. For instance the Port Hope Guide in an editorial in praise of Mr. Blake's recent motion says:—

"This is the first public step that has been taken in favour of Canadian Independance, we hail it as an omen of success, Canada First forever."

We know that those who favour disruption are almost to a man Reformers, but we believe that there are many members of the party who will not follow this lead.

WHEAT HIGHER IN AMERICA THAN LIVERPOOL.

The Scientific American of the 22nd of April calls attention to the extraordinary and unprecedented fact that during the forepart of April "the market rates at Liverpool were lower than those of Chicago" for grain, and that "the managers of certain steamship lines having steamers billed for early departure were in great straits for freight," and even begged for grain to be carried as ballast, "freight free," and subsequently that "a premium of several cents per hundred pounds" was offered by the agents of four lines running from Boston. Of course such an extraordinary state of affairs as this is in no way attributable to legitimate demand and supply, but simply to the wild and unjustifiable gambling in stocks which prevails on the other side of the lines and chiefly in Chicago. It serves however to prove that Chicago quotations are utterly valuless as an index of the legitimate market value of grain in Canada or Great Britain, and consequently for the purpose of comparison to which the Globe and other anti-N. P. journals are so fond of putting them.

IMMIGRANTS FROM LONDON.

A meeting was called recently by the Lord Mayor of London at the Mansion House, with a view of taking steps to raise a fund for assisting a selected number of unemployed workmen to emigrate to Canada.

Sir Alexander Galt (High Commissioner of Canada), in addressing the meeting, said the great points were to be sure that proper men were sent out, which must be done on this side, and to have assured employment for them when they arrived. In order to meet the last-mentioned requirement he had been able to submit Mr. Stephen's offer to find employment for 200 heads of families, at remunerative terms, and he was authorized by the Canadian Government to contribute for these 200 families 1*l.* per adult towards the expenses of emigration, thus reducing the cost of transit between London and Winnipeg, in Manitoba, to 8*l.* or 9*l.* per adult. No one could doubt that it was very desirable to frame some definite scheme for removing the superabundant and unemployed labour from the streets of this great city. It could not be done on a large scale all at once; but it it might be done in a tentative way, such as that; and if the experiment succeeded, others could be taken away from misery here and placed in a position not only to support their families, but even eventually to become influential members of society. What, therefore, was needed was a fund to emigrate 200 families at 34*l.* 10s. per family, or about 600*l.* As to the repayment of advances, he did not believe in giving absolute charity to any object of that kind. When a man was sent with his family to Canada, and a home was found for him there, he was morally and in every sense bound to repay the advance. That was the only way in which the scheme could be made reproductive, and there would be no difficulty under Canadian legislation in retaining a portion of their wages to repay advances made for emgrating them. So far as the Government of Canada was concerned, their agents and offices, both here and in Canada, would be placed at the disposal of any Committee that might be formed, and, as he said, a Government officer would accompany the emigrants from Quebec to Winnipeg, and see that they arrived safely and got employment. Replying to Mr. Burdett-Coutts, Sir Alexander said the emigrants need not be skilled in any particular branch of work. A man who could only use pick and shovel could get 8s. or 10s. a day, and there was an immense demand for labour of all kinds.

Sir Alex. Galt, subsequently replying to Cardinal Manning, who gave a warm approval of the scheme, said the offer of the Canadian Government to give 1*l.* per head was only in repect of the 200 hundred families who might be willing to take advantage of the offer of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. They thus treated it as an exceptional case. If emigration was to be permanent and adequate it must be on a commercial basis and a large scale.

A Mansion House Committee was formed to carry out the object of the meeting.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

The Credit Valley Round-House and Four Engines Destroyed—Loss $40,000.

TORONTO, April 25.—An alarm was rung at 2:15 yesterday morning for a fire in the Credit Valley workshops at Parkdale. The western district of the brigade responded, and when the scene was reached large volumes of fire and smoke were bursting out from the roof of the round-house. "Save the locomotives," cried a dozen voices, but all efforts in that direction were fruitless, for by this time the heat was intense. Several branches were doing good service (including those in the yard belonging to the company) in confining the fire to the round-house, which it was evident was doomed. By four o'clock the flames were subdued, but the building, a frame structure, was almost in ruins. Four engines, three of which were almost new, were standing in the house and were damaged to a very great extent. Mr. Taylor, the mechanical superintendent, estimates the loss at $40,000.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE.

At two o'clock in the morning Mr. Reid, the foreman of the yard, was going to the turn-table with an engine when he observed flames issuing from one of the doors. He promptly gave the alarm. It is believed that the fire was caused by a spark from one of the engines alighting among a quantity of inflammable material. It was learned on enquiry at the Credit Valley Office yesterday that the house and engines were heavily insured.

THE INSURANCE.

The insurance on the engines and the building is as follows:—Western, $6,500; Guardian, $8,500; British America, on the building, $1,000.

A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Bentinck Township Farmer the Victim—Found in the woods—No clue.

HANOVER, April 24.—A farmer named Wm. Miller, of the 6th concession of Bentinck, was found dead in the woods about a mile from his own house on Sunday afternoon. He had been shot through the chest. The ball entered his back and passed out of his heart. The gun had evidently been held close to his body when fired, as his clothes were burned off a large space of his back. There were two large wounds on his head, and a contusion over his eye. He was found lying on his face with his cap under it. No sign of any scuffle existed, neither was any blood found where he lay. He was evidently murdered at some distance from the spot where found, and when the bleeding had stopped, was carried there. He was in Hanover on Saturday evening, and was murdered on his way home. Dr. Landerkin, the Coroner, was notified of the murder, and with Constables Small and Carson went out to examine into the case. The Doctor has issued a warrant, and will hold an inquest this afternoon.

GILMOUR'S MILLS, TRENTON, ONT.

On May the 18th, 1881, Trenton was excited over the destruction of the Gilmour saw mill. The calamity was widespread as the withdrawal of about five thousand dollars weekly wages would affect every branch of business. For some time after our merchants especially were despondent, till work on the new mill was commenced. The number of mechanics employed all the year and throughout the winter has kept trade at its normal level. The capacity of the small mill was immediately increased by two upright gangs and run night and day. The shingle mill was started after New Years and run to its utmost capacity. The small mill has cut over two million feet of lumber this spring as much as the old mill could cut in the same time. The new mill is 172 feet long, 85 wide, 75x36 feet and south wing 120x36, two stories high and covered with painted sheet iron. The engine house is 50x26 feet having twin engines of 1500 horse power; the boiler house is 100x35 feet, having 16 tubular boilers, smoke flumes entering two chimneys stacks 120 feet high each. The Gehenna is a cylinder of iron 40 feet diameter at base, half way up it contracts to over half and rises 120 feet. Its inside will be lined with fire brick and in it will be concumed the refuse matter of the large mill. The engines were made by Macdougal of Montreal, and the boilers by three Toronto firms. The engine house and boiler house are distinct from the mill and from each other and both are destitute of a particle of wood. The walls are of brick and the roof of iron frame and sheet iron covering. The mill machinery consists of two twin circular slabbers, and one single circular slabber with a top saw for extra large logs. The twins were made by Wm. Hamilton, of Peterborough, and the single by Mr. Stearns, of Erie, Pa., all three have steam feeds. There are three immense gangs for cutting into boards made by Stearns, these are fastened to a foundation beam of oak built under twelve feet of stone work and are entirely separate from the foundation of the mill. They will cut at one time six logs of medium size, three wide and two high. The three circulars and three gangs will cut half a million feet in eleven hours. To edge the boards there are four double edgers made also by Stearns. Four lath machines are put in position to utilize the best part of the edgings, two heading machines to utilize the best of the slabs. The saws are all new and were supplied by Diston, of Philadelphia, and the belting by Hoyt of N. Y. The mill will be lit by six electric lamps and will turn out in the tour of 11 hours 500,000 feet of lumber, 200,000 lath besides headings. The refuse matter as it leaves the saws is carried to the lath room and there assorted by taking out whatever will make lath or headings, the rest is carried on to the Gehenna or large furnace which burns night and day. There are two tables for butting and assorting the lumber, which is loaded by machinery on cars drawn by two engines over six miles of elevated railway and believed in every part or the yard or to the vessels in the harbor. An average of 500 men will be employed causing a circulation of about $7,000 weekly. The mill will be tried this next week and will be in full operation by the first of May, some weeks less than a year since the old mill was burned down. The inexperienced is bewildered in the complicity of mechanism and wonders how it all can brought into harmonious action. Only a short while and the finest steam saw mill on the continent of America will be in operation in Trenton.—Trenton Courier.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. It will cure croup in a few minutes. A few bottles has often cured asthma. Colic has been cured by a teaspoonful dose. It cures with the utmost rapidity. It is really a wonderful medicine.

THE BEAUTY OF FREE TRADE.

The Lumberman's Gazette of Bay City, Michigan, says:—

"As an evidence of the beauty of free trade, it is a remarkable fact that not a single American is at present interested or engaged in the linen industry, for the simple reason that it is unprotected. Were it otherwise, and the industry developed as it would undoubtedly be, if protected against the cheap labour of Europe and the competition thereof, employment would in a short time be given to at least a million of those composing the labor element of the country while many millions of dollars would be the annual saving thereof to the coutry."

INCONSISTENCY.

The Hamilton Spectator tersely exposes as follows some of the inconsistencies and falsehoods of the anti-national advocates:—

"Reform journals are at present making the following representations:

To the farmers;

The National Policy has raised the price of manufactured good and lowered the prices of agricultural products.

To the manufacturers;

The National Policy has raised the price of labor and lowered the prices of manufactured goods.

To the workingmen;

The National Policy has raised the price of food and has not raised the rate of wages.

Reform journals get indignant if it is hinted that they do not adhere strictly to the truth.

IRELAND.

SMALL-POX has become very prevalent in Waterford.

BY a clause in an Act passed in 1878, factories are closed in Ireland on St. Patrick's Day.

THERE is a proposal for a tunnel from Ireland to Scotland, from somewhere near Donaghadee to Portpatrick.

AT Ahascragh, on Sunday, March 26th, an attempt was made to blow up by dynamite the Weston House, the residence of John Ross Mahon, Esq., agent to Lord Clonbrock.

ADMINISTRATION has been granted in Dublin to the nephews of the late Francis Wyse, distiller, Cork, who died intestate, leaving personal property worth two millions, and real estate valued at two millions sterling. The nephews are the next of kin.

STARVATION is staring in the face of the inhabitants of Innisffin and Innishark. Their population numbers 1,200, many of whom are living on one meal a day, and that a scanty one. There is every danger of an epidemic breaking out, and in a great many instances the boats and fishing-gear of those poor people have been destroyed in late storms. The matter was referred to Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Forster, but nothing was done.

A CURIOUS discovery was made on March 25th in the river running through Cork. A coffin was observed in a shallow place. It was removed by the police and found to contain some heavy stones, evidently introduced for the purpose of sinking the coffin, and a bottle. A plate on the lid of the coffin bore the inscription "Death to the Land Grabbers," and in a paper in the bottle were the words written in red ink to the effect that the direst penalty would be inflicted upon any one taking a farm from which another had been evicted. A second coffin was subsequently picked up, its contents being of a similar nature.

"DO LIKEWISE."—Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.:—"Five years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from uterine troubles. Having exhausted the skill of three physicians, I was completely discouraged, and so weak I could with difficulty cross the room alone. I began taking your "Favorite Prescription" and using the local treatment recommended in your "Common Sense Medical Adviser." In three months I was perfectly cured. I wrote a letter to my family paper, briefly mentioning how my health had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing me for them and enclosing a stamped envelope for reply. I have received over four hundred letters. In reply, I have described my case and the treatment used and earnestly advised them to 'do likewise.' From a great many I have received second letters of thanks stating that they had commenced the treatment and were much better already."
MRS. E. F. MORGAN, NEW CASTLE, MT.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

BEECHER'S FARMING.

Mark Twain Describes the Method by which Mr. Tilton's Friend is Rapidly Rising.

Mark Twain has written of Mr. Beecher's farm on the Hudson River as follows:—Mr. Beecher's farm consists of 36 acres, and is carried out on scientific principles. He never puts in a plant or a crop without consulting his book. He plows and digs and reaps and sows on the best authorities, and the authorities cost more than the other farming implements do. As soon as the library is complete the farm will be a profitable investment. But book farming has its drawbacks. Upon one occasion, when it seemed morally certain that the hay ought to be cut, the hay book could not be found, and before it was found it was too late, and the hay was all spoiled. Mr. Beecher raises some of the best crops of wheat in the country, but the unfavourable difference between the cost of producing it and its market value after it is produced has interfered considerably with its success as a commercial enterprise. His

SPECIAL WEAKNESS IS HOGS,

however. He considers hogs the best game a farm produces. He buys the original pig for $1.50, and feeds him $40 worth of corn, and then sells him for $9. This is the only crop he ever makes any money on. He loses on the corn, but he makes $7.50 on the hog. He does not mind this, because he never expects to make anything on corn. And, any way it turns out, he has the excitement of raising the hog, whether he gets the worth of him or not. His strawberries would be a comfortable success if the robins would eat turnips, but they won't, and hence the difficulty. One of Mr. Beecher's most harrassing difficulties in his farming operations comes of the close resemblance of the different sort of seeds and plants to each other. Two years ago

HIS FARSIGHTEDNESS

warned him that there was going to be a scarcity of watermelons, and therefore he put in a crop of twenty-seven acres of that fruit. But when they came up they turned out to be pumpkins, and a dead loss was the consequence. Some times a portion of his crops goes into the ground the most promising sweet potatoes, and comes up the infernalist carrots—though I never heard him express it just in that way. When he bought his farm he found one egg in every hen's nest on the place. He said that was just the reason why so many farmers failed; they scattered their forces too much. Concentration was the idea. So he gathered these eggs together and put them all under one experienced old hen. That hen roosted over that contract night and day for eleven weeks under the

PERSONAL SUPERVISION

of Mr. Beecher himself, but she could not "phase" those eggs. Why? Because they were those infernal porcelain things which are used by ingenious and fraudulent farmers as "nest" eggs. But perhaps Mr. Beecher's most disastrous experience was the time he tried to raise an immense crop of dried apples. He planted $1,500 worth, but never one of them sprouted. He has never been able to understand until this day what was the matter with those apples. Mr. Beecher's farm was not a triumph. It would be easier on him if he worked it on shares with some one, but he cannot find any one who is willing to stand half the expense and not many that are able. Still persistence in any case is bound to succeed. He was a very inferior farmer when he began, but a prolonged and unflinching assault upon his agricultural difficulties has had its effect at last, and he is now fast rising from affluence to poverty.

Laws of Branches Overhanging Neighbours.

Two persons own land separated by a line fence, which is common property between the two parties. One has an apple tree on his side of the fence, whose limbs overhang the fence on the side of the other. Apples fall on either side. The question often asked is, do the apples that fall on one's land belong to one or the other, or to both? This subject has been several times discussed, with some contradictory decisions and judgments, but the rules are now pretty well established. If the stem or trunk of the tree grows so close to the line that part of its actual body extend into each, neither owner can cut it down without the consent of the other and the fruit is to be equitably divided. If the stem of the tree stands wholly within the boundary line of the owner, he owns the whole tree with its products, although the roots and branches extend into the property of the other. There was an old rule of law that the latter might claim from the yield of the tree as much as would be an offset for the nourishment it derived from his estate, but this is now obsolete. The law gives the landowner on whose soil the tree stands the right to cut it down at his pleasure, and to pluck all the fruit from it while it stands.

In New York State the courts have decided that trespass for assault would lie by the owner of the tree against the owner of the land over which its branches extended if he prevented the owner of the tree, by personal violence, from reaching over and picking the fruit growing upon these branches while standing on the fence dividing the lands. The land of the owner over which the branches extend may lop the branches close to his line. He may also dig down and cut the roots square with his line, if he so elects. In plain terms, if no portion of the trunk is within his line he may refuse all trespass of the tree on his premises, either above the ground or below it. But if he gives the tree license to extend its roots under his soil or to hang its branches over his premises he does not thereby gain any right to its fruit. He cannot pick it for himself nor interfere with the picking by the owner, as long as the latter remains in the tree or on the fence which divides the property. This right to the fruit does not, however, permit the other owner to come upon the soil on the other side of the line to gather the fruit, and all the fruit which falls without violence to the ground on that side may thus become the property of its owner.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Heavy Damage.

ST. VINCENT, April 24.—The town is flooded on its principal streets to the depth of a few inches. Acton is a foot under water. At St. Andrew's the loss is considerable, as a wheat warehouse full of grain was carried away. All the above named places are on the river bottom. The steamer relieved a large number of refugees taking aboard large quantities of stock, which were conveyed to the high ground. At all points on the United States side of the line the water is subsiding. From St. Vincent to the mouth ice gorges and rising water are reported. The water is still falling here, and the work of repairing the damage on the flats has commenced. The washout on the Grand Forks short line of the Manitoba road between here and Fargo has been repaired, and the water in the Cheyenne River has so far subsided as to admit of the removal of a train of railway iron which was placed on the bridge to prevent its being washed away. An order was issued to-day to run the first train for two weeks over the line. The people between here and Hillsboro' have had but one mail in that time. The regular runs will all be resumed to-day.

"How do I manage to rid myself of bores?" said a woman of the world. "Nothing is easier. When I want to send a man away, I talk to him about myself. When I want him to stay indefinitely, I talk about himself."

A RELIABLE FACT.—It is an established fact that Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is the best cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, croup, bronchitis, and all troubles arising from neglected colds. Price 25 cents.

IT is estimated that if a man lives to 70 years old he passes at least 24 years in sleep. So you see a man is a pretty good sort of a fellow, one-third of the time, bad as he may be the remaining two-thirds. Let us be charitable.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL is at the head of the list for all purposes of a family medicine. It is used with unprecedented success, both imternally and externally. It cures sore throat, burns, scalds, frost bites; relieves, and often cures asthma.

TWO IRISHMEN who often made a night of it over the whiskey bottle were late one evening at their usual occupation. At length says one, seeing the supply finished—"Are ye goin' to bed to-night, or may ye be goin' to sit up till to-morrow mornin, as ye did last night?"

POPULAR DEMAND.—The great superiority of Downs' Elixir, over all other cough remedies, is attested by the immense" popular demand for that old established remedy" for the cure of Coughs, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the throat, Chest and Lungs.

A cough or cold contracted in the month of April if not speedily arrested is liable to stick to one during the whole summer. Dr. Carson's Pulmanary Cough Drops speedily cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pain and oppression of the Chest, and all Throat, Chest and Lung Affections. In large bottles at 50 cents.

IN Nevada, City Cal., boys of tender years and highly respectable parents have been found to be addicted to the vice of opium smoking. In most cases these youngsters who have joined the ranks of the unfortunates have been found to own the paraphernalia necessary to gratify their depraved taste, and the officers cannot legitimately interfere with them. There is weeping and wailing among some of the first families.

The following is the common sense treatment for a horse out of condition (in fact all horses require like treatment this time of year) a good Purging Ball followed by a course of strong tonic powder. These are both to be had in Zock's Tonic Compound and Blood Mixture, as each package contains a thoroughly good purging ball and over a pound of strong Tonic Powder. Ask your druggist about it.

In the month of April almost everyone requires a good and reliable Blood Purifier. We know of none so safe and effectual as Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They act directly on all the secretions, their purgative action carrying off all impurities from the system, they invigorate the Liver and Kidneys, purify the Stomach, cleanse the Bowels, and give strength and tone to the whole system. Try a course of this valuable, safe and reliable vegetable preparation, Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

Going to His Grave.

There he goes again direct to a saloon and pours down another heavy draught of strong drink, not so much because his appetite demands it, but for the artificial buoyancy it produces—the after effects of which leave him more miserable than before; it is this dreadful practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves. A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of temperance, the best and purest of all medicines,—Electric Bitters. Sold by Taylor & McDonald at 50 cents—5

A good article that has achieved success, and attained a world-wide reputation by its true merits and wonderful results, is always imitated. Do not be deceived, but insist on having the true remedy, and take no other. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug store. Large size $1.—5

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

The Stock Sale.

It is only on very rare occasions that the people of this vicinity are afforded such an excellent opportunity to secure full bred cattle, good milch cows, working oxen, sheep and pigs, as they will have to-morrow at Dr. Kincaid's first annual stock sale, which takes place on the Kincaid farm, North Monaghan, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. The doctor deserves great credit for his endeavors to promote the raising of good stock, and all who desire to secure extra animals should be on hand. If this sale is successful, and there is every indication that it will be, the sale will be continued annually.

The Weather.

The weather may now justly be termed spring-like and balmy, especially during the day, but at night it still keeps cool and light overcoats are not found a burden. More rain is however still required to take all the frost out of the ground and we expect to see it here before long. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate to fresh winds mostly from the east and northeast, fair weather, with light local rains to-night in southwestern portion.

Sidewalks.

The Street Inspector has his men at work laying down a new crossing at the corner of George and Murray Streets. We know full that there is a large quantity of work that requires to be done on the sidewalks this year, but we might suggest that some bad breaks on the north side of Brock Street be repaired before some person is injured. Corporations are held responsible for accidents that occur through defective sidewalks and the only wonder to us is that a large number of persons have not been injured here.

Synod Meeting.

The meeting of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, of Toronto and Kingston, commences at St. Paul's church on Tuesday evening next at 7.30 o'clock, and will probably last for three or four days. The total number of those who will be present will probably reach 150.

Port Hope Taxes.

The estimates for the current year for the town of Port Hope were presented to the council on Monday night. The expenditure is estimated at $32,619.23 and the taxes are to be 1¾ cents or 17½ mills in the dollar.

Police Court.

A summons was issued against a hotel keeper chrrged with having more billiard tables than he was licensed to keep, but a license was at once taken out and the complaint withdrawn.

Board of Education.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening at 7.45 o'clock.

F. W. & G.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee is called for this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Railway Notes.

Some half dozen railway men mostly representing American roads were in town yesterday.

Some men unloading rails from flat cars at the Midland station last night, made a fearful clatter as they rolled the metals to the ground. They are to be used in assisting to help on the Steam Excavator.

The turn table at the station was slightly injured yesterday, but was soon fixed.

A very large quantity of machinery, principally saw mill work is being shipped from here just now.

The Midland official car was in Toronto yesterday.

At a special meeting of the Port Hope Council this morning it was moved by Councillor Stevenson and seconded by Councillor Burnham, That it is of the highest importance to the commercial and manufacturing interests of our Province that the most direct access should be obtained for the Ontario system of railways to the Canadian Pacific Railway, and that in view of the change of route of the latter, by which it is brought down the valley of the Spanish River to the shores of the Georgian Bay, it is clearly desirable to form the Ontario connection by a line passing to the south and west of Lake Nipissing, as is proposed by the Ontario and Sault St. Marie Railway Company; that a memorial be sent from this Council to the Dominion Government praying that a sufficient sum be granted to the Ontario and Sault St. Marie Railway Company to secure the construction of their line to connect with the Canadian Pacific Railway at Spanish River, and that all connecting railways be granted equal running powers and traffic facilities over the subsidized railway.—Carried.

Rebuilt.

Only a little more than a year ago the far famed Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y., inaugurated by Dr. Pierce, and belonging to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, was completely destroyed by fire. The directors, however, at once set to work to rebuild it upon an enlarged scale and with all the additional improvements and conveniences which past experience could suggest, and they have now completed their work and this unsurpassed Invalids' Hotel is once more open for the reception of patients. For the information of those who are not already aware of the fact we may state that the Invalids' Hotel is pleasantly situated on Main street, Buffalo, just above and outside the business and bustle of the city. It is easily reached from the railroad depots by the street car lines. The new building is substantially built of brick trimmed with sand-stone, well-lighted, and provided with patent hydraulic elevators, so that its upper stories are quite as desirable as any. It will be provided with fire escapes and, in fact, nothing has been neglected that can add to the comfort and convenience of its guests, and make it a popular resort for the invalid and afflicted. Those contemplating a visit to this establishment, should go directly to the hotel where they will find the rooms, beds, tablefare, and general accommodations, second to those of no other hotel in the city, and whether an invalid or not, will be cordially received and provided with every accommodation.

Chatterbox.

We have received the January number of the Original English Chatterbox from the American publishers, Messrs. Estes & Lauriat, Boston, Mass. This is the children's magazine, par excellence; containing 32 pages, and 16 full page illustrations each month. It has more than a million readers in England and America. For one dollar sent by a new subscriber, directly to the publishers, they will send, post paid, Chatterbox for one year and a beautiful steel engraving of a little girl puzzling over her first sum, and entitled "Ought and Carrry One." The engraving is 18x24 inches, and sells for $3.00, thus giving every new subscriber $4.00 worth for $1.00.

Mr. Joseph Dunlop, an old resident of this district, died suddenly on Tuesday night, at Mr. Charles Fuller's place, at Sandy Point, Clear Lake. Qute recently news was received of the death, in England, of his eldest brother, Mr. Durham Dunlop.

The following appears in the legal columns of the Mail:—

"Township of Monaghan v Dobbin.—H. Cassels for plaintiff moved for an injunction. G. H. Watson contra. Stands on consent for three weeks."

Lacrosse.

The members of the lacrosse club have commenced practice. A meeting takes place to-morrow evening at the Caisse House at 7.30 o'clock to make preparations for regular practice.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review April 26.

The Temporalities Fund question was again up for discussion before the Senate Committee this morning. Speeches were made by Rev. Gavin Lang and Rev. M. Gordon. The formen wanted seven-twentieths of the fund for the non-uoionists, and Mr. Gordon claimed that the minority had been given all they were justly entitled to. The committee will arrive at a decision to-morrow.

It is stated that the supplementary estimates for 1882-3 will be brought down on Friday next. This is a sign of an early prorogation.

It is expected, though nothing definite is really known, that the redistribution of Seats Bills will be brought down this afternoon.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review April 26.

A Requisition signed by a number of prominent citizens was presented to the Mayor this morning to call a public meeting to discuss the carpenters' strike. Afterwards the chairman of the men's association and one of the employers, called upon the the Mayor, resulting in a basis of agreement being drawn up by the Mayor to submit the matter to a board of arbitration. This amendment was laid before the committee for approval and a public meeting will probably be in necessary.

A Report has been received from the Government analyist on the samples of provisions submitted for analysis from which it appears that adulteration is not practised very much. The principal adulteration is in coffee and spices in the former from 40 to 60 per cent of chicory and in the latter 15 per cent of flour. In one case however besides flour there was about 30 or 40 per cent of wheat and peas.

The Police taking advantage of an old statute of Edward the Third, raided a well-known house of bad repute last night and arrested the inmates and three men as habitual frequenters. At the Police Court the cases were remanded until Friday.

The Bentinck Murder.

Hanover, Ont., April 25.—The investigation of the Miller murder case reopened this morning. Several witnesses were examined, but nothing definite has yet been elicited. The case was adjourned till Saturday, the 29th at 2 p. m.

THE CONTENTED MAN, Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

THAT EXPLANATION.

Although the Globe has found time and space to notice a couple of articles which have appeared in these columns since we asked for its explanation of the "cause" which has rendered spring wheat relatively higher than fall wheat under the new tariff than it was under the old, to the extent of 13½ cents per bushel, it has failed to give any reply. Will the Globe condescend to explain or are we to understand that it is beyond even its power of explanation, without giving the hated N. P. more or less credit for the same.

OTTAWA,

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review April 27.

ALPHONSE MARCILE who was sentenced to death for the murder of Edward Peters and who was to be executed on Friday at Sweetsburg, has had his punishment commuted to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary. The murder was committed while the parties were out fishing together and is supposed to have arisen out af a quarrel. The prisoner was found guilty on circumstantial evidence as no one saw the crime committed and the only evidence was finding the deceased's body in the boat.

Suicide on the Circassian.

HALIFAX, April 22.—At an early hour yesterday morning the men on board the Allan steamer Circassian, which arrived here to-day from Portland, found one of the steerage passengers, a man named John Pollock, hanging by the neck from a hook. The ship's surgeon was called and pronounced him quite dead. He had fastened a piece of manilla cord round his neck and attached the other end to a beam on the steerage deck in a remote part reserved for cargo. He must have drawn up his knees to hang himself, so short was the fall. The man was supposed to be an Irishman, and had shipped at Portland for Liverpool. He was seen all right at nine o'clock the night before. No motive can be assigned for the deed. He had a well stocked chest, a silver watch, and over $260 in gold. An inquest was held by Coroner Jennings this afternoon, and a verdict of found dead under the circumstances stated was returned,

HOW THE CROPS ARE.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Times publishes over 30 columns of reports from points in the States, covering over 15,000 centres of agricultural activity. The reports show that despite the floods, frosts and backward spring the general condition of the crops with a few exceptions promises an abundant harvest throughout the country. The winter wheat will give an increased yield in nearly every State except Indiana, Ohio and New York. The last named only will produce much less than the average. Spring wheat is much more flattering in its promises, the increase being 50 per cent in some States west of the Missouri River in some of the old grain states other grains are replacing wheat, barley, oats, rye, etc., especially. In all these a large increase in acreage is reported, corn shows a very large increase. In nearly every state where it is cultivated cotton will give at least an average crop. The sugar cane crop, except in a few cases, is in a good condition and will probably be an average crop. Rice and tobacco do not shew much change. A light hay crop is expected throughout the country. There will be an increase in the average of potatoes. The fruit crop has been the chief sufferer by frost. It has about destroyed the peaches and small fruits in Maryland, and the Hudson Valley. Other fruits will yield about the average except perhaps cherries. The cattle growing interest is most flourishing. The Times received reports regarding the crops in this state from Rochester, Ogdensburg, Oswego, Jamestown, Utica, Auburn, Batavia, Marlborough, and New York.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, April 26.—In the House of Commons. Redmond in moving the second reading of the Land Law of Ireland Act, an amendment bill drafted by Healy and Parnell to the Irish Land Act of 1881, said he believed the necessity of the amendment to the Act was recognized by everybody. The bill was a crushing answer to the accuation that the Irish party desired to deprive tenants af the benefits of the Land Act. Gladstone said the Government could not support the second reading of the bill. The Land Act could not be disturbed, but this opinion did not apply to the purchase and arrears clauses of it. The latter clause certainly fell far short of its object, and should be legislated upon early in the present session. The Government would approach the question impartially, listening to the suggestions of all qualified persons, and settling the question effectually. Gladstone praised the system for settling arrears sketched in the Irish Bill, and said he knew many landlords thought settlement should be compulsory. He considered that relief should take the form of a gift and not a loan. He saw in the Irish bill the first gleam of hope on a dark subject, for although he was confident of the power of the Empire, compulsion was completly alien to the spirit of the constitution. He approved of the application of the Irish Church surplus fund for aiding tenants in arrears, but feared the fund not large enough for the purpose. Messrs. Healy. O'Shea, and McFarlane expressed satisfaction with Mr. Gladstone's statement. Mr. Forster announced that the Land Commission would issue a circular stating it is ready to send a valuator to farms where landlords and tenants agree to adopt his decision

CANADIAN IMMIGRATION.

LONDON, April 26.—At a meeting of the Mansion House Fund Committee last night to discuss the question of sending unemployed working people to Canada, Sir Alexander Galt stated he would return to Canada next week. He would communicate with his Government in regard to the emigration of these people and write to the Committee on the subject. The steamer Peruvian, which will sail from Liverpool to-morrow for Quebec and Montreal, will take 400 unemployed work people of London, who go out under the auspices of the committee for the promotion of the emigration of that class.

THE LAMSON CARE.

LONDON, April 26.—Dr. Lamson has writen a long letter to his solicitor, giving an elaborate account of his experience of mental and moral metamorphosis caused him by the continued use of morphia and atropia. He refers to the peculiar state of his mind at the time of the death of President Garfield. He concludes by expressing the belief that a scientific pathological post-mortem examination will be of service to science. Further respite has been refused Dr. Lamson. It is understood the Home Secretary, after due consideration of the latest affidavits, has decided that no ground exists justifying further delay in the execution of the sentence. Lamson will accordingly be hanged on Friday morning. The Home Office has notified all interested to this effect.

JUSTLY FINED.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. April 27.—Krohler, a Lutheran Minister, was fined $500 for sending indecent communications to his wife, from who he is separated.

INCORRECT.

TOMBSTONE, Arizona, April 27.—The capture of Galleyville and the killing of 30 men is incorrect. Only one was killed. Three miles from the town two companies of troops were stationed and at Galleyville, and the Indians did not attack the place.

SWIFT VENGEANCE.

LAKE CITY, Col., April 27.—Early yesterday a hundred masked men overpowered the guard and took from jail and hung Geo. Betts and Jim Brown, who killed Sheriff Campbell on Tuesday while he was attempting to arrest them. The men died game, Betts asking for a chew of tobacco before the rope was placed around his neck.

A Passenger Alarm on Steamers.

A suggestive Memphian thinks it practical to have an electric bell wire from the pilot-house and clerk's office attached to a bell in each state room on a steam boat. In case of a disaster like that of the Golden City a second of time counts for life or death. A sudden alarm to rouse all the sleeping passengers at once on the first discovery that the steamer is on fire would give the passengers a chance for their lives. There is always more or less dangerous delay where a messenger undertakes to awaken the sleepers by knocking on the cabin doors, and there is the risk of the messenger looking after his own safety instead of the saftey of the passengers. People who travel on the river are canvassing their chances to escape in case of fire and it would be well for owners of steamers to provide all measure within their power to secure safety for their passengers. The same precautionary plan of simultaneously and suddenly awakening the sleeping guests of a hotel could also save precious time in case of fire.

Oddfellows' Demonstration.

NAPANEE, April 25.—The oddfellows held a grand demonstration here to-day, about 600 Oddfellows from Picton, Belleville, Deseronto, Kingston, and other places being present. A good procession was formed at 2.45. The Picton and Belleville Oddfellows and Napanee cornet bands were present, each band heading theis respective lodges. The procession marched through the principal streets and back to the Napanee lodge room. The Grand Master and Secretary were present. This evening a grand concert and literary entertainment will be held in the Opera Hall. The weather being beautiful and everything arranged in good style the proceedings passed off very satisfactorily. An immense crowd of people from a distance was present.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

On Friday Mr. Blake moved in amendment to going into Supply a long series of resolutions in favour of Canada having the right to negotiate independantly for treaties of commerce with other nations and colonies. He supported his contention in a long and carefully prepared speech.

Sir John Macdonald pointed out that we had already a voice in regard to such treaties affecting our interests, and we had the prestige and power of the British Empire at our backs, which would not be the case if Mr. Blake's idea was adopted. He asked why Mr. Blake, when in power had made no movement in this direction. The opposition complained of the cost of Sir A. Galt's position, yet would have a similar official at every important capital.

After some further discussion the amendment was rejected by 101 to 58, several Conservatives voting with the minority.

Several items were passed in supply.

On Monday Mr. Wallace ventilated his paper currency ideas, giving rise to a debate, which was adjourned.

On Tuesday on motion to go into Committee of Supply Mr. Tasse referred to the abuse of the Quebec members in which Reformers indulged, and to the cry raised of French domination. He made reference, after a vain attempt to check him, to Mr. Laurier's refusal to submit the boundary question to a competent tribunal, because he feared that it would give Ontario more territory than the award did.

Several other members spoke in reference to this subject.

In answer to a complaint from Mr. Mills of the tardiness of the Government in bringing down their measures, Sir John Macdonald showed that he had brought down his measures earlier than his predecessors. The only one remaining, the Redistribution of Seats Bill, would be introduced in a day or two.

Several items were passed in Committee of Supply.

On Wednesday Mr. Anglin moved the rest of the series of Opposition amendments to going into Supply, this one attacking the cotton and woollen duties.

Mr. Blake supported him, reading letters from retailers, but refusing to give the names of the writers.

Sir Leonard Tilley confuted the figures of these anonymous letter writers.

Sir R. Cartwright also gave figures stating that a child's dress would cost 70 cents more under the N.P.

Mr. Plumb said that as Mr. Blake said the increase was a cent or a cent and a half a yard, Sir R. Cartwright must allow 46 yards for a child's dress.

The amendment was negatived by 118 to 52, and some items were passed in Committee of Supply.

THE DISALLOWED BILLS.

We are told by the Reform organs, which draw largely upon their imagination, that the Province of Manitoba is raging because of the disallowance of Provincial bills by the Dominion authorities. Yet in the Winnipeg Sun we find the following editorial utterance:—

"The veto power undoubtedly resides in the Federal Government. No person who knows anything of our Constitutions will venture to deny this. At the time that our Constitution was drawn up by Macdonald, Brown, McGee, Carter, Howe, and other members of the ablest group of statesmen that Canada has yet produced, the neighbouring States had just passed through a fearful struggle in which the Federal principal had been vindicated at the point of the sword. Constitutionally the Southern States were in the right. As time moves the mists of prejudice this will become clear to those who took an opposite view twenty years ago. The Constitution of the United States undoubtedly reserved to every State sovereign rights, the right of secession included. The assertion of this latter right meant the disruption of the Union, and in the struggle that ensued to prevent disruption, the theory of state sovereignty was overthrown forever. To prevent a repetition of that struggle in this country, the Fathers of the Canadian Confederacy, including the leading Reformers, were solicitous to buttress up the central authority. This was done by the express reservation of the veto power."

This is in reference, it is true, to Mr. Mowat's Rivers and Streams Bill, but the principle is correctly laid down, and if such dissatisfaction exists in Manitoba, as is falsely alleged, surely there would have been some reference to their own case.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondence

THE FIRST TRIP OF THE CRUISER.

As noticed in my last the steamer Cruiser made her first trip to Burleigh Falls, on Thursday afternoon the 20th instant. The Lakefield correspondents of the REVIEW and Examiner and a number of other gentlemen were invited of course being the first or trial trip. Well all hands got an early dinner in the expection of an early start, but it was between two and three o'clock before everything was got ready and a start made. Young's Point was reached, after a splendid run against a strong current of 40 minutes. The "Point" is steadily improving in appearance as well as size. Every one seemed to be busy. The steamer Tiger was at the locks apparently ready for the fray, having been almost rebuilt this spring. Some considerable time was spent at the locks, locking through, wooding up, inspecting improvement etc. Our old friend Mr. P. Young the Post-master and Lock-master at the "Point" was after a good deal of persuasion induced to join the party, but Bro. S. could not be found, he having left home in the forenoon. Burleigh was reached at about half past five o'clock. The trip had a wonderful exhilarating effect on the crowd, as every one seemed voracious. Capt. Sacret announced that five minutes only would be allowed at Jolly Jack's. A rush was made for the dining room headed by a couple of young men who seemed to be well acquainted with the premises. The lots of cake, cheese etc., and even corned beef disappeared in short order. Mine Host looked a little astonished and bewildered at first, but he soon became reconciled. The toot, toot of the Cruiser compelled the party to leave well satisfied with themselves and every one besides. The Cruiser made the return trip in about one hour and 40 minutes, which was very good running considering that it was the first trip and many parts of the engine were new.

ORANGE MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of L. O. Lodge No. 122, commonly called the old Lodge, will be held in the Orange Hall, Lakefield, on Monday evening next, the 1st prox., at 8 o'clock sharp.

MASONIC MEETING.

The regular communication of Clementi Lodge of A. F. & A. M. will take place on Tuesday evening, the 2nd prox., in the Masonic Hall, on Queen Street, Lakefield, at 7.30 o'clock.

NEW BELL.

A fine new bell has been received for St. John's Church, Lakefield. We understand that it is the intention of the authorities of the church to put the bell up temporarily until the tower of the new church can be completed. The want of a church bell since the old one broke down has been very much felt through the village. Something seems to be missing.

SUDDEN DEATH.

On Wednesday morning last the people of Lakefield were startled by the news that Mr. Joseph Dunlop was dead. The deceased was in Lakefield on Tuesday, the 25th instant, and apparently in his usual good health, and returned in the afternoon to his home on the western shore of of Clear Lake by the steamer Cruiser. About three o'clock next morning Mr. Fuller, companion of the deceased, was awakened by an unusual noise, and went at once to the bedside of the deceased and was just in time to see a gasp and all was over. Truly in the midst of life we are in death. Mr. Dunlop was widely known and very generally respected.

GARDENING.

Gardening seems to be all the rage in Lakefield at the present. All the farmers in the vicinity are very busy at their spring's work and seeding. The weather has during the last week been very cool and windy. The ground has in consequence been nearly if not completely dried, and is now in good condition to be ready for the seed, but there seems to be but very little growth in the soil as yet.

HASTINGS.

POLITICAL.—The Star says that a Young Mens Liberal Conservative Association for the Township of Percy has been organized. At their first meeting there was a good attendance and from the enthusiasm shown by those present a useful organization has been commenced. They elected J. F. Cryderman, President, Albert Massey, Secretary, and Alonzo Skinkle, Treasurer. A resolution was adopted to hold meetings at the Town Hall, Warkworth, on the second Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m., at which all young men are cordially invited to attend.

BOOMING.—The woollen factory is getting a through overhauling under the able supervision of Mr. S. Mirfield, and will in a few weeks resound with the clatter of a number of Crimpton looms which Mr. Peters has imported. Evidently Mr. P. is determined to make things hum, and we trust that the venture will be as successful as his energy and enterprise deserves.

A REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE.—Mr. George Peters, died at his late residence in Nebraska, at the same hour, and the same day on which his son, the late Mr. Robert Peters, of Dummer died. The funerals—unknown to the relatives in either place—also took place at the same hour and on the same day.

THE BRIDGE.—The timbers of the swing bridge were found on examination to be pretty badly rotten, and are being repaired by Mr. C. Wynn. We are of the opinion that if an inspection of the structure was made by the engineer he would immediately order a new one to be built.

Serious Assault.

OTTAWA, April 22.—The Free Press of this evening has the following:—Mount Sherwood has again been the scene of an outrage, which might have been a repetition of the memorable Weatherall affair, had not a fortunate circumstance interfered, as the following particulars of the affair will show:—As a resident named Mr. Brunel was proceeding home last night he was met on the road by two men named Thomas Mullen and Henry Dunbar, who were under the influence of liquor. Mullen, it seems had a grudge against Mr. Brunel, and on meeting him he accosted him with the words "You say you are a better man than me," and with that struck Mr. Brunel. The latter's brother, near whose house the affair occured, hastened to the spot and pulled his brother from them. Mr. Brunel then ran towards his home, pursued by his assailants. Fearing to enter, he proceeded on, but called to his wife "for God's sake bolt the door." Dunbar and Mullen on reaching the house immediately attacked it, firing huge stones against it, acting in a fiendish manner. One stone passed right over Mrs. Brunel's bed as she was attending to her baby. If she had moved it would undoubtly have dashed her brains out. Besides Mrs. Brunel, there were also six children in the house. The two men departed after doing damage to the house to extent of $30 or $40. Mr. Brunel earley this morning took out warrants against his assailants. Mullen was arrested this afternoon by P. C. Kane and County Constable Gorden, and was lodged in the cells. Dunbar is still at large.

Chutes for Wheat.

Chutes over dams for log and lumber driving, and slides down mountains and hill-sides for the same purpose, are common, but such appliances for running grain from mountain tops, are a novelty that Washington Territory has introduced among the utilities of industry. They are employed on Snake River. The hills on either side are so rugged and precipitous that a wagon road is an impossibility, but the great wheat country demanded that the grain should be brought to the river banks as expeditiously and economically as possible, therefore, pipes were laid up the face of the mountain, and grain is now sent down in bulk to the warehouse where it is again sacked; the price paid is $2.50 per ton for merely bringing it from the top of the hill to the boats; the pipes are of wood and are fully half a mile in length. There are four chutes in all, but one is abandoned owing to the difficulty in making a landing.—North-Western Lumberman.

LIVER, KIDNEY AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE.—A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Complaints, and has power to root them out of the system, is above all price. Such a medicine is Hop Bitters, and posotive proof of this can be found by one trial, or by asking your neighbors, who have been cured by it.

CANADIAN HORSES.

The following is a translation of part of an article on "The horses of the United States and Canada" by Baron Faverot de Kerbrech, Col., of the 23rd Regt. of Dragoons, which originally appeared in the Journal des Sciences Militaires, Paris:—

The Canadian horses have the distinguishing quality of all of them being more or less of English blood, and that none of those entirely worthless and shapeless animals are to be found among them that are so frequently to be met with in Europe. The English have continued from the time of their occupation of the country to the present time, to introduce horses from the mother country. At one time, stallions, then thoroughbred mares, or nearly so, were brought over by officers and colonists, and although the sires or dams, may not of been so remarkable as those of Kentucky, for instance yet the local breeds, especially in the West, have been considerably improved thereby. The Province of Ontario is another Normandy, from the richness of the pasturage, and the osseous and muscular development which they give to the foal. A great deal of the country stock reminds one of the horses of the French Province, but they are more regular in their lines. The types are as varied as the sizes, and the ensemble is much like what one sees in England. The head is not always as light and finely shaped as might be wished; but the neck, which is sometimes a little short, is straight and pretty well supported; the chest is deep and comes down well. The windpipe is well indicated. The back is somewhat short, the loins straight, the crupper sufficiently long, the hips are prominent. In a word, whether large or small, the animal shows blood. He is built for the saddle and made "wedge shape," broader in the hind than in the fore quarters, which makes up for his relative narrowness by his development in height.

There is a whole category of horses issued or derived from trotters in Canada West. The former have, of course, their good points and their defects; that is, they are very good when coming from trotters of the right stamp and build, but are mediocre when the produce of the flat, long, thin and blemished animals so common in the North-east of the United States.

But although these latter are a source of mischief in Canada, their influence in this respect is much less, as the "cold bloed" species have almost entirely disappeared from the Dominion.

A category of light draught horses, measuriug from 15 to 15. 1 hands, is also to be seen in Ontario. They are of peculiar build, and not so angular nor straight of line as those which approach the thoroughbred by their shape, but they are well constituted, slender, with enormous muscles in their fore limbs and the buttocks a little round in their forms, and having too much pitch in their backs, but very strong, with fine tissues, showing energy and staying power, and rapid and very active in their movements.

Larger ones, from 15. 2 to 16.1 hands, are straighter in the neck and shoulders, back and crupper, and are heavier in build, with more of a mass. They show blood, however, and are said to be full of fire and light in their gait. The English makes use of them for their artillery.

A certain number of Percheron stallions are made use of in Canada, while crossings between Clydesdales andthoroughbreds, or near thorough, are numerous. The issue of these latter coplings are large and heavy, but a great many have a good build and fine lines, but those issuing from these same Clyde stallions and fat mares, are generally enormous and shapeless heaps of meat, having only in their favor the strength and dead-weight which they bring to draughting heavy loads.

Finally, there are some very hardy, low and heavily built ponies in Ontario, that are very like those in the neighbourhood of Montreal.

As for the saddle horses, of which we have spoken above, the best and the most numerous are those standing from 15 to 15.2 hands.

Although this Province is the richest in the number and quality of horses, yet there are very few "park horses" produced. This is the cheval de luxe, of remarkable model, having length, substance and high action. This arises from a double tendency on the part of the public, who are too desirous to have the fastest trotter for the light waggon, and the largest animal for the draught. Local breeders undergo two influences that are diametrically opposite—on the one hand looking for speed, which tends to "make slender," and increase the height and length, to the detriment of strength, staying power and the limbs themselves; on the other hand, the straining after bulk, the endeavor to increase thickness beyond measure at the expense of constitution, vigor, blood and gait.

These two ways only lead further away from the cheval de luxe,, and the inevitable crossings of the derivatives of two such dissimilar types can only give products outside the laws of nature—monsters, in a word.

It is by placing more importance on the model, the chest, and the lines of the trotter, and asking for less weight, but more regularity, energy and gait in the draught horse, that we can succeed in gradually lessening the dissimilarity that separates these two extremes, so that from either side the breeder may have his park horse by the simple crossing with a stallion of good pedigree—a Norfolk or a half-bred Anglo-Norman, for instance.

The Agricultural Commission of Ontario, which is composed of men very skillful and well informed on the equine question, seems to understand the great importance there is in Canada to produce the park horse, which is even rarer than in the United States. In fact, the equine resources of England and France, which are the principal producing countries as well as markets, are becoming exhausted, and the time is not perhaps, very far distant when Europe will be glad to find a stock of fine horses in Canada.

Some intelligent breeders have obtained such in Canada West. Mr. John Coote showed us, near London, Ont., a magnificent pair of chesnut carriage horses, 16.1 hands, perfectly matched in coat, model, length, and action. The mare especially, was perfection itself. It would be impossible to find such a finished type of elegance, proportions, carriage of head and tail and ease, fire and lightness of movement.

Finally, the Agricultural Commission seems to be willing to come to the system of "approved" stallions. It would give licenses for such horses as it would approve, prizes for the best. Such a measure should produce the greatest results in Ontario, as the farmer there is always willing to be guided by persons whom he knows to be better informed than himself.

"A MAN has been sent to jail for kissing his girl good-night." This should teach young men a lesson. The will probably hereafter imitate the example of young men in other cities—that is, remain a couple of hours longer and kiss her good morning.

In the month of April almost everyone requires a good and reliable Blood Purifier. We know of none so safe and effectual as Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. THERE is a weekely newspaper in New York, the Globe, owned and published entirely by negroes. The sheet was started a few years ago by several colored men, who were practical printers, worked during the week in another office, and in spare times writing and setting up their own articles. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

Garden Hints.

In sowing garden seeds in spring do not sow too early. The ground must be warm or seeds will not germinate. Take care of plants which come up from self-sown seed. They are stronger and better, and blossom earlier than the same kinds of seeds sown in the spring. Geranium seed, if planted in pots in the house in April, will grow strong healthy plants for the next winter's flowering. They must be well taken care of, and have plenty of light and air.

Forget-me-nots, panzies, and lillies of the valley require a shaded, moist place, and rich soil to do well.

Do not sow all of a package of seeds at once; start your plants at different times, so that when the early ones are through blossoming there will be others to follow.

Going to His Grave.

There he goes again direct to a saloon and pours down another heavy draught of strong drink, not so much because his appetite demands it, but for the artificial buoyancy it produces—the after effects of which leave him more miserable than before; it is this dreadful practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves. A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of temperance, the best and purest of all medicines,—Electric Bitters. Sold by Taylor & McDonald at 50 cents—5

Beware of Them.

A good article that has achieved success, and attained a world-wide reputation by its true merits and wonderful results, is always imitated. Such is the case with Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Already unprincipled parents are endeavoring to delude an unsuspecting public, by offering imitations of this most fortunate discovery. Do not be deceived, but insist on having the true remedy, and take no other. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug store. Large size $1.—5

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Spring Business.

"Trade is good with us, and I dont think you will find anyone in our line who is complaining," said Mr. Sullivan, of Giroux & Sullivan, dry goods merchants, Cluxton's new block. "Of course, this cold weather affects our daily sales somewhat, but it will not have any effect upon the spring trade taken as a whole. When a lady is thinking of buying a spring dress and there suddenly comes a cold snap, she puts it off—that is for the time." "Then trade is prosperous and is likely to continue so?" "I see no reason why it should not. As an index of the prosperity of the country, I may say that more money is being spent and more expensive stuff being bought this year. The patterns most in request are rich, and we find such a demand for the better class of goods that it is very hard to keep up the supply. But all our stock is quite new and nice, and we are selling very cheap, which may account in some measure for our exceptionally good business."

Canoeing.

Some time ago there appeared in the REVIEW and Mail a challenge from Mr. T. Wallace, of Gore's Landing offering to paddle any man in Canada in best and best canoes. The challenge caused considerable comment here at the time it appeared, and although it is well known that Wallace is a good man, there are many others, who though amateurs are every bit as good. Now Mr. Garner Nichols, of Selwyn P. O., in this county, offers to accept the challenge thrown out on the following conditions:—

To paddle for a distance of two or three miles for $30 a side, in single hunting canoes not less than 28 inches beam and 16 inches long. The race to be contested at Lakefield, on the 1st of July next, and will allow $5 for expenses. Any communication on the matter to be forwarded to G. Nicholls, Selwyn P. O.

Perhaps Mr. Wallace will now come to the front and give his opinion of how he regards Mr. Nicholl's challenge.

Synod of Toronto & Kingston.

The annual meeting of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston of the Presbyterian Church in Canada is to be held in Peterborough next week, commencing on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock p.m., in St. Paul's Church. It is expected that there will be from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred and fifty ministers and elders present at the meeting, which will continue to Thursday evening or Friday. On Tuesday evening the order of business will be first the Moderator's (Rev. John Smith of Toronto) sermon, the election of a new Moderator, the appointment of Committees, &c. The meetings of the Synod are open to the public, and those who take sufficient interest in its proceedings are therefore at full liberty to attend.

Planting Trees.

A short time ago we threw out a suggestion that it would be a good idea for our citizens to beautify the streets in front of their premises by planting shade trees. Since that time we are pleased to notice that an unusually large number of trees have been planted and nearly all give signs of growing well and speedily. Mr. Noah Laplant has gone into the business in a wholesale manner having planted no less than eighty in front of his premises on Wednesday. The trees were all basswood procured in the neighborhood of Burleigh. They grow very rapidly and afford a good shade in a very few years.

Football Match.

A football match will take place to-morrow (Friday) afternoon at three o'clock on the cricket ground—Peterborough vs. Kingston Military College. The Peterborough team is composed as follows:—

W. D. BECK,	J. MORRIS,
J. H. CARNEGIE,	E. A. PECK,
W. J. HALLETT,	G. C. ROGERS,
MAX HAMILTON,	A. ST. A. SMITH,
G. W. HATTON,	E. SNYDER,
F. W. G. HAULTAIN,	A. WILLIAMSON,
R. MCLEOD,	A. YELLAND,

W. H. BUDDEN, Captain.

At The Oriental.

E. S. Warne, representing J. M. Treble's Great Shirt House, Toronto, is at the above Hotel. See his samples.

Railway Notes.

We understand that business is so pressing that the shunting engine that has been stationed in the yard here for some weeks is to be taken away for a time. It was very convenient and saved the men on the regular trains considerable trouble. It is probable that Conductor Morris and Engineer Henry, of the Grand Junction Division, will run the 7.40 and 9 p. m. trains in future.

The Port Hope Times says:—

"Everything is booming on the railroad and in the Midland shops. We are informed that business was never, or at least for a long time, as good at this season of the year as now. Painters are busy painting up the coaches, and it is expected that the greater part of the summer will be consumed before the renovation will be completed. A second smoking and postal car has been built, and the painters are now at work on it. It will be on the road in three or four weeks. In fact everything is lively down there. Traffic in freight over the Midland is very large and still on the increase. More power is needed as the result of this, and we understand that six new engines are to be procured. The four new ones lately purchased are being used on the Toronto & Nipissing. All the furnaces are being changed into coal burners, which means that coal is to be the fuel used exclusively. As this will be considerable of a change from the old style, it is expected that some little difficulty will be experienced by the firemen, until they get used to the new system. Mr. J. E. Lynn, an employee in the shops and well known in Port Hope, and an experienced driver, has been appointed to a responsible position, and one which he is well qualified from his ability and experience to fill. He is to be a sort of general overseer in the shops, examining cars, engines, etc., as they come in, assisting the master mechanic and performing other duties of a responsible character. We congratulate him on his promotion, and expect to see him in time in a still higher position on the road. Under good management and prosperous times, the Midland Railway must be said to have entered upon an unexampled era of prosperity."

Railway Time Table.

On and after the 1st of April, trains will arrive and depart from the Union Station as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY TRAINS DEPART at 7 and 10.10 a.m., 12.05, 4.45, 6.45 and 7.40 p.m.

ARRIVE at 8.25 and 11.50 a.m., 6.20, 9.00 and 9.55,

GRAND JUNCTION TRAINS DEPART at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

ARRIVE at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.

Travellers should note the fact that those who leave Peterborough at 4.45 o'clock p.m. cannot get through to Port Hope any quicker than if they do not leave here until 6.45 p.m. Those who do not desire to remain in Port Hope to wait for the express going east, on the Grand Trunk, can leave here at 7.40 and arrive at Port Hope in time to catch it.

Personal.

In reference to our paragraph regarding Dr. H. C. Burritt we may state that he is not able to stand the strain of country work and on that account alone he proposes removing from our midst. Dr. Halliday of Grafton, a gentleman who is very highly spoken of in professional circles, takes Dr. Burritt's practice and will occupy the same offices. Dr. Burritt does not intend to leave for some weeks yet, as at present he is not enjoying the very best health.

A Model Journal.

The Toronto World says:—

The Peterborough REVIEW is a neat, newsy and bright little daily, and does credit to the town in which it is published. Like the World it condenses the important news of the day into readable shape. This is the class of Journals that are to be the favorites of the newspaper reading public. The REVIEW is undoubtedly the best paper printed in any of Ontario's towns, and compares very favourably with a majority of the city dailies.

The Weather.

The weather has changed considerably during the last twenty-four hours and instead of being in the middle of summer we find ourselves in cold and windy weather, with every prospect of rain. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate winds, cloudy to fair weather. Higher temperatures.

The Steam Excavator.

The men have now got into the way of running the steam shovel ahead and in consequence they are making good progress. It is now away above the old quarry and is being moved ahead very rapidly. It has been found necessary to use an anchor to overcome some of the hills.

Runaway.

A runaway occurred on Wednesday that did considerable damage and occasioned some alarm. The animal was not captured until the light wagon was smashed. It belongs to one of the sewing machine firms.

POLICE COURT.

BREACH OF THE LIQUOR LAW.

WEDNESDAY, April 26.—R. Donaghue, of Ennismore, tavernkeeper, was charged by Inspector Leary, with selling intoxicating liquor on Easter Sunday, thus committing a breach of the Crook's Act.

The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. Judgement,—Fine $20 and $6.15 costs.

A SIMILAR CASE.

Mr. Tangney, of the same place and who carries on the same business, was charged with the same offence.

He too pleaded guilty and was assessed $20 and costs.

FEAR NOT.—All kidney and urinary complaints, especially Bright's Disease, Diabetes and liver troubles Hop Bitters will surely and lastingly cure. Cases exactly like your own have been cured in your own neighborhood, and you can find reliable proof at home of what Hop Bitters has and can do.

SMITH MEDICINE CO.—GENTLEMEN: I have made a trial of one box of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, with such good effect that I have no hesitation in recommending it to the public as a prompt and reliable medicine. In fact, those who use it once will always do so. Yours truly, J. HATVIE, 172 Cadieux street Montreal.

MURDER AT NIAGARA.

Murder of Patrick McCarty by Indians—Shot Through the Mouth.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 24.—At six o'clock this evening a report was circulated that Patrick McCarty, employed by Ben Sutherland, a farmer, eight miles east of Suspension bridge, New York, had been murdered by two Indians on the New York Central Railway crossing, Lockport Road, a mile east of Suspension Bridge, N. Y. Particulars of the case given by Patrick Hogan, switchman of the New York Central at the above crossing, who witnessed part of the murder, are as follows:—It seems that the Indians, whose names are Dennis Pendleton and Oliver Miller, living in Tuscarora Reservation, abont seven miles east of the bridge, had promised to pick up McCarty on their way home with their horse and buggy if he would meet them at the crossing, which he did, and when talking to those present he made the remark. "Here comes my ride," and on the arrival of the Indians after passing over the crossing a train obscured them from the view of Hogan, and on his going around to turn the switch he found McCarty struggling with one of the Indians on the road, the other being in the buggy, and saw the Indian strike McCarty twice on the face, when McCarty grabbed the Indian around the neck, and threw him down on the road, when the Indian jumped up and ran away, McCarty had his coat off, after which some severe language passed between them. The Indian returned, walked up to within ten feet of McCarthy, drew a revolver and fired, the bullet entered McCarty's mouth, in the right corner, passing into the back portion of his head, killing him instantly. The Indian jumped into the buggy with his comrade, and both drove off at a rapid rate. Detective James Travers, of New York country who happened to be in easy reach, ran down to the residence of Frank Rieger, a few hundred yards from the scene of the murder. Mr. R., who had just returned with his wife from a buggy ride, and Detective Travers started after the murderer with his horse and buggys, and overtook them just as they were stabling their horse in Pendleton's barn. The detective and Mr. Rieger secured their men before they could get away, and brought them back to the village lock-up. Dennis Pendleton would not say anything in regard to the murder, but seemed to be under the influence of liquor, and was very boisterous. His associate, Oliver Miller was more calm in temperament, and conversed with the village President John Quick; and when he was asked by that gentlemen which of them shot McCarty said it was Pendleton, but would not say anything further. The murderer Pendleton is a small man, 5 ft. 8 in. and 24 years of age. He has a very desperate and determined look on his dark face, and is well known by the villagers both as a desperate and treacherous character, and has a wife and two children. Miller is a stouter man, about 5ft. 11in., and unmarried; has a better look on his face, and from all accounts has led a far better life than Penbleton, and is supposed to be innocent of having any connection with the murder. The murdered man McCarty is 35 years of age, and unmarried. At 8 p. m. Pendleton was taken incarcerated in the Niagara Falls (N. Y.) gaol. When taken out shackled and conveyed to a carriage by an escort of four policemen, he was hooted at by a concourse of of villagers, and the feeling ran high enough to lynch him.

The question of what are the fashionable styles for gentlemen during the Spring and Summer cannot be more satisfactorily solved than by an examination of the elegant imported goods of the most celebrated English, Scotch and Irish manufacture now displayed at the Stores of

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

Damage to the Canada Pacific Railway—Untrue Reports in Ontario.

WINNIPEG Man., April 26.—Railway traffic between here and St. Paul is still interrupted by wash-outs in the vicinity of Emmerson and St. Vincent, but the transport of passengers and mails is affected by transfer to the steamer Selkirk. The detention of stock, freight, and provisions is causing great annoyance to immigrants as well as merchants, whose stocks are nearly exhausted.

EXAGGERATED REPORTS.

The Board of Trade has passed strong resolutions of censure on the authorities of the St. Paul road for neglect to provide for emergency. The Board of Trade have also complained of the exaggerated reports in the Ontario papers regarding fires and floods in Winnipeg, which are calculated to cause great anxiety in Ontario and prove detrimental to the best interests of the city and Province.

C. P. R. WASHOUTS.

Traffic has again been suspended between this city and Brandon owing to wash-outs on the Canada Pacific Railway and beyond Portage la Prairie. A construction gang are at work opening the old line, via Stonewall, which is to be used pending the permanent completion and ballasting of the Air Line. The track for many miles is fully three feet under water.

ARRIVAL OF THE G. W. R. PARTY.

The Great Western Railway party, which left Toronto and Hamilton on Wednesday of last week only arrived this morning. About five hundred are in the party, a large majority being settlers in search of land. The weather and floods have proved exceedingly unpropitious.

BELLEVILLE.

AN OUTRAGE.—On Tuesday night some one broke into Deacon's bakery and put a quantity of soap amongst the flour in the trough. This was discovered before the bread was mixed. The outrage was no doubt a trade one, as Mr. Deacon bakes for a grocer who is selling bread at 11c per loaf, while the trade generally demand 14c.

Good Detective Work.

A detective, Belonging to Pinkerton's force and disguised as a tramp, was wandering about Mifflin, Schuylkill County, recently, when he fell in with a young man named Elisha Kringle. The tramp incidently spoke of George H. Wagner, whose barn, with all the cattle, was burned a short time ago, and who has received numerous threatening Mollie Maguire letters recently. In the course of conversation Kringle told the tramp many things, which caused the detective to have him arrested on a charge of being the leader of the Mollie Maguire gang who have committed many depredations recently. He was terribly bewildered when he found the tramp was a detective. Kringle was put under bail to answer the charge at court. It is alleged that there are quite a number of others connected with the affair.—Philadelphia Times.

LAMSON HANGED AT LAST.

LONDON, April 28.—Dr. Lamson was hanged at nine o'clock this morning. He was calm and composed.

LATER.—The execution took place in the jail at Wandsworth. Only three reporters were present. The procession entered the yard of the prison at 8.55 o'clock, when the prison bell was tolling the death knell. The chaplain headed the procession, and was followed by two officials carrying wands. The prisoner, who until the time for starting was calm and composed, looked awfully pale and dejected and was very nervous. He was suppported by wardens on either side and was with difficulty able to descend the steps to the yard. He was met by the executioner at the foot of the steps. The prisoner was bareheaded. The operation of pinioning him seemed interminable. He submitted without a word, and hardly seemed to appreciate what was going on, The steps were about 60 yards from the gallows. Lamson was supported with difficulty from this point to the scaffold. He swayed backwards and forwards and stared wildly around him. When he was placed under the noose, the chaplain, who appeared much affected, then began to read a portion of the burial service, Lamson meanwhile supported by two jailors, and his legs were strapped. Just before the cap was adjusted he cast down his eyes with a look of extreme despair. When the drop fell death was instantaneous. The drop was nine feet. The chaplain remained by the gallows repeating the Lord's prayer. The body remained hanging for an hour. The usual formal inquest will be held this afternoon,

THE THOUSAND GUINEAS.

LONDON, April 28.—In the race for the thousand guinea stakes for three year olds at Newmarket to-day St. Marguerite was the winner; Shotover, the winner of 2,000 guineas on Wednesday, was 2nd, and Nellie 3rd. There were six starters.

HANLAN-TRICKETT RACE.

LONDON, April 28.—Hanlan continues steadily at work in preparation for the championship match on Monday. This morning he rowed to Barnes at a smart rate, returning more leisurely. In the afternoon he again was in his shell, and made the trip to Hammersmith and back, finishing in good shape. His general health is robust, and he manifests the greatest confidence in the coming struggle. Trickett also was out, but did lighter work. There is virtually no betting, and little or no interest is taken in the race by the general public. The result is considered a certain victory for the Canadian.

It is stated that convicts are worked outside the prison walls, in open violation of the laws of the state by virtue of a military order, by General Hancock when he commanded this depot, just after the war.

BELMONT AND BLAINE.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Times' Washington special says that while Belmont declines to say what he intends to do, it is to privately convey to Blaine his opinion of that gentleman. He says he has no idea of challenging Blaine. He has, however, determined to resign from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, as he believes the Committee have no purpose of pursuing the Shepherd inquiry to the bottom. He complains that his attempts to make the examination of Blaine thorough, were not sustained by the committee, and its members had no sympathy with his efforts, which, however, ill conceived or clumsily directed they may have been, were prepared with the idea only of ascertaining the reasons for the extreme solicitude of the Secretary of the State with regard to the Landrean claim.

PROF. HENKLE'S PLAN.

ROCHESTER, April 28.—An agreement has been made between the the Prospect Park Association of Niagara Falls, and Leonard Henkle, inventor of this city, through which the power of the Niagara River at the Falls will be made availabe to generate electric light for illuminating purposes. Henkle claims to have perfected a plan by which the electricity will be taken on underground cable as far east as Boston, and as far west as Chicago in sufficient quantity to light streets and private residences. Henkle's plan is to erect enormous hydraulic machinery on the American side just below the Falls. He is to pay the Park Assocsation a million dollars for fifteen acres of land.

THE ROYAL MARRIAGE.

LONDON, April 27.—The Royal Marriage between the Prince Leopold (Duke of Albany) and the Princess Helena of Waldeck took place at St. George's Chapel, Windsor, to-day. The proceedings were of an unusually interesting character, and the attendance of Royal guests and distuinguished visitors was exceptionally large which bore testimony to the popularity of Her Majesty the Queen's youngest son. Many of the guests have been lodged during the past few days at Windsor Castle or at Frogmor House. A deep blue sky, fine April weather, a warm spring day, contributed to the success of the ceremonial pageant brightened as it was by a profusion of gay decorations, flags, bunting, etc. The old historic town of Windsor put up its shutters, and went in for a regular holiday. All ordinary business was suspended, and the streets crowded with visitors. Salutes were fired during the day at different parts of the country. The men-of-war at Portsmouth, Plymouth, and other naval ports were gay with flags.

THE GERMAN REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, April 27.—The Emperor William's speech at the opening of the Reichstag to-day expresses the utmost confidence in the continued maintenance of friendly-relations with foreign powers. It strongly advocates the tobacco monopoly, as the best substitute for oppressive direct taxes, and announces the introduction of workingmen's insurance.

LONDON, April 27.—Advices from Pietermaritzburg state that a serious crisis exists in Zulu affairs. The negotiations are suspended until a conclusion on the points has been arrived at. The French have been made aware that no propositions will be admissable which place the trade of England at a disadvantage compared with that of France.

A. G. T. R. GOBBLE.

LONDON, April 27.—A special cable despatch to the Globe says that at a meeting of the Great West Board Lord Grey said owing to the opinion expressed by the shareholders the Board of the Western were willing to adopt the principle of fusion with the Grand Trunk. Mr. Abbot moved in amendment that, the Grand Trunk shareholders being unwilling to leave the direction of the affairs of the Company to the present Board, the following gentlemen be elected members of a new Board to carry into effect the Grand Trunk proposals:—Lord Bury, President; Doughty Brown, Director of the London, Tilbury, and South End Railway; Col. Chamlin, Great Northern; James Charles, Great Eastern; Maj. Dixon, London, Chatham, and Dover Railway; John Marnham, retired stock broker; and the Board retain the present Secretary. The Chairman stated that the meeting had no legal power to elect a new Board, but the present Directors would resign if the shareholders desired. Mr. Abbot's resolution was carried by a large majority. Lord Grey stated that as soon as the new Directors presented themselver the old Board would retire.

ROBBERY OF A TRAIN.

HORNELLSVILLE, April 26.—Last night when an Erie train was stopping here to allow the passengers to take supper, and while most of them were out of the cars four or five men surrounded William Driscoll, of Leighton, Pa., and robbed him of over $600 in money, which he had in an inside pocket. Driscoll, who is a cattle drover, was returning from Buffalo, raised an alarm, but the robbers escaped and the drover proceeded homeward on the same train.

In A Trance For Nine Days.

A strange story, vouched for by truth-telling people comes to us from Franklin County. A few weeks ago Maggie Kingsley of Bombay, Franklin county, became ill from grief at parting with her brother, who had just quitted home. At length she apparently died. Animation appeared to be wholly suspended, but as she had once before lain in a trance, burial was delayed. On the ninth day, her friends having given up hope, her body was prepared for burial. During these preparations life returned, and she is now recovering. Miss Kingsley is a niece of William C. Kingsley, of Brooklin.—Carthage Republican.

THE N. P. vs. THE MILLERS.

ALTHOUGH we have always been at a loss to understand how the National Policy could prove injurious to the milling interests of the country yet such is the force of oft repeated assertions that we had almost come to believe that the N. P. had proved injurious to our millers. That such however has not been the case the trade and navigation returns afford the amplest evidence.

In the first place we learn from these returns that the gross imports and exports of flour for the Dominion has been as follows for the last five years viz :—

	Imports.	Exports	Excess Ex.
1877.....	549,063	276,439	———
1878.....	314,520	479,245	164,725
1879.....	315,044	580,776	265,732
1880.....	113,035	561,484	448,449
1881.....	236,433	501,455	265,022

So much for the Dominion taken as a whole, but to fully appreciate the change which has taken place during the last five years we must come a little nearer home, and take the figures for those sections of the Dominion in which we are more directly intrested, namely those of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island combined :—

	Imports.	Exports	Excess Ex.
1877.....	508,751	276,419	———
1878.....	282,813	479,180	197,367
1879.....	279,088	580,726	301,638
1880.....	77,388	561,479	484,091
1881.....	190,999	501,214	310,215

With these two sets of figures before us it cannot be disputed that the output of Canadian mills has been largely increased of late, for the purpose of foreign shipment and independent altogether of the home consumption of Canadian ground flour which has taken place during the same period, as evidenced by the following figures of imports and exports for the Maritime Provinces :—

	Imports.	Exports	Imports over Exports
1877.....	198,480	10,791	187,689
1878.....	156,592	9,031	147,561
1879.....	172,839	8,316	164,523
1880.....	42,133	8,041	34,092
1881.....	36,512	7,870	28,642

Now here is a falling off in imports which is equivalent to an increased consumption of Canadian ground flour—which in this istance means Ontario and Quebec—of from 120,000 to 150,000 barrels per annum in the Maritime Provinces alone.

Of course the figures given in the first tables are more or less influenced from year to year by the character of the crop of each year, but this element is not material to the issue now under consideration, because the question is not so much what has caused more flour to be ground in the country as the fact that more has been ground under the present tariff than the previous one. These figures prove that more must have been ground because more has been shipped out of the country, after deducting the importations, while the last set of figures prove that the manufacture of at least four-fifths of the flour consumed in the Maritime Provinces has been transferred from American to Canadian mills. Under these circumstances if any miller, or the mills of any particular locality have reason to complain that they cannot do as well now as they did under the old tariff, it is evident that they must look for the cause elsewhere than to the tariff. Either they are not keeping pace with the times in the matter of machinery etc. or they are labouring under some difficulty special to themselves—and if so they are labouring under difficulties which no Government legislating for the people as a whole—legislating for the millers of Canada, and not especially for those of Peterborough or any other locality within the Dominion,—dare attempt to remedy.

FALSEHOODS AND INFERENCES.

THE Globe informs us that it was strictly correct when it said that the tariff forced Mr. R. HAY to cut down wages, though members of that firm told the Globe interviewer that "wages have increased," and that "wages are higher than in 1878 by between 10 and 15 per cent." In fact the Globe is forced to admit its untruth, and to own that there has been an increase in wages, but tries to cover up its wilful and deliberate falsehood by the "inference" that if taxes were reduced wages would rise above their present level. It also quibbles about a former reduction of wages, as if the question was not as to the present time.

No one objects to the Globe drawing "inferences" if it adheres to the facts, but to falsify the facts and then draw "inferences" from its own figments, is the act of a pettifogging trickster, not that of an honest journalist with a good cause to advocate.

THE YACHT ATALANTA.

Arrival of Her Owner from Canada and the Changes to be Made in Her Rig.

Captain Cuthbert, owner of the Canadian yacht Atalanta, of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, which was beaten by the yacht Mischief of this city in a race for the Queen's Cup, arrived from Canada this forenoon, and was found by a Telegram reporter on the deck of the Atalanta, in Communipaw basin, Jersey City. The captain, who is looking well and hearty after his winter's absence, when asked as to what he intended doing with the Atalanta the coming season, said : "The first thing I am going to do is to put her in proper shape. Last year she was over-rigged, because I expected to race with the Pocahontas, which was similarly rigged, but when I found that I had to compete against the Mischief I felt that I would have to race under very disadvantageous cirtumstances. Besides, my yacht was improperly ballasted, and my men being strangers were not as efficient as men accustomed to these waters would have been."

"What changes will you make in the Atalanta ?"

"I shall make many radical changes. In the first place seven feet will be cut off her mainmast, which is four feet longer than is necessary, and a top mast four feet longer than at present, will be added. Four feet will be cut off the bowspirit and the main boom will be reduced three feet in length. The floor will be raised three inches, so that all the ballast can be placed below it, instead of being stored in the bilge."

"What concerning her sails ?"

"The mainsail and jib will be slighty reduced in size and a large, square-headed gafftopsail will be carried in light weather, while the present gafftopsail will be cut down to the dimensions of a working gafftopsail and the baloon jibtopsail will be enlarged."

"What other changes will you make ?"

"The present tiller will be replaced by a wheel, and instead of stone ballast, which she carried last year, I shall ballast her with iron cast to fit between the frames, and instead of twenty-eight tons, as last year, I shall only carry eighteen tons of ballast, which, I think will be sufficient with the reduced spars. All this work I shall do on her where she now lies, but towards the end of the next week I shall take her over to Gowanus, have her drawn up on the marine railway and have her hull planed smooth and polished."

"When will she be ready for use ?"

"In two weeks I expect to have all the above changes made, when I shall be ready to participate in any regattes or cruises to which I shall be invited. As to sending or receiving challenges I shall wait until I see how my yacht behaves after being altered before saying anything about that."—N. Y. Telegram of Tuesday.

THE BUCK LAKE MURDERER.

Vankoughnet Found Guilty and Sentenced to be Hung on June 28.

KINGSTON, April 25.—When the judge entered the court this morning he looked pale. Vankoughnet was led in and while being conducted to the court from the jail he cried hysterically. He sank into his seat, buried his face in his handkerchief and wept.

Henderson asked for the sentence of the court.

His lordship asked Vankoughnet if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him.

With tears streaming down his cheeks Vankoughnet said : "Well, I have been foolish in my time. I have been led through the country like you would lead a horse. I wish you all to have mercy on me—poor, worthless creature like me."

His lordship said : "After a long, a patient trial, and after being ably defended, the jury have found you guilty of the murder of John Richardson. It is clear that you stole his gun"—

Vankoughnet—"Your honor, I cannot hear what you say."

In a louder voice his lordship continued ; "It is clear that you waylaid him and deliberately shot him. The jury have found you guilty with a recommendation to mercy. That recommendation cannot affect the sentence, but I shall send it to the proper authorities. In the meantime I adjure you to prepare for your Creator. You will have every opportunity to consult your minister, your spiritual adviser. I earnestly implore you to lesten to his teachings. The sentence is that you will be taken to the place from whence you came, and there kept until the 28th day of June next, and then between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., to the place of execution, and to be hanged by the neck till you are dead ; may God have mercy on your soul."

Vankoughnet, when the sentence was pronounced, broke into a paroxysm of grief, and was led from the court weeping.

To Ambitious Mothers.

Sir John Macdonald is 67 ; Edward Blake will be 50 next October ; Mr. Mackenzie is 60 ; Sir Charles Tupper will be 61 in July ; Mr. Mowat is 62. All are Canadian born except Mr. Mackenzie. Mr. Mowat once studied law with Sir John. None of them are bald headed—all of them have a superabundance of hair, and what is somewhat remarkable all part their hair on the wrong side. So mothers who are ambitious that their sons should be premiers and such should begin the good work of parting their sons' hair on the wrong side.—World

Horrible Fatality in a Sawmill.

NEWBRIDGE, Ont., April 26.—A sad and fatal accident occured this morning about half-past seven at John Gale's sawmill, sixth line, Wallace. A man named Jacob Bender, while tail sawing, was caught by a slab and thrown across the saw, severing the head and one arm from the body, cutting the heart in two, causing instant death. Deceased leaves a wife and three small children.

Going to His Grave.

There he goes again direct to a saloon and pours down another heavy draught of strong drink, not so much because his appetite demands it, but for the artificial buoyancy it produces—the after effects of which leave him more miserable than before ; it is this dreadful practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves. A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of temperance, the best and purest of all medicines,—Electric Bitters. Sold by Taylor & McDonald at 50 cents—5

Beware of Them.

A good article that has achieved success, and attained a world-wide reputation by its true merits and wonderful results, is always imitated. Such is the case with Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Already unprincipled parents are endeavoring to delude an unsuspecting public, by offering imitations of this most fortunate discovery. Do not be deceived, but insist on having the true remedy, and take no other. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug store. Large size $1.—5

THE DOMINIE'S OVERTHROW.

Ye who wish a teacher punished,
If he dare to strike a finisher
Rogue, in likeness of an urchin, in this land of liberty,
Listen to a touching story
Of a master, in his glory
Forced to kneel before his subjects—He!—the mighty dominie.
Ah! too well do I remember
That bleak school-room in November,
Blue and green its walls were painted by the damp that through them soaked.
Through the roof the rain was leaking,
Up the floor thin mice came squeaking.
In the wind the doors hung creaking, and the little chimney smoked.
On the day that clearly rises
O'er my mind, the exercises
Had begun, a class was falling into line along the wall;
Through the noise of book-leaves rustling,
Came the faintest sound of whistling,
As a shivering ragamuffin blew into his fingers small.
"Who is that!" the master shouted,
Glaring, for a while he doubted,
Till the wretched culprit, trembling, hid his face behind his book.
Then his victim grimly eyeing,
Hair and beard and coat-tails flying,
Down the aisle the master thundered, and the ancient building shook.
Not a moment lost in talking,
Pouncing on him like a falcon,
By the neck he seized and dragged him, whimpering from the other boys.
On his desk, prepared for using,
Lay his canes—the stoutest choosing,
"Now I'll warm you!" roared the master, "up your hand and stop your noise!"
Then, without an instant's warning
Like a bolt from sky of morning
From the roof a sheet of plaster, broad and long as any door,
On the master's head decended,
As he stood with cane extended,
Broke into a thousand peices flying far across the floor.
Reeling wildly, blindly groping,
From his hand the big cane dropping.
All the room with laughter ringing, on his knees the master fell.
Nothing so revives as laughter
As the boys a minute after
Found to their dismay. What followed, oh, it is to sad to tell!

PORT HOPE.

KICKED BY A HORSE.—The Times says that on Wednesday afternoon, between 2 and 3 o'clock, during the progress of the Hope Spring Show, Mr. Wm. Pratt, who lives on what is known as the Webster farm, near Hagerman's Corner's received a terrible kick in the abdomen, from the imported draught stallion "Scottish Champion," owned by Mr. Geo Cockburn. The horse was trotting around the ring, and the spectators kept crowding in to see, Mr. Pratt being shoved forward. As the horse turned, he kicked with both feet, striking Mr. Pratt, who was standing directly behind and very near him. Had he been standing a little farther away he certainly would have been killed. He was picked up by several of those standing near, and walked to the first sidewalk, where he sat down for a time. From there he was taken to Mr. McNaughton's saloon, and stretched upon a lounge in the refreshment room. Doctor Powers was immediately sent for, and attended to his injuries. Upon raising his head to take a drink, he fainted away, and it was thought the kick had proved fatal, but he soon recovered again. Although greatly changed in appearance he was not suffering much at the time of writing, and his chances depend, no doubt, upon whether or not inflammation can be prevented. Mr. Pratt is about 60 years old, and was not very robust. He has a son living in Englishtown, and it was his desire to be taken there. It was decided as soon as possible to have him carried to his son's place.

OPERATION,—PRESENTATION.—About two months ago, Miss Ridley, well-known to many of our readers as a skilful sick-nurse, while putting a stick of wood in the stove, ran a splinter into one of the fingers of her right hand, and the wood not being entirely removed, a very sore hand was the result. Dr. Clemesha was called in, and finding in impossible to effect a cure, he finally decided, in order to save the hand, the finger would have to be removed. Assisted by Dr. Powers, Dr. Clemesha performed this painful operation, entirely removing the bone from the hand, since which time Miss Ridley has greatly improved, and hope is entertained that the usefulness of her hand will not be impaired. The operation was the more difficult to perform owing to the fact that the patient was in such feeble health that at one time little hope was entertained of her recovery. The doctors are deserving of the highest praise for their skill and liberality, as they made no charge for their services. As Miss Riley began to recover somewhat, a pleasing surprise was given her, by some lady friends presenting her, on behalf of a number of our citizens, who hold her in highest esteem, with a purse containing $75.00, which sum has since been augmented by an additional $5.50. This timely donation will prove of great value to Miss Ridley, who requests us to express her heartfelt gratitude to all who contributed.

LIBERAL.—Mr. Geo. McGaffey has obtained in subscriptions, $140 for Mr. McVinney, who was lately burned out on Protestant Hill. This will be some relief in the serious loss he has sustained, and is creditable to those who have made themselves interested in his behalf.

A CANDIDATE.—Mr. David Marshall announces that he will be a candidate for the House of Commons in the next general election against Col. Williams, in the event of there being no party contest.

ALMOST FATAL.—Mrs. Pym, Victoria street, and her grandchild, on Monday last, went out to Mr. Truscott's farm in Hope, near Quay's crossing, for the purpose of purchasing seed grain. In coming down a steep hill on the road the horse began to kick, breaking the harness and the shafts. The latter falling, stuck into the ground, upsetting the waggon and throwing Mrs. Pym out. While in this position, the horse kicked her severely in one arm, and one of the waggon wheels passed over her head, and sliding off, bruised her face badly. At last accounts, she was suffering considerably, but nothing serious is anticipated.

NORWOOD.

DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT.—The Register says that the Stanton, Nebraska, Register of the 6th inst., contains the following:—"Uncle George Peters, well known to almost every citizen of this county, died last Tuesday night, at a ripe old age. His funeral took place this afternoon, and many friends followed his remains to their last resting place."

Mr. Peters was formerly a resident of the township of Asphodel. His numerous relatives in this section have our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement.

"READY MADE" DWELLINGS.

A gentleman in Ottawa, Ont., has entered into a speculation which might profitably be taken advantage of in this region. It is nothing else than the construction of wooden dwelling houses in sections all ready to be put in position in readiness for occupancy. These houses being built at Ottawa, are intended for Winnipeg and other places in Manitoba, where they are to be transported on flat cars. Some of them are to be sold, and some of them are owned by the builder, who intends when they reach their destination to rent them as a speculation. The buildings are to be built in a substantial manner in sections to fit flat cars, and with a special view to being easily put together when they arrive at their destination. It is calculated that two or three men will be able to put one of these buildings together in a couple of days, which when erected, will be large enough for an ordinary family. The size projected by the gentleman who is entering into the speculation, as being most desirable and most convenient for transportation is 18x22 feet for the main building and a kitchen attached about 14 feet square. We can see no reason why this could not be made a profitable business investment in this vicinity. Lumber could certainly be procured at first cost, and the manufactured buildings could be loaded here for shipment to any portion of the great west. It is well known that buildings have and are being erected in some of the western territories, which are barren of native timber, from lumber procured at Chicago, which city gets a large proportion of its stock from the city and other portions of Michigan. As thes building of the size alluded to could be built in sections, here, by machinery much cheaper than they could be constructed by hand from the rough, at the point of destination, and as the transportation of the completed building would cost much less than the rough material from which it is built, a project of the kind alluded to seems quite feasible, and could be made a paying business, from the fact that there would be no lack of demand at the points for which they would be intended. But the business would not be confined simply to supplying the territories into which lumber has to be imported, but a demand would undoubtedly spring up for them even in the thickly wooded countries all along the lines of the different railroads, because of their adaptability and cheapness, especially in cases where farmers adjacent to the lines of railroad reach a position whereby they are enabled to supercede their log huts of the pioneer days with something more convenient and attractive. The project is at least worthy of consideration by parties who have idle capital and are seeking an investment of the same, as it would not only furnish the investment sought, but probably a profitable source of employment.—Lumberman's Gazette.

Mr E. M. Chadwick writes to the Toronto Mail in reference to the deficit in Mr. Fisher's accounts, and says:"

"In Justice to his family and many friends, I wish to state that we are confident that when the facts are fully ascertained they will appear in an entirely different light from that in which they are at present before the public."

SENATOR R. GREEN HAYS, of Louisville, Ky., thus refers to his experience. St. Jacobs Oil cured me of a sprained back, accompanied by rhumatic pains. From what I understand, St. Jacobs Oil never fails to cure. It is wonderful in its action."

GOOD HEALTH.—Keep the Stomach, Liver and Bowels in good order by the use of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters and perfact health will be the result.

A cough or cold contracted in the month of April if not speedily arrested is liable to stick to one during the whole summer. Dr. Carson's Pulmanary Cough Drops speedily cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pain and oppression of the Chest, and all Throat, Chest and Lung Affections. In large bottles at 50 cents.

POPULAR DEMAND.—The great superiority of Downs' Elixir, over all other cough remedies, is attested by the immense" popular demand for that old established remedy" for the cure of Coughs, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the throat, Chest and Lungs.

LIVER, KIDNEY AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE.—A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Complaints, and has power to root them out of the system, is above all price. Such a medicine is Hop Bitters, and posotive proof of this can be found by one trial, or by asking your neighbors, who have been cured by it.

The following is the common sense treatment for a horse out of condition (in fact all horses require like treatment this time of year) a good Purging Ball followed by a course of strong tonic powder. These are both to be had in Zock's Tonic Compound and Blood Mixture, as each package contains a thoroughly good purging ball and over a pound of strong Tonic Powder. Ask your druggist about it.

In the month of April almost everyone requires a good and reliable Blood Purifier. We know of none so safe and effectual as Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They act directly on all the secretions, their purgative action carrying off all impurities from the system, they invigorate the Liver and Kinneys, purify the Stomach, cleanse the Bowels, and give strength and tone to the whole system. Try a course of this valuable, safe and reliable vegetable preparation, Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medicinal properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions, for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souvielle's invention that lung disease are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to Dr. M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal, and branch office 75 Yonge Street, 1 door north of King, Toronto. All letters must contain stamp for reply. d64-w11

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Fishery Guardians.

The following guardians were appointed by the department of marine and fisheries on the 17th inst.:

Patrick Leonard of Ennismore, for Pigeon, Buckhorn, and Chemong lakes.

William Falls, of Bobcaygeon, for Sturgeon lake, from Bobcaygeon to Sturgeon Point.

Timothy Corbett, of Verulam, from part of Pigeon lake around to Pigeon Creek and up to Omemee.

Fremont Crandell, of Sturgeon Point, from Sturgeon Point around to Fenelon river, and round the upper end of Sturgeon lake and river to Lindsay.

The salary is $40 each for the season.

The following circular from the commissioner of fisheries at Ottawa will interest sportsmen: Pickerel, maskinonge and bass, cannot be caught from the 15th of April to the 15th of May. Speckled trout, brook or river trout from the 15th of September to the 1st of May. Salmon trout and lake trout from the 1st to 10th of November. Whitefish from the 1st to 10th of November. Net or seine fishing without net, is prohibited. Nets must be raised from Saturday night until Monday morning of each week. Nets cannot be set or seines used so far as to bar channels or bays. Indians are forbidden to fish illegally the same as white men. Each person guilty of violating these regulations is liable to fine and costs, or in default of payment is subject to imprisonment. No person shall, during such prohibited times, fish for, catch, kill, buy, sell, or have in possession any of the kinds of fish mentioned.

The Football Match.

The Kingston Military College Cadets Football Club arrived on the noon train on the Midland and are quartered at Faucher's Hotel. A finer looking or more gentlemanly lot of young men never visited Peterborough, and they are a credit not only to the Limestone City, but to the Dominion at large. After dinner they spent an hour or two in seeing the sights, and express themselves as surprised and delighted with everything they have seen. They look somewhat heavier than the local team and will doubtless give a good account of themselves. The following are their names and weights:—

"Forwards, Davidson, R., 141 pounds; Duff, 154; Greenwood, 155½; Joly, 184; Neyland, 161½; Stairs, 154; Van Straubenzie, 142½; Von Iffland, 155. Quarter-backs, Taylor, 177½ pounds; Campbell, 140. Half-backs, Hooper, 152 pounds; Carruthers, 150; Weller, 165. Backs, Twining, 160 pounds; Woodman, 160."

The Kincaid Farm Stock Sale.

Dr. Kincaid's first annual stock sale, conducted by Mr. C. Stapleton, on Thursday, was well attended and was very successful. There was a large crowd present and the competition was lively, so that the prices were very satisfactory, the receipts amounting to over $3,000. We are glad to hear of the success of the doctor's enterprise, and no doubt he will be induced to continue it. He has, with his usual energy, taken advantage of the enhancement of farm stock caused by the National Policy and by the growing export trade to Europe, and has thus set an example to many of our farmers which they will do well to imitate.

Lacrosse.

A meeting of the Lacrosse Club took place at the Caisse House, on Thursday evening. There was a large attendance of members. After the transaction of considerable routine business it was decided that the regular practise nights during the season, should be Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, commencing at seven o'clock each evening. Fifteen new members were elected making seventy altogether this year. The club is now in fine shape and will doubtless show a good record when the snow flies again.

Personal.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun is on the staff of the Queen's College Journal, Kingston, which will be printed at the office of the News during the coming college year. We hope he will find the position a bed of roses free from thorns.

Mr. Rubidge, who has charge of the Trent Valley Canal Survey, is in town on business connected with that great waterway.

Railway Notes.

Mr. Lumsden, of the Ontario & Quebec, has spent the greater part of the past week in the neighborhood of Norwood estimating the cost of station grounds and right of way. Reeve Pearce is assisting him. This looks like business.

The chief and other members of the surveying or locating staff of the Ontario and Quebec Railway are continually running up and down the line, being here sometimes as often as three times a week. They are certainly doing something, but what that something is we know not. Work on the eastern section, we are told, is being rapidly pushed forward and before many months pass we are assured that things will be just as lively at this end of the line, and we only hope that such will be the case.

The Register says that Mr. Frank Sandy left Norwood on Monday last for Peterborough, to fill a position in the head office of the Midland Railway in this town. Frank has, during his residence of seven years in Norwood, made a great number of friends, who all deplore his departure exceedingly and with whom we join in wishing him every success. Prior to his departure he was entertained at a complimentary supper by a large number of his friends.

Up to April 19th six vessels from Chicago carrying 140,000 bushels of corn for Europe had arrived at Midland harbour, and the Eastern States, and 40,000 bushels for local consumption at Toronto. It is expected that the average receipts for the season will be 15,000 bushels per day. The United States customs officials are already established at Midland, and instructions have been issued from the Canadian department to make Midland a port of entry. This new route for grain carriage promises to become very popular, as it furnishes outlets to Lake Ontario by way of Toronto, Whitby, Port Hope and Belleville.

The Midland Railway with their usual liberality have arranged to issue to all parties producing a concert ticket for the Guerney Listeman concert here on Wednesday next. a return ticket fom Port Hope to Peterborough, for the small sum of 40 cents good to return on the following morning Thursday May 4th.

The News wants a postal car attached to the 10.20 Midland train going north. It would be a great convenience.

The Lindsay Post says that Mr. A. Rutherford, Peterborough's colossal contractor, was in town for a few days. He looked over the architectural beauties of the town and was favorably impressed with Lindsay's importance. Mr. Rutherford has been a town councillor for nineteen years and moreover chairman of several important committees. When it is decided to salary city fathers Coun. Rutherford will have wallets of back pay coming to him.

The News says:—

"Mr. W. B. Ferguson, Superintendent of the Midland Railway, has been moving his household furniture to Peterborough this week. He is the kind of citizen that Port Hope can ill afford to lose. His many friends regard with great satisfaction his promotion to the Superintendency of the amalgamated lines. We have no doubt but that in his more enlarged sphere he will acquit himself to the entire satisfaction of the management of the road."

Mr. Ferguson is an old resident of Peterborough and in common with his legions of friends we welcome him back, and we may further state that we have room for any number of such citizens.

Railway Time Table.

On and after the 1st of April, trains will arrive and depart from the Union Station as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY TRAINS DEPART at 7 and 10.10 a.m., 12.05, 4.45, 6.45 and 7.40 p.m.

ARRIVE at 8.25 and 11.50 a.m., 6.20, 9.00 and 9.55.

GRAND JUNCTION TRAINS DEPART at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

ARRIVE at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.

Travellers should note the fact that those who leave Peterborough at 4.45 o'clock p.m. cannot get through to Port Hope any quicker than if they do not leave here until 6.45 p.m. Those who do not desire to remain in Port Hope to wait for the express going east, on the Grand Trunk, can leave here at 7.40 and arrive at Port Hope in time to catch it.

The Weather.

The present wet weather is good for the farmers and vegetables, but unsuitable for those residing in town who are compelled to be out very much. Already the grass is assuming its proper hue, and all agree that things must grow now. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Fresh, strong, westerly, verging to northwestly or northerly winds. Fair weather preceded by local showers.

Council Meeting.

A special meeting of the Town Council is in progress as we go to press. The question before the Board is the matter of asking the Dominion Government to subsidize the Ontario and Sault Railway. They passed a resolution to memorialize the Government in favor of granting a subsidy to the Ontario and Sault St. Marie Railway.

Query.

The Port Hope News says that a Lacrosse club has been organized at Millbrook, and the members are settling down to work, in order to clean out Peterborough. We may ask if the News refers to the fifth or sixth twelve of Peterborough? For certainly it can't mean any above those named.

The Waterworks.

On Thursday the carpenters commenced framing the flume to convey the water to the wheel at the wheel house for the waterworks. The construction is to be pushed forward without delay.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL is at the head of the list for all purposes of a family medicine. It is used with unprecedented success, both internally and externally. It cures sore throat, burns, scalds, frost bites; relieves, and often cures asthma.

FEAR NOT.—All kidney and urinary complaints, especially Bright's Disease, Diabetes and liver troubles Hop Bitters will surely and lastingly cure. Cases exactly like your own have been cured in your own neighborhood, and you can find reliable proof at home of what Hop Bitters has and can do.

THE RAILROAD BOOM.

To the Editor of the Review:

SIR,—The largly increased amount of business transacted by the Midland R. R., is, of course, a fine thing for the Company, and a good thing too, for the lumbermen and merchants of the town, but the screech of the steam whistle from soon after 4 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night, has become a dreadful nuisance to such as are not connected with the road or with the business transacted through it. What I chiefly complain of, just now, is the disturbance caused by the steamwhistle at 4.30 a. m., for the purpose, I suppose, of announcing the arrival of a lot of empty trucks. Surely the managers of the road should have a little consideration for people who do not want to be awakened at that early hour, and who, when awakened, have not time to snatch a few minutes of sleep again before other trains are on the move and other engine drivers blowing off steam.

Peterborough, April 28. A VICTIM.

Straw for Fuel.

The Mennonites are nothing if not economical. They would have to be placed in a desolate land indeed where they could not get a living. Set a Mennonite family down on a sage brush desert and they would contrive some way to keep the wolf from the door, and thrive at that. They think it is because the good Lord is with them, but it is probable that it is because a stingy economy has quickened their instincts in the direction of making something out of next to nothing. The American Agriculturist says: The Mennonite immigrant, when choosing a locality, is quite unconcerned at the total absence of timber, and will settle many miles from any wood or coal, with indifference as to the fuel question, in localities where an American would never think of making a farm. He sees fuel for a year in miles of grass about him; the second and succeeding years he will have the straw from his crops, and straw stacks are his favorite substitutes for the wood pile and coal bin. We first saw straw in use for fuel in the house of a Mennonite bishop, in the colony of McPherson county, Can. Dinner for four of us was prepared. A vigorous young Mennonite girl vanished with a bushel basket, and returned with it full of straw, then, placing her kettles, etc., on the top of the cooking range, opened the fire door and thrust in two large handfuls of straw, touched the match, closed the door, and the kettle commenced to sing immediately; in about two minutes the door opened, and two more handfuls of straw were thrust in and the door closed. Our dinner consisted of ham, eggs, potatoes, Russian waffles, and excellent coffee, all cooked in less time than an ordinary stove could have been made "hot for biscuits." The fire was "dead out" before the dinner was half consumed, and the house none the warmer for the fire, the surplus heat all escaping through the broad chimney.—Northwestern Lumberman.

A RELIABLE FACT.—It is an established fact that Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is the best cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, croup, bronchitis, and all troubles arising from neglected colds. Price 25 cents.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

Fire Alarm.

Some idiot, for such is the only appropriate name that we can think of, noticing that a chimney, on one of the brick houses facing the market square, was on fire, sounded a fire alarm, just before noon to-day. The Firemen were alert, but discovering the cause of the alarm, the apparatus was not brought out. An immense throng gathered around the market in an incredibly short time, but not seeing any cause for alarm, soon scattered. If those hair brained individuals who sound an alarm at the first sight of smoke fall into the hands of some irate fireman we are afraid that they will not fare very well.

The objections to the former bill made in the veto message, lie against the present bill to a certain important extent.

CUSTOMS FRAUDS.

BOSTON, April 29.—The importation of oranges and lemons, from Palerus Messina, and other foreign ports for the past four months, has been very heavy. The Customs authorities have discovered that the fruit was been invoiced at about half its actual value, and that this government is entitled to double the amount of duty paid. Several merchants of Palerus, and Messina have already remitted thousands of dollars to the the collector. There have been simular discoveries in Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, New Orleans, and other ports. The total amount of fraud can hardly be estimated. It is asserted that the domestic dealers were not been parties to the fraud, they having sold the fruit on commission, the profits going to the foreign shippers. The fruit trade this season amounted to many millions.

OTTAWA.

H. R. H. The Princess Louise is expected to arrive in Canada about the beginning of June next.

A TERRIBLE TALE.—The Herald says: "Not very long ago a gentleman who was a passenger on the train from Ottawa to Brockville, noticed a woman in the 2nd class car with a large sized basket, containing four or five infants of very tender years. In fact they did not appear to be more than a few weeks, in one or two cases only a few days' old. "You have a large family of very young people to look after," said the gentleman. "Yes," was the curt reply. "Where do they come from?". "Ottawa," "And may I ask where you are taking them to?" "Montreal." No replies could be more curt or at the same time more to the point. On his return to the city the gentleman informed our reporter of the incident, and he set about making enquiries. After some difficulty the irrepressible scribe discovered that a certain establishment in the guise of a half boarding-house, half lying-in hospital existed in this city, and that several young women, one or two said to be "highly respectable," were "inmates" or "boarders," or "lodgers," or "patients" at the time. Entering into conversation with the female directress, it was learned that a girl in trouble could be sent there on paying of $4 per week, "strictly in advance," and $4 more for the doctor who would attend at the time of her confinement. The patient was to have a room to herself, and could be secluded or not as she pleased. After her confinement, if she so desired, by the payment of $4 more, the unfortunate offspring would be taken away at the end of 48 hours and sent to Montreal. It was one of the periodical "batches" of helples infants that went en route to the commercial metropolis that our gentleman friend noticed on the cars. From one of the patients it was learned that she had been a a victim of misplaced confidence. She had loved a member of the Civil Service, a young and good looking servant, not wisely but too well. The result was that it was necessary to take care of her. She could not remain at home, and therefore the private lying-in-huspital came in most opportunely. In course of conversation she said that she had arranged to have the issue of her folly taken to Montreal.

Ralph Waldo Emerson.

CONCORD, Mass., April 27.—Ralph Waldo Emerson died this evening shortly after nine o'clock. Although seventy-nine years of age, the immediate cause of his death was an attack of pneumonia, said to be the outcome of his journey to Cambridge to attend the funeral of the poet Longfellow. This morning the patient was resting easily, bnt about noon he began to suffer severe pains. He soon became delirious and ether was administered, under the influence of which he was kept until death. Death was not caused by exhaustion, but by acute pneumonia, the tubes suddenly filling up and choking him. His wife, Dr. Emerson and his daughter were at the bed side. It is probable the funeral service will be held in the Unitarian Church, Concord, on Sunday, and the remains be placed in Sleepy Hollow Cemetary, near Emerson's home.

SIXTY families have been evicted on the estates of the Marquis of Sligo.

Conlan, ex suspect. about 200 men assembled with horses, carts, ploughs, harrows, &c., and performed all the remaining part of the spring work left unfinished. POOR FARMERS.

The Globe objects to our laughing at its misstatement that cattle raising and fattening is being dropped by our farmers, and supports its absurdity by answers given by its farmer-readers to Dr. Orton's questions about the corn tax.

In the name of common sense, where do our increased exports of cattle come from, if our farmers are dropping cattle raising and fattening? From the official Trade and Navigation returns we learn that the exports of horned cattle from Ontario and Quebec have been as follows:—

1878	25,245
1879	44,399
1880	48,494
1881	54,004

Thus it will be seen that the exports of horned cattle have nearly trebled since 1877. If our farmers have dropped raising and fattening where can these cattle come from?

We have said before that little weight could be attached to the views of these two or three hundred, not one per cent. of its readers, as an index of public opinion. The Globe itself has now destroyed any weight that they might have had. This handful, this infinitissimal proportion of our farmers, whose ignorance, indolence or want of energy induces them to attempt farming without stock, are men who naturally would fail, be discontented and grumble—blaming any one but themselves for the results of their own shortcomings. Probably they are muddling their brains with Globe editorials when they ought to be working on their farms. We thought it impossible that any of our skilled or energetic farmers could have supplied the Globe with the nonsense it quotes.

We notice that our contemporary only sneers at the experiments of Prof. Brown of the Ontario Agricultural College, to which we drew attention.

DEARER OR CHEAPER.

In an article on "the labour movement" the Examiner says that "almost every article of household consumption is dearer." It is very easy to make false assertions in this vague manner, but if they are true, why not give us the figures? Again we ask our contemporary to favour us with a list of the articles that have grown dearer, giving us the prices, then and now, as charged in our retail stores, for that is the point at issue. It would not be much trouble to procure this information, if our contemporary is correct in its statements, and if it still declines to come to the point all reasonable men will agree with ourselves that it, dare not produce the figures because it knows that it is publishing untruths under a cloud of vague generalities.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

We give (from the Globe report) the following interesting evidence, before Mr. Orton's committee as to the improvement in agricultural implements without any increase of price:—

"Mr. John Abell, of Woodbridge, gave information relating to the manufacture of agricultural impliments. He stated that he employs about 200 hands. A statement was presented showing the annual production of his foundry and annual disbursements in the shape of wages from the years 1877 to 1881 inclusive. The figures for the first year named gave the amount of sales at $81,000, with wages paid amounting to $39,000 in round numbers. In 1881 there was $47,000 paid in wages, and the sales amount to $119,000. The wages had advanced since the introduction of the tariff. The price of implements has not been advanced by the tariff, and the quality has been improved. Of late Manitoba had come to be an important market for agricultural implements, and the demand for steam threshers, of which he made a specialty, had largely increased. He believed his industry had been benefited by the tariff in giving the North-West trade to Canadian manufacturers, and stated that the American manufacturers would charge $900 for a ten horse-power agricultural engine, which is sold in Canadian foundries for $800. The charge per car on agricultural machines from Toronto to Winnipeg was $293 of which $152 or more than half, is charged for carriage between St. Paul and Winnipeg. He stated that he used about 200 tons of coal per annum. He supposed the duty enhanced the price, but the profits did not seem to be affected thereby, owing to the increased output. He thought agricultural implements could be produced as cheaply now as before 1878. The American implement manufacturers had not competed for any share of the Canadian home market far many years.

It is estimated that above 27,000 men were engaged in the shamfight and march past near Portsmouth on the 10th April., and the weather being delightfully fine the operations were a great success. Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar was in supreme comuffand, while the attacking forces were under the command of Major-General Higginson and Sir E. Wood; while Major-Generals Packenham and Gage commanded the defending army.

LINDSAY.

GEORGE CALVERT ON FALL WHEAT.—The Post says that George Calvert writes, "As I have had a trip to Peterborough over the road I have had a view of the fall wheat. I have never in my time in Canada seen the wheat so good a prospect as this spring, particularly where there was a summer fallow. They may talk about their twenty-five bushels to the acre. I am persuaded we shall have fifty bushels to the acre on some fields this season."

ODDFELLOWS' CELEBRATION.—The sixty-third anniversary of the Oddfellowship in America was celebrated by the Lindsay Lodge at their hall on Wednesday evening last. As we expected from prestige they have acquired for making their entertainments always an enviable success, this occasion was particularly pleasant and creditable.

WOOD.—Several scows loaded with wood, the first arrivals of the contract of Messrs. Robinson & Elliott with the Midland, passed through the locks on Tuesday. The scows were in tow of the Victoria, which looked smart in her new paint and trimmings.

BIG SHIPMENT.—Mr. James Hamilton forwarded to his agency in Manitoba one of the largest loads of freight that has ever left this locality piled on one car. It was built up as high as the wheels on the brake-rod above an ordinary box car and contained a great number of buggies, buckboards and wagons.

PERSONAL.—Mr. McKay, manager of the paper mill, left for Montreal on Monday. He will decide while there as to the purchase of machinery for the mill.

PORT HOPE.

THE LATEST DODGE.—The News says that a couple of well-known gentlemen went to the post-office Wednesday night, between nine and ten o'clock, for the purpose of posting several letters. After one of them had dropped the letters into the box, as he thought, they turned to go home. Having gone a few steps away, one of them became impressed with the idea, that he had observed one of the letters did not go down into the box, so he retraced his footsteps and gave it a push. After he had done so he fancied that it had not slid down easy, and he thought he felt something on his fingers. A closer examination revealed the fact that he had come in contact with mucilage, and on examining the opening at the Post Office he found that it was covered with a coat of that commodity. Before leaving he rubbed it off as clean as possible. The dodge was certainly of an original character, and could only have been perpetrated for the purpose of securing possession of the mail matter. Almost everyone, when mailing a letter in the evening, gives it a careless push in the box, and the mucilage was so arranged that unless one actually pushed his letter down it would stick, and could be taken out immediately afterwards. It will be wise, after this warning, for persons mailing either letters or papers after dark, to see that they drop to the box inside. It is to be hoped that something will transpire by which the perpetrator of that dodge con be caught.

BETTER.—Mr. W. Harris Jr, of Hope, in whose face the gun exploded a couple of weeks ago, is in a fair way of recovery. His eye sight is weak, but it is confidently expected that the injury he received will not be of a permanent character.

COBOURG.

THE ARLINGTON.—The Sentinel-Star says that the work of fitting up this popular summer hotel is still going on. Rooms are already being booked, and it is anticipated that there will be a large number of guests the coming season. The Messrs. Dunham have had large experience in the management of summer resorts, having had charge for a long time of the Sturgeon Point Hotel, where they were very popular, and no doubt many of the guests who frequented the latter resort, while under their management, will try The Arlington next season, and if they do we think that in future they will be regular visitors to Cobourg.

A DEPOSIT.—Mr. Parker, who is engaged at the Government Fisheries, at Newcastle, arrived here on Wednesday morning with five cans of salmon spawn, to be deposited in Lake Ontario at this port. He stated that as near as he could ascertain he had about thirty thousand of salmon and some white fish. Quite a crowd gathered around the waggon in which the cans were to get a glimpse at "the fish." In the afternoon he went out a considerable distance on the lake and emptied the contents of the cans.

A JOKE.—One of the employees of the car-shops was absent from work on Saturday, consequently some of the more mischievous ones took it in their heads to play a practical joke on him, and making up a very good imitation of a man out of sand placed it in the absent one's shop, where he found it awaiting him Monday morning. We learn that it did not stay there long, for the irate workman demolished it in a very wrathful manner.

EXPLOSION.—Shortly after four o'clock on Friday morning a lamp, which had been kept burning during the night, exploded in a bedroom in the Cobourg Hotel, setting fire to the carpet, and but for the prompt action of Mr. Downs, the proprietor, who smothered the flames, the damage would have been serious.

A CALL.—The congregation of the Presbyterian Church here have extended a call to the Rev. Mr. McCrae, of Woodlands. It is almost certain that the Rev. gentleman will accept the call, and if he does he will be an acquisition to the clergy of Cobourg.

LUMBER.—Mr. George Spence has the control of loading and shipping the lumber cut by the McDougall Mills, Harwood, and expects a very busy shipping season, as there are about eighteen million feet to be got over.

Going to His Grave.

There he goes again direct to a saloon and pours down another heavy draught of strong drink, not so much because his appetite demands it, but for the artificial buoyancy it produces—the after effects of which leave him more miserable than before; it is this dreadful practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves. A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of temperance, the best and purest of all medicines,—Electric Bitters. Sold by Taylor & McDonald at 50 cents—5

Beware of Them.

A good article that has achieved success, and attained a world-wide reputation by its true merits and wonderful results, is always imitated. Such is the case with Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Already unprincipled parents are endeavoring to delude an unsuspecting public, by offering imitations of this most fortunate discovery. Do not be deceived, but insist on having the true remedy, and take no other. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug store. Large size $1.—5

ENGLAND.

THE Queen's Equerries are generally men who have distinguished themselves, many of them having won the Victoria Cross.

MR. HORACE JONES, London City architect, has been enstructed to prepare plans for an obelisk out of the materials of Old Temple Bar, to be erected in Epping Forest.

THE Duke of Sutherland, while boating on the lake in front of Trentham Hall, capsized, and was on the point of drowning, when a faithful servant pulled him out and rescued him. About an hour after this mishap the Duke re-appeared among his guests, none the worse for his immersion.

AN ingenious method of arriving at an estimate of the number of children who succeed in evading the compulsory by-laws of the School Board has been adopted by the Ragged School Union of Liverpool. A band of music was hired to play for two hours a day during school hours in different parts of the city, and a record was kept of all the juveniles who were attracted by the music. In four days they counted no fewer than 3,020 children of school age, for the most part squaled and ill-fed, standing around the band at a time when they ought to have been at school.

HENRY, JOHNSONS & LORD, PROPS., MONTREAL.

"CANADA."

At the recent convocation of Queen's College, Kingston, the following poem was awarded the prize :—

Muse's enchantress ! Canada ! on thy Fair brow the offering of a wreath of song
I twine. Shall England's glory live in verse,
And Scotia's bard with glowing pathos sing
Of nestling homes 'mid Scotland's rugged hills,
Or Erin's harp wake slumbering hopes again,
And I not sing of thee ? Fondest hearts grow warm
With homage to thy matchless loveliness.
Land of the forest, lake and stream ! upon
Whose shores on either side an ocean rests ;
Thy charms had been like hidden gems, unsung,
Unread. For ages long thy forests heard
The echoes of the lonely Indian tread
Or, wrapt in silence, stood in vast array,
For countless centuries thy rivers rolled
With ceaseless force and grandeur on to where
The ocean's arms received their burden. Long
The virgin beauty of thy tree clad isles
Lay mirrored in the depths of silv'ry lakes.
The redskin wandered here and there, but o'er
The majesty of nature triumph'd not.
No voice, save that of plumaged songster, woke
The sleep of summer—bleak the winter fell
And bound the vast expanse with icy chain.
But, lo ! the unbroken mine of nature's wealth
Is spread at length before the Eastern world.
The prize is grasped—and changes great are wrought
On fair Canadian soil. Behold the speed
With which great cities rise ; the forests, too,
Yield, tottering, to the woodman's axe, and soon
The plains are strewn with peaceful hamlets, where
Th' industrious yeoman tills the fruitful soil.
Anon the white-winged sails of commerce fill
The inland waters. Swift the iron horse
Impulsive, speeds o'er hill and plain, and joins Remotest parts together. Villages
Upon his path spring up, and deck the rich
And smiling valleys ; while true comfort reigns
In homes of happy thousands, far and near.
Hail ! favored land ! thy sons are freed indeed,
No tyrants dare their sacred rights destroy,
In their own hands they hold the wand of power,
Which rules and guides the nation's destiny.
Each man on thy free soil his manhood feels,
And lives a virtual king. Dark ignorance
And error flee, like mist at noonday sun,
Before the spread of knowledge. Virtue dwells
Where education's free alike to all.
Her halls of learning are to Canada
Her mightiest safeguard, and the truest pledge
Of future greatness, when the rolling years
Shall crown the western world with all the pomp
And glory of a golden age. From thee !
Thrice-favored country ! shall the oppressed receive
A generous welcome to thy kindly shores.
No despot thrives beneath Canadian skies,
Nor can the gall of slav'ry's chains be felt
By men, whose heritage is Britain's laws.
From every clime they come, from ev'ry land
The human tide flows swiftly towards the West,
Thy vast North-Western plains shall yet be filled
With loyal peoples, working out with faith
The destiny which God has giv'n to thee,
Thou coming Queen of Nations ! Could we pierce
The veil which shrouds the future from our view
And look upon thee in thy coming might.
What pen could paint the grandeur there beheld
When, struggles o'er, the youthful Canada,
Her loftier rivals left in rear, has merged
Into the stately Empire. Nations come
And go, like ebb and flow of tide, but thou,
Fair Canada ! art in thy youthful glow.
Thy bounding pulses throb with vigor ; Hope
Is grav'n upon thine armour, and the light
Of coming greatness shines upon thy brow,
But let thy sons the lessons of the past
Take well to heart, and learn the secret source
Of every nation's greatness. Mark the rise
And fall of ancient Empires, how they stood
Like giant arbiters of human weal
And then, enfeebled, faded from the scene
Of human action. Read their history well
And let th' imperishable legacies
Of Honor, Truth and Justice mould the deeds
Of all thy statesmen. Future ages then
Shall call thy patriots blessed, and the star
Of Liberty, which twinkled at thy birth,
For e'er shall shine, Blest Canada ! on thee.

HANOVER TRAGEDY.

The Crime Still Enshrouded in Mystery—Tell-Tale Spots of Blood.

HANOVER, April 27.—The Bentinck murder is still the all-engrossing subject here, and its surroundings still remain veiled with the most profound mystery. The discoveries, however, which were made yesterday, as previously reported, led to the arrest of Mrs. Miller, Samuel Miller, Phœbe Weis, Samuel Weis, and John Weis. Constable Carson and Small visited the premises of the murdered man, William Miller, at the time, and found unmistakeable traces of blood on the waggon reach, near the stable, in a place secure from observation. They also found planks which evidently formed the bottom of the waggon box, also with distinct traces of blood. Parts of the planks had evidently been washed for the purpose of removing the bloody stains. Traces of blood were also found on the door of a small stable and in other places. Mr. Weis, the murdered man's father-in-law, in a conversation with Dr. Landerkin, the coroner, and a reporter stated that the stains were caused by the drippings from a straw-stack. The circumstance mentioned together with others which were corroborative led the officers to think themselves warranted in making the arrests. The two constables, Dr. Landerkin, and a reporter visited the scene of the murder again to-day, but discovered nothing tangible. The house of the deceased, the barn, and stables, were also minutely searched with a like result. The public mind is now on the alert for important revelations at the inquest on Saturday.

A REWARD OFFERED.

To-day Mr. Miller, the father of the murdered man, deposited $100 with Justice Procter as a reward for the discovery of the murderers. No special importance is attached to the fact, but suspicion is now more pointedly directed to the Weis family.

ANOTHER GHASTLY DISCOVERY.

The truth of the trite saying that misfortunes never come singly has been exemplified in the recent course of events in the immediate vicinity of Hanover. The public horror at the Miller murder, with all its mystery and cold-blooded atrocity, has been temporarily diverted from its object by the discovery yesterday of an entire human skeleton in the bush near the railway track, about three miles from Hanover. The spot were the bones were found precludes the possibility of a body being buried there, and the oldest inhabitants maintain the place had never within their recollection been used for any such purpose. Some of the residents state that about twenty years ago a young man mysteriously disappeared from the neighborhood in which the skeleton was found. His absence at first created surprise, and as time elapsed without any tidings of him being received suspicion was awakened, but as the feeling was vague, time obliterated from the public mind altogether the missing man and the mystery of his fate. The question now arises, is it possible that the skeleton found is that of the young man who so strangly disappeared so many years ago ? Dr. Lightbody, who lives in the vicinity of Hanover, has the skeleton now in his possession.

POPULAR DEMAND.—The great superiority of Downs' Elixir, over all other cough remedies, is attested by the immense" popular demand for that old established remedy" for the cure of Coughs, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the throat, Chest and Lungs.

LIVER, KIDNEY AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE.—A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Complaints, and has power to root them out of the system, is above all price. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

MIDLAND AND PACIFIC.

THE CITY FATHERS DECLARE IN FAVOR OF THE ONTARIO AND SAULT.

Special Meeting of the Council—Explanations by Mr. Geo. A. Cox—The Dominion Government Asked for a Subsidy by Unanimous Consent.

A special meeting of the Town Council took place on Friday afternoon at the Council Chamber.

Present—Councillors Paterson, Cahill, McNaughton, Kelly, Poussette, Wilson, Menzies and Denne.

On motion, Councillor Paterson was called to the chair.

The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.

RAILWAY AID.

MR. GEO. A. COX upon request explained what was desired of the council. He said that memorials in favor of granting a Dominion Subsidy to the Ontario and Sault Ste. Marie Railway, to make a connection with the Pacific had been passed by various towns and cities, and the same was desired here. At present there were two rival lines seeking the subsidy, the Ontario and Sault Ste. Marie Railway and the Northern and North Western Sault Ste. Marie Railway. The former desired to make a connection at Spanish River and the latter at Callendar. He pointed out on the map that it was clearly in the interests of Peterborough and Eastern Ontario to make the connection at Spanish River. The proposed road would branch off the Midland at Atherly and run around the end of the Lake or Bay. The Ontario and Sault line would give us a fair connection for Eastern Ontario, while the other line would not. Our M. P.'s and all those from this district had asked for the grant, and as there is every probability that the Government will grant a subsidy to one of the lines, it was of the utmost importance that all the influence possible should be brought to bear, by the people of Eastern Ontario on the Government. After some explanations regarding the the route of the road etc. he resumed his seat.

After some slight discussion the following resolution was carried unanimously

Moved by Councillor MENZIES, seconded by Councillor WILSON,—That it is of the utmost importance to the future prosperity of the Province of Ontario that her railway system should have the shortest and most direct connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway. That in view of the change of route that has been recently decided upon, by the Canada Pacific Railway, a connection can be made at that line at Spanish river, which will place the commercial and manufacturing interests of Ontario 70 miles nearer our rapidly developing North West Territory than the proposed connection at Callendar. That whereas the proposed Ontario and Sault Ste Marie Railway, will afford this more direct connection with the Canada Pacific Railway, and will by forming a connection with the Northern Pacific Railway at Sault Ste Marie, afford an alternate route to and from our North West, and will also open up an outlet for the products of the American Northwestern States, through Canadian territory to Canadian sea ports. It is therefore clearly in the interests of the whole Dominion, and especially in the interests of the Province of Ontario, that such aid should be granted by the Dominion Government as will ensure the construction of this line in preference to an indirect connection at Callendar, which does not afford either the advantages of another through route to the seaboard nor an avenue through which the products of the American States can be carried to our Canadian seaports.

That whereas the Ontario & Sault Ste. Marie Railway have proposed to make this desirable connection for a much less subsidy per mile than is asked for the connection at Callendar.

Be it therefore resolved that this council do memorialize the Dominion Government in favor of granting aid to the Ontario and Sault Ste Marie Railway, and urge upon their representatives in Parliament the importance of using their influence in that behalf, provided always that equal running powers be granted to all connecting lines. And that a memorial embracing the above resolution, duly signed and sealed, be forwarded to Mr. Hilliard M.P., to be presented to the Governor-General in Council,—Carried unanimously.

TELEGRAPH POLES.

Councillor PATERSON asked Mr. Cox regarding the removal of the telegraph poles from George Street.

Mr. COX said that Mr. Dwight, the Superintendent of the Telegraph Company, was the proper person to apply to. That gentleman was here frequently, as he was a member of the Board of the Midland Railway, and would be here again in a short time, the exact date of which the Street and Bridge Committee would receive notice.

BLOCKED STREETS.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON said that cars were left standing across certain streets in the First Ward and interfered greatly with traffic.

Mr. COX said that in consequence of the great traffic it was almost impossible to prevent it on some occasions.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON did not complain of a temporary blockade, but what he did complain of was leaving cars standing across a street all night.

Mr. COX was not aware that such was done, but would give orders to have such a practice stopped in future.

TOO FAST.

Councillor WILSON complained that the Grand Junction trains ran too fast down Bethune Street.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON—They are no worse than the Midland trains.

Councillor DENNE—The Midland trains run nice and quietly as far as the upper end of the town is concerned.

Mr. COX promised to look after the matter.

The meeting then adjourned.

KICKING THE BALL.

The Kingston Cadets Capture a Goal and Game from the Peterborough Club.

On Friday afternoon the first game of football of the season was played on the Ashburnham cricket ground, between the Cadets from the Royal Military College, Kingston, and the Peterborough Club. Just after the noon hour, rain commenced to fall and the black sky looked ominous indeed and many predicted that the visitors, unless they remained over, would not have a game, but before the hour mentioned for the start, 3 o'clock, the rain ceased and the clouds cleared out, so that the weather was exactly what was required for the good old game. The ground was rather wet, but it was also soft and those who were unfortunate enough to fall—and who was not?—felt better after they got up, than if they had fallen on hard pan. Shortly after the appointed hour the men took their places on the field, the following composing the respectiae teams :—

CADETS—Forwards, Davidson, R., 141 pounds; Duff, 154; Greenwood, 155½; Joly, 184; Neyland, 161½; Stairs, 154; Van Straubenzie, 142½; Von Iffland, 155. Quarter-backs, Taylor, 177½ pounds; Campbell, 140. Half-backs, Hooper, 152 pounds; Carruthers, 150; Weller, 165. Backs, Twining, 160 pounds; Woodman, 160.

PETERBOROUGH—N. D. Beck, J. H. Carnegie, W. J. Hallett, O. Bennett, G. W. Hatton, F. W. G. Haultain, R. McLeod, J. Morris, E. A. Peck, G. C. Rogers, A. St. A. Smith, E. Snyder, G. Giroux, A. Yelland, W. H. Budden, Captain.

The Cadets appeared in a very neat costume of white guernseys and pants with red stockings, while the home team appeared in the usual blue suits. The Cadets averaged 155 lbs. and the home team 143 lbs., so that the visitors had a great advantage in that respect. Again, as is usually the case, two of the selected men did not turn up and they were obliged to take on two novices to supply the places of tried men. When on the field it was plain to be seen that the visitors had a far better training than our men and were far more athletic, gained doubtless during a portion of their drill. The attendance of spectators was very good, considering the threatening character of the weather, and quite a number of ladies graced the field by their presence.

THE GAME.

The Cadets won the toss and selected the eastern goal having the slight advantage of playing with the wind. As soon as the ball was "kicked off" the excitement commenced and was intensified as the game progressed, every good play being liberally applauded. At the start the play was very even, the ball being kept well towards the centre, but that lasted for a very short time as the cadets commenced to force the pace and rallying their men they ran the ball down to the Peterborough goal and kept it in that vicinity for some time, the home men playing a most stubborn game, and playing well together, with perhaps one or two exceptions in the cases of those who tried to do too much individual play and inevitably lost the ball. After considerable hard work near the home poles the ball was sent flying about half way up the field, giving the defence a breathing spell, but for a very short time, however, as the cadets soon sent it back to the old place, and hot work was again the order of the day. Again and again the ball was kicked behind the Peterborough line, but McLeod was always on hand and succeeded in carrying it up the field a considerable distance before being "collored" by the military men, who appeared to be swarming wherever the ball was, no matter in what portion of the field they were an instant before. Such hot work began to tell on the men and for a few minutes the play relaxed somewhat, only soon to be renewed with increased vigor. After many ineffectual attempts, one of the visitors secured a "try," kicked and missed and the fray went on, the cadets taking advantage of every weak point discernable in the ranks of their opponents, and they were not many in number. At last a "touch down" was secured and cadet Taylor, who captained the team with great judgment, by a splendid kick, secured a goal for Kingston, amidst loud applause. Play was at once resumed, but "half-time" was called before the players had chance to do much work. The short time for rest allowed by the rules having elapsed, play was again commenced, the teams changing goals. A description of the latter portion is not necessary as it was merely a repetition of the former, but we may state that the play was better and both sides appeared to be determined to do their best and did it. When time was called the score stood Kington, one goal and one try to nothing for Peterborough. The customary cheers were given and the contestants marched over to town, some limping and a few not.

NOTES.

All the players did remarkably well but for visitors we may state that the playing of Cadets Tayler, Corruthers, Jolly and a few others was excellent, while of the home team Messrs. Rogers McLeod, Haultain and Hatton carried off the honors.

The game was played in the very bests spirit throughout and not a single dispute occurred.

The visitors were entertained during the evening and left on the 10.20 a.m. train to-day for Port Hope.

Seven cent Prints worth ten cents are selling fast at Turnbull & Gray's.

Redistribution.

By the redistribution of the seats bill the following changes are made in our ridings :—

The north riding of the county of Victoria shall consist of the townships of Eldon, Fenelon, Fenelon Falls, Somerville, Carden, Dalton, Bexley, Laxton, Digby, Longford, Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon, Galway, Snowdon, Minden, Stanhope, Sherbourne, McClintock and Ridout. The county of Ontario shall be divided into three ridings, each of which shall return one member."

West Peterborough remains the same except that a small portion of Lakefield is taken off.

Accident.

This afternoon about 4 o'clock, Mrs. Hunter, whose husband resides at Hale's Bridge, met with an accident on Water Street. She was sitting in a waggon driving a team when by some means she was thrown out on the road. Her feet were tangled in the lines and she was dragged on the road on her head for quite a distance, rendering her insensible. She was taken to a neighboring house and soon recovered. She has a slight cut over one of her eyes, but otherwise appears uninjured.

"DO LIKEWISE."—Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. :—, Five years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from uterine troubles. Having exhausted the skill of three physicians, I was completely discouraged, and so weak I could with difficulty cross the room alone. I began taking your "Favorite Prescription" and using the local treatment recommended in your "Common Sense Medical Adviser." In three months I was perfectly cured. I wrote a letter to my family paper, briefly mentioning how my health had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing me for them and enclosing a stamped envelope for reply. I have received over four hundred letters. In reply, I have described my case and the treatment used and earnestly advised them to 'do likewise.' From a great many I have received second letters of thanks stating that they had commenced the treatment and were much better already."

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

THE INLAND REVENUE return for April amounts to $67,894.18, as compared with $49,879.04 in April of last year, showing an increase of $18,015.14.

A LARGE DEPUTATION of boss painters, waited upen the men at a meeting this morning, and made a proposition that 17½ cents per hour be the standard rate of wages, for ordinary men, but that each shop have power to pay larger wages to good men, or less wages to inferior men. The proposition will be discussed by the men this afternoon.

GRAND JURIES have from time to time reported on the overcrowded state of the Lunatic Asylum here, as a number recently have had to be refused admission, The necessity for enlarging the institution is only too apparent and something in this direction will have to be done soon.

IT IS FEARED here that the project for establishing a free public library, will have to be abandoned for the present, as no steps are being taken by the prompters to forward the matter.

ARTHUR, ONT.

Special to the Review May 1.

BETWEEN one and two o'clock on Sunday morning a fire broke out in the residence of Andrew Murray, residing about a mile from Arthur village. The house and contents were totally destroyed. The fire is supposed to have originated from a lamp left burning in the kitchen. Mr. Murray was awaked by the heat and smoke. He jumped out of bed, seized the two eldest children, who slept in a separate bed in the same room, and there being no window he was obliged to make his way through the furnace of flame with which the kitchen was filled. He placed the children in safety and then returend to the burning premises. His wife had remained behind to bring away the two youngest children aged one and three, but having lost them in the excitement and confusion they perished in the flames. A few handfuls of charred bones only remained. Mrs. Murray would certainly have perished also were it not that the husband although dreadfully injured boldly dashed through the flood of flames and rescued her. The sufferers are attended by Drs. Allan and Henderson of Arthur. The two surviving children are not fatally burned but it is feared the case of Mr. and Mrs. Murray is doubtful.

AN ENGLISH CRANK.

LONDON, April 29.—A railway employee named Albert Young was arrested at Doncaster to-day for threatening the life of the Queen. It is believed the threat was mere bravado. Young, who is only 18 years old, wrote to the private secretary of the Queen demanding money, and threatening the lives of her Majesty and Prince Leopold. He is apparently crazy. He was remanded this afternoon.

ARCTIC NEWS.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 29.—Lieutenant Danenhower, telegraphs this morning announcing his arrival at Moscow, and his kind reception by the American Consul. COLONIES AND EMPIRE.

LONDON, April 29th.—At a dinner given on Friday evening in honour of Sir Henry Parkes, of Australia, the Duke of Edinburgh in the chair, Mr. Parkes said the time was not far distant when the colonies would be invited to join legislation in the Mother Country on terms of just and enlightened equality.

A DIABOLICAL PLOT.

Moscow April 29.—Kobozeff Bogdanowitch recently submitted to the authorities a plan for illuminating the Kremlin with the electric light. Inquiries were instituted, and it was discovered that his intentions was to blow up the whole Kremlin during the coronation of the Czar. At the man's residence a number peasants' caps were found, the crowns of which were filled with explosive material. It is supposed the caps were intended to be thrown in the air in greeting the Czar, and on the falling to the ground the contents would explode. Bogdanowitch and three hundred Nihilists have been arrested. There have been eighteen arrests in connection with the discovery of the mine under the imperial pavilion. A wire was found running to a house in the suburbs.

A FRENCH SKOBELEFF.

BERLIN, April 29.—The North German Gazette calls Gen. de Gallifet the French Skobeleff. At a recent banquet Gen. de Gallifet declared M. Gambetta's return to power was necessary, as the present government was careless of the honor of France. He declaired that Prince Hohenlohe was pressing France to accept a German guarantee of her possessions, in return for which both countries would reduce their armies.

OUT OF WORK.

LONDON, April 29.—A melancholy scene was witnessed during last week. A procession of unemployed labourers bore through the streets wretched banners, directing attention to their condition, and to the fund attempted to be raised by the Lord Mayor to promote emigration, which amounted to the magnificent sum of £109. Had a subscription of thousands been wanted to retain Jumbo it would doubtless have been raised in one day.

EMERSON'S DEATH.

LONDON, April 29.—The news of Emerson's death was received with wide regret, no American man of letters being so highly esteemed among cultured English people. The papers contained long obituaries and leaders on the deceased poet. The Times said that the world will not agree as to the exact nature of Emerson's literary merits, but on all hands it will be admitted that his country has lost a man of genius of whom it might well be proud, and his generation a teacher whom it cannot replace. The Daily News contrasting Emerson and Carlyle, says of the former that the man was greater than his written works, and of the latter that his written works are greater than the man.

STILL LATER.—Hanlan played with Trickett all the way. Hanlan promptly rowed Trickett down at Craven cottoge. Hanlan was a quarter of a length clear at the Creek and took Trickett's water. He led at Barnes by fifteen seconds. Hanlan's time was 27.58; Trickett's 29.33.

AT ALBANY

NEW YORK, May 1.—The World's Washington special says there is reason to believe that both of the Georgia Senators will soon retire from public life. The condition of one of them excites the greatest apprehensions. For some time he has been able to take nothing but liquid food. He has not ceased to realize that he is fast sinking. Brown has been away from his seat for three weeks. He has lung troubles and cannot withstand the effects of the climate.

Extensive preparations are making for the outdoor mass meeting on Tuesday night. There are no signs of a compromise.

HOWGATE'S TRIAL.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Tribune says the Attorney believes tkat the government will be successful in the civil suit against Howgate and the property under attachment and now in the hands of the Marshall will be nearly sufficient to cover the defalcations. Howgate invested cash in real estate, which depreciated considerably during the last few years. The authorities believe that there are several persons of standing who fear that developments will likely be made when Howgate is tried, and who will furnish all the money the Captain needs in making good his escape.

FIREMEN'S PERILS.

JERSEY CITY, May 1.—A truck going to a fire yesterday struck a telegraph pole. The tillerman was thrown to the ground and severely injured. Another man took his place and afterwards, in attempting to turn a corner, the apparatus capsized and three men were severely and three slightly hurt.

DECREASED EARNINGS.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Tribune says that an advance copy of the annual report of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway shows that the net earnings of last year were $6,018,000, a decrease of $235,300 as compared with the previous year.

HURLBURTS FUNERAL.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The remains of General Hurlburt were buried yesterday. Ten thousand people were present including five companies of militia, six encampments of Knight Templars, a number of Blue lodges, the bench and bar, and three hundred veterans of the late war, who served under him. The buildings were universally draped and several arches spaned the streets. The services were held on the public square. Resolutions were unanimously adopted eulogizing the deceased, and expressing sorrow at his death, sympathizing with the family and declaring that we tender to the downfallen Peruvians and the authorities of Lima, our love and heartfelt thankfulness for the high esteem in which they ever held our statesman and for their touching and tender care and attention, shown on every hand to his widow and family, for the universal interest taken in the funeral rites of him whose unexpected and lamented demise carried pain to all true to the Peruvian cause, and that the watchwords of the American Republic have ever been, and ought to be, and always must be, fair play and sympathy for the down trodden, and the unanimous prayer we send forth to-day is that the everliving God of nations may yet lift up and bless Peru. After a few brief remarks by the by the Rev. Mr. Lawrence, the procession reformed and proceeded to the cemetery outside of the town where the remains were interred with Masonic honors.

THE REDISTRIBUTION OF SEATS.

"The constituency of East Peterborough is cut up beyond recognition. Five of the places formerly belonging to it—Galway, Minden, Snowdon, Stanhope and Sherbourne are taken away; and there are added to it Nightingale, Livingstone, Lawrence and Norwood village. This extensive change ought to make somebody happy. (Globe of April 29th)."

Galway, Snowdan, Minden and Sherbourne all lie along the Bobcaygeon road, and all except Galway already belong to North Victoria for local election purposes and to the County of Victoria for criminal purposes, while Nightingale Livingston and Lawrence are townships without votes and therefore carrying with them no political weight. The simple and whole effect of the change made in the constituency of East Peterborough is to take from it the municipalities along Bobcaygeon road, containing a population of 2,741, and leaving the population of East Peterborough 21,215, or as near the average required as it is possible to get it without cutting municipalities in two. If the Globe's statements with regard to the alterations made in other constituencies are no nearer the truth than this one, there is not much truth in its cry of fraud! fraud!

"PROBABLY the worst fraud in the Bill is the barefaced gerrymandering of North York, East York, North and South Ontario, and South Simcoe, in order to create a new riding of West Ontario, which is to draw off all the surplus Liberalism from, and to make all the other constituencies more safely Tory."

So says the Globe of the 29th of April. It then gives tables the showing the present population of the new constituencies of South Ontario, North Ontario, West Ontario, and North York, and also the population of the municipalities which made up these constituencies in 1871, showing that they only possess now a population of 85,512 against 76,328 in 1871, and then goes on "It will be seen that the population of these same places has during the decade only increased 9,200, yet another member is given to them. Why, if not to gerrymander!" Now while this way of putting it is true, so far as it goes, yet it is a barefaced falsehood, by reason of it suppressing a part of the truth. The additional truth is that while Ontario gets an additional number in name, the population which obtains the new representatives is drawn from the constituency of Muskoka, as well as from those named by the Globe—a constituency whose population has increased from 6,919 in 1871, to 27,204 in 1881, a little fact which the Globe is careful not to state, well-knowing that if it did it would knock the bottom out of what it asserts is "the worst fraud in the Bill." We agree with it that the giving of an additional representative to the district affected by the change is the worst fraud in the Bill, but as the fraud has been called for by an increase of population of 29,485 it is not only no fraud, but it would have been a fraud to deny these people at additional representative.

The biggest "fraud" ever perpetrated, in the opinion of the Globe, is the Distribution Bill. It has not a single redeeming feature, and yet this Bill does away with the little boroughs of Cornwall and Niagara—and that, too, in the face of the fact that they are both Tory strongholds and the Bill is introduced by a Tory Government. We agree (?) with the Globe that Sir John deserves censure for wiping out these two strongholds. He should have been guided by the example of that exemplary politician—Mr. Mowat—who, when he dealt with the representation of the people, wiped out the borough of Niagara which opposed him and maintained the borough of Cornwall which supported him. It is really too bad that Sir John should go back on his "pairty" in the way he has done in this fraudulent Bill.

"THE Distribution of Seats Bill might be entitled an act to keep the Tory party in power till the next census. (Globe of the 29th April.)

Might it? Well, even if that is to be the result the Globe should keep its opinion to itself, as such statements are calculated to throw a wet blanket on the ardour of "the pairty,"—prevent contests, and seriously interfere with the casual advantages to be reaped by the press from a general election. Come, brother Globe keep up your courage until the fight is over. It is soon enough to say die when the battle is lost.

"He dared not continue the old boundaries of the counties which he swept like a whirlwind in 1878." (Globe of the 29th Ap.)

Softly, friend Globe. Do keep cool and keep your powder dry. Don't in your anger and chagrin talk nonsense that is so patent to everybody as this little statement is. Do please remember that the "rights of Ontario" call for additional representation, and how could those rights be obtained if the constituencies were left as they were?

THE Distribution Bill "will give to the Bleu party of Quebec power to rob Ontario of its territory." (Globe of Ap. 29th.) How? Now Ontario has 88 members and Quebec 65. After the Distribution Bill has passed, and after the next election Ontario will have 92 members and Quebec 65, and yet we are assured that the effect of this bill and of a new election will be to make the Bleus more powerful than ever! If this is the result of "rep. by pop." what fools we were to ask for it.

* * *

THE value of the Globe's criticisms on the Distribution Bill are fittingly illustrated by its statement that the village of Norwood has been added to East Peterborough. We didn't know before that the village of Norwood ever was anywhere else than in the Riding of East Peterborough—since there was an East Peterborough.

FENELON FALLS.

A WOUNDED HERO.—The Gazette says that about three o'clock last Wednesday morning Mr. Pauwels, of the McArthur House, was aroused by a knocking at the door, and upon opening it found outside two strangers who had just arrived in a buggy from Bobcaygeon. With some reluctance, if not with many blushes, they imparted, by degrees, the cause of their untimely journey. They visited a house of unsavoury reputation, and, not liking their reception, or from other causes, the more violent or less sober of the two commenced to show his displeasure by cleaning out the establishment, and was proceeding with the work of demolition when the proprietress produced a revolver and shot him about four inches above his right knee. This brought him to terms, and he and his companion, fearing that they might get into further trouble, went to a livery stable, hired a rig and commenced a midnight flight to Fenelon Falls. The wounded hero, whose name we have not heard, appeared but slightly incommoded by his hurt, and, although he got a doctor to look at his leg, no attempt was made to remove the bullet, which, judging from the orifice it made, was fired from a very small pistol.

PETTY THEFTS.—Mr. Thomas Robson tells us that when, a few days ago, he went to get a dozen shaft collars, which had been left outside the foundry, they were not to be found, and he naturally infers that they were stolen, perhaps to be sold as old iron. Mr. Robson himself buys scrap iron, but refuses to deal with boys, who are tempted to dishonesty by the prospect of obtaining a few pence. The collars in question, which weighed some 40 lbs., were newly cast, as would be apparent on the slightest inspection, as some of the sand was still adhering to them. Mr. Robson has also missed several porcelain nest-eggs out of his fowl house, and a short time ago Mrs. Robson saw two boys run off with one of her hens, which they sold to a man who returned it when he found it was stolen. Owing to some scruples about swearing to the identity of the boys they were not prosecuted, as they otherwise would have been.

NAVIGATION.—At last navigation has opened and some steamer—the Ontario, we think—was up as far as Mowry's bay on Tuesday evening. The Coboconk commenced running on Monday last, and will make three regular trips from Fenelon Fall to Coboconk and back every week, towing on alternate days. Mr. Craig, who has chartered her for the season, has expended no end of labour and paint in improving her appearance, and she now looks almost as well as she did when new. Her time table will probably appear in next week's Gazette.

OMEMEE.

SNAKE STORY.—The Herald says that we do not often startle our readers with fish or snake stories, but this is a local one and deserves a notice. A pair of lovers were taking a delightful stroll viewing the beauties of approaching spring, when suddenly their happiness was changed by the appearance of a large garter snake which had struck an attitude apparently for an attack. On examination it was found that the snake was dead and had evidently been placed in position to scare some one, which it did.

FREAK OF NATURE.—We learn that a cow owned by Colonel Davidson, of Emily, gave birth to a heifer calf on the 12th of April, and as the Col. did not want to raise the calf it was given to a neighbor. On going to the stable thirteen days after it was found that the same cow had given birth to another fine heifer calf. This is the first time we ever heard tell of such a freak of nature. Can any of our contemporaries chronicle a more remarkable circumstance than this?

SUDDEN DEATH.—We have this week to chronicle the sudden demise of Mr. Edward Dancy of this village. He was quite well on Tuesday night at a late hour, but on Wednesday morning he complained of being ill and gradually became worse till death relieved him of his sufferings in the afternoon of that day. The deceased was in his 56th year.

RELATION OF FIRES TO THE WEATHER.

A recent issue of the Chronicle discusses from an insurance point of view the probable influence of atmospheric conditions upon fire losses, the main factor considered being humidity. The discussion, which is a very suggestive, not to say important one, is not confined to the generally recognized increase in local fires during specially protracted seasons of dry weather, but seeks rather to discover the broader relations of general rainfall throughout the United States, and the observed fluctuations in the agregate fire losses, year by year and month by month. "Assuming that the human hazard is a constant, and that the difference of states in respect to architecture and industry has been reduced by the law of average also to a constant, what is left to explain the increased or diminished aggregate fire loss of one year over previous years unless it be some meteorological pecularity?"

Taking the statement of the precipitation, month by month, during the year ending with June, 1879, compared with the average for several previous years, as given in the last published report of the Chief Signal Officer of the United States, and using it as a basis of comparison with the fire losses in the same month of the two previous years, the Chronicle finds that an excess of humidity is steadily followed by a decrease in the fire loss, and a deficiency by a corresponding increase in the fire loss.

The same relation between rainfall and fire loss is strongly indicated in tables showing the periods of greatest and least fire loss in California, where the contrast between the wet and the dry season is so sharply drawn. Notwithstanding the fact that the wet months cover the season—the California winter—when domestic fires are most employed, thereby increasing the relative fire hazard, the monthly mean of fire loss for the wet season is only about half that of the dry season.

From these and other tests the Chronicle deduces the following conclusions:—

(1) That there is an interdependence between the humidity and the fire loss; 2 that whatever affects the rainfall, such as the destruction of forests, etc,, will affect the fire loss; (3) that there is a factor in the shape of an atmospheric hazard that should enter into the underwriter's calculations quite as well as the other elements of "moral" hazard, etc.; (4) that there are localities peculiarly adapted by meteorological conditions to a high ratio of fire loss; (5) that this natural hazard should determine, as nearly as practicable, the architecture of such localities, their means of fire protection, and the proper rate of premium for risks there written.

Probable Manslaughter.

ST. THOMAS, April 28.—A disturbance took place last night in the village of Union, in which a man named Parker was so badly beaten that he will probably die. It appears a party of young men had been to a charivari, after which they partook freely of liquor, and commenced fighting among themselves, when Parker, who is noted for his fighting proclivities, handled several of them pretty roughly. Shortly afterwards a number of the men attacked him with clubs, bottles, etc., and beat him so seveerly that his life is despaired of. Three young men named Arthur Doan, Jas. Haner, and Frank Montgomery have been arrested on suspicion.

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.—I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to us a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—*Leading M. D. A NOVEL enterprise will be started in Hamilton shortly. Mr. C. H. Logan, of Newark, N. J., has leased the building on the Great Western railway track east of the city, for the purpose of building houses and exporting them to the North-west. All that is necessary for the construction of wooden houses will be manufactured on the premises. Mr. Logan has had a large experience in Newark, where he is a partner in a large factory of that kind.

AT house-cleaning time is is well to have an eye to, and close up all cracks and crevices, whether in the floor, or between that and the base-board, where insects may harbor, as well as larger ones in closets through which mice may enter. For cracks, common hard soap, which is usually soft enough for the purpose, may be used to fill them. It is usually soft enough to be pressed with the finger into crevices, and no insects will venture to make its way through.

A USEFUL grafting wax can be made from equal parts of resin, tallow, and beeswax, by simmering over a slow fire, and which will save much of the after attention required to prevent cracking where clay is used.

To clean feathers, cover them with a paste made of pipeclay and water, rubbing them one way only. When quite dry, shake off all the powder, and curl with a knife. Grebe feathers may be washed with white soap in soft water.

"NOT WEIGHING OUR MERITS, BUT PARDONING OUR OFFENCES."

Not weighing our merits, most merciful Father,
Ah! lighter than air would the balance then be,
Only pardon, we ask Thee, for all our offences,
Which rise like a mountain between us and Thee.

Our manifold sins, we bewail and acknowledge,
Offences in thought and in deed and in word,
Provoking most justly Thy wrathful displeasure,
Forgive us, Oh Father! through Jesus our Lord,

We do truly repent, and are heartily sorry
For these our misdoings, so dread in Thy sight;
The remembrance is grievious, we cannot endure it,
We shrink in our sins from Thy glorious sight.

But Thou hast said "come" to the weary and laden,
God so loved the world as to give His own Son,
And so with these comforting words of our Saviour,
We draw near with faith to the Crucified One.

And trusting His merits and perfect forgiveness,
We kneel at His table in lowliest love,
Him praising with Angels and highest Arch-angels,
And raising our songs to His Heaven above.

"CUTTING THE KEY LOG."

The first thing to be done is to find out where the jam occurred, and then to discover what is called the "key log," that is to say, the log which holds the base of the "jam." An old experienced "stream driver" is soon on the spot, for the news is soon carried up stream that there is a "jam" below. Every minute is of consequence, as logs are coming down and the "jam" increasing in strength. The "key log" being found, there is a cry for volunteers to cut it. Now, when you consider that there are some hundred big logs of timber forming a dam, and the instant the key log is cut the whole fabric comes rushing down with a crush, you will see that unless the axe-man gets instantly away he is crushed to death. There are usually in a camp plenty of men ready to volunteer; for a man who cuts a key log is looked upon by the rest of the loggers just as a soldier is by his regiment when he has done any act of bravery. The man I saw cut away a log which brought down the whole jam of logs was quite a young fellow, some twenty years of age. He stripped everything save his drawers; a strong rope was placed under his arms and a gang of smart young fellows held the end. The man shook hands with his comrades and quietly walked out on the logs, axe in hand. I do not know how the loggy road one felt, but I shall never forget my feelings. The man was quietly walking to what very likely might be his death. At any moment the jam might break of its own accord, and also, if he cut the key log, unless he instantly got out of the way, he would be crushed by the falling timber. There was a dead silence while the keen axe was dropped with force and skill upon the pine log. Now the notch was near half through the log, one or two more blows, and a crack was heard. The men got in all the slack of rope that held the axe-man. Like many others, I rushed to help haul away the poor fellow, but to my great joy I saw him safe on the bank, certainly sadly bruised and bleeding from sundry wounds, but safe.—The Field.

Poisoned by Hot Cross Buns.

This morning a large number of children and grown up people were suddenly taken ill in Muirtown and Dufftown streets, betraying symptoms of irritant poisoning. Medical aid was summoned, and as the symptoms were in each case the same—vomiting, parched mouth, a burning sensation in the throat, and trembling of the limbs—it was evident these had arisen from the same cause. On enquiry it was found that all the patients had partaken of hot cross buns supplied by a baker in Greig street, and the peculiarly strong and pungent smell of the spices in the rejected matter attracted the attention of the doctors. The baker states that he got a packet of mixed spices from a firm in Aberdeen, and that his foreman in mixing one half of it with the dough felt his throat dry and his mouth parched, but this at the time he attributed to an attack of cold. It appears, too, that several of the workmen after partaking of the buns were seized with illness, as well as members of the baker's family. The cause of the illness in many of the cases is attributed to the spice. About 2,000 buns were manufactured, and of these one-half were sold before the sale was stopped. No fatal results are yet reported, but several perrons are very ill. In one family no fewer than eight persons betrayed symptoms of acute poisoning. Nearly 150 persons suffered in all. One of the buns and a quantity of spices have been forwarded to Dr. Littlejohn, of Edinburg, for analysis.

Narrow Escape of a Steamer.

A desperate and exciting race for life was made across a part of San Francisco Bay recently, by the ocean steamer Columbia. In approaching the city in a dense fog the ship grounded in the straits, but in a few moments glided off into deep water. Suddenly it was discovered that the vessel was leaking badly, and the captain determined to steer for a safe beaching ground. Under a full head of steam, and followed by a fleet of tugs, which endeavered to keep near her, to render help if it were needed, the ship rushed towards the mud flats. Her firemen stood waist deep in water, and she was slowly sinking, but there was just time to save her, and amid a chorus of shrieks from a hundred steam whistles, she ran high up on the soft shore near her wharf.

THE Canadian Manufacturer says:—"In connection with the rapid settlement of Manitoba and the North-west, the construction of house timber, in parts, ready to be put together, is becoming a business at points in the old provinces. A great deal of the timber used in the North-west is carried there from points in Ontario, and even from as far east as the province of Quebec; and, while the work can be done cheaper here, the cost of transportation is no more. It is therefore likely that there will be a considerable development of this new industry."

GEN. ORRIN L. MANN, Sheriff of Chicago, Ill., gives this as his opinion of St. Jacobs Oil: "Some time ago I was troubled with rheumatism. Every one was free with his sympathy and suggestions, but nothing relieved me of the severe pain. I had read the testimonials of people I know who had been cured by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, and I thought I would test it. The first application worked wonders, and I was not long a sufferer. It is wonderful what little show that malady has when brought into contact with the Great Pain Panacea."

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

A SILVER dollar with a bit of concave mirror set into one side is by gamblers called a "shiner." WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 1, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Credit to Whom Credit &c.

The North Hastings Review gives us a good-natured rebuke for clipping a "Railway Note" from it without giving our authority. We are in the habit of giving credit, but in this trifling case it was inadvertently omitted. If we claimed all the paragraphs that are pilferred from us by very many of our contemporaries, we would have our hands full. For instance in the very next column we find that the North Hastings Review credits the Perth Courier with another railway item, but in fact our punctilious contemporary took from us this condensation of a long article in the Perth Courier, thus saving itself the trouble of "boiling down," one of the most important of a journalist's duties.

Journalistic.

The Daily Sentinel of Prince Arthur's Landing, whose birth we noticed recently, has already enlarged its borders and can now put to shame several dalies, published in larger places. The "boom" has now struck the Landing in earnest and the Sentinel is found to keep pace with the times. We wish our spirited and neat contemporary the greatest succss, and only hope that it may be compelled to enlarge every six months.

"Hazel Kirke."

The Madison Square Theatre Management, of New Yosk City, have just completed their route for a tour of the Canadian cities. Their company will produce the New York success, "Hazel Kirke," and will appear sometime during the month of May. It is understood upon good authority that three attractions—"Hazel Kirke," "Esmeralda" and "The Professor"—will be sent out next season to all parts of the Dominion.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is remarkably fine and clear, in great contrast to that of yesterday. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Fresh southwesterly to northwesterly winds, fair, with showers in some localities. Slightly warmer weather.

Again.

By reference to our telegraphic columns it will be seen that Hanlan defeated Trickett with the greatest of ease, using him the same as he has used a dozen of others. There was no excitement here at all, the result being a foregone conclusion. Even the Associated Press did not think it worth while to telegraph an extended report.

Lacrosse.

The members of the lacrosse club commence practise this evening. Mr. W. J. Devlin has secured from Brantford a large supply of fine sticks, in fact the best we have ever seen in town. So that the old complaint of bad sticks need never be heard again.

Picturesque Canada.

Mr. Dodd, agent of the Art Publishing Company of Toronto, is now in town delivering to subscribers the fifth and sixth part of Picturesque Canada." These numbers maintain the high standard of those preceding them.

The Synod.

To-morrow evening's REVIEW will contain a full list of the members who propose to attend the meeting of the Synod which commences here to-morrow evening, together with the names of their entertainers.

Express.

An express office has been opened at Lakefield and commenced to-day. Mr. Geo. Tanner is the agent. It will be very convenient for those who desire to send things to that thriving village.

Football.

In our issue of Saturday we credited the goal taken by the Kingston cadets, as having been secured after making a "touch down." It should have been from a "drop kick" from the field.

Little Lake Cemetery.

This popular summer resort promises this year to be even more popular than ever during the coming season. Mr. John Kelly, the energetic and painstaking Superintendent has worked wonders since he assumed control, but the coming summer's work will make a vast change, as it is the intention of Mr. Kelly to clean away a large portion of the present dead or dying trees. Already a large amount of work has been done this season, and the north eastern portion of the cemetery now may be classed among the best, and we are greatly mistaken if there is not a great rush for lots. Terraces have been made and grass sown, which is at present just showing itself above the ground, and in the course of a few weeks, if rain falls heavily enough, it will present a splendid appearance. The work to be done is very heavy and some of the stones taken out may be called monsters. One would almost think that there was nothing left to be done, but somehow or other Mr. Kelly always finds work to do and under his direction the appearance of things changes for the better.

Railway Time Table.

On and after the 1st of April, trains will arrive and depart from the Union Station as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY TRAINS DEPART at 7 and 10.10 a.m., 12.05, 4.45, 6.45 and 7.40 p.m.

ARRIVE at 8.25 and 11.50 a.m., 6.20, 9.00 and 9.55,

GRAND JUNCTION TRAINS DEPART at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.

ARRIVE at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.

Travellers should note the fact that those who leave Peterborough at 4.45 o'clock p.m. cannot get through to Port Hope any quicker than if they do not leave here until 6.45 p.m. Those who do not desire to remain in Port Hope to wait for the express going east, on the Grand Trunk, can leave here at 7.40 and arrive at Port Hope in time to catch it.

Faucher's Hotel.

Mr. Faucher opened formally to-day a hotel and restauraunt in Bradburn's block, next to the market square. The premises have been splendidly fitted up under the personal supervision of the proprietor and are second to none in town for elegance and comfort. Mr. Faucher intends to make a specialty of the restauraunt business and from his well know reputation as a first-class caterer, it may safely be presaged that he will secure a fair share of the trade.

On Strike.

The brakemen on the Grand Junction division of the Midland, to the number of two, are on strike, demanding higher pay. From what we learn it appears to us that they are pretty well paid now, as they receive about $1.80 per day. It is not probable that they will remain very long as the supply of brakemen is always greater than the demand.

Horsemanship.

This morning a young man who prides himself on his horsemanship met with a mishap on Water street. He was riding at a brisk pace, when he suddenly lost his seat and the horse went on and he fell on the ground, not in a very elegant position. He is now wiser and sorer than he was yesterday.

Street Watering.

The contract for watering the streets expired on Saturday, and unless the merchants send in a petition, the council cannot act. An understanding has been arrived at by which Mr. O'Donnel will continue the work until the Fire Water and Gas Committee or Council act in the matter.

Apron Social.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, propose holding an Apron Social in school room of that church of Tuesday evening, May 2nd beginning at 8 o'clock. Music and refreshment form an important part of the entertainment.

Board of Education.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education takes place at the Collegiate Institute building on Tuesday night at 7.45 o'clock.

The First.

The first of the Midland coal burners arrived here this morning. It was on the Grand Junction train from Belleville.

On the Lake

Canoeing and sailing has now commenced in earnest and on Sunday there were a large number of crafts to be seen on the river and lake.

Secure

Your seats early for the Gurnsey Listeman entertainment on Wednesday next, at Davidson's Book Store. Tickets 75, 50 and 25 cents.

The Assizes.

The assizes open at the Court House on Monday, May 8th.

Personal.

Mayor Smith, was in Chatham on Friday, so the Daily Tribune of that place informs us.

PORT HOPE.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—The Guide says that about four o'clock yesterday (Friday) afternoon, the dwelling of Mr. Wm. Woods, No. 7 Barrett's Terrace, was entered by a tramp or burglar. He went up stairs and into the spare bedroom, and with a bunch of keys tried to open the drawers of the bureau. The servant girl in the meantime had entered her own room—adjoining the one in which the burglar had placed himself—with a pail of water, which disturbed Mr. Burglar, who then made a hasty exit. The girl heard foot steps and did not recognize them as Mr. Woods', she ran to the front of the house, but was too late. Mr. Burglar was then on the sidewalk and made his way up Ontario street. He was of medium height, had on a rough gray overcoat and wore a black soft felt hat. He got out of the way before Mr. Woods (who was down town) returned. The bunch of keys was left in the drawer lock. He had not succeeded in opening any of the drawers, nor was anything missed about the premises. Nothing has been seen or heard of the scamp since.

MEDICAL AND SCIENTIFIC.

TO CURE A HEAD COLD.—When getting into bed, take a pinch of fine salt and snuff it well up in both nostrils (it will sting for the moment), and as the water starts keep snuffing till it goes down in the back passage to the throat. If taken when the cold is first coming on, it will surely be broken up before morning.

FOR RHEUMATISM OR NEURALGIA.—Put an ounce of saltpetre into a bottle, and put in more or less alcohol, as you have it. Shake well, till all the saltpetre has been dissolved in that. Then bathe freely with it. If the patient is very feeble, it is well to take something before bathing in anything. Fill up your bottle again when you have used the spirit, and keep it as you do your camphor bottle.

MILK A SOLVENT OF QUININE. It is not generally known that milk is not only a good solvent of quinine, but that it also disguises its bitterness. A writer in a medical journal states that, if one grain of the sulphate be dissolved in one ounce of milk, the solution is scarcely perceptibly bitter. A dose of five grains may be taken in two ounces of milk without rendering it unpleasant, and, if taken in a tumblerful of milk, the bitterness disappears. Another surgeon recommends the use of a solution of quinine in glycerine, in the proportion of one grain to one drachm, the dose to be taken in a wineglassful of milk.

FELONS AND BOILS.—"Felons," which are usually termed "Whitlow" by physicians we beleive, are a very painful and often a very serious affection of the fingers, generally of the last joints, and often near or involving the nails. As the fingers are much exposed to bruises, felons are quite common amongst those who constanly use their hands at hard work. If allowed to continue, until matter (pus) forms and the peoiosteum or bone sheathing is affected, lancing is necessary; but if taken in time a simple application of Copal Varnish, covering it with a bandage, is highly recommended. If the varnish becomes dry and unpleasantly hard a little fresh Varnish may be applied from time to time. When a cure is effected, the varnish is easily removed by rubbing into it a little lard and washing with soap and water. Dr. A. B. Isham details, in "Medical News," a number of cases of its application with uniform success where formation of pus had not previouly occurree. In two cases there was apparently a combination of the "run-around" with the felon, and in all of them there was swelling, redness, heat, and great pain. He suggests the use of Copal Varnish for felons, "run-arounds," boils, and any local acute inflammation of external parts.

DYSPEPSIA.—Exercise in the open air is indispensable. The open air and the open country are free to all, and should be enjoyed by all. Those of sedentary and in-door habits should have an outdoor game pursuit, which compells them to leave their close rooms and comfortable chairs daily. It is idle to think of having dyspepsia cured without attention to these points. Good digestion and good appetite are the rewards of those who work with their bodies; and all people who have their bodies should use them, and give them work to do if they would have a healthy mind in a healthy body. As regards medicines, what we have to say concerning habits, unless, indeed, it be one negative point, which we shall express thus:—abstain from taking opening medicines. We do not go so far as to say they should never be taken; but we aver that to be constantly taking them is to ruin the stomach and bowels, and is bad for the system itself. People who are everlastingly taking medicine should be given something that is perfectly powerless to effect either good or harm. Are there no medicines, then, which cure dyspepsia? No medicines will cure it apart from proper care about one's food and habits. It is not the the duty of medicine to cure people who keep making themselves ill. Suppose a case—if a man keeps taking strong spirits, and irritating his stomach, and heating his system by it, is he to be cured by taking any kind of medicine? Certainly not. He is to be cured by not taking that which makes him ill. But there are many medicines which greatly help to relieve the pain and discomfort incident to dyspepsia.

SCULLING JOKES.—Bill: "I say, Jack, why was the Canadian bound to win the Sculling Championship?" Jack: "I dunno." Bill: "Because he was the best at Hanlan his oars." Jack: "Very good. But why did the Newcastle oarsman not gain the race?" Bill: "I dunno." Jack: "Because he couldn't Boyd the pace. He-haw!"

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL is at the head of the list for all purposes of a family medicine. It is used with unprecedented success, both imternally and externally. It cures sore throat, burns, scalds, frost bites; relieves, and often cures asthma.

FASHION!

The question of what are the fashionable styles for gentlemen during the Spring and Summer cannot be more satisfactorily solved than by an examination of the elegant imported goods of the most celebrated English, Scotch and Irish manufacture now displayed at the Stores of

THE CONTENTED MAN,

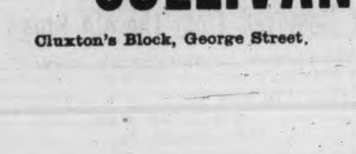
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.



Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1882.

THE LIBERAL CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION for West Peterborough meets at Hill's Music Hall to-morrow afternoon (May 3) at 3 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting their standard bearer and being ready for the contest for the House of Commons whenever it may come. We hope there will be a good attendance, especially of delegates.

THEY CEASED TO HUM.

THE thoroughly independent Toronto Telegram thus refers to the Reform attacks upon the Senate:—

"The weak spot in an attack on the constitution of the Senate by the Reformers is that although they may have five years in office and had power to move in the matter they took no steps towards a reconstruction of that branch of the legislation. Talk of reconstruction was plentiful before they got office, but all the time they were in office there was no word of reconstruction. The Reform bee, alighting on the sweets of office, immediately ceased to hum, so far as the Senate was concerned."

The Senate question is not exceptional however. The self-styled "Reformers" do a great deal of humming and humbugging while in oposition, but the sweets of office silence them. They are very anxious now about civil service reform, independent treaty making, North-west timber regulation, &c. &c. Why did we hear nothing from them while they were in office, and had the power to carry what they pretend to desire?

FORESTRY ASSOCIATION.

An interesting announcement comes from Cincinnati that the next meeting of the American Forestry Association will be in Montreal in August next. We presume this will be in connection with the meeting of the Scientific Association. It is to be hoped, however, that the benefit of this important gathering will not be lost in the shadow of the larger organization. To make the event mark a new era in the regard of Canadians for their forest wealth, an exceedingly desirable result, some preparations should be made for it. On the return of the Canadian delegates from the present session of the Congress at Cincinnati, it will be in order to consider what form organized movement to this end should take. It might be a good plan to call a meeting of all interested in the matter to hear the delegates give a report of the session. By holding the meeting in Ottawa, and inviting members of both Houses of Parliament to attend it, a movement might be inaugurated all over the Dominion without very much trouble or expense.—Montreal Witness.

A DESTRUCTIVE GALE.

LONDON, May 2.—At Dover, Swanage, Brighton, Portsmouth, and other places on the coast, the recent storm has caused great damage and loss of life. Several disastrous wrecks are reported in the channel. A Danish brig was wrecked near Havre and four men were drowned. The Cornish fishing fleet lost £3,000 worth of nets during the late gale.

A CRISIS.

LONDON, May 2.—The Standard this morning says:—There can be no longer any doubt that we are in the midst of a Ministerial crisis. At the Cabinet Council yesterday decisions were arrived at whereof the first consequence will be Mr. Forster's resignation.

THE IRISH SUSPECTS.

LONDON, May 2.—The Times says:—"It will be formally decided to-day whether the suspects will be liberated. The correspondence between the Government of Great Britain and the United States relative to the suspects will show that there has been no weak acknowledgement of pretentions inconsistent with international law and common sense. Great Britain has firmly maintained her position. The American Irishmen in Ireland must submit, like other Irishmen, to the laws deemed necessary by Parliament. It is in deference to the comity of nations, not to any claim of right, that the prisoners of American nationality were offered their liberty if they left the country. If some foolishly, insolently refused to give such a pledge, they must take their chances of remaining in jail as long as the Executive deems necessary. It is, however, no longer doubtful that the Cabinet is considering whether the prisoners may not be liberated, except those arrested on suspicion of being personally concerned in outrages."

A STRIKE.

MCKEESPORT, Pa. A strike began at the National Stove Works yesterday, against the employment of non-union helpers at the puddling furnaces. The Works are idle, and 1,000 men are affected.

CERTIFYING CHEQUES.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Senator Beck expressed his opinion that the evils of the certification of cheques by the officers of the National Banks was greateg now than at the time of the Black Friday panic at New York. It is stated that on December 31st eleven prominent New York City banks, at which stock brokers do business, had an aggregate capital of $130,200,000, with $60,000,000 due to depositors and $100,000,000 outstanding in certified cheques. The amount outsanding of certified cheques is reported by the New York National Banks to have increased from $29,000,000 in 1877 to $137,000,000 in 1880 and $130,000,000 in 1881. Comptroller Knox reports that the losses caused by over-certifying are very small, and the bank officials claim that the practice is justified by its immense convenience.

THE JEANNETTE'S CREW.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Herald's Irkutsk letter continues Damenhauer's story of the Jeanette's voyage up to the sinking of the vessel. Before the retreat commenced the crew were detained several days because a quarter of the party were debilitated by stomach disorders, supposed to be due to tin poisoning from the tomato cans.

SORGHUM FOR SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Prof. Silleman, advises the Louisiana planters in districts where the sugar cane has been destroyed by the floods, to plant Sorghum. He concludes from recent investigations that the Sorghum crop can be matured in from 3 to 6 months, which will produce from one to two hogsheads of good sugar per acre, which cannot be told from the best ribbon or other cane of the same grade.

INHUMAN EMPLOYERS.

NEW YORK, May 2.—It is alleged that the employees of the New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railroad who are badly injured near Cornwal receive no proper surgical treatment there, but are sent to the hospitals here. Some helpless, suffering men are allowed to lie on the hard deck of a freight boat without mattress or blanket for the twelve hours which it takes the boat to make the trip.

Dr. Ormiston on Farming.

At a recent meeting held in this city the Rev. Dr. Ormiston gave his opinion of farming. He said:—I was a Scotch farmer for nineteen years, but it was a very different style of farming from that in which you gentlemen are engaged. These arms have levelled many a giant in the forest of Canada. These shoulders have ached with carring sap to make six hundred pounds of maple sugar. How would you like that? I knew all about my style of farming before I went to college. I still retain a strong love for the calling, and if I was not a minister I should certainly be a farmer. As I have said our old homestead recently fell into my hands, and I have placed my nephew in charge of it. I obtained some pamphlets on ensilage from Mr. Brown, and I have been thoroughly convinced that the thing is correct, and based on scientific principles. There is no principle in nature which the Godgiven brain of man cannot make serviceable to himself and fellows. You are introducing a new system into the department of agriculture, and I am going to introduce it in the northern land. I desire to popularize it among the men who need it; not that it will make me richer, but I do propose to set a magnificent example. On my farm you can plough a mile and a half without striking a stone as large as a hen's egg. The old elm is standing yet, beneath which sweet words were spoken thirty-five years ago, and I need not say is hallowed by a thousand pleasant memories of days that are fled. Now I am going to preach on Sunday and talk ensilage all the week. You know the Scotch are a stubborn people. Nothing in the world is as stubborn as a Scotchman, but there is a way to reach him. You give him three bawbees where he only had two before, and you have him. Show him how to make three pounds of butter where he only made two before, and you have captured Sandy. They come from a land where they must dig or die, and they are forced to make the most of everything.

THE DISTRIBUTION BILL.

UNDER the principle of representation by population laid down by the act of confederation as the basis of Provincial representation in the House of Commons, it has for a second time since 1867 fallen to the lot of Sir John Macdonald to readjust the representation of Ontario and to redivide the 88 constituencies into which it is now divided into 92.

No one who has given the subject any consideration, and whose views are not badly warped by party sympathy, will deny that such a task is a difficult one to accomplish with even a moderate degree of success. So long as even the smallest municipal boundaries are to be respected in the formation of constituencies, it will be impossible to lay them out with anything approaching to absolute uniformity in population or symmetry in form and size. Hence the most that should be looked for in any readjustment is that the changes made should all be in the direction of equalizing the inequalities of population shown to exist at the census calling for the redistribution. That the present Bill of Sir John Macdonald is designed to and does largely accomplish this purpose, no one looking at the facts honestly and fairly can successfully deny.

According to the census just taken, we had constituencies electing a single member whose population varied from 3,445 (Niagara) to 49,238 (South Simcoe), while the average population to each representative to which Ontario is now entitled is a little less than 21,000. This being the case it is obvious that, even had there been no necessity for a readjustment in order to make constituencies for four new representatives, a redistribution was necessary as a simple act of fair play between man and man. It would have been a gross fraud, to use a word the Globe delights so much in, to have continued a system of constituencies under which the 3,445 people of Niagara, and the 23,198 people in the adjoining constituencies of Stormont and Cornwall, sent three representatives to the one sent by the 49,238 people in South Simcoe; or to have continued the "fraud" of making the 11,894 people in North Brant equal to the 21,975 in South Brant. By the Bill now before Parliament the constituency of Niagara is attached to the adjoining county of Lincoln, which having already a population above the average required has had a portion detached from it and added to South Wentworth, which previously had only a population of 14,993, while Cornwall and the county of Stormont, of which it forms a part, and which together contain only a little more than the average and fewer than many other constituences, are given their due weight in the councils of the country by being united into one electoral district. That these two changes have not been made in the interest of party is evident by the fact that in both cases they were safe for the Government, and all the constituencies effected by the change, except South Wentworth, are represented by supporters of the present administration—a fact which those who are now denouncing the present bill would do well to remember, as also the marked contrast in which this course stands to that of Mr. Mowat, who when he was readjusting the representation maintained Cornwall and Stormont as distinct constituencies, at the instance of the then Postmaster General (Hon. D. A. Macdonald) upon his assuring him that "they were all right," while he wiped out Niagara and left the inequalities of the Brants unredressed, lest he might jeopardize the seat of a supporter and prospective colleague.

By reference to the table of the population of the various constituences effected by the present Bill it will be observed that all the changes are in the direction of leveling the inequalities of population and in the direction of making "one man as good as another" in the matter of voting power.

Of course we will hear a great deal of the inequalities, and the extraordinary character of the constituencies as established by this Bill, but those who are so anxious to find fault would do well, before doing so, to sit down and point out the changes which they would make, in order that we may realize how much better they would have done it, and they would also do well to compare the present Bill with that of Mr. Mowat, when he tried his prentice hand at a redistribution, and see which left the greatest inequalities on the statute book, and which was the most successful at what the Globe has christened the "hiving" process.

CINCINNATI, April 25.—The Forestry Congress met at the Music Hall this morning. A large number of men who have given the subject of Forestry attention were present. Governor Foster is here. Ex-President Hayes will be here. There was no business of importance in the forenoon, and no speeches.

Hon. E. F. Noyes was chosen temporary chairman; Alfred Springer, of Cincinnati, Secretary. The following committee was appointed to frame a constitution and by-laws:—Prof. Hough, of Washington, D.C.; Dr. John Warder, of Ohio; G. B. Loring, of Washington, D. C.; Rev. John M. Walden, of Cincinnati; General C. C. Andrews, of St. Paul, Minn.; Prof. Wm. Saunders, of London, Ont.; John H. McMakin, of Cincinnati; General Durbin Ward, of Lebanon, Ohio.

Among the persons present are Hon. Casius M. Clay, of Kentucky; ex-Gov. Charles Anderson, ex-Gov. J. D. Cox, Hon. James Little, of Montreal; N. H. Eggleston, of Williamstown, Mass.; G. B. Bruckett, of Iowa; E. M. Calkins, of Iowa; Prof. Spalding, of Ann Arbor, Mich., Chas. J. L. Meyer, of Fond du Lac, Wis., Joseph W. Starr, of Nebraska; Prof. F. L. Harvey, of the Arkansas Industrial University.

The committee reported a constitution, which was adopted. It provides that the name shall be the American Forestry Congress, the object to encourage the protection and planting of forest and ornamental trees, and to promote forest culture. An initiation fee of $2 shall be required, and the annual dues shall be $1. Besides the usual officers of President, Vice-Presidents, Secretaries and Treasurer, it is provided there shall be executive committees for each district, a committee on annual meeting, and local committees, all elected annually. After this year the Presidents of State, Territorial and Provincial Associations shall be Vice-Presidents of this Congress. The United States and Canada are divided into eleven districts, according to climate and vegetation. George B. Loring, of Washington, D.C., Commissioner of Agriculture, was elected President. Each State is represented by a Vice-President. W. G. Beal, for Michigan.

President Loring, on taking the chair, delivered a well prepared address.

Sections were then formed on the uses of forests, conservation of forests, influence of forests and educational means. Chairmen for each were appointed to examine the papers offered.

Spain and the Colonies.

MADRID, April 30.—The Cuban and Malaga deputies have agreed on the basis of a law regulating the relations between Spain and the colonies. All sugars up to fifteen degrees of Dutch scale pay in future 5 pesetas 50 centimes; above 15 degrees 12 pesetas. The law itself enforces the exclusive use of the Dutch scale. These duties will be annually reduced one-tenth and suppresed entirely in 1892. The duties on Cuba and Puerto Rico coffee are to be suppressed. Senor Canovas del Castillio and other leaders of the opposition of every shade have promised to respect this arrangement if they should enter office. The Madrid press congratulates the Cubans, and especially Senor Canovas, on the spirit of conciliation now shown. The bill will pass both Houses in May.

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.—I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to us a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—Leading M. D. Evansville. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.—6

THE LAND OF PROMISE.

Who Will People the North-west—The Great American Desert—A Glorious Future.

We make the following interesting extract from the report of a special correspondent at Winnipeg to the Montreal Witness :—

"It will not be long before Manitoba and the North West holds the balance of power in the Dominion. In 1880 a table was put into the hands of Sir John A. Macdonald showing that there will be 550,000 immigrants into this part of the Dominion within the next ten years, and even the Toronto Globe thought it not extravagant to expect a million, and Lord Beaconsfield exceeded this in his predictions. I doubt, however, if in these estimates a single thought was given to the great influx of people from the older Province, who are now pouring in especially from Ontario, by the hundreds every day."

"Of course, when men are paid to find fault with a political party to whom they are opposed, even this exodus from Ontario is placed upon the shoulders of the N. P. ; but the same reasoning might place emigration from England upon the shoulders of Free Trade."

"Of one thing you are soon made sure. They are loyal Englishmen and Scotchmen. I read for experiment an extract from a Montreal paper at a meeting of some of these settlers a few weeks ago, alleging that Canada did not get its share of emigrants, because the English and Scotch people, when deciding to leave the land of their birth wanted to cut off all connection with it, and so preferred the United States. I wish the author of that observation had been in the room ; he would have been convinced of the the error of his judgment if not of the folly of his prejudice. The facts were shown that Canada had not spent a dollar for every thousand by the United States to promote emigrants ; that, while the Western States had their agents, maps, pamphlets, &c., scattered broadcast, the Canadian North-West had been until lately an unknown land, and facts within the last few months, even before communication to the interior is completed, fully proved that the very connection with England has done more than anything else and will continue to do more, to turn the tide of the best class, the successful and the loyal class, to Canada, where no offensive oath of allegiance such as the emigrant must take in the United States to become a citizen, is presented to him, but he is still reminded by the flag above him, and by the very prayers of his church, that Victoria reigns over the land of his adoption as she reigned over the land of his birth."

"I recently saw over two hundred letters from disappointed emigrants in the United States, enquiring about homesteads in this Province, a portion of whom have come here since my arrival. If American railways and the American Government force their agents into Canada, and even send them upon the trains coming to Winnipeg like hotel-runners, we must retaliate in the same enterprising way. It is a suggestive fact that the sneer of the American emigration agent has reacted upon the Western States, and that now we are able to show contrasts favorable to our own country. It is a pity it is so, but it seems undeniable that Canada cannot either in trade relations or the matter of emigration expect any fair play in competition from the American Government. Why should we not accept the challenge and let the best win? At least one third of the United States, or over 1,000,000 square miles, is unfitted for the abode of civilized man on account of the arid climate and a naturally sterile soil. A region equal to twelve times that of England in area, called the "Great American desert." is incapable of supporting any population other than a widely scattered pastoral race. This is the fact of one-third of the country west of 100 degrees of longitude."

"When Jefferson Davis was U.S. Secretary of War he addressed a report to the House of Representatives on the several railway explorations between the Mississippi and the Pacific Ocean. Gen. George B. McClelland, then of the corps of Engineers, was his subordinate. This report conclusively proves the great superiority of the fertile belt over this immense desert. The 80,000 square miles of arable land in British Central America marked out, it is said, the true pathway across the continent ; "the only one capable of sustaining an efficient means of commerce by the growth of the local population." I think we Canadians have something to be proud of here, even if we do not go to the extreme of bragging of it like Gascons. When millions more men and capital enter here who can foresee our future? With seaports like Halifax, 550 miles nearer Liverpool than New York, 357 miles nearer than Boston, 316 miles nearer than Portland, and with the great future of the North-West in the matter of communication by the Pacific, with our splendid mineral and coal lands, with the fact that three-fourths of the wheat producing belt of all North America lies north of the international boundary, and that from the rich Maritime Provinces of the Rockies there is not wanting a grain, a fruit, a vegetable, a grass, a mineral, timber, in fact everything on land and in water that man or beast may need, who can say any people on earth ever had a richer heritage?"

The question of fuel is an important one for this part of the Dominion as well as for the older provinces. The value of Nova Scotia coal as compared with that from the United States was recently tested at the Kingston, Ontario, locomotive works, and our Canadian coal not only gave better results than that from Cleveland, but it was laid down in Kingston seventy-five cents a ton cheaper. And it is extraordinary how nature has favoured us in this respect. As one well informed has remarked: "At the Atlantic terminus of the railway, vast beds lie exposed on the very coast in readiness for the steamers that will ply between Halifax and Liverpool ; this being the only example of coal so situated along the whole Atlantic seaboard." Similarly at the terminus, great coal mines wait at Vancouver's Island for the traffic to China and Japan ; this again being the only coal on the Pacific seaboard! But this is not all. "Along the very line which the railway must traverse, coalfields of measureless extent lie along the Saskatchewan, obtruding often to the surface to save the trouble of mining."

Manitoba and the North-West must give shape to our destiny, while a steady tide of British immigration will every year do its share to obliterate old party lines, and to bind us closer to the mother country. A Scotchman is none the less Scotch because Scotland is in the Union. A Canadian may love Canada none the less because she is still proudly attached to the mother from whose loins she sprang. Separated from England what interest would the latter have in giving Canada the preference as a field for the settler. If England has not done much in this direction it is largely our own fault. That she is doing something now and will do more no one can doubt."

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

The Weather.

Last night was very cold, the thermometer falling to 17° above zero, or fifteen degrees of frost. To-day has been clear and bright but still chilly. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Fresh northwesterly to westerly winds, fresh to strong during the day fine, cooler weather with frosts at night, followed to-morrow by westerly to southwesterly winds and fine milder weather.

The Guernsey-Listeman Combination.

The Canadian Spectator, which is an acknowledged authority on musical matters says :—

"Next week Montreal is to be visited by one of the finest combinations on this continent, including the Listeman Bros., leader and violin soloists of Theo. Thomas's Orchestra ; Edward and Alexander Heindl, of the "Mendelssohn and Quintet Club ; " the celebrated Carl Meisel, prima viola and violin, and the great Boston double-bass, Henry Green ; Miss Minerva Guernsey, the wonderful dramatic artiste, and Miss Mary F. Burns, contralto. All our leading musicians agree that so fine a company has not visited Montreal for many years. The admirers of vocal and instrumental music will do well to keep their engagements open on the dates of the performance."

These artists, who are so highly commended, should draw a full house at their performance here to-morrow night.

REVIEWS.

HARPER'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—The May number of Harper shows the continued improvement to which we have become so well accustomed. "Spanish Vistas ' is continued with profuse illustrations, a beautiful full page engraving of a "Spanish Peasant" forming the frontispiece. "Music and Musicians in Austria" is very readable, and the portraits will be viewed with much interest. This will also be the case with the lineaments of "Some London Poets." There is an instructive illustrated account of "The Upper Peninsula of Michigan." In "The Squirrel's Highway," it is hard to say whether Mr. Gibson most excels in his charming sketches or his descriptions. In fiction we have the conclusion of "Anne," which culminates in interest, and the commencement of a new serial "Shandon Bells," by Mr. William Black, besides some short stories and poetry. We need say nothing in praise of the editorial departments.

ANOTHER FIRE IN WINNIPEG.

The Imperial Bank Burned Out—What a Tipsy Young Man Did.

WINNIPEG, April 29.—At 3 o'clock this morning the Imperial bank was discovered to be on fire, and was burned to the ground. The loss is $30,000. The building was of solid brick. The books are supposed to be safe. The remaining building in Clement's block was partially damaged. The fire was caused by the upsetting of a lamp by a tipsy young man sleeping in the top flat. J. S. Marshall, Misses Marshall, Jack Innes, wife and four children and L. Sherwood, all of Toronto, escaped in their night dresses. One man of the drunken party, it is feared, was burned to death. About a dozen others in the building escaped.

FIRE IN WINNIPEG.

Between Sixty and Seventy Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

WINNIPEG, April 30.—Shortly after one o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the basement of the Dundee block, a solid brick block on the west side of Main street, near Portage avenue. The fire brigade were shortly on the spot, and streams of water were poured on the flames, but the fire had gained such headway that it could not be controlled. The fire originated in a storeroom temporarily occupied by the goods of W. G. Scott, over which was the dry goods store of Jerry Robinson. The remainder of the basement was occupied by Alex. McIntyre as a liquor warehouse, and by J. B. McKilligan, real estate agent. On the ground floor, beside Robinson's store, were W. P. Ross's extensive land office, Drummond Bros. & Co., financial agents, the offices of the North-West Navigation Company, and of the Nova Scotia Bank. On the first flat were the law offices of Ross, Killam & Haggart, and of Barber, architect, and of Vaughan, Dennis & Co., real estate. The upper flat was occupied by the offices of the Portage and North-Western Railway Company, E. P. Leacock, L. M. Lewis, the McClary Manufacturing Company, Frank King & Co., and T. H. Gilman.

The flames for a while were confined to Robinson's store and basement, and hopes were entertained of saving the remainder of the buildings. At three o'clock the flames were supposed to be under control, but shortly afterwards they gained headway. The firemen fought bravely, and at six o'clock it was believed the fire was about extinguished. The fire engines, unfortunately, gave out, and the fire again gained supremacy, and spread until the roof fell in, between seven and eight o'clock, the building being then entirely gutted. At 2.30 this afternoon the western wall fell outwards, and crushing through the roof of an adjoining building, greatly damaged the stock in Turner's millinery store, and injured the contents of Dixon's news agency and confectionery establishment. An hour later the front wall fell on Main street. A large crowd had collected, but warned in time they retreated, and none were injured.

The building was erected last fall at a cost of $26,000 by the Dundee Land Company, and was bought by Allan McDonald, now in London, Ont., in November. It was insured for $18,000 ; in the Northern for $8,000, in the North British and Merchantile for $5,000, and in the Imperial for $5,000. Jerry Robinson's loss is about $25,000 ; insured for $17,000 in the Northern, Commercial Union, and Liverpool and London and Globe. Ross' loss is about $5,000 or $6,000 ; no insurance, but this will not cover the actual loss. Vaughan, Dennis & Co. loss about $10,000, and Barber about $25,000. Total loss between $60,000 and $70,000. The papers of the railway company were saved. Had the block not been of solid brick, the probabilities are that a general conflagation would have ensued.

A special meeting of the board of trade has been called for to-morrow to consider the fire facilities of Winnipeg, and to urge that more efficient appliances be procured at once.

WINNIPEG, May 1.—The work of rebuilding the Dundee block commenced this morning before the fire was completely dead. Mr. Allan McDonald, the owner, now in London, has been telegraphed by a William Ross to ascertain if he would rebuild or sell. The wire being out of order no reply was received, and Mr. Ross set men at work to clear away the debris so that building operations can be commenced at once.

Another alarm of fire was to-day given at noon, and the whole brigade and a large number of citizens turned out. Fortunately it was only a chimney of Little's livery stable ablaze. The brigade was called out again to-night, but on a false alarm fortunately.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1882.

WEST PETERBOROUGH.

AT the meeting of the Liberal Conservative party held this afternoon, in Hill's Music Hall, Mr. George Hilliard, the present M.P. for the riding, received the unanimous and hearty nomination of the delegates. Mr. Hilliard (who was present) in reply, said that he had some time since made up his mind not to be again a candidate, but in view of their unanimous desire that he should again be their candidate he would ask time for further consideration before giving them a final answer.

From Manitoba.

Mr. Alexander Elliott, of the firm of Rush and Elliott, who has just returned from a two months' visit to Manitoba, is full of information regarding the great North-West and is kept busy answering the hundreds of questions that are asked of him. He has invested pretty heavily in mud, but advises all to steer clear of the paper towns that are thrust upon the cities and towns of Ontario. Coming from Emerson he sailed over the tops of telegraph poles in a flat bottomed boat, the river being that high. He intends to return again in about two months, but not for good, as he has too high a regard for Peterborough and has great confidence in its future.

The Weather.

Vennor's cold weather still remains, and more rain is yet required to bring genuine spring and summer. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the GreatNorth-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate to fresh southwesterly to southeasterly winds. Fine warm weather.

"The Handsomest Set He Ever Saw."

A lumbering firm for whom this office has just completed a large order for a set of office account books, writes:—"The books came to hand all right and are highly satisfactory. In finish they are the handsomest set I ever saw, the rivets in the Russia bands being, in my opinion, much better than the lacing."

Vennor's Bulletin.

Vennor's Weather Bulletin for May has been received. It is a very interesting number containing the predictions for the coming summer. It only costs five cents and is worth ten times that amount.

DAVITT'S VISIT.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 3.—Davitt was received by the Emperor and Empress yesterday.

A DESPERATE GAME.

LONDON, May 3.—The Post says that the Government are now in despair, and like desperate men are playing a desperate game to retrieve their fortunes.

WHY EXCLUDED.

LONDON, May 3.—The Standard says that the Radicals have triumphed all along the line. It asks, if the amnesty is to be real, on what grounds can Davitt be excluded from it?

HOPEFUL PROSPECTS.

LONDON, May 3.—The Times says that public opinion will approve of Forster's manly and dignified course in the presence of the trying and painful alternatives. The new policy of the Government rests on the hope that the moderate language of the Land Leaguers, the concession to some extent to the demands of the landlords, the amendment of the bill and the release of Parnell will touch the feelings of the Irish masses and restore the authority of the law and respect for public and private rights The probability of a comparison in respect to the tenant's claims is a hopeful element. If Parnell will make use of his liberty to restore order there may be an immediate improvement in the condition of Ireland.

AMERICAN.

INDIANS AND MEXICANS.

SANTA FEE, May 3.—Yesterday some Mexican troops under Col. Garcia met the Indians that Forsyth is in pursuit of, and killed seventy-eight taking thirty-three prisoners. A man named Denning arrived on foot here, pushed so hard by the Indians that he had to abandon his horse. He barely escaped with his life. He reports that a hundred Indians are on the warpath.

FEMALE STRIKE.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Three hundred girls in Higgins' carpet factory have struck for a ten per cent advance, the factory employs twenty-three hundred hands, if the advance of ten per cent be not granted all will be out of work tomorrow.

THE POSTAL FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Persons in general in this vicinity think that the Star Route indictments are defective, and unlawful.

MARTIAL LAW.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Herald's Washington special says that the House Committee on military affairs, has agreed on the bill giving the President full power to use troops to suppress lawlessness in the territorities, and the bill has a special reference to outrages, by Cowboys in Arizona, and New Mexico.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

CHICAGO, May 3.—Jay Gould appeared in Court yesterday, as a witness in one of the Western Indiana Railway cases. He was questioned regarding the business relations of the Wabash Railway with the Western Indiana.

UNFOUNDED.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Calkins, treasurer of the American congregational union, states that the charges against him are unfounded

BEATEN TO DEATH.

JERSEY CITY, May 3.—Hannah O'Conall aged seventy, died at the hospital from the effects of being beaten by her son with a stick. She had fourteen children, nearly all of whom are sons. The police are unable to ascertain which son beat his mother.

PUBLIC BUILDING.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Times says that it is expected that twenty more bills for public buildings will be passed this session. The aggregate cost of the buildings far exceeds the sum to be appropriated in the river and harbor bill.

LOVE AND SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Chas. Wilder, aged 20, met a girl at a picnic on Monday, for the first time. He became infatuated, proposed and was rejected. He then went to Central Park and shot himself. He will probably die.

BY FALLING WALLS.

DOVER, N. H., May 3.—The remains of Judge Jno. Varney were found under the debris of the Baptist Church last night. Five others were injured by the falling walls. There was much indignation because the firemen did not pull down the walls after the fire was extinguished.

AT CASTLE GARDEN.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The payment of the salaries of the employees of Castle Garden and Ward's Island, until the Legislature act has been guaranteed. The Irish emigrant society offers to give five thousand dollars for the relief of Irish emigrants. The German emigrants' society will probably take similar action.

A BRUISED BRUISER.

JERSEY CITY, May 3.—Egan, the "Troy terror," had his nose broken in a recent set to with Harry Buhemayner. It is said that Elliott's blow on Monday night, which left the "terror" unconscious for 15 minutes, completed the destruction of the nose, and so injured the cartilages, that the physicians tell him he can never venture into the ring again.

NOTE RAISERS ARRESTED.

READING, Pa., May 3.—Two well dressed strangers who obtained a number of small drafts from banks here, were arrested yesterday. It was suspected that they intended to raise the figures to larger amounts and draw the money in Philadelphia.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

MINISTER INSULTED.

LYONS, May. 2.—The ex-Empress Eugenie, was mobbed and hooted as she left her hotel for the railway yesterday at Lyons.

TURKISH INTERVENTION.

BERLIN, May 2.—The National Zeitung says Great Britain is disposed to assent to Turkish intervention in Egypt. France opposes intervention, while Germany favours it, provided all the powers are agreed as to its necessity. Intervention is not yet regarded as imminent.

EXCITEMENT IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, May 2.—There was great excitement on receipt of the news of the resignation of Mr. Forster. Crowds gathered and cheered for Mr. Parnell and groaned for Mr. Forster. Further changes at the Castle are expected, Mr. Burke Under-Secretary, and Col. Hillier, Inspector-General of Constabulary, will probably resign. Fires are blazing on the Wicklow Hills in honor of the release of the members of Parliament. There is spontaneous rejoicing throughout Ireland. At Limerick many people danced with joy, shouting "Forster is gone, God save Ireland." A band turned out at Waterford. Emblems of rejoicing are universal.

LIBERATED SUSPECTS.

DUBLIN, May 2.—Up to eleven o'clock last night the greatest excitement prevailed in anticipation of the liberation of the three parliamentary suspects. The order to release Messrs. Parnell, Dillon, and O'Kelly was sent to Kilmainham gaol at eight o'clock. It was signed by the Under-Secretary. The three members did not leave the prison until eleven o'clock, when they drove away quietly in a cab to Harcourt street station, where they took tickets for Avondale, Mr. Parnell's residence. They will remain at Avondale for two days and will be in the House of Commons on Friday. There was no crowd or excitement at the gaol; only a few policemen and press representatives were present when the gentlemen left the gaol. They drove round by a circular road, thus avoiding the city.

MR. FORSTER'S RESIGNATION.

LONDON, May 2.—In the House of Lords this evening Earl Granville announced the resignation of Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and the intention of the Government to release the three imprisoned members of Parliament. Earl Granville explained that Earl Cowper had not resigned the Lord-Lieutenancy because of any difference with the Government regarding their policy. Lord Carlingford would temporarily take the Presidency of the Council. Earl Granville stated that the reconsideration of the prisoners' cases would not extend to that of Michael Davitt.

MR. FORSTER'S SUCCESSOR.

LONDON, May 2.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade, or Mr. Geo. Shaw Lefevre, Commissioner of Works and Buildings, will probably succeed Mr. Forster. If the former be appointed Sir Charles Dilke will succeed to the Presidency of the Board of Trade.

A SENSATION.

LONDON, May 2.—Mr. Forster's resignation caused considerable sensation among the general public, although it was fully expected that the new departure of the Irish policy of the Government would cause some dissension in the Cabinet. There is general satisfaction at the course taken by the Government. Several important changes are expected in the personnel of the permanent staff at Dublin castle, in order that the policy of conciliation may have the fullest and most complete chance of success.

A Scooper Scooped.

A little over a month ago one F. H. Corrigan arrived at Kingston and commenced to sell Whitemouth (Manitoba) lots. He claimed that his title to the property was perfect, that Whitemouth had over 500 inhabitants, stores and hotels, and that the Pacific railway ran through the place. The Kingstonians, notwithstanding the warning of the World, laid their little piles on the scheme, to the extent of over 10,000 lots at prices ranging from $25 to $60 per lot. Some invested wholesale and bought blocks, so much the worse for wholesalers. A letter, explaining what Whitemouth really was, arrived and caused sudden alarm and a panic in Whitemouth owners. It is alleged that many who bought late and applied for titles failed to secure them. All things being considered it was decided to have Corrigan arrested and the difficulty investigated. He was accordingly arrested and was to have appeared in the Kingston police court on Saturday, but skipped for parts unknown. Electricity was called into requisition, and on Saturday morning Detective Brown arrested Corrigan at the Walker house. He languished in police headquarters for the rest of the day and Sunday, and will probably be sent to the scene of his suspicious adventures to-day.—World

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1882.

PARTYISM.

EVERY now and then it would appear to be the good or bad fortune of the people of this country to receive a lecture on the evils of partyism. Were the deliverers of these lectures as good at suggesting practical and sensible remedies for the evils which undoubtedly do exist, as they are at denouncing the evils, their lectures might prove beneficial, and bring forth fruit. As their only cure however seems to be the destruction of partyism altogether—a very easy suggestion for the cure of any evil—we are inclined to think the only effect of their lectures is to intensify the evil by affording our best citizens an excuse for having nothing to do with party, and therefore allowing it to fall more and more into the hands of those who desire to use it for their own selfish purposes and not for the advancement of measures believed to be in the interests of the country. The latest gentleman to favour us with his views on the evils of partyism has been Principal Grant of Queens College, Kingston, and we regret to find that so able a man had nothing better to suggest as a cure for these evils than the doing away with part altogether and the selection of our representatives "irrespective of party" and that these in their turn should select "irrespective of party" the men best fitted for the various departments of work that has to be done." What a delightful time of it Lord Lorne would have with Sir L. Tilley and Mr. Mackenzie in the same Cabinet trying to frame the one a protective and the other a free trade tariff, and yet if Principal Grant's principle of "selection" means anything it means that these two men of opposite policies should be yoked together in the same Cabinet. The thing is absurd, and is only valuable as an evidence of what absurd propositions even our ablest men will sometimes make.

Seeing that Principal Grant in putting forth such theories occupies a very different position from that of Prof. Goldwin Smith, it may not be out of place to ask how it is that if all partyism be so very bad a thing in politics why it should not be banished from the Church and its courts. It can scarcely be denied that the various denominations into which the Church is divided are just as much a development of partyism as that which he condemns. Moreover it cannot be denied that even within the denominations themselves parties exist, and, with regret be it said, these parties do and say things quite as unbecoming them and their cloth as those whom the Principal says sacrifice everything worthy of respect to the God of party. Indeed Principal Grant himself is the generally recognized leader of a party in his own church, and especially as the leader of that party in the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which proves its sincerity by putting its hands in its pockets to maintain the arts as well as theological departments in Queens College, while there is within the same church a party who are so opposed to the church having anything to do with secular education, that in order to accomplish union the appointment of trustees for Queens College hand to be transferred from the chief court of the church to the trustees themselves; and we can more easily imagine than describe the manner in which Principal Grant and his friends would meet a serious proposition, to place in a leading position in Queens one two or three gentlemen no matter how clearly they might, in other respects, be "best fitted for the various departments of the work that has to be done," who entertained strong opinions in favour of their divorcement, and yet such a proposition would be quite as much in the interest of Queens College, and as feasible, as that of Principal Grant would be in the interest of the country and feasible under our system of Government.

But while we look upon partyism as a necessity in a free country, where the people have a large share in their own government, we are far from disputing that there are many evils connected with it, evils which it is the duty of every good citizen to do his part in removing. We can and do quite as heartily as Principal Grant regret and deplore that system of partyism which tries to "bind the intellect and twist the conscience" of its members to do the bidding of a caucus, whatever that may be. The great difficulty in the way of partyism doing neither more nor less than its legitimate work, is the feeling, which the churches are to a certain extent responsible for, that when a man takes a side he is bound to stick by that side no matter whither it leads him. How often do we hear men say, My father was a Reformer or a Conservative, and I am not going to change my coat, just as ministers too often teach their people to act upon the idea that because their fathers and mothers were Presbyterian or Methodist or any other ism, that they should be the same, forgetting that the issues of to-day are not those of ten years ago, much less those of a past generation. But so long as men will act upon a party shibboleth instead of thinking and acting for themselves solely with reference to the live issues of to-day, so long will "wire pullers" and caucuses exercise a dangerous influence on the politics of the country.

Another feeling which should be eradicated, and it is closely connected with the foregoing, and it is one that men like Principal Grant could do much to eradicate, is that of partisans always looking upon their opponents as dishonest because they cannot see things in the same light as themselves. Surely it should not take much to raise the poor, weak human nature of the national policyist above the degrading assumption that the free trader is of necessity dishonest in his views and desirous to ruin the country, or the free trader above holding similar views of the national policyist. The Almighty in his wisdom has not seen fit to create us all alike, and it is therefore our duty to recognize this fact and act accordingly. We should all do this, and the church should teach it, and all good men should act upon the noble doctrine laid down by the famous Dr. Arnold of Rugby, and which is so very appropriate to the present circumstances of the country that we cannot do better than conclude with an extract from one of his sermons in which he said:

"Nothing can be more natural or more proper than that those who have strong impressions themselves as to the line to be followed in public matters, should be desirous of persuading others to think as they do; every man who loves truth and righteousness must wish that what he himself earnestly believes to be true and righteous should be loved by others also; but the highest truth, if professed by one who believes it not in his heart, is to him a lie, and he sins greatly in professing it. Let us try as much as we wish to persuade our neighbors, but let us beware of influencing their conduct when we fail of influencing their convictions: he who bribes or frightens his neighbor into doing an act which no good man would do, for reward or from fear, is tempting his neighbor to sin; he is assisting to lower and to harden his conscience—to make him act for the favour or from the fear of man, instead of for the favour or from the fear of God; and if this be a sin in him, it is a double sin in us to tempt him to it. Nor let us deceive ourselves by talking of the stake at issue; that God's glory and the public good are involved in the issue of the contest, and that therefore we must do all in our power to win it. Let us by all means do all that we can to do without sin; but let us not dare do evil that good may come, for that is the part of unbelief."

THE ASSERTED "EXODUS."

THE Montreal Witness though a Reform journal, is sometimes unable to swallow all the absurdities of its colleagues. It speaks plainly for instance concerning the facts of the asserted "exodus." We can hardly expect the Witness to go a step further as it might truly have done, by owning that a section of the Canadian press and Canadian politicians also exaggerate the emigration "with the object, no doubt, of turning European emigration from Canada to the United States" at least as long as a conservative administration is in power. The Witness writes as follows:—

"A systematic endeavor is being made by the United States Government and Press to exaggerate the Canadian emigration to that country, with the object, no doubt, of turning European emigration from from Canada to the United States. The Commercial Bulletin, a sane paper on most subjects, accuses Mr. Lowe of writing "for mere "effect," when he shows 94,873 emigrants could not have entered the United States at Port Huron during the fiscal year of 1881, when only 84,920 persons of all classes passed through. If Mr. Lowe's showing has the effect it should have, it would convince every one who read it that the emigration returns of the United States are totally unreliable, and that they are got up with the deliberate intention of creating a false impression."

Comet of 1882.

Many observations have been made by me of the new Wells comet, the first observation being on the morning succeeding its discovery. From what was at first a faint object with moderate apertures, it has steadily grown in brightness, until it can at this date be readily picked up with a telescope of three inches aperture, and afterward seen with a still smaller objective. My latest observation was made last evening, and although interfered with by the light of an exceptionally brilliant aurora, it showed a marked increase in brilliancy over previous observations. With its present rate of increase in size and brilliancy it must in a few weeks become a beautiful object even to the naked eye.

It is now a very pretty telescopic comet. The head is bright and solid looking, the tail delicate and nearly straight. The head appears larger than the width of the tail immediately joining it, and has very much increased in apparent size since discovery.

The comet's approximate position on May 1 will be: Right ascension, 20 hours 38 minutes; north declination, 68 degrees 50 minutes. On May 9: R. A., 23 hours 5 minutes * 74 degrees 27 minutes.

The Hanover Murder.

HANOVER, April 29.—Peter Weis, the father-in-law of the murdered man Millar, has been arrested. County Attorney Frost has arrived from Owen Sound, and Mr. O'Connor, barrister from Walkerton, the later as counsel for Weis at the inquest. People are gathering to attend the inquest at 2 o'clock, which will probably be but short, and will likely adjourn until same day next week. Public excitement is increasing, and the most intense interest centres in the court to be held this afternoon.

SMITH MEDICINE CO.—GENTLEMEN: I have made a trial of one box of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, with such good effect that I have no hesitation in recommending it to the public as a prompt and reliable medicine. In fact, those who use it once will always do so. Yours truly, J. HATVIE, 172 Cadieux street Montreal.

REVIEWS.

PICTURESQUE, B.& O.—That advertising has become a science passed some time since to a place among the modern proverbs. Nevertheless, it happens at intervals that the appearance of some startling novelty leads to to the feeling that not even the half has been learned, and that progress is hardly beyond the A B C's. At least it would appear so when the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company expends thousands thousands of dollars upon a single publication, and issues for gratuitous distribution a work which in every detail compares most favorably with any ever offered for a price by the most noted publishers of the country. Indeed, it is seriously to be questioned if any book in paper cover was ever produced equalling "Picturesque B. & O." Such is the title of the book, advance copy of which has just been received. It is one hundred and fifty-two pages in extent, and upon them is displayed a series of engravings which no number of Harper's or Scribner's, high as is the standard of these magazines, ever equaled. The fact that Thomas Moran, to-day the foremost artist on mountain scenery in the world, made more than seventy drawings expressly for this one work establishes its exalted character in a word, as it were. When are added the exquisite productions of W. Hamilton Gibson and the sketches of Sol. Eytinge, of Sheppard, and of Ferris, and then to state the fact that the cutting is by engravers of the highest reputation in the land, there can be no doubting the belief that in this instance it may well be said that no expense has been spared. It would seem as if it were asking altogether too much to expect such a book to be given away. The cover alone is worthy of being preserved as a remarkable specimen of artistic designing and printing. The latest production in color work by the American Bank-Note Company, it will puzzle many an expert to comprehend the manner in which the superb effects were gained. The book is upon exceeding fine paper, and the composition and press work by Knight & Leonard, of Chicago, cannot be excelled. While the engravings are printed with rare skill and the result simply superb, the letter press has not been sacrificed in the slightest, and is a model of beauty and clearness. The author, Mr. J. G. Pangborn, aside from his whilom reputation in newspaper circles, is not untirely unknown to fame in book-making, his name appearing upon the title page of the "Rocky Mountain Tourist," the "B. &O. Red Book," and sundry other publications. His taste and judgment in perfecting illustrated works is certainly fine, and the Company giving him a carte blanche, as it evidently has, on "Picturesque B. & O.," demonstrates again its unceasing enterprize and unrestricted liberalty.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. THE QUEEN OF THE MAY.

(AMERICAN VERSION, WITH HUMBLE APOLOGIES TO MR. TENNYSON.)

BY KATE HILLIARD.

If you're waking, call me early, call me early, mother dear;
To-morrow will be the maddest time of all the mad new year—
Of all the mad new year, mother, the wildest, maddest day,
For we're all to move on the First, mother, to move on the first of May!

There's many an awful muss, mother, but none so bad as ours,
For there's you and father and children six, the dog and bird and flowers,
Not to mention the cat, and the kittens that were born but yesterday,
And they're all to go on the First, mother, to go on the First of May.

I shall sleep so sound to-night, mother, although it's on the floor,
That I'm very sure I shall never wake when the truckmen come to the door,
And they might carry me and the bed and Jenny and Bob away,
If I wasn't waked up in time, mother, to move on the First of May.

As I just came down the street, mother, whom think you did I see,
But Robin, getting a five-cent shine, and looking out for me;
He thought how nice I looked, mother, in my good clothes yesterday;
But there's no more dressing up, mother, till after the First of May.

For my good clothes all are packed away, and so is my best back hair;
And my patent frizzes are in some box, but I'm sure I don't no where;
So I couldn't speak to Robin, but I turned and ran away,
For even a pretty woman's a guy on the eve of the First of May.

And I couldn't ask him in to tea, to sit on a round topped trunk,
When I knew that all the cake was gone, and the last of the tea was drunk,
And there isn't a single chair in the house, and the sofa's sent away,
For we're all to move on the First, mother, to move on the First of May.

The crockery barrel has been stove in, and the white meal bag "bust" out,
And old hoopskirts and empty jars and papers lie all about;
And as for old straw hats and shoes, there's a dozen of each, I should say—
But we're all to move on the First, mother, to move on the First of May.

The parlor mirror has got a crack, and the Venus has lost her nose,
And Jenny has let a flat-iron fall on Susy's dear little toes;
And Bob has a cut, and Johnny a burn, and Tommy has run away—
But we're all to move on the First, mother, to move on the First of May.

And Bridget shall go with me early to-morrow morn
To get the other house to rights, though I must say it's forlorn
To be moving in where the steps aren't done, nor the masons gone away—
But we've got to move on the First, mother, because it's the First of May.

They're still at work on the big front door, and the whole place smells of paint,
And the way the plumbers are dawdling around is enough to vex a saint;
And the gas isn't in, or the kitchen range, and the keys are all astray—
But we've got to move on the First, mother, to move on the First of May!

And the baby's got the measels, and I don't think Jimmy's well,
And what we're going to do if it rains no mortal power can tell;
I've tied the umbrellas up with the tongs, and they've all been packed away—
You never can find a thing you want on the eve of the First of May.

And Mrs. Jones will be coming in just as we are going out,
And everything will get all mixed up, I haven't an atom of doubt;
As brother Bob would put it, there'll be "the devil to pay,"
But whether you're ready or not, you know, you must move on the First of May.

So you must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear;
To-morrow'll be the wildest time of all wild new year—
To-morrow'll be, of all the year, the hardest kind of a day,
For sick or well, and weather or no, we move on the First of May.

THE MURDEROUS SOCIALISTS.

Diabolical Attempt to Blow up Eminent New York Citizens.

A dastardly attempt was made on the lives of Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt and Mr. Cyrus W. Field by sending them explosives throught the mails. The dangerous character of the packages was discovered en route to the post office station, where they were to be delivered at the residences of these gentlemen, and it is probable loss of life was prevented. The package for Mr. Field was posted in the general office, and the one left for Mr. Vanderbilt was brought in by a collector. The packet was placed in the mail bag with matter for the uptown district, taken to the elevated railway station and deposited on the front platform of the car. The train started, but before reaching Ninth street an explosion was heard, and fire and smoke were observed to issue from the mail bay. When the train stopped the bag was removed to the post office on 29th street and opened. The package addressed to Mr. Vanderbilt had exploded, and the one addressed to Mr. Field was plunged in a bucket of water and then examined. It consisted of a paste-board box covered with flowers and pictures, and had a small drawer in it from which depended a string, as is supposed, for the purpose of drawing it open and causing the explosion. Inside was found a tin canister, containing half a pound of powder and a glass jar containing white powder and a liquid, believed to be some kind of explosive. A scrap of newspaper was enclosed which was recognized as part of the Volks-Zeitung. Upon soaking the wrapper several folds came apart, an one was found in pencil " G. W. Walling, 311 East 19th street." The probability is the machine was originally directed to Superintendent of Police Walling. The fact that Mr. Walling forbade the procession of Socialists is regarded as the reason why it might have been intended for him, and gives color to the theory that the Socialists are at the bottom of the affair.

Prof. Doremus pronounces the fluid in the glass globe taken from the machine intended for Mr. Vanderbilt to be sulphuric acid, There is no clue as yet to the perpetrators.

Early onSunday morning J. A. Davenport, of Nineteenth street, took to the police headquarters an infernal machine similar to those sent to Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Field, evidently prepared by the same person. It was placed in his hallway on Saturday night and exploded, doing little damage. The box was probably intended for Mr. Police Supt. Walling, who lives a few doors from Davenport.

NOT the Tyrant alone, but everyone that baseness envies, seems to be the butt of the hellish malice of miscreants, probably. THE Altar and the Tomb are brought painfully near by the death of the Princess Marie so shortly after the marriage of her sister to Prince Leopold. ON February 9th a young man named Sparkes, living near the Forteau Lighthouse, left home to visit his father, who resided 300 yards away. When his rescuers took him home they found his wife and child frozen to death in their miserable abode.

Woodwork That Will Not Burn.

In a London paper is published a letter from Mr. F. H. Gossage, who makes some very important statements. He says: "I find that painting woodwork of any kind with several coats of solution of silicate of soda, and finishing off with a mixture of this solution and sufficient common whiting to make it about as thick as ordinary paint, is a most excellent protection against fire. Wood treated in this way will not take fire from mere contact with flame; it requires to be heated till destructive distillation begins. Then, of course, gases are given out which ignite, and the wood is gradually converted into charcoal, but until destructive distillation takes place the coated wood will not support combustion. A few years since I had some screens made like ordinary doors, some prepared as I have described, and some not. They were then placed over a fire of shavings, which was kept constantly renewed. In ten minutes the unprepared screens were blazing away, and so nearly consumed that they had to be supported by an iron bar. The flames continued to lick the prepared screens for 30 minutes before the distillation commenced. After 45 minutes the coated screens were still intact, and able to support themselves; and in an hour, although pierced in many places with holes, they held together, and when the fire was removed they did not continue to burn. This was a splendid success, and I still have the remains of the screens. The experiments were made at my suggestion, for the managers of the Liverpool Philharmonic Society, and the woodwork of their splendid hall at Liverpool was treated in this manner. I am sure a good deal might be done with this simple and inexpensive process to reduce the possibility of fires, especially in public buildings, theatres, etc., for, if the woodwork was thus treated, draperies and scenery would burn away before the heavy timberwork of the structure would take fire."

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.—I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to us a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—*Leading M. D. A TREMENDOUS capture of Nihilists has taken place at Moscow in connection with plots of wholesale assassination at the approaching coronation ceremonies. The taking of three hundred prisoners at a time for murderous and treasonable designs suggests a state of affairs in Russia which the imagination can but dimly grasp. The sinister methods of the Nihilists appear to be without limit, the "modern conveniences,' as well as the most ancient accessories of human existance, forming mediums for the conveyance and destribution of deadily vengeance. The electric light, according to the latest plot discovered, was to have been the disguise of an apparatus to explode a mine beneath and blow up all the dignitaries of the Empire, illustrious foreign notables, and perhaps hundreds of uninspecting common people; while peasants' caps, flung high in the air in apparent token of joy over the crowning of the new autocrat, were to prove death-dealing missiles that could not fail to make fearful havoc among the illustrious throng.

THERE are parents who never study the characters of their children, and who force them into professions for which they have no aptitude or qualifications. The results is that the best years of their lives are lost and they drift about as jack-of-all-trades. They have lost their ambition, their incentive to well-directed efforts, and they consequently become drones in the hive of industry. They are not so much to blame as their parents."—Boston Globe.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Railway Notes.

The Ontario says that Simon Sheehan, a brakeman on the Grand Junction division, had his hand badly crushed at Hastings on Saturday afternoon. The accident will cause the amputation of two fingers.

The brakemen on the Grand Junction Division of the Midland are still on strike. Their places have been filled with new men, the majority of whom are green at the business.

Regarding the striking brakemen the Ontario of Tuesday says that the brakemen on strike on the Grand Junction division of the Midland, have all been discharged, and nine men engaged in their stead. A couple of the latter men were brought in from Peterborough this morning. The strike did not in any interfere with the running of the trains. The strikers will engage with the Grand Trunk Company.

Good progress is being made with the work of taking the steam excavator up the road. The heaviest work has now been done, and before many days the monster will be ready for work.

Some evil disposed person ran an engine off the track at the turntable switch on the Grand Junction at Belleville on Tuesday night. No damage was done.

A correspondent of the Belleville Intelligencer writing from Tweed on the 1st of May says that the engineers have the Toronto and Ottawa road located through Tweed, and are now going west from that point. They expect to meet the staff locating east from Peterborough about the last of this week. They report no great difficulty on the line. The road will keep north of Black Creek Bridge and cross a small cave west of the creek and follow along west, crossing the Moira north of what was known as the old dam, near the lake, thence along between the school house and the Masonic Hall, to a point south of Crookston. The camps moved west from Lovelace's on Monday.

Thirty thousand tons of steel rails for the Midland Railway will be brought to Belleville this year. They will be conveyed there from Montreal in barges.

We learn that several of the striking brakemen have offered to return to work at the old rate of pay, but that the Railway authorities refuse to take them back.

Complimentary Supper.

On Monday night a complimentary supper to Henry Yeomans, was given at Darcy's Hotel. The spread, to which thirty young men sat down, was an admirable one in every respect and reflected great credit on the house. The chair was occupied by Dr. Hourigan, who presided in a first class manner. After the usual loyal and patriotic toasts, that of "our guest" was proposed. The chairman prefaced it by making some eulogistic remarks and concluded by wishing him success in his new home. Mr. Yeomans returned thanks in an appropriate manner, and expressed his regret at leaving Peterborough. Toast, speech, and song followed in rapid succession, until an early hour in the morning, when the company separated. During his three years residence here Mr. Yeomans has conducted himself in an exemplary manner, and we join with his many friends and acquaintances in wishing him good luck in the Queen City, where he has secured a lucrative position in the large drug and proprietary medicine house of Milburn, Bently, and Pearson.

Runaways.

The fever has again set in and runaways are all the rage. Within the last three day at least half a dozen have occured in this neighborhood alone, without counting any from the outlying districts. They were not confined to any one class of horses, but embraced teams, ponies and plugs. No particular damage has been done that we are aware of.

THE SYNOD OF TORONTO AND KINGSTON.

Rev. A. A. Drummond of Newcastle Elected Moderator—Opening Sederunt—Appointment of Committees—Hours of Meeting.

The Synod of Toronto and Kingston of the Presbyterian Church in Canada met on Tuesday evening at St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, at 7.30 p.m., pursuant to appointment, the Rev. John Smith of Bay Street, Toronto, in the chair.

About one half of the members were present at the opening and a goodly number of persons desirous of hearing the opening sermon and witnessing the proceedings.

The Moderator took his text, "to every man his work," from the 34th and following verses of the 13th chap. of St. Mark, and preached therefrom an eloquent and appropriate sermon.

As soon as the opening exercises were concluded, the Clerk of the Synod (Rev. John Gray of Orillia) called the roll.

The next business being the election of a Moderator for the ensuing year,

Rev. J. C. SMITH, Guelph, proposed in very complimentary terms that the Rev. James Cleland of Port Hope should be elected Moderator.

Rev. Mr. SMITH of Grafton said he had much pleasure in seconding the nomination.

Mr. CLELAND said that, apart from his general inability to fill the position, he was physically unqualified to fill the chair satisfactorily, and for both these reasons, and especially the last, he begged that his name might be withdrawn.

Dr. WARDROPE, Guelph, agreed with every word that had fallen from Mr. Smith as to Mr. Cleland, but as he had declined the nomination, he begged to nominate the Rev. A. A. Drummond of Newcastle.

Rev. W. M. ROGER seconded the nomination.

Mr. DRUMMOND said as he had made arrangements to leave the meeting on Thursday morning he would prefer that his nomination should be withdrawn.

The MODERATOR said there were now two nominations before the House, as he understood it.

Dr. WARDROPE said he would not have made a second nomination only that he understood Mr. Cleland's name was withdrawn.

SEVERAL MEMBERS—His mover and seconder have not consented and neither has the Synod to its withdrawal.

Mr. CLELAND urgently requested that his name might be withdrawn.

Rev. D. J. MACDONNELL said if both the present names should be withdrawn, he was prepared to submit the name of Rev. Mr. Young of Napanee, for the Moderatorship. This was at once seconded.

Finally Mr. Cleland's request was granted, and Mr. Drummond was unanimously elected.

On taking the chair Mr. Drummond returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

The next business was the appointment of the committees on bills and overtures, which is made up of clerks of presbyteries ex-officio, and a minister and elder from each presbytery. The Rev. Mr. Young was appointed convener, and the committee were instructed to meet the following morning at 9 a. m.

They were also instructed to submit a list of committees for the examination of Presbytery Records.

Rev. R. J. BEATTY and Messrs. Haultain and Henderson elders, were appointed a committee on elder's commissions.

It was agreed that the hours of meeting of the Synod during the present meeting should be as follows. From 10 a. m. to 1 o'clock, from 3.00 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 7.30 to 10 p. m. and that the first hour on Wednesday morning be occupied in devotional exercises.

The Clerk requested that members not in when the roll was called should report to him personally.

The first sederunt was then brought to a close with the benediction.

SECOND SEDERUNT.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The Synod met this morning pursuant to adjournment, the attendance of members being very much larger than on the previous evening. The first hour was spent in devotional exercises, after which the minutes of the last sederunt were read and confirmed.

The Committee on Bills and Overtures presented a report, recommending the order of business for the day and allotting routine work to the morning and afternoon sessions, and making the report of the Committee on the State of Religion the first order for the evening session. They also nominated Committees for the Examination of Presbyterial Records with instructions to report the following forenoon.

The report was adopted.

During the rest of the forenoon the Synod was engaged in business possessing no general interest.

Some idea of the important interests entrusted to the care of the Synod now in session may be gathered from the following statistics:—

The total membership is 404, made up of 196 members and 208 elders. Within its bounds are 9 Presbyteries, 473 congregations and mission stations, and 34,145 members, who contributed for all purposes during the past year $387,618, or over $11 per member. During the year 1881-2, 3 ministers have died, 13 have demitted their charges, 4 have been translated to congregations outside of the bounds of the Synod, making a loss of 20 ministers in a single year, against which there have been 3 inductions and 7 ordinations, reducing the actual decrease to 10. Fourteen students besides were licensed as Probationers, and 7 new congregations and 13 mission stations were erected and one dissolved.

THIS EVENING.

The report on the state of religion will be submitted by the Rev. W. M. Roger, convener of the committee at this evening's sederunt, and an interesting discussion thereon may be expected.

Horse Buyers.

Two or three American horse buyers are here purchasing fine animals for the market across the lines. They are securing good horses and paying good prices.

Presentation and Address

On Tuesday night just after the regular monthly meet of the Fire Brigade, Mr. Fred Wear, ex-Captain of the Hook and Ladder Company, who is about to depart for Chicago, was presented with a handsome meerschaum pipe, tobbacco pouch and cigar holder and the following address:—

Mr. Fred Wear:—

DEAR SIR,—It is with feelings of extreme sorrow we have learned of your determination to leave Peterboro' and the Brigade, and as this will probably be your last evening among us, at least for some years, we cannot let the opportunity pass without expressing our great regret for the loss of such a good fireman and comrade as you have always proved yourself to be both while wielding an axe and a trumpet.

In witness thereof, we, this evening beg to present to you this pipe, cigar holder and tobacco pouch, as very slight tokens of the esteem in which you are held, and which we hope you will accept as a memento, although we feel that none is necessary, to remind you of the many good friends and hearty well-wishers you are leaving behind you in the Peterborough Fire Brigade.

While wishing you good bye and a safe journey, we also wish you all the success a staunch heart and strong arm can possibly achieve, and trust you will not soon forget the many "good old friends" you leave behind.

Signed on behalf of the Brigade

J. C. ROBERTSON, Secretary. T. RUTHERFORD, Chief Engineer.

Mr. Wear returned thanks in an appropriate manner. While sorry to lose young men of Mr. Wear's stamp we can only hope that he will be successful wherever he may locate in the future.

Board of Education.

Owing to the fact that only five members of the Board of Education filed an appearance on Tuesday night, no meeting took place.

Personal.

Messrs. Alexander Elliott, R. H. Fortye, Geo. Brown and J. White returned on Tuesday from the land of booms and floods.

Boy Burglars Sentenced.

COBOURG, May 2.—On Sunday evening, between the hours of eight and ten o'clock, the grocery and fruit store of L. Woodcock was entered by burglars, and a quantity of cigars and other goods and same cash were stolen. Yesterday morning Detective W. S. Orr arrested two young boys named Alfred Scoon, aged 10, and John Keon, aged about 11 years. Some of the goods were found with them. They were arraigned yesterday afternoon before the Police Magistrate, acknowledged breaking into the store with an axe, and were both sentenced to the Reformatory at Penetanguishene for two years. They are supposed to have committed several burglaries that have taken place here lately.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A CORRECTION.

At the request of the writer we publish the following letter regarding an item that first appeared in the Port Perry Standard and afterwards in the Peterborough Examiner:—

To the Editor of the Port Perry Standard.

SIR,—Permit me to correct an ungenerous slander which appeared in your paper a few days ago concerning my brother's death. I am in a position to know that my brother did not take morphia in any form or for any purpose; he was not found dead in his chair; he died in bed with his family and a few friends around him; and he did not die on Monday, he died on Saturday, the 15th day of April last. Hence every word of the defamatory report in your paper about my brother's death is a gratuitous falsehood. And I assure you I am at a loss to know how that falsehood could ever have existence, unless, indeed, we may suppose that it had its origin in that strange obliquity which makes some abject natures rejoice in the misery of others, and from whose malevolence the "house of mourning is no refuge and the grave itself is no hiding place." The facts of the case are these: My brother's health had been visibly failing for a number of years, and a short time ago he had a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, and from that time till his death he suffered continually from heart disease, and it was only two weeks previous to his death that he wrote me saying that he did not think he would survive very long unless the heart affection from which he was then suffering could be relieved. And knowing the fatal tendency of his disease, I was prepared to receive the sad news of his sudden death at any time. These are the facts concerning my brother's death, which I know to be correct, and I now ask you, as a matter of simple justice, to give this article an insertion, which may in some measure correct the false and heartless rumour, which first made its appearance in your paper.

WEATHER NOTES.—April, now past, has been a backward, cold month, although dry. We have had very severe frost and only a slight downfall of snow and rain, the former falling on seven days to the depth of 3 in. and the latter on six days to the depth of 2⅝ in., making a total of water of 3½ in. The mean temperature of the month at sunrise and sunset was 34.16 degrees above zero. The highest reached was on the evening of the 18th, standing at 55°, and the lowest on the mornings of the 10th and 11th, the mercury coming down to 18° each day, but on the 22nd, 23rd, 24th and 25th it ranged low, on the last named morning the thermometer standing only 20° above zero. This late frost, followed by a hot sun during the day, injured our fall wheat, after standing the open winter so well, at least to the extent of fifteen per cent. Spring work is now progressing favourably, although the air keeps cold; the fields are dry for the season, and farmers are pushing their work forward. Frogs were first heard on the 25th.

PARNELL'S RELEASE.

LONDON, May 4.—Parnell was interviewed at Kingstown and it is reported that he said from the altered tone of the Ministry since the meeting of Parliament we had supposed our release might come after a few weeks, but had no reason to anticipate it so soon. Of course it is entirely unconditional. We consider our release when coupled with Forster's resignation as a determination of the Government to amend the Land Act as much as possible during the present session, and as a desire not to revert to the policy of coercion. The result of this change of policy and the prospect of a further removal of legislative Acts against Ireland, will be that the country will be materially improved and the outrages diminished. I shall be very much disappointed if the man who succeeds Forster is not a strong man, in accord with the real liberal thought who from his position and character will be supported by public opinion in carrying measures of reform necessary for the peace and well being of Ireland. I consider that the prospects for the self government of Ireland have been improved by the change of the Government's policy. I believe the change indicates the desire of the Government to examine into and discuss this question with us with a new resolution and growing belief on their part that upon a satisfactory solution of this question, after the land problem has been worked out, must depend the prosperity of Ireland.

CORN VS. PEAS.

The Globe in its various attacks upon the N. P. is really amusing. Not content with annihilating the REVIEW and what it said about the relative values of corn and peas as mediums for making beef in an editorial note, it returns to the attack in a second article, which we think we shall be able to show, before we get through, only lands it deeper in the mud than ever.

In the article to which we are now referring the Globe says:—

"But take the values that prevailed before the N. P. came in, say in September, 1878. At that time corn in Toronto was worth 48 cents a bushel, or 0.85 cents a pound, and peas were worth 65 cents a bushel, or 1.09 cents a pound. If, then, Prof. Brown says that, with corn and peas at the same price per pound, peas are the cheapest by 21 per cent., it follows that corn at 0.85 cents per pound is slightly cheaper than peas at 1.09 cents a pound. And looking cursorily through the ranges of the markets we find that in fair trade times peas used sometimes to bring as high as 76 cents a bushel, against corn 45 to 48 cents. At present, under the fostering influence of the N. P., which was to make farmers rich by raising the price of coarse grains, peas are 85 cents against corn 92 cents."

Now, we wish to call the reader's particular attention to the statements contained in this paragraph, as we think they all go to support instead of controvert the position taken by us in the article with which the Globe is dealing.

In the first place we have here some important statements as to the price of peas at different times: We have (1) the statement that peas in 1878 were worth 65 cents per bushel; (2) that under "fair trade," which we presume means a time when every article is bringing a price which is "fair" to both producer and consumer, they were "sometimes as high as 76 cents"; and (3) that they are now, "under the fostering influence of the N.P.," worth 85 cents. That is, while Mr. Mackenzie's policy of "making this country a cheap country to live in" was in force the value of peas was depressed to a price at least ten cents below what was "fair" to the farmer, and that "under the fostering influence of the N. P." the price of the same commodity has been raised to a price nearly ten cents higher than what is 'fair" to the consumer. That's the result of the Globe's own figuring, and we hope it likes the result. Certainly after this it cannot dispute that Mr. Mackenzie's tariff was, in at least one instance, injurious to the farmer, and the N. P. beneficial. And as there are very few farmers hereabouts who do not grow considerably over one hundred bushels per annum, we may also observe that the twenty cents per bushel which the Globe says the "fostering influence of the N. P." has added to the value of this article now as compared with 1878 will go far to recoup them for their contributions to the "bloated manufacturers" under the same "fostering influence," and that we have at last discovered an article whose price has been enhanced to the advantage of the farmer.

Passing now to the chief issue in our little difference with the Globe, we come again to the relative values of corn and peas for the production of beef. It will be observed that taking Toronto prices in 1878 the Globe admits that corn was only "slightly cheaper" than peas for this purpose, and that so far as present prices are concerned it would be simply "bankruptcy" to attempt to substitute corn for peas. We agree with the Globe on this latter point, although we cannot admit that the change in the relative values of corn and peas between 1878 and now, which it quotes, is "caused" by the beneficent influence of the N. P., because the duty is only 7½ cents per bushel, and if we take that from the 92 cents given as the present price of corn we have still left as its value, were there no duty, 84½ cents, or just one half cent less for 56 pounds of corn than for 60 pounds of peas. Evidently the removal of the duty could not bring corn down to the relative value quoted for 1878, and still less to the relative value placed upon it under what the Globe would consider a "fair trade." But, to the farmer proposing to sell his peas and buy corn for fattening beef, Toronto quotations are, with the exception of a very few living in the immediate neighborhood of that city, the very last quotations which should be taken, because in neither case are they the prices at which he can effect an exchange at his barn, where he has the peas and where he requires the corn. Take the quotations of 1878 as a basis for arriving at whether peas or corn would be the cheapest for either our friend Moore of Smith or Redmond of Otonabee, and let us see where the Globe's advice would land them. And that we may be on the safe side in our figures, we shall assume that it would cost neither of these gentlemen either time or money to bring their peas to Peterborough, and to draw their corn home. We shall also assume that their peas are worth in Peterborough, (to them, not the dealer who buys from them,) what they are in Toronto, less the 4 cents a bushel which it costs to take them to Port Hope, and we shall assume that the corn can be had by them here, at the Toronto price plus the freight from Port Hope to Peterborough, both of which everybody knows are assumptions which no farmer could realize. Yet what would be the result of adopting the Globe's advice under such favourable circumstances: we would have the value of corn at Peterborough, in 1878, increased to 52 cents, and would have the price of peas lowered to 61 cents, or the cost of corn brought to within a fraction of the same price per lb., as the peas, and leaving the difference in the feeding value of the two kinds of grains largely with the peas. But even if we condescend to accept the Globe's own imaginary "fair trade" value of these two grains and our far too favourable estimate of the basis upon which an exchange may be made by farmers doing trading in Peterborough, it would leave the acceptor of the Globe's advice without anything for his time and trouble in effecting the exchange. The Globe's fair trade prices are 48 cents for corn, and 76 for peas; that would be at Peterborough, 52 cents for corn, and 72 for peas, or, 55·72 cents for 60 lbs. corn, as against 72 cents for 60 peas, but lbs. peas pound for pound are worth 21 per cent more than corn, hence the cost of corn is 68·43 cents, as against 72 cents for an equal quantity of beef producing peas. If this is the most which the farmer could hope for under what the Globe would consider fair trade prices, we submit that even if the Globe could guarantee that its fair trade prices would prevail, it would scarcely pay the farmers of Ontario to have the duty on corn removed and have the $153,251, collected as duty on corn in 1880-1 placed on something else, say tea for instance. The Globe has tried wheat and pease, it had better now try something else.

Having now disposed of the paragraph which we quoted, we desire before closing to offer an apology to the Mowat Government, and especially to the Commissioner of Agriculture, for having assumed in our previous article, that they were serious in anything which they did for the promotion of the agricultural interests of this province. Their recent legislation anent market fees should really have been too fresh in our minds to have permitted us to fall into such an oversight, but having done it, the best thing we can do is to admit that the Globe has in this particular "cornered" us. It will be remembered that in discussing this matter in a previous article we quoted the experiments of Prof. Brown of the Ontario Agricultural College, in support of the conclusions at which we arrived. Well, now we are informed by the Globe that it "should not have thought it necessary to lug in Prof. Brown to prove such an elementary fact that pound for pound peas contain more nutriment than corn," which if it means anything means that Prof. Brown's carefully undertaken experiments to ascertain by practical tests the relative values of corn, oats, and peas, as beef producers, are so much time and Provincial money wasted, for ascertaining what it declares "every farmer who has observed the effects of the two grains knows." What a farce this O. A. C. must be under the management of Messrs. Mowat, Wood, &c.! Almost as great a farce as the market fees bill of last session! Evidently if the Globe's estimate of the experiments being conducted at Guelph, at the expense of the Province, are correct, the sooner Messrs. Mowat, Wood, &Co., make room for those who will see that experiments in something else that what "every farmer" already "knows" is conducted there, the better.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

ON Friday, Sir John Macdonald brought down the Redistribution of Seats Bill. He explained that by the census Ontario was entitled to four additional members, and by doing away with the two small constituencies of Niagara and Cornwall, there would be six seats to provide for. Additional members would be given to the populous counties of Essex, Lambton, Bruce, Middlesex, Simcoe and Ontario. In making these and other changes they would aim at equalizing the population.

Messrs. Blake and Mackenzie and other Reformers raged against the measure, scouting the idea of representation by population and declaring that the change would wipe out the Ontario Opposition.

Mr. Burpee moved another of the opposition amendments on going into Committee of Supply, this attack being on the iron duties. The debate showed the benefit of the tariff, and the amendment was negatived by 114 to 47.

On Monday, Mr. Mackenzie moved a resolution condemning the letting by private circular of a contract on the Welland Canal.

Sir C. Tupper showed that in consequence of urgency the Chief Engineer had recommended this course, and that in similar cases Mr. Mackenzie had let contracts without any tender. The assent of Parliament was provided for on the contract.

On Tuesday, the Civil Service Bill was read a third time and passed.

The bill as to the administration of justice in the disputed territory was read a second time. On Wednesday the Senate after some discussion agreed to the Irish Resolution by a vote of 36 to 6.

Biddulph Trouble.

LONDON, May 2.—James Carroll, of Biddulph notoriety, was arrested to-day at the instance of James Ryder on a charge of assault and trespass. The two live on adjoining farms in Biddulph, but are not good neighbours. A few days ago Ryder ordered Carroll not to cross his (Ryder's) farm, as had been his wont. Carroll replied he would go and come whenever he liked. Sunday afternoon Ryder noticed Carroll crossing again, and hailed him, ordering him to go right back the way he came, that he had been repeatedly told not to come on his (Ryder's) property, whereupon, according to Ryder's statement, Carrol came up to where he was standing, put his hand into his pistol pocket, and said, "I've something here that will soon lay you low." Early on Monday morning Ryder started for London and laid information before Squire Peters against Carroll on two charges, assault and trespass. Carroll admits the trespass, but says he only crossed the field for a short cut, when Ryder attacked him with a stick. Ryder was joined by Tom Keefe, who kicked Carroll in the head. While the two were assailing Carroll Mrs. Ryder came out and implored them not to kill the man. Carroll sports a black eye. He denies having any pistol about him. The case comes up tomorrow.

HANLAN WINS AGAIN.

The Inevitable Procession of Two, Repeated—Presented with a Diamond Pin.

LONDON, May 1.—The race between Hanlan and Trickett came off over the Thames championship course to-day, and placed another victory to the credit of Hanlan. Both men appeared in their boats about half an hour before the race, and were loudly applauded. The steamers were heavy laden with spectators, but there was nothing like so much interest taken in this as in former races. The tow-path was well lined with spectators, and among them were many ladies. Hanlan rowed in his new Phelps & Peters' boat, which weighed just 29 pounds. He was arrayed in his usual rowing costume, and looked in the very pink of conditeon. Trickett used his Wharin boat, and was stripped. He appeared anxious and somewhat nervous. About twenty minutes to twelve there was a rattling shower which caused the spectators for a few moments to seek shelter. But the rain shortly subsided; a strong wind, however continued to blow, and in exposed portions of the river threw the water up in choppy waves.

THE BETTING.

Very little betting was done, there being no doubt of the result of the race, barring accidents, 5 to 1 was finally offered on Hanlan, with very few takers. The stakes were £500 a side.

THE RACE

was over the usual course from Putney to Mortlake. Just before the start the men took a preparatory spin, and the spectators had an opportunity of making a comparison of their respective styles. This comparsion was almost wholly in favour of Hanlan, whose easy, self-reliant manner and splendid sweeping stroke was the subject of general approbation.

Trickett won the toss and chose the Surrey station; he was piloted by Kelly, while Spencer performed a like duty for Hanlan. At 12.28 the oarsmen were sent off to a fair start. Hanlan's blades caught the water first, and the prow of his boat was immediately pushed into the van. He was rowing neatly, but with a decidely quicker stroke than is customary with him, striking not less than 38 to the minute. Trickett, however, was rowing well, and for the first mile Hanlan was unable to get more than one length in advance of him. Hanlan's time for the first mile was 5 min. 17 sec. At this time he was forging rapidly ahead, and in a couple of minutes had increased his lead to several lengths. Perceiving how thoroughly he had the race in hand, he began his old antics. Stopping dead in his rowing he deliberately looked about him, as it were, taking a survey of the landscape. This act was greeted with great laughter by those on shore, and the Canadian with a smile dipped his oars into the water again and plunged on with a rapidity that drew out the hearty cheers of spectators. In the meantime Trickett was pulling along in capital form, but it was plainly evident that Hanlan could leave him behind at his pleasure. When Hammersmith was passed the Canadian was ten seconds in advance, the time to that point being 9 min. 31 sec. The crowd was enthusiastic in its plaudits, and Hanlan took occasion to acknowledge their good feeling with a bow. At Chiswick a barge lay directly across the course and Hanlan was occasioned much loss of time in going around it. In Corney Reach a stiff breeze was raising the water up in waves that sent the spray into the boats and bothered the oarsmen greatly. Trickett seemed almost powerless in the waves, and Kelly was forced to take him into shelter. Hanlan, also, was in aregular surf, and made for the Middlesex shore.

When at length the Canadian got into smooth water he stopped, and with the utmost sang froid began to bale the water from his boat, a proceeding which again provoked the loud laughter of the spectators. Notwithstanding all this delay he was far in advance, although Trickett, who had now got out of the waves and was beating back to the course, was pulling a regular and clean stroke of 34 to the minute. Approaching Barnes' Terrace, Hanlan was fully 200 yards ahead of his opponent, and the spectators here gave vent to a burst of enthusiastic cheering. He passed under Barnes' Bridge, nearly three miles and five furlong from the start, when Trickett was at the Bull's head, almost a furlong in the rear. The champion was simply playing with the Australian, and never was there a victory more thorough or complete. Hanlan pushed on to the finishing point, and turning back he went in search of his opponent. Getting on even terms again with him, he made a second rush for the finish, and again led Trickett by a length or so when the winning post was reached. In his former race with Hanlan, Trickett, it was claimed, was in an overtrained condition, This excuse cannot be urged this time, for the cornstock admits himself to have been in the very best of health and spirits. He was beaten fairly, and in the hollowest possible manner. Of all the aquatic events in which he has been engaged Hanlan has won none of them with such infinite ease as that of to-day.—Globe

OTONABEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OBITUARY.—It is with regret that we have to chronicle the death of one of our most respected citizens, in the person of Mr. David Nelson, sen, in the seventy-fifth year of his age. His death took place on the 23rd ult., and his remains were followed to their last resting place on the twenty-fifth by a large number of relations and friends. The deceased was a man of sterling principles and most unassuming manner and was highly esteemed by all those with whom he had any dealings, he was one of eight sons who with their father came from Lanarkshire, Scotland, and settled in Otonabee some sixty-two years ago when all north of Rice Lake was an unbroken wilderness. I might here state that the first lumber known to be sawed north of Rice Lake was cut on the farm of Mr. Nelson the elder, on a saw-pit. The deceased leaves behind him ten children, five sons and five daughters to mourn the loss of a most affectionate father, but he had the pleasure of living to see them all well provided for and all married except the youngest son. The deceased was a kind and indulgent father and the love and kindness he showed towards his children was well and duly returned by them.

BRALIEGAN TO O'GRADY.

DEAR DAN,—I've left Tade's an am shtayin wid Twenty Ten, faix tis there one can get good commodashun in the loft. He kapes a very orderly house an will not be lettin any one be shnappin' pipes like from other men's mouth even tho' he comes from the Gore. Tis fun to observe the varience that does be goin on between the Dublin Hero and another man. Faix the goscon does be applyin a revised edition of the shtory of Gallagher and Flaharty to them, but throth Dan, the cap fits too well intirely.

While discoursin' wid' the mudlarks I fell in wid' Black Jack an' wishin' a favor I axed him if he'd be afther havin a dhrink wid me.

"I will" sez he "three or four if yez will pay for them."

Wanting to raize a thrifle on my lot on Loon Lake, I hoped to get on the blind side ov him, but he larnin whare I come from, muttered somethin about "security an rocks," an recommended me to his holiday chum Mick Riley ov the Gore, "who" sez he "is as decent a man as ever spint a week in Peterborough."

It is a new Dr. we have in town and a purty good sthrake ov business there's in him. He has lightened the labors a little ov some ov the oulder hands. But by the same token professional persuits are not the only thing he is well up in, for ould Pop tells me he has got the inside track ov Pat the grocer and "by George" sez the venerable Tom "its proud I'd be to have such a con-nect-ion."

Wantin to file a mortgage I called to the office ov the C. C. C. an shure Dan he accused me ov bein a literary character, ov coarse me Bralligan modestly denied the charge, but sez he quite angrily "they tells me candidly you write wid your pin."

I bot a pair of brown ducks at Habithaw Hall. Faix 'tis Sandy is the only man in town that can cut a pair of trousers for me.

Faix then they have a fine place here for rasin frogs at the south end of the town, whatever else good it is I dont know, but they say it makes the vicinity healthy for doctors.

Tis the streak of bisness E. C. Bilposter is doin these days. A new gig he got the other day imported all the way from Fowler's corners, 'tis he's the boy is a terror to classical masters, an the rush that mud larks are in is to clane the the shtrate for him to come out.

On Saturday last I called round at the market, an 'tis there they'd take the copper from a dead man's eye.

Dan mavourneen could yez tell me what the verse of "To your tent oh Israel" is a passage of scripture from, I might apply at head-quarters, but he kapes too short hours. Shure 'twixt waterworks an carworks our hot headed opposition is nearly demented. Tis longin I am to be back in Apsley catchin suckers wid big Phil on Jack's creek for I know by experience he would not miss one if he had to follow it for three miles.

I am your affectionate chum,
MICKEY BRALLIGAN.

WE must not be suprised to hear of a paper furniture factory starting into existence before long. Paper can now be made of strong fibres and compressed into a substance so hard that only a diamond can scratch it. A foreign journal says that wood will be superseded by paper.

A MEETING of citizens was held recently in London to protest against the project of building a tunnel under the English Channel. The chairman said:—"Gentlemen, we have met here to oppose this tunnel channel; or, rather, this chunnel tannel—that is to say this tannel chunnel." He then subsided.

THREE years ago St. Julian, the great California trotter, was unknown; the same may be said of Kendall's Spavin Cure. Now both have a world wide reputation. Why? Because they both have merit. One is a great trotter, the other is the most successful remedy ever discovered to be used on man or beast. Read advt.

CAN'T GET IT.—Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Kidney, Urinary or Liver Complaints cannot be contracted by you or your family if Hop Bitters are used, and if you already have any of these diseases Hop Bitters is the only medicine that will positively cure you. DR LEWIS SWIFT, of Rochester, says that the new Wells comet will continue for several weeks gradually, and then very rapidly, to increase in brightness until, at its perihelion, it will be vissible in full sunshine. The precise time of perihelion passage, he adds, in not yet accurately determined. Most computors place it about the middle of June, though a few prolong it nearly a month later.

THE Chicago Times alleges that some of the conductors and brakemen of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway "stand in" with thieves and monte-card men and get a share of the spoils. Lieut. Shea, af the Police Force, Chicago, also says that the monte men could not possibly ply their trade as they do without the connivance of conductors. Mr. Callaway, the Superintendent, will stop this traffic as soon as possible.

The following is the common sense treatment for a horse out of condition (in fact all horses require like treatment this time of year) a good Purging Ball followed by a course of strong tonic powder. These are both to be had in Zock's Tonic Compound and Blood Mixture, as each package contains a thoroughly good purging ball and over a pound of strong Tonic Powder. Ask your druggist about it.

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.—I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to us a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—*Leading M. D. SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Late Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald.

The Irish Canadian contains the following obituary notice of the above named lady:—

"We deeply regret to announce the death of a most amiable and esteemed lady—the beloved wife of J. W. Fitzgerald, Esq., P.L.S., Peterborough. The lamented deceased was born at Rock Mills, near Fermoy, in the County of Cork, Ireland, on the 1st of April, 1827, her parents being David O'Carroll and Catharine Griffith, of the same place. At the age of two years she, with her parents, removed to Cove (now Queenstown), where she lived until coming, with her husband and daughter, to Peterborough in 1859, where the family have since resided. Always possessing a sweet and gentle disposition, kind and charitable to the poor, a devoted wife, an affectionate and tender mother, a friend to every one, and loved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance; a sincere and practical Catholic, full of belief and faith in the doctrines of the Holy Church, this good lady passed away, fortified by all its riets and sacraments, after one week's illness, surrounded by many sorrowing friends, a bereaved husband and family, consisting of one daughter and six sons, to whom, in their hour of bitter affliction, we extend the fullest measure of our condolence. May the soul of the departed rest in peace. Amen."

Fixing the Copings.

Time and again we have drawn attention to the dangerous condition of the copings on many of the buildings on George street. From long exposure to the sun and rain, the bricks have become loosened and very often pieces fell on the heads of pedestrians and on other occasions frightened horses, resulting in runaways. We are pleased to notice however, that Messrs. Stevenson and Rowe have a man at work now fixing the coping of their block on the corner of George and Simcoe streets. It is really surprising the extent to which the bricks are broken and it is rather strange that many accidents did not occur. If all property owners will repair now, it will be a good thing for the community.

Filling it in.

At last after many years of talk, without any work being accomplished, a move is being made to fill in Spaulding's Bay, commonly referred to as Peterborough's disgrace. A portion of the railing along the eastern side of the plague spot has been torn down and a large amount of mud off the streets has been thrown in. If all the refuse matter, that is not of an offensive character was thrown in the Bay, it would not take many years to fill it up.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is very fine and summer-like. Last night however was rather cool and not at all comfortable. According to the probs. the outlook at present for stormy weather is very good. The weather probabilities for the folowing 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate to fresh winds, cloudy to fair weather with showers and thunder storms.

Personals.

Messrs. H. Youmans and F. Wear, left on Wednesday, the former for Toronto and the latter for Chicago.

Quite a number of the members of the Synod have left for their homes.

Mr. J. M. Winne, representing the extensive lumber firm of Saxe Brothers of Albany N. Y., was in town this morning.

A Watering Cart.

The present watering cart, following in the wake of our other water machine, the steam fire engine, is becoming foundered and before very long a new one will be required. It is to be hoped that the next one that is purchased will have a more picturesque appearance than the ugly machine now dubbed the watering cart.

Legal.

Mr. J. O'Meara, barrister, who formerly practised at Ottawa, has opened a law office on Simcoe street, in the office lately occupied by Hatton, Hatton, & Beck.

Licenses.

There are two hotel licenses less in town this year than last. One application has been refused and the other although allowed by the commissioners has not yet been taken out.

Railway Notes.

As an instance of the immense freight carrying trade that is at present being done by the Midland, we may state that we are informed that three very heavy trains were passed by the express on Wednesday night, between Port Hope and Milbrook. One train of through grain from Chicago to Portland was so heavy that it had to be divided before coming up the summit.

A bulletin board for giving information to the public, regarding the time of the arrival of trains, has been placed in position at the Union Station. As it is a great convenience we hope that it will not be allowed to go into disuse, as a former one did.

Messrs. Cox and White arrived home from Midland last night.

James Kerr of Keene, has been awarded the contract for painting the stations, and freight houses, of the Midland Railway of Canada.

The Coaches of the Grand Junction Division, since receiving a new coat of paint look very neat.

The coal burners will soon blacken the white houses along Bethune street. There are now about half a dozen of them in use.

A new Station has been built at the Summit, and as a telegraph operator will be placed there, the running of trains, several of which cross at that point, will be facilitated. And again the beautiful grove near by is rapidly becoming a very popular place for pic-nics, and the Station will be convenient.

Five of the Grand Junction Division of the Midland Railway brakemen who were on strike, have been re-engaged.

The Guernsey-Listeman Combination.

The concert given in Bradburn's Hall on Wednesday evening by the Listeman Concert Company, was well attended and fully satisfied the expectations of the audience. The taste and precision displayed by the company in the concerted pieces left nothing to desire, and Mr. Bernhard Listeman's violin solo, a Hungarian fantasie by Ernst, displayed his well known brilliant execution, securing an enthusiastic encore. Mr. Edward Heindl on the flute and subsequently on the zither, and Mr. Alexander Heindl on the violoncello, also show their thorough command of their respective instruments. The vocalist, Miss Marie Evelyn Barnes, with a rich contralto voice, gave apparently great satisfaction, especially in the romanza "Saved from the Storm" and in "The Maid of Dundee" which she gave when recalled. Miss Minerva Guernsey showed great dramatic power in the scene from "Faust", as she personated the luckless Marguerite, Faust and Mephistopheles in turn. She was no less happpy in a scene from David Copperfield, especially in her deliveration of the crawling villainy of Uriah Heap. Further to display her versatility she gave imitations of childred "a naughty little girl" and a schoolboy, recitation with wonderful fidelity and much comic zest.

12th of July.

Already the members of the Orange Order in this vicinity are making extensive preparations for the grand celebration here on the coming anniversary of the battle of the Boyne. Favourable responses to the invitations sent have been received from the lodges in Belleville, Stirling, Madoc, Campbellford, Hastings, Port Hope, Cobourg, Millbrook, and all the smaller places. As the expense of erecting arches, etc., has to borne by the lodges, it is but fair that the hotel keepers and others who derive the gretest benefit from such demonstrations, should come to the front with subscriptions, as they usually do, and assist with the funds. It if fully expected that the coming event will be the greatest ever seen in the Midland district.

Sale of Hotel Furniture &c.

Attention is directed to the important auction sale of the furniture and bar and bar room pictures, contained in the St. James Hotel, on Brock street, which takes place on Tuesday the 9th of May, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. This hotel has been well furnished. All the property has been kept in good condition and is comparatively new. There will be no reserve at the auction on any article offered, as Mr. Daly announces that he is leaving for the North-West and will sell everything.

Entrance Examinations.

As will be seen by advertisement the examination for admission of pupils to the Collegiate Institute, will be held in the Union School buildings, on Thursday and Friday, 29th and 30th June, 1882, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m. of each day. Intending candidates will please forward their names to the head master forthwith, so that the requisite number of papers may be procured in time for the examinations.

Agrees with us.

Regarding the striking brakemen the Intelligencer says that, on the whole, the action of the strikers was not justifiable. They allege that they were influenced by the brakeman on the Midland division, who induced them to take the action they did on the promise that they would follow.

Flying Paper.

The flying paper nuisance is again in full blast, pieces being noticeable in all parts of the town. If a few of those who make it a practice of destribuing such material on the street were brought before the Police magistrate, it might have a beneficial effect.

Ministerial.

We notice by the Toronto dailies that the Rev. Mr. Roberts, a Bible Christian Minister, recently stationed here, has given such great satisfaction to his parishoners that he has been requested to remain for another year.

Railway Bonus.

The Town Council of Oshawa has passed a memorial asking the Dominion Government to subsidize the Ontario and Sant Ste Marie Railway.

ANSWER THIS!—Can you find a case of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Diabetes, Urinary or Liver Complaints that is curable, that Hop Bitters has not or cannot cure? Ask your neighbors if they can.

The Skin and Sensibility.

We all know how fine, delicate and senistive is the skin of women in general, and particularly of those who live in idleness and do no manual work; how their sensitive, nervous plexuses are in a manner exposed naked to exciting agencies of all sorts, and how often this very fact, this tacticle sensibility incessantly awake, and incessantly in vibration, keeps continually their mind informed of a thousand sensations that escape us men, and of tactile subtleties of which we have no notion. Thus in idle women of society and men with a fine skin, mental aptitudes are developed and maintained in direct ratio of the perfectionment and delicacy of sensibility of the skin. The perfection of touch becomes in a manner a second sight, which enables the mind to feel and see fine details which escape the generality of men and constitutes a quality of the first order, moral tact, that touch of the soul (toucher d'l'ame), as it has been called, which is the characteristic of organization with a delicate and impressionable skin, whose sensorium, like a tense cord, is always ready to vibrate at the contact of the slightest impression.

Inversely, compare the thick skin of the man of toil, accustomed to handle coarse tools and lift heavy burdens, and in whom the sensitive plexures are removed from the bodies they touch by a thick layer of epithelial collosities, and see if, after an examination of his intellectual and moral sensibility, you are understood when you endeavor to evoke in him some sparks of those delicacies of sentiment that so clearly characterize the mental condition of individuals with a fine skin. On this point experience has long ago pronounced judgment, and we all know that we must speak to every one in the language he can comprehend, and that to endeavor to awaken in the mind of a man of coarse skin the delicacies of a refined sentiments is to speak to a deaf man of the deliciousness of harmony and to a blind man of the beauties of colors.—Luys' "The brain and its Functions.

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

THE SYNOD OF TORONTO AND KINGSTON.

The above Synod continued in session until a late hour on Thursday evening or rather an early hour on Friday morning when it finally adjourned. Its members having been in the meantime very considerably diminished by departures by the trains leaving here on Thursday afternoon and evening. While the business transacted during the several meetings of the Synod was of considerable importance to those actively engaged in the work of the church, and its members, there was little of it of that general interest which would justify us in giving its proceedings that space which even the most condensed report would require.

During the afternoon meeting on Wednesday, motions were submitted in favour of the next meeting being held in Guelph and Belleville. The vote resulted in favor of Guelph and the next meeting of Synod will therefore be held in that city, in May next.

At the evening session of the same day the report of the Committee on the State of Religion was presented and the discussion thereon occupied the whole evening and was listened to with interest by a good audience.

The only other matter taken up during the meeting to which reference need here be made was the appeal of the moderator and Kirk session of St. Andrew's Church against a decision of the Presbytery of Peterborough, ordering them to give Mr, D. Pentland the certificate of disjunction which he asked for.

The appeal was reached just before the adjournment for dinner, and upon its being called the Rev. R. J. Beatty said he had been instructed by the Presbytery to state that an amicable arrangement had been arrived at for the settlement of the case, and that he was instructed to ask the consent of the Synod to the Presbyteries deleteing the motion appealed against and then substituting a finding, referring the matter back to St. Andrew's session who had agreed, in the event of this being done, to grant Mr. Pentland a certificate which he had agreed to accept.

Several members of the Synod objected that they could not authorize the Presbytery to substitute one finding for another. No decision was arrived at, when the hour of adjournment arrived.

At the afternoon meeting (the Presbytery of Peterborough having met in the meantime) on the appeal being again called :—

MR. SUTHERLAND appeared on behalf of the Presbytery and stated that in view of the feeling expressed before the adjournment the Presbytery had, with the consent of all the parties, agreed to simply ask the authority of the Synod to delete all their minutes, relating to this matter, which would leave Mr. Pentland's complaint as though it had never been brought before the Presbytery, and put the session of St. Andrew's Church in a position to grant the certificate agreed upon, and thus end the whole matter.

The Synod refused to accede to this request, and insisted upon proceeding with the appeals unless it were unconditionally withdrawn, which was refused and the Synod proceeded with the same, called the parties to the bar, and after hearing them and discussing the matter at some length, three motions were submitted, viz :

1st. That a committee invested with Synodical powers should be appointed to issue the case.

2nd. A motion that the appeal should be sustained, and the Kirk session of St. Andrews church directed to give a decision in Mr. Pendlands matter without undue delay.

3rd. That the appeal be dismissed and the action of the Presbytery approved.

The first motion was put as a distinct motion, and was lost by a considerable majority.

The second was put with the third as an amendment thereto, when the latter was carried on a vote of 19 to 15, and it became the judgment of the Synod: That the appeal be dismissed and the action of the Presbytery sustained.

From this decision Mr. Bell on his own behalf and Mr. Carnegie on behalf of the Session appealed to the General Assembly and craved the usual extracts.

Principal Cavan, Prof. Gregg and Mr. Henderson of Cobourg were appointed to defend the action of the Synod on the floor of the Assembly, and the whole matter will therefor come before the General Assembly of the Church at St. John, N. B. next month. After transacting some other business the Synod adjourned.

A Sevenfold Butchery at Last Unveiled.

A crime even more atrocious than that of Troppmann has just been brought to light in Hungary, after the lapse of half a generation. In the autumn of 1866 a rich landowner, Lodislas Gzertyauffy, set out with with his wife and six children from Gzer for the nearest railway station, taking in the carriage a large sum of money which he intended depositing in the the town, the country being in alarm because of bandits. When they were passing through a forest the coachman shot down his employer and Mme. Gzertyauffy and cut the throats of the children, or at least of five of them, the remaining child, a boy of five, leaped out of the vehicle and escaping into a thicket, where he eluded the search of the assassin. The coachman having taken and concealed the money and valuables of his master hastened to the nearest village to tell how the carriage had been attacked by robbers, and the bodies being found in the highway the crime was laid to the account of the bandits. The murderer took service with the brother of his victim, burying the stolen property, and as years passed by he became convinced that the child that had escaped his knife had only escaped it to be devoured by wolves or to perish of hunger. But the boy had been found by a rich peseant of Boka named Joseph Hodas, to whom, as well as he could, he described the tragedy that had taken place. The peasant being childless, took a great fancy to the child, and, hesitating to tell the story to the authorities lest the boy should be taken from him, at last wrote it out for preservation, but kept it a secret from everybody. The child was sent to school and then to the University of Pesth, where he studied law. Recently a telegram summoned him back to Boko, where Hodas, who was at the point of death, revealed everything to him and gave him the written story. The adopted son's memory, thus refreshed, recalled the horrible deed, and, proceeding to the residence of his uncle, he confided the matter to him. The murderer was arrested and instantly confessed his crime.

THE EMORY'S BAR CONTRACT.

A SUPPLEMENTARY return has just been brought down with regard to the contract for the Emory's Bar and Port Moody section of the Canada Pacific Railway. In this the engineer in charge, Mr. Marcus Smith, shows the cost of the works as priced out according to the schedules in the several tenders.

This careful calculation by a competent engineer shows decisively, what we have already stated, that so far from being the lowest tender, that of Macdonald and Charlebois was the twelfth on the list of fourteen, only two being higher. It was $1,031,485 above that of the successful tender.

On the other hand the tender of Onderdonk & Co. was far the lowest of the fourteen. It was not only $1,031,485 lower than that of Macdonald & Charlebois, but it was $537,136 below the figures of any other tenderer. As the schedule prices are those upon which payment would be made on progress certificates, they are the important figures in the tenders.

It is thus manifest that apart from the irregularity of the tender of Macdonald & Charebois, Sir Charles Tupper saved the country over a million dollars by awarding the contract not to them but to Onderdonk & Co.

This, however, will not prevent the Globe and its satellites from villifying Sir Charles Tupper. It is not to benefit the country, but to damage a successful opponent that they are aiming, so they will continue their dirty work.

THE COST OF LIVING.

THE Examiner still prudently declines to give the details of the increased cost of living, which it asserts has been caused by the present tariff. It is easy for our contemporary to use abusive language, and to make false statements in a vague general way, but it dares not come to the exact figures, because false ones could be at once exposed, and true ones would show the baselessness of its contentions.

Two articles it ventures to particularize as more costly, butcher's meat and fuel. So far this is all our contemporary can allege as its excuse for stating that the N. P. has increased the cost of living. If our farmers, the great bulk of the population, have, according to the Examiner's present theory, obtained better prices for their live stock and cordwood through the operation of the present tariff, it is some satisfaction at all events to think that so large a class has been benefitted by the N. P.

We hope our contemporary will please deal now with the "other accounts," giving figures, which are easily obtained, or else that it will in future abstain from a repetition of the wilful falsehood, that the N. P. has greatly increased the cost of living.

We shall look for this information in the next issue of our contemporary, but we prophecy beforehand that we shall have more abuse of ourselves instead of the required figures, which it dares not expose itself by giving.

BELLEVILLE.

IRON ORE.—The Ontario says that Mr. Wm. Coe left on Wednesday night for Toronto to arrange with parties there to supply the firm of Carnegie Bros., Pittsburg, with 300,000 tons of magnetic iron ore. The ore will be taken from his mine in Wollaston Township, which is said to be one of the most valuable magnetic iron mines in Ontario, being over 2,000 feet long and about 200 feet in length. The ore taken from this bed contains about 65 per cent. of metalic iron, and is free from phosphates or other impurities. Mr. Coe took with him a specimen of this ore for the Hon. Mr. Pardee, who has frequently expressed a desire to examine it.

A PITY.—A young woman from Port Hope (whose name we withold) arrived in the city on the midnight train last night in search of a place to stop at. After wandering about for some time, and having been refused admittance to a number of private houses below the Queen's she was directed to Mrs. Williams' poor-house. Here she was successful in her mission, and before noon to-day gave birth to a child.

NORWOOD.

NEARLY A FIRE.—The Register says that about 7 o'clock on Monday evening last Mr. Eddy's saw mill caught fire from a spark from the smokestack. The prompt arrival of a few villagers soon set matters right by the plentiful use of water from the creek close at hand.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A NOVELTY.

Mr. William Adams' stone cottage on Chippawa Avenue in this village now occupied by Mr. Fred. Lillicrap is realy a novelty in architecture. Mr. Adams has been several years occupied in the completion of the inside work, which is finished in wood from various quarters of the globe. Of course the Canadian varities predominate. The workmenship and design are chaste as well as uneque, and the casual observer in viewing the work is astonished at the patience, and perseverance of this workman, even the hall stairs are inlaid with almost innumerable descriptions of wood. It seems that Mr. Adams who has a wonderful taste even bordering upon a mania in selecting, working, polishing, etc., of raw woods, he has spent his leisure time in accumulating, planing, carving or inlaying any fine specimen he came across for the purpose of finishing this cottage, so that there would be nothing to equal it in the country. It would be very difficult to designate the particular class of archetecture to which this workmanship belongs, in fact it appears to belong partially to every class. Many of our villagers have during the past two or three weeks called to see the work and have all been delighted with the sight. One elderly lady called last week and after spending a long time looking through the premises and examining the workmanship with wonder and amazement and having many of the noted varities of wood pointed out to by her Mr. Adams coolly asked him whither he was going to paper the parlor. Mr. Adams feelings can be better imagined than described.

MOVING.

Many families have during the last week been changing houses or moving from one place to another in Lakefield. Houses are getting very scarce nearly every house in the village at all fit for habitation, is at present occupied.

A DEAD HORSE.

The dead body of a horse was discovered a few days ago, in the bush on Mr. Nicholl's farm, next to Mr. Roland Strickland's property, Douro. It is very likely the poor beast strayed in there when the fences were down, and was shut in when they were put up, and in consequence starved to death. The carcass ought to be removed.

FOUND.

The Rev. Mr. Glazier while strolling on the Burleigh road some ago, found a pocket book containing a due bill. The owner can obtain it by calling at the Review agency, Lakefield.

LEFT FOR HOME.

Mr. B. Eden, of Gaspe, who has been spending the winter in Lakefield, left for Gaspe on Wednesday evening last. Mr. Eden who is a son-in-law of our old friend Mr. E. Beatty, has made many warm friends in this village, and we understand that he intends shortly to make Lakefield his home. We welcome him.

BEES.

Mr. Richard Hill, while in the township of Harvey, lately had occasion to remove some earth from a knoll and when at a depth of about 10 inches he unearthed a large number of honey bees. He feels quite sure that they were the regular honey bees. It seems remarkable that they should be found in such a position at such a season of the year and alive too.

CHEESE FACTORY.

The Lakefield cheese factory started the season's operations on Monday last, May 1st, with excellent prospects for a lively season's work.

Remarkable Tree Growth.

A Madras paper, referring to the gardens of the Agr-Horticultural Society in that city, says: "The rain-tree (Pitheco obium saman) in the gardens, the measurements of which were given in the proceedings of 7th of August, 1878, and then believed to be under six years from the seed, continues, in spite of its having been necessary to amputate some of the largest limbs, to grow enormously. Measured on the 30th of July last it gave in girth 9 feet 4 inches at the ground, 6 feet 3 inches at three feet high, and 5 feet 9 inches at five feet high; in spread about 85 feet from north to south, and a total height of about 46 feet. A reference to the former measurements shows that the girth at three feet from the ground has increased in the last three years 2 feet 2 inches. The age of the tree is, if anything, overestimated; but search is being made for traces of the receipt of the seed, which, it is believed, came from Ceylon about 1872. A casuarina-tree standing alongside, which was the specimen of its order when that part of the ground was laid out as the Botanical Garden, and is therefore known to be about ten years old, now measures at 5 feet from the ground only 2 feet 8½ inches, though it is about 82 feet high."

In the month of April almost everyone requires a good and reliable Blood Purifier. We know of none so safe and effectual as Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They act directly on all the secretions, their purgative action carrying off all impurities from the system, they invigorate the Liver and Kinneys, purify the Stomach, cleanse the Bowels, and give strength and tone to the whole system. Try a course of this valuable, safe and reliable vegetable preparation, Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

SMITH MEDICINE CO.—GENTLEMEN: I have made a trial of one box of Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy, with such good effect that I have no hesitation in recommending it to the public as a prompt and reliable medicine. In fact, those who use it once will always do so. Yours truly, J. HATVIE, 172 Cadieux street Montreal.

A YOUNG MAN writes: "I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine and am much pleased with the result." It has cured me after Doctors and other medicines had failed. See advertisement in another column.

SPORTING NEWS.

THE CHAMPION'S SUPERIORITY.

St. James' Gazette:—When the Hanlan-Boyd race was over, and Hanlan had heartily shaken hands with his distressed antagonist, the astonished crowd began to seek an explanation for Boyd's defeat. The cause is obvious enough; Hanlan has brains, and has made sculling the subject of deep study and constant practice. It took him three months of incessant study to learn the stroke he uses. Besides this, he has never suffered from the absurdities of training. He keeps himself in good health, and never on any account takes too violent exercise. Hence he makes very short work of his overtrained opponent. A doctor who lately saw Hanlan said: 'He could hardly give a man a knock-down blow, but he could pull his head off.' The suggestion of constant care and assidious developement of special muscles can hardly be better given. It is certain that no man in the world is capable of getting within two hundred yards of the Canadian. He will remain champion just as long as he likes, unless some Englishman will imitate his patient study and bring a better physique to the task."

HANLAN WANTED IN ENGLAND.

Shortly after the race with Boyd an English sporting authority interviewed Hanlan as follows:

"I had about ten minutes' chat with Hanlan on Monday, and found him a much more modest and better-spoken young fellow than I should have expected after the account of his behaviour on the Tyne. I referred to the sensational rumor which had appeared last year as to the discovery of wheels in the bottom of his Wager boat; and he assured me that the whole story, in all its details, was the invention of an offended Yankee sporting reporter. All Hanlan claims to have done is to make the most of the 'sliding seat;' and this he manages so cleverly that he keeps his boat level on the surface of the water, nor lets it dip, either at the bow or stern, as it will be noticed most boats dip. I asked him whether he would feel inclined, if well paid for the task, to undertake the post of instructing the Cambridge eight next spring, and though I could get no definite answer from him I think it would be worth while to ask him. If amateurs go to a crack professional cricketer to teach them to bat and bowl, why should they not seek the best available talent to coach them in their rowing? It is quite clear that at present no one at Oxford, or Cambridge either, knows how to fully bring out the capacity of the sliding seat; then why not get instruction in so important a detail?"

From this there appears to be a possibility of the champion spending some time in England next winter.

CAMPBELLFORD.

AN ALLIGATOR FROM FLORIDA.—The Herald says that Mr. John W. Johnston, Seymour, is in possession of a young alligator which he received as a present from Prof. Cecil, who was here on a visit a few days, recently. The little stranger was a nataive of Florida, the Professor having brought it all the way from that southern clime at Mr. Johnston's request. It is two feet one inch long. It is kept in a box in the house, and has been domesticated so that it may be handled with safety, the huge jaws never giving any obstruction to the person touching the body. It is fed upon meat which it devours eagerly, and it shows no sign of indigestion. When the amphibious little creature was brought to its new home, it showed an indisposition to eat, but by accident Mr. Johnston found that it preferred its food in water. So now the food is thrown into the water, and the —we call him little fellow—follows it and gobbles it up. The young southerner has been an object of curiosity, wonder, delight and fear to a great number of persons. When it stretches out in length to fifteen or twenty feet, Mr. Johnston will no doubt "lease" him for a number of years, or perhaps "release" him for life.

ANOTHER ONE DISGUSTED.—In a letter to a gentleman in Seymour, one of the persons who left Campbellford to make a new and better home in Manitoba, writes in a very discouraging tone. "Dont fill your mind with the comforts of this place, stay in your comfortable home," are the words he utters in sorrow. A farmer who had a good home upon a good farm in an adjoining township, upon putting his foot upon Manitoban soil in Emerson, said he would give $500 if he could be back in the position he was before he left home. The most sensible advice to farmers who are making a living in Ontario, is to remain at home, upon lands which receive the light and heat from a sun that shines on no better country in the world.

BROKE HER HIP.—Mrs. Meiklejohn, wife of Mr. Peter Meiklejohn, who fell and broke a bone of the hip, about two weeks ago, mention of which was made in this paper, died at her residence on Wednesday last. The aged lady's death was no doubt hastened by the injuries received. She was upwards of 70 years of age. Bright memories of the deceased as a devoted wife and affectionate mother will be cherished by her husband and children till death makes the seperation.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.—Two young men were brought before Justice LeVesconte, yesterday, for an alleged assault upon the person of an elderly woman who resides near the station, and injury to her property. The evidence against the parties was worthless, and the magistrate dismissed the case.

FISHING.—Mr. Alex. Bonnycastle had the pleasure of taking three dozen and one trout from Trout Creek, on Monday last. He walked a long distance for them, however, as he jocularly says, "775 miles, more or less."

PORT HOPE.

A GOOD SHOT.—The Times says that Private Perritt, who destinguished himself last fall as the crack marksman of the Dominion, has been chosen to go with the Canadian team to shoot at Shoebu[illegible]s next summer. Five dollars was granted by the Port Hope Council to aid in defraying expenses. East Durham Field Battery are proud of their man, and hope to see him win honors when competing with the Wimbledon teams.

M. L. Co.—We are pleased to be able to announce that the Midland Land Co. paid on Wednesday a dividend on a capital of $150,000 of $5 per share of $100. This a creditable showing, and cannot fail to be satisfactory to the shareholders. Midland is bound to progress, and the Land Co. with it, thanks to the foresight and able management of the President, Mr. A. Hugel.

HOME AGAIN.—Some four or five have returned from Manitoba during the past week, and their opinions of that country are various. Several are completely disgusted, while the others speak in the highest terms of it, and intend going back shortly. One gentleman remarked enthusiastically, "It's the finest country in the world."

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.—I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to us a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—*Leading M. D. SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Thousands of our best people take it and give it to their children. Physicians prescribe it daily. Those who use it once, recommend it to others.

It is made from Yellow Dock, Honduras Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Stillingia, Dandelion, Sassafras, Wintergreen, and other well-known valuable Roots and Herbs. It is strictly vegetable, and cannot hurt the most delicate constitution. It is one of the best medicines in use for Regulating the Bowels.

It is sold by all responsible druggists at one dollar for a quart bottle, or six bottles for five dollars.

Those who cannot obtain a bottle of this medicine from their druggist may send us one dollar, and we will send it to them.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1882.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Personals.

Mr. Richard White, of the Montreal Gazette, formerly of the REVIEW called on us to-day.

Council Meeting.

A special meeting of the Town Council is called for this evening at 7.30 o'clock in re the carworks by-law.

The Norseman.

The Norseman broke her walking beam on Wednesday. It was repaired at Charlotte and she is now on her route as usual.

Cricket.

The first regular practice match of the cricket club will take on the Ashburnham ground to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clok, when it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

Separate School Board.

The Separate School Board met on Thursday the 4th of May. The full board was present, as no business of importance was brought up, the meeting adjourned at an early hour.

Booming.

The Norwood Register says that since the construction of the Ontario & Quebec Railway has became a certainty the value of real estate in and around the village has risen considerably. Several gentlemen from Peterborough, while attending court there last week, purchased quite an amount of property on spec. Lots that sold for $200 and $300 some time ago cannot be purchased now for less thad $300 or $400.

Look After Him.

An old man named Kelly, hailing from Ashburnham was arrested and placed in the cells last night, by the Chief of Police. He is a regular old nuisance and at intervals raises a disturbance on the street. Many people think he is crazy and should be looked after. Judging by his actions both inside the court room and outside, we are inclined to believe that there are good grounds for the supposition.

Timber.

The Belleville Ontario says that there have been about 110,000 cubic feet of square timber brought to Belleville from the north on the Grand Junction division of the Midland since the season opened—63,000 being from Hastings and the balance from El Dorado and Cookston. There are about 50,000 feet yet at Cookston and Hog Lake, the first consignment of which will be brought in very soon now. The timber is for Buck & Stewart, and will be sent by water in two drams to Quebec.

Draughts.

Mr. Wyllie, the "Herd Laddie," was recently at Baltimore, and among those who played with him was Mr. R. McLaurin, who out of two games made two draws. In this connection a correspondent of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star says the result of the games in Peterborough was not published. This is incorrect, as we, as well as the other town papers, two Toronto dailies and numerous others published the full scores made here, as Mr. Wyllie lost more games here than he did in any other place in Canada.

Newspaper Thieves Beware.

A new postal law or decision in the U. S. authorizes the publishers of newspapers to arrest any man as a thief who takes their papers and refuses to pay for them. This is a fair and judicious law, and should have been enacted years ago, as a means of protection to publishers, for there are lots of persons who will take a paper for a time, and when asked to pay for it will laugh at the publisher, and tauntingly defy him to get it if he can. In this manner publishers lose hundreds of dollars. The law is intended to meet just such rascals, and publishers generally should unite in having it enforced. A little of the same kind of law in Canada would not be out of place, and would prove a boon to publishers who lose a large sum annually rather than sue delinquent subscribers by the present Division Court progress, which is slow, doubtful and expensive, for it is an easy matter to get judgment, but quite another to enforce collection of it.—Exchange.

Ice in May.

To give an idea of the cold last night we may state that a resident in the south end of the town informs us that by actual measurement the ice on Spaulding's Bay, at an early hour this morning, was found to be slightly over a quarter of an inch in thickness. Considering that this is the month of May that is not bad at all, almost equal to Winnipeg.

Trent Valley Navigation.

The following items appear in the supplemenary estimates.

Trent river navigation, for construction of locks and the improvement of navigation between Lakefield and Balsam lake, $25,000.

Survey of Trent valley navigation, $8,000.

River Trent and Newcastle district works, additional amount required for repairs $3,250.

Peterborough, dredging $1,000.

The Weather.

Although the people, who have now great faith in the weather probabilities and anxiously watch for them, were on the outlook last night, the promised rain and thunder storm did not arrive as promised, but instead a cold wave struck the town and made things cool. To-day, the sun is shining brightly, but some of last night's breeze still remains and it may be called somewhat cool. The outlook is for about the same class of weather as we are having at present. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Fresh to strong northerly to easterly winds; fair cool weather.

Railway Notes.

The Norwood Register says than an attempt is being made by some of the leading men of the village to have the route of the Ontario & Quebec Railway changed so as to run through the village. Several have subscribed handsomely, Messrs. Mullins and McCarthy offering the right of way through their farms, and Mr. Buck the right of way through his property, Mr. Finlay $300, Mr. Pearce $200, and so on. Sufficient money has been subscribed to purchase the entire right of way through the village. Mr. Lumsden has the matter in hand, and will lay it before the President immediately. If the change is effected the road will be run over the old Stewart survey. With what success the efforts of the promoters of this change will be attended remains yet to be seen, we hardly think, however, that the inducements offered will be sufficient to overcome the extra expence to which the Company would be put by the change.

The Midland official car was at the Union Station last night. It is now very frequently here.

Messrs. Read, Secretary, and Jeffers, Auditor of the Midland, were in Montreal this week on railway business.

The two ringleaders of the striking brakemen will not be taken on again.

Some of the green hands who took the place of the striking brakemen are not at all satisfied with being discharged so soon. They think that the Company should recognize in a substantial manner the risk they ran in taking the places in order to keep the trains running.

The Intelligencer says that the arrangement between the G. T. R. and Midland, by which Midland trains will be run up to the G. T. R. station at Belleville before they are brought down into the city, will probably come into effect next week.

The steel rails for the Toronto & Ottawa Railway, which we referred to in Tuesday's issue, will arrive at Belleville, in barges from Montreal, in two weeks' time.

POLICE COURT.

D AND D.

FRIDAY, May 5.—John Kelly, of Ashburnham, who has figured often before, was charged by Chief Johnston with being drunk and disorderly in a public place on Wednesday evening. He was arrested and lodged in the cells while raising a row on the street.

The Chief detailed the circumstances and stated that the prisoner often got under the influence of the ardent, and when in that condition he was very disorderly and was in the habit of throwing stones and insulting pedestrians.

The magistrate sent him to gaol for seven days in order that he might sober up.

ASSAULT CASE.

Wm. McMaster charged Mrs. Elizabeth Vout with committing an assault on his children on Sunday night last, by throwing water on them.

Mr. C. W. Sawers appeared for the complainant.

The parties to to the case are neighbors and it will be remembered that a few days ago a cross case was heard in which the defendant on the present occasion, was plaintiff. It appears from the evidence for the plaintiff that the children were passing Mrs. Vout's house, when she threw some liquid, the exact name of which the two witnesses did not agree upon, on them. For the defence Mrs. Vout swore the children were a nuisance and were in the habit of climbing on the fence in front of her house and looking in the window. She acknowledged throwing half a cup of lukewater tea on them, after warning them several times to go away.

The Magistrate said the case was of a very petty character. It was no doubt very provoking to be annoyed by the children, but the defendant should have sent them home.

Judgement, fined 20 cents and costs $2.

WATERWORKS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Section 46 of the "Municipal Waterworks Act, 1882," provides as follows:—

"Where waterworks, for the benefit of a portion only of the municipality, are desired by the owners of any real property in any city, town or incorporated village, the Council, on the petition of the owners of the real property to be served, may pass by-laws for the construction of such waterworks, and for assessing and levying upon such real property a special rate, sufficient to include a sinking fund for the repayment of debentures, which such Council is hereby authorized to issue on the security of such rate, to provide funds for the construction of such waterworks, and shall pass by-laws for so assessing and levying the same by an annual rate in the dollar on the said real property, according to the frontage thereof, or according to the value thereof, exclusive of improvements, as may be desired by the petitioners."

Sub-section 2:—

"The Council may also pass by-laws for the management of such works, and may appoint such officers as are required therefor."

Sub-section 3:—

"The water shall be supplied to the said owners and their tenants at such rates as the Council may consider requisite to cover the cost of keeping up the said works and managing the same, and a separate account shall be kept of all moneys received or expended on account of said works, and such charges shall, from time to time, be increased or decreased, so that such owners and tenants may obtain the benefit of any excess of receipts from this source for the previous year, and may be charged for any deficiency."

Sub-section 4:—

"In case any person, subsequent to their construction, desires to receive the benefit of such works, the Council may permit him to do so upon such terms as the Council may deem just, and may either direct that such person be charged for water at a higher rate, which rate the Council shall fix, or may pass such by-laws as may be required to charge the property to be served of such person with its proper share of the cost of such works, and for giving the other proprietors the benefit thereof."

Sub-section 5:—

"In case any person is dissatisfied with any action of the Council under the last preceding sub-section, he may, at any time within one month from the passing of the by-law complained of, appeal to the Judge of the County Court of the County in which the municipality is situated, who, upon notice to the parties, or such of them as he may consider necessary to represent the various interests, shall confirm such by-law, or direct the same to be varied, and the Council, in the event of the Judge deciding that the by-law should be varied, shall vary the same accordingly."

Under the above sections and sub-sections the central part of the town can apply to the Council and obtain the necessary power to construct waterworks, and by obtaining the water from Dixon's dam, the whole cost would not exceed $15,000, the interest and sinking fund on which will not be more than $1,000. This, upon property lying between Water and Aylmer streets and London and King streets, will be but a mere fraction of taxation, and then the water may be used for all purposes, including the streets and dwellings. And extensions may from time to time be made, as required, the only cost thereof being the expense of simply laying down the pipes. The ratepayers will now be able to obtain water for fire, as well as other purposes, at a mere nominal cost, thus making a saving to the town by several thousands of dollars over any other works. And whatever benefit is thus obtained the ratepayers get it. They get all this money by simply saving it. Application will be made to the Council in due time to secure these works. In the meantime the Council must not do anything to prejudice our rights. The people will now be able to see how much has been gained by keeping the Council from hastily committing the town to any other scheme.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

FURIOUS FIRE FIEND.

A Disastrous Blaze at Racine, Wis., Destroys Millions Worth of Property.

Special to the Review.

RACINE, Wis., May 6.—2.20.—A fire broke out in Goodham's warehouse at 10 o'clock last night when it rapidly spread to the lumber yards and elevators. At this writing everything north of Third street and east of Wisconsin, either is in ashes or is burning. A fierce gale is blowing. There is no prospect of stopping the flames. Engines have been sent for to Chicago and Milwaukee.

3.10 a. m.—The fire is still progressing burning everything in its way. At the present time everything is burned north of Third street, from lake to river, and the fire is making very serious headway, south of Third street. Two engines arrived from Milwaukee, but there are none from Chicago yet.

3.15 a. m.—The fire has reached Fourth street and will soon be across that street east of Main. The whole city is aroused and excitement runs high. The streets are thronged. The fire beggars description.

4.10 a. m.—The wind has lulled somewhat. There is hope that it may be stopped at Fourth street. It has not crossed the river yet, and so far the large manufacturies are untouched. About 15 acres so far have been burned over. the loss is estimated at from one to three millions. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway general offices are burned with their contents. The loss is $250,000. The streets are full of furniture and goods of every description. Kelly, Welks & Co., lumber dealers, lose $125,000. The loss on the St. Paul elevator is $500,000. The linseed oil works caught fire and and blew up. It is feared that some lives are lost.

3 p. m.—Specials state that the loss by the Racine fire is only $350,000 although a dozen blocks were burned. They were on the peninsula which does not contain any very valuable property.

"WE doctored our boy for rheumatism," said Mr. Barton, of the stove firm of Redway & Barton, of this city, to one of our reporters, but could find no cure. I had heard so much of the efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil that I finally determined to try it. Two bottles of the Oil fully cured him. "Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE LATEST.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 6.—The telegram from Berry announcing the loss of the Rodgers was transmitted to Hoffman incorrectly. Berry stated that no lives were lost. The Navy officials have little or no hope of the rescue of the Chipps party. The general impression is that Chipps' boat capsized in a gale that separated the Jeannette's three boats, and that all hands were drowned.

THE FROZEN SEAS.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Herald's Irkutsk correspondent expresses the opinion that had Melville begun his search from the south upwards, instead of going first to the north, he would have found Delong's party and perhaps all in good time. The correspondent gives the letter of Norris and Nindeman, sent out by Delong for succor, saying that they were unable to make the natives they first met understand that Delong's party needed help. Norris told a correspondent:—"The Captain read divine service when we left. All the men shook hands with us and most of them had tears in their eyes." Collins said:—"Norris, when you get to New York remember me. They seemed to have lost all hope, but as we left they gave three cheers."

In the meantime the rails are laid around it.

THE REASON WHY.

LONDON, May 4.—Mr. Forster stated in the Imperial House of Commons, the reason for his withdrawal from the Chief Secretaryship of Ireland. He could not agree with the release of the suspects unless he got from them a public undertaking to cease opposing the execution of the law. As he could not obtain that he could not remain in office. He would have released the suspects if Ireland had been quiet, or if the Government had full power, but he could not agree to an unconditional surrender. He admitted that the condition of Irelaud was better than in January, but it was still so bad that he wanted the Government to let the rules of procedure wait until a fresh act securing punishment for outrages has been passed. The Coercion Act has broken up the League, or put it under petticoats, and rents were being better paid, but he feared that an unconditional release would undo all the good effects of the Act. Justifying the arrest of Parnell, he said that Parnell, if he had been allowed, would have become an uncrowned king of Ireland. He declares that the proceedings of the imprisoned members are far more dangerous than individual incitement to outrage. If all England could not govern Parnell, let the Government acknowledge that he is the greatest power in Ireland. But he believes that neither such an admission nor weakening concessions were necessary. Better even hideous secret societies than paying blackmail to the law breakers. (This was received with roars of Opposition cheering.) Mr. Forster feared that the price would have to be paid for the immediate diminution of outrages which might be produced by the unconditional release of Parnell, would be a weakening of the power of any Government to protect life and property. It was true his individual opinions of the proper course to pursue were opposed by his thirteen colleagues, one of whom held opinions so strong that it was impossible for him to appear there and not acknowledge it. Mr. Forster concluded by referring to the pain with which he quitted the council of a party the principals of which he said he had not forsaken.

COBOURG.

COULDN'T STAND IT.—Sentinel-Star says that a young man, belonging to this town took a fancy to go sailing, on the schooner W. T. Greenwood, which left this port some three weeks ago, made two trips to Oswego from Toronto. When she arrived in Toronto on the last trip he thought he could not stand it any longer, so he took the train from Toronto and came home. He was too brave to sail on this lake.

OBIT.—We regret to announce the death, in Winnipeg, of Mr. Potter who formerly had charge of the G. T. R. refreshment rooms and dining cars here. The deceased had been keeping the largest hotel in Winnipeg and we understand that his illness was brought on by over work necessitated by attending to his numerous guests.

RECOVERING.—The World says that it is happy to state that Mr. John Pratt, who received such severe injury by the kick of a horse at Port Hope last week, is in a fair way of recovery. He is now pronounced out of danger, and in a condition to be removed to his home. His many friends will be glad to hear of this favorable issue.

A Nurse Who Fed Pins to a Baby.

The infant of Mrs. Sachs, No. 68 North Eden street, which was relieved of four pins it had swallowed, has fully recovered. The pins, which were one shawl pin, an inch an a half long, and three pins an inch long, were it is believed by the mother, given to the infant, which is 7 months old in brandy by the nurse, and partly by poking them down its throat. While the mother was at market last Friday the nurse it is stated, got a small quantity of brandy in the neighborhood. On her return from market Mrs. Sachs found the child, which she left three-quarters of an hour before well and chirping, vomiting blood. Dr. Gross was called. Under his treatment three of the pins were passed Saturday and the fourth Sunday. One of the smaller pins was consideraly bent, and the others slightly. The doctor was satisfied the pins were all swallowed head foremost, which probably saved the child from greater harm than was done to it. The nurse who is 18 years old, expressed surprise at being charged with so heinous an act but afterward, Mrs. Sachs states, she admitted it to her. She has been sent by her mother to an institution for the care of young women.—Baltimore Sun.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

Our readers will, one and all, be rejoiced to learn that in the supplementary estimates substantial provision has been made for the opening of the Trent Valley Navigation. The sum of three hundred thousand dollars, is probably as much as could be well expended this season, and will in it self suffice greatly to extend our important inland navigation, even if nothing further were to be done hereafter. A navigable stretch extending from Balsam Lake and its tributaries, to Lakefield, will be a great benefit to the country at large, and especially to this town, which is so centrally situated on the route thus being opened up. But even more satisfaction is to be derived from this grant as a proof that the present Government appreciates the importance of this great work, and has resolved to push it on to completion. It is another instance of the readiness of Sir John Macdonald's administration to further any project calculated to develop the resources of the country.

We in Peterborough may especially congratulate ourselves upon this resolve, for the opening of this navigable route has long been a cherished scheme here. Our older readers will remember the days when our enthusiastic member, Mr. Conger, so strongly advocated it, with general approval. Later, Mr. Mossom Boyd with equal energy revived the idea and pushed it on to the point of obtaining a charter. The time, however, was not then ripe, nor the political situation propitious, so the matter lay in abeyance for some years. It was from Peterborough again, a few years ago, that came the impetus that once more brought the project before the public and the administration, till our efforts have been thus crowned with success.

Yesterday, in common with the whole community, we felt both surprise and disappointment at the small sum that was by mistake reported to have been placed in the supplementary estimates for this purpose. We felt almost convinced, however, that there must be some blunder—that the Government, after the hopes they had raised by their past actions—their undertaking of the surveys and the pledges they had given to proceed with the work as soon as the finances allowed of it—would not be thus neglectful of the public interests. Answers to inquiries soon set any doubts at rest.

Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues have added another to the long list of benefits they have conferred upon the country by their patriotic and practical administration.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

Some of the Opposition journals are publishing so-called maps of some of the new constituencies, but they do not agree with the facts of with each other. Townships, towns and villages are represented out of their proper positions, and not with their real proportions. In more than one case where there has been no change except to place the whole of a divided village in one riding, a map of the constituency has been paraded as a specimen of gerrymandering. In other cases the irregularity is in the boundary of the county, which has not been changed. Our contemporaries should study their geography, but that would not further their purpose of misrepresentation.

The Lindsay Post, which ought to be well acquainted with the circumstances, and which is so very careful never to make any misrepresentations, says :—

"North Victoria receives a slice from East Peterborough to help Mr. Hector Cameron, badly damaged as a private bill promoter and legislator. It is no wonder that Mr. Cameron fears to face the grangers and other misrepresented constituents, and has had recourse to gerrymandering."

Of course what is Mr. Cameron's gain must be Mr. Burnham's loss, if the sitting members are again candidates. The Examiner therefore ought to be well satisfied as regards the East Riding of Peterborough—but still both of our contemporaries will grumble, as they would have done whatever might have been the nature of the Bill.

Mr. Blake may perhaps be forgiven for objecting so strongly to the Bill. The representation of minorities has always been one of the favourite hobbies in his well-filled stables for these fancy animals. It must be especially galling to him, therefore, to think that an equalization of the constituencies should have endangered the representation of the Opposition minority in Ontario. He would have preferred to see a small Reform Riding neutralizing a populous Conservative constituency.

* * *

Our Reform contemporary, like its compeers, raves about the Redistribution Bill and uses a vast amount of bad language. It says the sole object is to gain a party advantage, and quite ignores the old love of its party, representation by population, which is the main object. It owns there is no unfairness in the change in this county, but it continues its jeremiad, without mentioning that the townships taken from the East Riding were united to North Victoria by Mr. Mowat. It is simply seeking an excuse in advance for the defeat it anticipates.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Witness, though it is a Reform journal, thus describes Sir John Macdonald's reply to the criticisms on the Redistribution Bill :—

"The Premier's remarks were couched in convincing terms, and his defence of the attacks by the Opposition was an able one. He was loudly applauded on resuming his seat."

The Conservative boroughs of Niagara and Cornwall have been annexed, on account of their small population, to other constituencies, yet Sir John gets no credit for this proof of his fidelity to the principle of equalization. Seat after seat is claimed by Opposition journals to have been rendered more secure for them, yet there is no sign of contentment. Would they have every change in their favour?

* * *

One of the iniquities, we are told, of the Bill is that Scugog does not touch the Riding to which it is joined. As the Township of Scugog happens to be an island, so we cannot see how it could be brought into close contiguity with any Riding, unless they would have liked the Bill to include a clause for the draining or filling up of Lake Scugog.

THE GEORGIAN BAY.

A Prosperous Village—Extensive Lumbering Operations—Midland Railway Facilities.

A special correspondent of the Toronto Mail writes from Midland as follows :—

On the west side of the bay is P. W. McLeod's mill (formerly Tait's). He will bring the lumber and dimension stuff sawn at his mill across to the railway platform in the steam scow Pocahontas. A new mill is being built near this terminal platform for the British Canadian Lumber Company. The building is 52 x 140 feet; boiler house, 35 x 54 feet; five boilers, two engines, 18 x 24 cylinder, 180 horse-power. The cutting capacity of the mill is eitimated at 75,000 feet per day. No burner will be erected at present, as the waste material will be required for two years to fill up around the mill and level the piling ground.

It will be finished about the middle of May, will have two circulars—cost about $25,000. Another mill is to be built near the same site, also for the British Canadian Lumber Company, for cedar ties, cedar shingles, and posts. This mill is calculated to cut 2,000 ties per day; cost about $6,000. Further on, past the elevator, is Chew Bros., grist and shingle mill; next, H. H. Cook's mills, rebuilt. An engineer was taking a survey of the premises for the purpose of making a plan to send to Scotland for the inspection of the directors of the British Canadian Lumber Company. John Dollar's mills come next, outside the city limits. Then, near the old fort, on the river Wye, another mill belonging to the British Canadian Lumber Company. This firm will take out this season about thirty eight million feet. At Victoria harbour, still further east, are Power's mills; also John McDermott's; also the mills of Messrs. A. Cain, P. Christie, and W. Tanner before reaching Waubashene. The Waubashene mills, which were burned in August last, are being rebuilt, and will, when completed, be better than the former mills. The main building is 126 x 70 feet, with file-room 16 x 30 feet, and lath-room 20 x 60 additional. The engine-room is 20 x 32 feet, and the boiler-house 38 x 41—both the latter stone and brickwork. The burner for waste material is combined with the smoke stack by a smoke-box from the boiler-house. The burner is of iron plate 28 feet in diameter by 125 feet high, with a hood of wire-work 15 feet high. The machinery, which is manufactured by Mr. W. Hamilton, of Peterborough, consists of one circular saw, one slabbing gang, one large flat gang, one patent span circular, which expands to size of log, from 7 inches to 26, worked by steam feed, a small slab gang, two edgers, two trimmers, and lath mill. The whole is driven by two engines, with four steel boilers, equal to 350 horse-power, made by Thomas Wilson, of Dundas. The work is under the superintendence of Mr. J. C. Else, who has been foreman at the mills for eleven years. The mill will be one of the most complete and extensive in the country, and will cost about $90,000 when finished. After leaving Waubashene, Fessiston mills are passed—next Josiah Cain's, stock 4½ million shingles, and J. Campbell, also about 4½ million shingles. At Coldwater are H. Lovening's shingle mill, stock 5 million shingles; J. Brown do., 3 million; John Green saw and shingles, on North river, 3½ million shingles and 1 million lumber; J. Smith, on Coldwater river, 2 million shingles; Messrs. Wylie & Tait, three miles east from Coldwater, on the Midland Railway, stock 2 million shingles; James Hadden, five miles from Coldwater, gang and circular, 2 million lumber; Thos. Overend, Uhtoff, seven miles west of Orillia, 2 million shingles; Tasker & Lakins, 3 miles from Uhtoff, 1 million feet. Andrew Tait is a large operator in Orillia in sawed lumber and shingles; the Oro Lumber Manufacturing Co., also have a new mill at Orillia. Railroad facilities have developed an immense trade in lumber and shingles in this section of the country, and utilized a large amount of timber which would otherwise have gone to waste. Mr. Crossin's railroad car manufactory at Cobourg is largely supplied with car sills, and oak and maple dimension stuff from Midland. An excellent quality of oak is obtained in that region. The traffic over the Midland Railway in 1881 was :—Lumber, 104,461,000 feet; timber 739,341 cubic feet; shingles, 63,318,000; posts and ties, 698 car-loads; firewood, 370 cords; wheat, 443,388 bushels; flour, 25,351 barrels; other goods, making a total weight of 237,845 tons. The total earnings for the year 1881 amounted to $404,360, being an increase of $57,925 over those of 1880. The traffic for 1882 will show a very much larger increase.

FOREST MANAGEMENT.

At the Forestry Convention held in Cincinnati recently one of the papers read was submitted by Prof. Brown, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and was exceedingly well received. A summary of it as follows appears in the Globe :—

In South Australia the Government, under its Woods and Forests Board, have begun the conservation and replanting of the country most vigorously. In 1878 they passed "The Forest Tree Act" with special reference to the encouragement of tree planting. By its provisions the Governor can proclaim parts of the country to be "forest districts" for the purpose of inclosing and planting. A bonus of ten dollars per acre is given to owners for successful establishment of clumps during two years, not less than five acres, and if in strips, not less than 100 feet wide. A Conservator of Forests has been appointed. In five years they have enclosed and planted 2,617 acres at a cost of $100,000. The success is most gratifying. Seeds are collected; a number of nurseries are kept at convenient points; they have an experimental department; the various methods of seeding broadcast and in rows, of regular planting at various distances apart, and by natural reproduction. Weather records are kept; much of the success is attributed to the thorough use of the plough and cultivator; plants are given to owners of lands on certain conditions; several arboretums are being established; thinning and pruning are systematically attended to; "fire breaks" are ploughed in proper season; and last year the Government distributed free to settlers a treatise on tree cultivation, got up by the Conservator, and their annual report is very interesting and valuable.

I have pleasure in laying on the table a copy of the Conservator's latest report and his Treatise on Tree Cultivation.

AN EXAMPLE OF REVENUE FROM SCOTCH PLANTATIONS.

There is always some value to be gathered from the experience of others, even when conditions differ very much, and while Scotland will compare favorably with it, America as regards moisture, being propitious for the life of certain kinds, it can not do so with reference to rapid growth through climatic and soil conditions as a whole.

The writer had the management for ten years of a Highland property extending to 135,000 acres, which embraced every possible condition of plant and animal life, from good wheat production up, or down, to the lowest form of lichen, four thousand feet above sea level.

I have often thought that were the Americans aware by actual personal experience of the difficulties that surround most branches of British rural economy there would be less quarrelling and more stay at home amongst us.

The cultivation of trees in Britain, while a matter of mark in her history, has been, and still is, one of expense, and the knowing how to labor and to wait.

In Scotland, especially, the reclothing has been very extensive and successful. Land that fetched only 8d an acre for sheep grazing, or 1s for a deer forest, has been, under skill and capital, brought to produce a clear annual revenue of fifteen times these amounts—by tree crops.

Beginning in 1855 I planted annually, on an average, for fourteen years, one and a half million larch and Scotch pine, among the heather and granite of Banff and Aberdeenshire.

Our process was simply to enclose with wire fence from three hundred to one thousand acres, in districts where direct shelter, ornament, and climatic amelioration, with the best chances of economic results, were necessary and most likely to be secured. Drainage was thoroughly done where required. Planting carried out by day labour, never by contract, under skilled foremen, one man, under average conditions as to soil and size of plants, notching as many as one thousand a day. Trees were sized according to height and exposure of the ground, and not less than three thousand per acre—aiming at four feet apart all over. Pitting was necessary only with the larger hard and Scotch pine, or with hardwoods. We always had the best success with small plants, seedlings, with conifera on the exposed parts, and not more than two years transplanted in any case.

Thus the Highlands of Scotland are to-day in possession of many thousands of acres, producing a handsome revenue that twenty years ago made a poor show on the rent rolls; average cost, £3 1s. per acre. I submit a printed statement of six years' revenue from the older plantations of a highland property.

The above was illustrated with a printed table, many copies of which were on hand. The same gentleman also read a short tract containing "Suggestions concerning a Text-book on Forestry," presenting with it the table of contents printed, such as he thought it should have.

ABOUT SPRING HOUSE CLEANING.

Probably there is nothing in the whole routine of house-keeping that is more of a bugbear than the "spring cleaning." If, as is sometimes the case, the house is set in an uproar, the furniture moved out of doors, and all the rooms made uninhabitable at once, the operation may well be dreaded. Fortunate are those house-keepers who continue in the old-fashoned method, if colds and sickness among the children do not follow house cleaning. Of course, where hired help is especially employed for the occasion, it is necessary to keep them occupied and to do in a day as much as possible. But, as a general thing, there is no need of the discomfort that usually accompanies House Cleaning. Of course each house-keeper will have her own views about the matter, and we can only hope to make a few helpful suggestions.

ABOUT THE STOVES.

Outside of cities, the majority of houses are heated by stoves, and one of the points in most house cleaning is to take down these stoves, and not put them up again. Not only a large of discomfort, but much sickness, if not consequent death, comes from the too early taking down of stoves. In every house in the Northern States, and the same applies farther south also, there should always be ample provision for making a fire in the living room, at any time during the year. Cold storms may come unexpectedly, and a fire is sometimes as necessary in August as in any other month. If stoves are are used for heating, the health and comfort of the family revuire that there should always be at least one stove in which a fire can be made at once, at any time during the year.

DO NOT TAKE STOVES DOWN TOO SOON.

Those who observe the weather are aware that, in the Northern States, we do not have what is called "Settled weather" much before the middle of June, and that, each year, there is likely to be a cold storm of several days' duration between the first and the middle of that month. We have observed this matter through so many years that we feel warranted in saying to those who, in the Northern States, depend upon stoves for warming their houses, do not take down the stoves

BEFORE THE MIDDLE OF JUNE.

When stoves are taken down, and before they are stored away for the summer, the first point should be, to make them ready to put up again. Do not leave this until the cold days of Autumn, when they may be needed in a hurry, but make all needed repairs now. There are so many kinds that we can make but general suggestions. The weak point in all stoves is the lining, and especially where hard coal is the fuel, this may need replacing. Do not put the stove away until the repairs are made. All of the leading patterns have a name or number, and the parties from whom a stove was bought can furnish or procure the proper lining. Some stoves have air-passages and double linings; dust and light ashes may accumulate in these, and where such exist they should be thoroughly cleaned. Then that terror to all heads of families when stoves are to be put up. Carefully mark with chalk—lead-pencil will answer well—the parts that go together. A little care now will save much trouble in Autumn. In our house-cleaning talk, we have run away to stoves, and no part of the operation is of more importance. But we would say

AS TO THE STOVE PIPE.

A WORD ABOUT CLEANING PAINT.

If a regular "scrubber" be employed, she may leave the painted work looking bright and fresh, but it will have been done with soap and sand. Sand should never be used upon painted or varnished work. Strong soft soap and sand vigorously applied, will take off a large share of the paint. To clean paint, first make a moderately strong soap suds, and also have at hand another pail of warm water, with a soft flannel cloth for each, and also a plate containing "Whiting," or "Spanish White"—to be had at all paint or drug stores. One flannel being wet with the soap-suds, dip it in the Whiting to take up a small quantity, and gently rub the painted work. The surface coating of smoke and other matter will soon be removed, then wipe the surface carefully with the other flannel wrung out from the warm water, and the painted work will look "as good as new."

CLEANING WALL PAPER.

The chief soiling of paper, especially those kinds in which some part of the pattern is slightly raised above the the general surface, is due to dust. In many cases all that can be done is, to remove the dust; this is best accomplished by taking a new broom, wrapping a cloth around it, and sweeping with it from the top downward, with long, straight strokes—not up and down. This will remove the dust, and greatly improve the appearance of the paper. Sometimes the paper will be soiled in spots, as where persons have allowed their heads to rest against it. In such cases it is well to try a piece of stale bread, from which the crust has been removed, using it upon the spots as if it were a piece of India Rubber. At house cleaning time it is well to have an eye to, and whether in the floor, or between that and the base board, where insects may harbor, as well as larger ones in closets through which mice may enter. For cracks, use common hard soap, which is usually soft enough to be pressed with the fingers into a crevices, and no insect will venture to make its way through it. For larger holes, through which mice may come, plaster of Paris, mixed water to the thickness of batter, and quickly applied, will soon set, and stop the opening.—American Agriculturist.

CLOSE UP ALL CRACKS AND CREVICES,

How to Manage the Mississippi.

The distinguished German engineer and traveller, named Chevalier Ernst Von Hesse Wartegg, has been making extraordinary suggestions about the Mississippi river inundations. He says that levees on the Mississippi river will be money thrown away, and that the $100,000,000 already spent in that way has been totally ineffective. He says the way to make the Mississippi behave is to help it in the effort it is making to shorten itself toward the Gulf. In 1721 the distance from Cairo to New Orleans was 1,215 miles, and to-day it is 240 miles less than that, or only 974 miles. He says Red River ought to be drawn off from the Mississippi, and allowed to run to the gulf through the Calcasieu river, which would be only 80 miles instead of 500 miles it has to pass through to the Mississippi. Both the Ohio and the Red river are a barrier to the rapid current of the Mississippi. The Wachita ought to be connected with the Atchafalaya, and let off to the Gulf that way, instead of embarrassing the Mississippi. The Mississippi itself ought to be connected with Lake Borgne, as proposed by Captain Cowden, which would draw off one-tenth of the whole body of water. He says that the River Po, in Italy, which has magnificent levees, is regularly inundated, and that the tendency of these levees is to raise the bed of the river by depositions in it; so that the Po, the Mississippi and many other streams with artificial banks really run on a high ridge of land, from which they inevitably overflow the surrounding country. He says levees from Cairo to New Orleans would cost $100,000,000, and would meet with the same fate as the others, and that artificial means cannot keep the tremendous river within bounds, and the only way to do it is to aid nature to find the straightest way to the gulf.—Northwestern Lumberman.

CHARLES STAPLETON, AUCTIONEER.

A Real Old-Fashioned Love Story.

Forty-eight years ago John Saunders, one of the wealthiest cattle kings of Montana, who was then a poor youth, with nothing to recommend him but a spotless reputation and a brave heart, became enamored of a Kentucky belle, whose father was a rich man. His tenderness was reciprocated, but the parent of the young lady refused his consent to the marriage, and was inexorable. Young Saunders was too honorable to press his suit in a family where his presence was unwelcomed. He sought an interview with the girl's parent, who for the twenty-third and last time told him to abandon all hope of marriage as far as his daughter was concerned, as the difference in their social positions was an insurmountable barrier. "How much are you worth?" asked the young lover. "Transfer my property into a million dollars cash," was the haughty reply. "Very well," answered young Saunders; "to-morrow morning I leave for the West to carve out a fortune, and when I can size up to your million dollars I will return and claim my bride, for I know she will be true."

The young man kept his promise after a long and sorrowful interview with his inamorata, and with a small outfit, struck out bravely for the Western Territories. Since that time forty-eight years have elapsed, during which, with varying success, he had dipped into numerous enterprises, from the British line to Sonara. He came to Montana in early days, and embarked in the cattle business with a firm of Helena, with such success that the firm now owns nearly 20,000 head on the Teton. About a month ago Saunders figured up his assets, concluded he wes worth a million, and left for Kentucky. He found the love of his young days waiting for him, confident and hopeful of his final arrival. The two were married with as little ceremony as possible. They arrived in Butte the other evening, and after a short visit, will proceed to their home in the Teton valley, where the groom is greatly respected.—Butt Inter Mountain.

Houses for Transport.

QUEBEC, May 4.—The manufacture of houses is being rapidly pushed by the company formed for the purpose at St. Romuald, and of which Mr. Gravel is manager. They have now entered into a contract with Sheriff Quesnel of Arthabaska to construct a thousand houses to be forwarded to Manitoba, some of which are three stories high and sixty by eighty-three feet.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.—I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to us a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—Leading, M. D. Evansville. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.—6

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1882.

Ministerial.

The Rev. W. Jolliffe of the Murray street Bible Christian Church, preaches in Lindsay on Tuesday in connection with the District Meeting of the Church.

The First Drive.

Mr. D. A. McDonald has a drive of logs at Lakefield, which will be let loose in a short time now. This will be the first drive of the season to reach Peterborough.

The fastest on Record.

A gentleman in this office this morning received from Dublin Ireland a book that according to the post mark on the wrapper, was posted on the 31st, of August, 1880. Surely in this fast age such a quick passage is something marvelous.

The Norseman.

The damage to the Norseman has been found greater than at first anticipated, and it will take longer to repair the break than expected, so that she will not resume her regular trips until Monday next.

Notice.

Important unreserved sale of the St. James' Hotel Furniture, Post Office Block Peterborugh, Tuesday, May 9th 82, at 10 o'clock a. m. Everything must and will be sold, as Mr. Daly is going to Winnipeg. Don't forget the day and date.

The 24th.

We understand that Mr. John McGivern, who has leased Idyl Wild for the season, is making arrangements for the celebration of her Majesty's Birthday at that point, and that particulars with regard to the same will be announced in the course of a few days.

Hazel Kirke.

"Hazel Kirke" has completed a tour of the following New York theatres, the Madison Square Theatre, Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre, Windsor Theatre, Germania Theatre and is now playing one of most successful engagements of the season at Haverly's Niblo's Garden, N. Y

Ourselves.

The Thunder Bay Sentinel says.

"The DAILY EVENING REVIEW of Peterborough has been enlarged to 24 columns. It is one of the spiciest papers on our exchange list, being filled with condensed items from all over. We are very glad to record this evidence of prosperity in our contemporary, and hope its enterprise will be appreciated by the residents of that thriving "burg."

Complimentary.

A correspondent of the Mail writing from Midland says that the hoisting and other machinery connected with the elevator is driven by a splendid Corliss condensing engine of 100 horse-power, built by Mr. W. Hamilton, of Peterborough. So well adapted is the machinery that grain can be received from a vessel and placed in the bin at the rate of 7,000 bushels per hour in 100-bushel draughts.

Abolished at Last.

At last the Dominion Government, after hearing an influential deputation and receiving petitions from all parts of the Province, has decided to abolish that tax on knowledge, the newspaper tax, as we notice that at a meeting of the Cabinet on Thursday it was decided to abolish postage on newspapers. Sir Leonard Tilley has consequently given notice of a motion to abolish this postage, to take effect next June. The postage is to be abolished on all newspapers mailed to regular subscribers in Canada.

The Steam Excavator.

The monster is still moving and is now within a mile and a half of its destination. The school house hill was the worst that the workmen had to encounter, but by the means of a "dead man" and a two-and-a-quarter inch rope, the machine was placed on top after some very heavy work. On Thursday it ran off the track and sank into the hard road for about eight or ten inches. The men have now got accustomed to the work and each knows exactly what he has to do, so that there is not the slightest confusion or crush. Those in charge fully expect to commence operations at the cut by Wednesday or Thursday next at the very latest. The face of the hill has been cut down considerably by manual labor and everything is now ready for the "shovel."

A Dastardly Deed.

The Port Hope Guide says that as the express coming south was passing about a mile north of Lindsay, on Thursday night, a shot was fired at the train. The ball passed through the window and near the head of the brakeman Dark. It was after night, so that the perpetrator of the dastardly act could not be discovered.

The Weather.

The weather continues warm during the day but remarkably cold at nights. To-day is warm and higher temperature is promised. The weather probabilities for the following 24 hours as reported from Toronto by the Great North-Western Telegraph Company are as follows:—Lakes—Fresh to strong north-easterly to northerly winds. Fair cool weather, with slightly higher temperature to-morrow.

Extending Operations.

Finding it impossible to keep up with his orders, Mr. W. Hamilton has commenced operations on a large addition to the west side of his already extensive foundry, and machine shop. The brick work is about completed now and before long the buildings will be ready for occupation. The addition is to used for a blacksmith and moulding shop, the present rooms being too small. We are much pleased to see this sign of evident prosperity and hope the rush of work will continue for many years to come.

The Fire Brigade.

Owing to the resignation of Mr. F. Wear, late Captain of the Hook and Ladder Company, a new election became necessary. Mr. C. Rutherford, Lieutenant, was elected Captain, and Mr. Thomas Marks Lieutenant.

Owing to the fact that fires are such scarce articles in Peterborough, it becomes necessary to give the boys a little practice to keep them in trim, so that when a fire does occur they may be ready to cope with the fiend. Every summer it has been customary to set apart an evening every month for a drill, dry or wet, as the case may be. The chief, recognizing the necessity of such action, has ordered a practice drill for Tuesday next at 7 o'clock.

Lacrosse Notes.

On the regular practice nights, the lacrosse club members turn out well and give promise of doing some fine work during the coming season.

Lacrosse seems to have taken a firmer hold than ever in Peterborough this year, as in almost every portion of the outskirts of the town, where there is room enough, men and boys are to be seen at play. Some of the juveniles will turn out good players before many years.

The "Victorias" of Toronto desire to play a game with the "Peterboroughs," the "Independents" of Toronto, who played here on the 1st. of July last year have no pretensions this year, as they have lost their best players.

A match with Bowmanville at that place, is spoken of for the 24th of May.

Baird's Mammoth Minstrels.

As the majority of our readers are already aware the above superb Minstrel Company play here on Wednesday evening next. This is a company which has leaped into the front rank of the minstrel troupes in a few years, and Manager Baird this season introduces several innovations and novelties, which, in addition to his always strong company, guarantees an entertainment which all can enjoy. Among the novelties are Major Thomas and his eight zouaves in their lightening drill, pedestal and table dancers, the London Quintette and the Midget Four, who do a wonderful dance, each upon other heads, besides a regular host of the best negro impersonators of the day. Be sure and see them. Watch out for the grand free street parade at noon on Wednesday.

Lindsay's Opera House.

The Warder says:—

"Mr. Thomas Bradburn, of Peterborough, was in town on Tuesday last, and made a proposal to the town property committee for the Opera House. He proposed to give the town a rental of $100 a year, put in a neat horseshoe gallery to be entered by a winding stairs from where the ticket office now stands. He also proposed to improve the stage and scenery, and to overhaul the building generally, making it one of the most comfortable opera houses to be found anywhere. His proposal was favourably received by the committee, and will be laid before the council on Tuesday evening next."

Mr. Bradburn has managed our Opera House ever since it was built and has given the best of satisfation to the public and to the troupes, and we have no doubt that he would do the same in Lindsay.

Journalistic.

The Lindsay Post, always one of the best local papers published in the Dominion, has taken another step forward and now appears in the eight page form with considerably enlarged borders. This has been caused by the largely increased advertising patronage bestowed upon it by the merchants of Lindsay and surrounding places, who are evidently alive to the benefits to be gained from patronizing a first class paper. The copy before us is an exceedingly neat, well printed sheet, just the kind we would expect to see our friend Dobbin turn out. We congratulate the proprietor, and hope that this is but the first of a long series of enlargements to follow in quick succession.

Early Closing.

As usual the dry goods merchants lead the van in the early closing movement, as the following have agreed to close their respective places of business, at 7 p. m., every evening except Saturday, from May 8th until July 1st, and during July and August at 6 p. m.—Messrs. Turnbull & Grey, W. Fairweather & Co., Geroux & Sullivan, T. Dolan & Co., W. W. Johnston & Co., John Hackett, James Best, I. Robinson & Co., Munro & Alexander, T. Kelly, A. McNeil, J. A. Mercer, W Cameron, W. J. Green, T. E. Pope, Miss. Semple, H. LeBrun, Mrs. Brown, and Miss. Delaney. This is just as it should be, and we hope to see the other merchants follow suit so as to allow their employees a little recreation during the summer months.

THE CARWORKS BY-LAW

Is Read a Third Time by the Town Council—Some other Business.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held at the council chamber on Friday evening.

Present,—His Worship Mayor Smith, in the chair, and councillors McNaughton, Kelly, Paterson, Rutherford, Menzies, and Denne.

WHY THEY MET.

The Mayor said that he called the special meeting of the council for the pupose of giving the Carworks by-law its third reading, as required by law.

Councillor DENNE said that several of the persons whose names appeared in the by-law as stockholders had not in reality subscribed one cent.

Councillor MENZIES said some of the alleged shareholders had told him that they had promised to take stock only upon certain conditions, and they had not yet taken any.

A VOICE,—Give the names.

Councillor MENZIES,—Mr. Robert Rowe, among others.

Councillor DENNE asked if the council was obliged to give the by-law a third reading?

The MAYOR said the law required that within six weeks after a by-law has been submitted to the people, and carried by them, the council should give it its third reading.

Councillor DENNE said that he had opposed the by-law all the way though and would not vote for it now.

He then left his seat beaking up the quorum, but at this point Councillor Richardson entered and took his seat, thus making a quorum again.

On motion of Councillor RUTHERFORD, seconded by Councillor KELLY, the by-law was read a third time, passed, and duly signed and sealed.

Councillor Alford then entered and took his place around the board.

Councillors Paterson and Alford retired.

STREET WATERING.

Councillor RUTHERFORD, Chairman of the Fire, Water, and Gas Committee, then introduced the matter of watering the streets. He said that the contract for street watering had expired on the first of the present month, and that the contractor was continuing the work upon an understanding with some of the members of the board. He said the present watering cart was leaking badly and was in fact about "played out" and a new one was badly needed. If the limits were extended, as petitioned for, very likely two carts would be necessary, in any case he urged immediate action, as no person knew when the present cart would break down altogether. In fact he stated the cart was never of any use and it was a great mistake to purchase it in the first place. He wished to ascertain the feelings of the council on the matter so that the committee could act.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON had examined the the present cart and could not find anything wrong with it.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said it leaked very badly.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON asked if a majority of the ratepayers on Charlotte street had signed the requisition for watering that street?

The CLERK said he had not examined the petition closely.

Councillor DENNE at this stage left his seat, breaking up the quorum and the meeting broke up.

The Opposition Candidate.

The Reformers of West Peteborough, met in convention to-day to nominate their Candidate for the House of Commons. We had not heard their choice up to going to press.

Real Estate.

Dnring the last week Mr. D. McLeod has sold a house on London Street to Mr. J. Carey for $1,000 and a farm of 100 acres in Emily to Alfred Stewart for $8,000.

Railway Notes.

The Herald says that work commenced on the missing link branch of the Midland railway this week just north of Omemee. Two gangs of men are busy grading. The line will cross Sturgeon street just above Ingram's house, then across the corner of Graham's farm and along Elm street at an obtuse angle. Something should be done towards securing a station at Sturgeon street. The railway company will have to pay for the corner of Mr. Graham's lot, and after the width of the track is taken off there will be sufficient left for a station. This is a matter of great importance to Omemee and should be looked after without delay.

The Madoc Review says that good progress is now being made with the stone piers of the bridge over Deer Creek, in that village, on the T. & O. Railway. This part of the work is in charge of Mr. F. Tucker, of that village. The grading is also being completed between the bridge and the junction with the Midland, a good force of men being employed on the one rock cut yet remaining. This part will be completed in a few weeks.

The Uxbridge Guardian says that Mr. W. B. Stewart, in an interview with Mr. Cox, the General Manager of the Midland Railway, requested the concession of reduced fares to Uxbridge on the market days, and received from him a most favorable reply. If this arrangement is completed, and there is little fear but it will be, an incalculable benefit to every branch of trade in the village will be in the result.

The Toronto dailies recently contained an account of a run off, on the Midland near Uxbridge, resulting in smashing a number of cars. The Guardian says that there is not the slightest foundation for the story, as the engineers on that Division of the line, as on the others, are far too careful to allow such things.

The Intelligencer man saw some repainted coaches at Belleville, and thought they were new, so he accordingly wrote and published an item to that effect. Score another for the class of workmen employed by the Midland, when the coat of paint they put on an old coach makes it look as good as new.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

THE GOVERNMENT DETERMINE TO OPEN THE TRENT NAVIGATION.

Substantial Appropriation for the Work An old Peterborough Project now fairly on the way to Consummation.

In consequence of the general disappointment felt at the statement in the Toronto dailies on Friday that only $25,000 had been placed in the supplementary estimates for the Trent Valley Navigation, our Mayor telegraphed to the Minister of Railways and Canals to enquire if this was not a mistake. He received the following prompt reply:—

"OTTAWA, MAY 5, 1882.

"To H. H. Smith, Peterborough.

"Two hundred and ninety thousand dollars for Locks at Buckhorn, Burleigh and Fenelon Falls.

"CHAS. TUPPER."

Projecting Signs.

And now Lindsay is falling into line and is agitating for the removal of all projecting signs. Lindsay has one of the finest front streets of any town in the Province, but the signs disgrace it. By all means follow our example and tear every one down. You will be surprised what a difference it will make.

Dirty Work Again.

The Globe, never happy unless it is throwing dirt, makes one of its dastardly attacks upon Mr. R. Romaine, formerly of the Peterborough REVIEW, and now of the Stationary Department, Ottawa. Those who are acquainted with Mr. Romaine know that a man better qualified for the position could not have been found in Canada. With his thorough and special knowledge of the subject, and with his well known energy, he has by judicious economy and careful management, already saved the country many times the amount. Still he is attacked with the amiable intention of hurting the feelings of himself and his friends because they do not agree with the Globe in politics. It is worthy of that organ

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

THE IRISH DIFFICULTY

CAVENDISH AND BURKE

THE CHIEF AND UNDER SECRETARIES OF STATE FOR IRELAND ASSASSINATED.

Attacked and Stabbed to Death by Four Men in Phœnix Park, Dublin—How it was Done—The Bodies Horribly Mutilated—The Assassins Escape.

Special to the Review.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The World's London special cable states that a telegram from Dublin says it now appears that Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke were stabbed and not shot. They were both strolling in the park about half a mile from the city gate and a quarter of a mile from the Chief Secretary's lodge, when containing four men, two of whom jumped down from the car and attacked Lord Frederick and Mr. Burke, stabbing them both several times in the throat and breast. The victims struggled hard for life and in the contest became separated, their bodies being found some ten paces apart.

THE TRAGEDY OCCURRED ABOUT 7.10 P. M.

and in broad daylight. The bodies were first discovered by two young gentlemen who were riding bicycles through the park, and who gave the alarm to the police. Surgeons soon reached the spot, but the police were already conveying Mr. Burke's body to the town, where an examination

SHOWED LIFE TO BE EXTINCT.

The upper part of the body was cut and gashed in a shocking manner and presented a ghastly sight. Proceeding further the surgeons reached the body of the Chief Secretary, which displayed some dreadful wounds, in addition to which his left arm was broken and torn as if he had put it up to protect his breast.

HE WAS QUITE DEAD.

The bodies were taken to the St. Stephen's Hospital, where an inquest will be held. It is said that after the act the murderers immediately drove off.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The last official act of Lord Frederick Cavendish in conjunction with Lord Spencer was to arrange for the immediate except eighty. The excitement in the city is increasing. The special editions of the papers contain few fresh facts. The Executive has not yet decided what action to take. Telegrams are arriving from all parts of Ireland in words of the strongest indignation and calling upon the Government to use every effort to trace the assassins. The post mortem examination showed eleven wounds on Mr. Burke and eight on Lord Frederick Cavendish. The chief wound on the former was inflicted from behind,

RELEASE OF ALL THE SUSPECTS

DENOUNCING THE CRIME

PENETRATING HIS HEART.

The chief wound on the latter was also inflicted from behind, severing an important artery of the neck. Lord Spencer was walking in the garden when he observed the scuffle between the assassins and their victims, 300 yards away on the bank of the road. He thought it was ONLY A BRAWL,

but ordered a policeman to be sent to the scene. It is said that Lord Frederick Cavendish wished to remain in London for a few days longer, but was urged to come at once to Ireland, as a great mass of work was awaiting him. On Saturday when the vice-regal procession arrived at the Castle yard, a man went to Lord Frederick Cavendish's carriage and asked if the Chief Secretary was there. Cavendish said:—

"I AM LORD FREDERICK CAVENDISH."

The man did not reply. He looked earnestly at the Chief Secretary and departed.

PREMEDITATED.

LONDON, May 8.—The Times says it is now thought that Cavendish, and Burke, were deliberately selected for assassination. During the procession at Dublin Saturday, a man enquired three times whether or not. The Chief Secretary at last lifted his hat and told his name, the man replied

CAVANDISH WAS IN THE PROCESSION

"THANK YOU, THAT WILL DO."

Two men on horse-back watched the procession in a suspicious manner.

FOR DUBLIN.

LONDON, May 8.—A special messenger left London for Dublin hastily this morning.

A BROTHER'S PROTEST.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 8.—At a meeting of the Land League yesterday Dr. Burke, brother of the murdered Under Secretary, protested in great earnestness against the idea that the tragedy was the work of the friends of the Land League.

DAVITT DOWNHEARTED.

LONDON, May 8.—Davitt looks weary and downhearted, seeming to have grown older since his release. He said yesterday that he had not slept a minute since the news of the assassination reached him.

DENOUNCED.

DUBLIN, May 8.—At a meeting of the various branches of the Land League yesterday the assassination of Cavendish and Burke was denounced.

THE FIRST REPORT.

DUBLIN, May 7.—A terrible tragedy occurred here to-night. Lord Frederick Cavendish, the new Chief Secretary, and Mr. Thomas Henry Burke, the Under Secretary, were assassinated in Phœnix Park about half-past seven o'clock. They left the Under Secretary's lodge to walk over to the Chief Secretary's residence to dinner. When within one hundred yards of the Phœnix monument they were wearing slouched hats. It is supposed that Mr. Burke was first assailed, and stabbed through the heart. Lord Frederick Cavendish attempted to defend him, but he too was stabbed by the assassins. They repeatedly plunged their knives into the throats of their victims, and having cut their throats, they got on a car and drove rapidly from the Park by the Chapelizod gate. A few minutes afterwards a man walking along the Park road and at once informed the police, who had the bodies removed to Stephen's hospital. A slight examination was made, and it was found that Lord Frederick Cavendish's arm was broken. The news spread rapidly, and created the wildest excitement and consternation in the city. Lord Spencer and the viceregal party were just going down to dinner at the lodge when the news was sent to them. Some members of the household were at the opera, at the Gaiety theatre, and were sent for. When the cause of their departure became known

ATTACKED BY FOUR MEN

FOUND THE BODIES COVERED WITH BLOOD,

THE EXCITEMENT WAS INTENSE, and a proposal was made to stop the performance, which was ultimately cut short. Lord Frederick Cavendish only arrived in Dublin this afternoon along with Earl Spencer, the new Lord-Lieutenant. He was present at the installation ceremony in Dublin Castle, and left there with Mr. Burke, his fellow-victim, early in the evening. It is stated that some lads riding bycycles in the park

SAW THE ATTACK AND THE MURDERS,

which were the work of less than a minute. Many people were within a few hundred yards of the scene of the assassination, but no one appears to have been near enough to interfere. When the bodies were first found Lord Frederick Cavendish's lips were moving as if he were trying to speak, but he showed no further signs of consciousness. It is needless to add that the assassinations are although this must be pure conjecture. The assassins were seen entering the park on a car, and driving rapidly along the main road, and from all accounts they must have encountered their victims as they were crossing the road. Robbery could not have been their object, as nothing on the bodies was touched.

ATTRIBUTED TO THE FENIANS,

DUBLIN, May 7, 2.40 a.m.—The details of the tragedy are as follows:—A boy named Jacob states that while bird-nesting in the park he saw about 200 yards from where he was, and close to the road, a group of men as if wrestling. He thought they were roughs, and did not pay attention to them. He then saw and four others jump on a car and drive off towards Chapelizod gate, which lies in a direction opposite to the city. They drove at a rapid pace, and he could not give any description of the men. A gentleman named Maguire and a friend, who were on tricycles, shortly before had passed Mr. Burke and Lord Frederick Cavendish, when on their way along the main road through the park, and on their return journey they found the Chief Secretary lying in the centre of the carriage way and Mr. Burke prostrate upon the pathway. Both gentlemen were

TWO MEN FALL TO THE GROUND,

LYING IN GREAT POOLS OF BLOOD.

They informed the police at the Park Gate station of what they had seen. The police at once proceeded to the scene of the murder and conveyed the bodies to the hospital. On examination it was found that Mr. Burke had received several stabs near the region of his heart, and that his throat had been CUT ALMOST COMPLETELY ACROSS.

His clothes were absolutely saturated with blood, and the hemorrhage must have been tremendous. His clothes were also torn, his gloves were torn in many places, and his hands bore marks suggestive of a fierce encounter with his assailant. Lord Frederick did not wear gloves. He had been stabbed in several places about the chest. One wound was through the right lung, and penetrated deeply. At the time of the dreadful occurrence the park, as might be expected on a lovely evening, was crowded in many places with people. It is a remarkable fact, and one suggesting that the murderous onslaught must have been that many persons sitting and walking within a few hundred yards of where the bodies were found heard nothing of the affair.

SHORT, TERRIFIC, AND DECISIVE,

THREE ARRESTS ON SUSPICION.

Three men of the "corner boy" class have been arrested on suspicion at the village of Chapelizod unable to give an account of themselves. They stated that last night they slept in the fields, one adding afterwards that they slept in a lodging-house in Church lane. The latest information is that a park ranger saw a car with red panels, in which four rough looking men were seated, pass out of the Chapelizod gate. He adds that he has a good idea of the appearance of the driver of the horse as well as of the men.

A PERSONAL STATEMENT.

5 p.m.—A personal statement has been volunteered to the Herald correspondent by one of the men who were on the bicycles. He was the first to see the bodies after the assassination. His name is Foley. He stated that with his companion, McGuire, he left his business-house at seve o'clock to go for a ride in the park. He continued:—"We went through the north circular road and north gate and round the road to the left, which leads to the Gough statue. We went towards the Phœnix monument. On going there we took notice of two gentlemen whom we did not know. They were arm-in-arm, apparently

TALKING VERY PLEASANTLY

I passed the remark that McGuire's machine could run away from mine. We passed them and rode in to the Phœnix monument. I did not ride quite up to it, but McGuire went up on the right side and round it. I was tired and on the machine looking about me. I heard the the noise of a car and thought it must be a jarvey who was coming. Looking round I saw that the car was going on by the road to the left reading to the Chapelizod gate.

IT WAS A RED PANEL CAR,

and on it were some people. We turned our machines to ride towards town, coming down the road very quickly. When just opposite to the viceregal lodge we observed a man lying in the road on the right side, and a man on the footway about six or eight yards from us lying on his back. I alighted from my bicycle and went to the man on the road, and then to the man on the footway. I saw that the man on the footway had his throat cut. My companion did not alight from his machine at all. I shouted out,

"MAGUIRE, IT'S MURDER!"

He asked me in a very excited manner was I sure. I said "Yes" and he said, "Stop you there; don't you leave them; I'll go for the police." I said, "I'll be sure to stop till you come back." He rode very hard to town and informed the police. I then went over to the man lying on the road and asked him a question to see if he had life.

HE MERELY TURNED HIS EYES,

and I could get no answer. Then I ran to the man on the footway and took hold of his left hand, which was lying across his heart, to feel if his pulse were beating. He just gave his last breath into my face, and the blood oozed from his neck. By this two of the Royal Irish Constabulary got into the trap and the gentleman galloped his horse to the castle to knock and

INFORM THE POLICE THERE.

He returned alone. Another man and more police soon afterwards arrived. McGuire then came up on his machine with an outside car and police from town in it. By this time word had reached the viceregal lodge, and Col. Forster came over, followed by Col. Caulfield." Mr. Foley adds that he told Col. Forster what he had seen and asked Col. Forster who the murdered gentlemen were. He pointed with his finger and said, "The gentleman on the road is Lord Frederick Cavendish; the gentleman on the road Mr. Burke, Under-Secretary." The car that brought the police was then used to take Mr. Burke to the hospital. Lord Frederick Cavendish was put on a stretcher and conveyed by soldiers down the road until they got a car, when he was brought to the hopital also.

FORSTER'S OPINION.

LONDON, May 8.—Forster believes that the murders were accomplished to show that it is impossible to conciliate the Fenians.

THE THUNDERER.

LONDON, May 8.—The Times says:—"Forster was the victim of an intrigue worked from within the Cabinet. Gladstone must cut the Cabinet loose from its mischievous advisers, whose imbecility and malignity we presume led to this result."

NO MARTIAL LAW.

CORK, May 8.—The Herald deprecates the idea of martial law, in view of the tremendous manifestation of public feeling in Ireland, showing there is absolutely no sympathy for the assassins.

THE KAISER SHOCKED.

BERLIN May 8.—The Emperor on hearing the news of the murder of Cavendish and Burke was as much shocked as when the Czar was assissinated.

WHERE THEY WERE.

Dublin, May, 8.—Detective Hayes and his force are examining all the car drivers to ascertain their whereabouts on Saturday night.

THE MURDERERS.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The police have issued the following:—"Wanted for the murder of Lord Cavendish and under secretary Burke two men, the first aged 33, stout, fair complexion, whiskers short and dark and moustache, wearing a blue pilot coat and soft hat. The second aged 30, hair, whiskers and moustache sandy, pale complexion, dressed in a faded brown overcoat, soft hat. Both men had the appearance of sailors or firemen."

THE POLICE.

DUBLIN, May 7.—The police paraded the park shortly after the assassination, and fruitlessly searched every hole and corner for the murderer. Lord Cavendish's left arm was smashed to a pulp. Many of the wounds on both the bodies were such as must have been immediately fatal. The persons who found the bodies were detained. Earl Spencer was terribly shocked by the news of the affair, and it is stated that he intends to resign immediately.

THE FACES OF THE DEAD.

DUBLIN, May 7.—The face of Lord Cavandish is calm and peaceful. Mr. Burke's countenance has a look of great agony.

A POSSIBILITY OF IDENTIFICATION.

Capt. Greatorex, of the Dragoons, who thought the affair a drunken row, said as the assassins passed him, "You have roughly, handled them." They replied roughly, "You be d——d." Capt. Greatorex can identify one of the men, and the gatekeeper of the park can identify two.

THE INQUEST.

DUBLIN, May 7.—The inquest opened to-day. The jury consists of gentlemen. Mounted police occupied the hospital yard, and a large crowd assembled outside. Mr. White, the coroner, said he had summoned the jury to meet on Sunday in order that the remains might be removed at once. He then declared language was inadequate to express the horror all feel. After the jury had viewed the bodies the coroner stated that the cause of death was quite apparent, but he would adjourn the inquest till Monday for formal evidence.

IN MOURNING.

Dublin, May 8.—The Freeman's Journal appears to-day in mourning.

NO CLUE YET.

Dublin, May 8.—Up to noon there was no clue to identify the assasins of Cavendish and Burke.

ARRIVED.

Dublin, May 8.—The Attorney General for Ireland has arrived here.

AN AMERICAN REWARD.

BOSTON, May 8.—The following this morning was cabled to Parnell:—

"A reward of $5,000 is hereby offered by the Irishmen of Boston for the apprehension of the murderers, or any of them, of Cavendish and Burke, on May 6th.

"On behalf of the Irishmen of Boston.

"(Signed) { "JOHN BOYLE,
"J. O'RIELLY,
"PAT. A. COLLINS."

A NEW THEORY.

HARTFORD, Con., May 8.—The Land League here has adopted resolutions expressing the opinion that Cavandish and Burke fell by vengeance for the Irish landlord system as represented by Captain Lloyd.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

MEDICINES taken into the Stomach in concentrated form such as Pills and Powders, are most injurious. WHAT ENTHUSIASM!

We are told continually by the Reform journals that the people of Ontario are excited almost to the verge of rebellion by the refusal to confirm the award of the arbitrators in the boundary question; that they have been outraged, again to an extent that would justify rebellion, by the Redistribution bill; that they are resolved at any cost to stand up for Provincial rights in the matter of the Disallowance of the Streams bill; that they are so oppressed by the National Policy that they would sweep the present Government from power; that they are so dissatisfied with Sir John Macdonald's railway, land, and immigration policy in the North West that they are longing for an opportunity to condemn it. In short they represent the people of Canada, and especially of Ontario, as being goaded almost beyond their powers of endurance by the acts of the present administration, and as being anxious to drive them from power to replace them by Mr. Blake, Sir R. Cartwright, Mr. Mackenzie, and their colleagues.

Well, the voters of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough, have just had an opportunity of manifesting their indignation, and of relieving their minds from brooding upon rebellion, by giving utterance to their hostility to the Government and its measures. A mass meeting of the constituency was called on Saturday for the purpose of choosing a standard bearer for their attack upon their so-called oppressors at the next general election. We might have expected after all the blowing of trumpets, all the excitement to rebellion, that the opposition would have turned out in their full strength, to give all possible moral weight to their cause, and to express the burning indignation that we are told is consuming them; we might have anticipated an amount of excitement altogether unprecedented, that would have made the administration quail.

But, instead of this enthusiam, this eagerness for the fray, that we have been taught to look for, what did we see? An unexampled apathy, an unprecedented manifestation of indifference, a virtual desertion on the eve of the conflict. Instead of an overflowing assembly of the Reform voters eager to select the candidate they hoped to seat, and to formulate the grievances under which they are supposed to be suffering, the "mass" meeting proved to be a mere handful, so small in number that those present could not decently proceed with the nomination, and had to adjourn till another occasion. Some of the prominent men of the party have already openly joined the Conservatives, some were too indifferent to attend, some even more conspicuously betrayed their appathy by walking the streets while the meeting was in progress, and some who did attend, left in disgust. The voters of the opposition were too apathetic, too indifferent, too desponding to answer to the call; instead of preparing for the campaign they remained at home, and instead of burning enthusiasm nothing but lethargy was manifested.

This may seem strange at first sight, but the explanation is not far to seek. Their journals and their leaders have been whistling to keep their courage warm, they have been bragging to hide their anticipation of defeat. They have been striving to excite the enthusiasm of their followers, but without success, and the pretended enthusiasm exists only in their imaginations.

As to the National Policy, in spite of editorial denunciations, doctored reports of interviews, and parliamentary motions only made to be confuted, the electors even of the Reform party know that the country and they along with it are flourishing under the policy of the present Government, and are in no hurry to replace them by men who own themselves unable to foster the industries of Canada, though they proved themselves too well able to encourage foreign manufactures.

As to the other "burning questions" we have mentioned, the feeling of the great body of even reform voters is one of tranquil indifference, for they have felt no hardship. Those of them who have taken the trouble to keep themselves well informed on these subjects know that the award did not give us our proper boundary according even to the confessions of one of the arbitrators, the assertions of Mr. Mowat both in despatches and in the statute book, and the claims of others of their leaders, while their Quebec leader is anxious to ratify it for fear a just decision should give us our rights. They know that the Streams Bill was an attempt to confiscate the property of an opponent in favor of a supporter, and that it was rightfully disallowed. They know that the Redistribution Bill was necessitated in part by our additional population and that the opportunity was taken to carry out their old idea of equalizing representation even if thereby Conservative boroughs were annihilated. They know that the North West is being speedily filled up, that our great Transcontinental railway is being rapidly pushed to completion and that its cost is being met by the proceeds of the land sales. They see in brief that the country is exceptionally prosperous and well administered, and why should they care to make a change?

So the Reform electors of the West Riding, instead of obeying the summons to the fray, very sensibly stayed quietly at home.

THE MIDLAND RAILWAY.

A meeting of shareholders in this company was held at the City Terminus hotel, Cannon street, London, on Thursday, April 20, Mr. Edward J. Halsey presiding, "for the purpose of receiving a statement from the London directors as to the position and prospects of the company." In opening the proceedings the chairman reminded them of the consent which they gave to the scheme of reconstruction submitted to them in 1877. That was commenced to be carried out in the spring of the following year, and the result had been that in November, 1880, they began to pay interest on their bonded debt. There was no doubt, he said, that the interest would continue to be paid. The estimate of Mr. Cox (the president of the company) of the gross receipts for 1881 was £80,000, but they had really been £83,000, while the net profit had been £37,000. This was an increase, as compared with 1880, of £14,400 in the gross and of £6,820 in the net receipts, while as compared with 1870 the gross increase was £29,800 and the net £29,400. He congratulated them on having got rid of their floating debt. He then referred to the negotiations which had resulted in the amalgamation with this company of the Grand Junction, the Toronto and Nipissing, the Whitby and Port Perry, the Victoria, and the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Companies under the name of the Midland Railway of Canada. This consolidation would cause a material reduction in the expenditure as compared with what it was when they were all working separately, and the arrangement would in other ways prove advantageous to all of them. Mr. Cox had estimated the increase in the receipts of the consolidated company this year at £50,000; and already in the first 5 weeks the receipts had been £47,524, as compared with £31,531 an the corresponding period of 1880. * * * * The Midland Railway of Canada was but a short ago bankrupt, and but 140 miles in length, now it is a portion of a line 450 miles long, each portion of it capable of earning interest on its bonded debt, and each portion of it capable of earning a further amount of money, which may be available for stock purposes. As to the arrangement of the Grand Trunk and the Midland railway, the only arrangements were that the Grand Trunk guarantees the bonds of the Grand Junction section and the Toronto and Nipissing section, or, in case the earnings fall short of the amount required, the rebate of traffic. In the course of the short discussion which followed, satisfaction was expressed at the improved position and prospects of the company; and on the motion of Mr. P. P. Parker, a resolution was passed thanking the president and directors of the company, and expressing a hope that at the general meeting to be held in Canada some monetary recognition would be made to them.

PORT HOPE.

Chased by a Bull.—The Guide says that a good-sized bull calf, with horns that were beginning to sprout and look dangerous, was brought into town on a Midland railway car on Wednesday last. Shortly after disemparking and while being driven over the track near the dock, young "Taurus" made it lively for switchman John Driscoll, by chasing him about fifty yards until John was obliged to take refuge on an old pair of engine driving wheels lying under the viaduct. The race furnished an immense amount of fun for the boys in the yard, and it was not until our would-be Councilman had reached his perch and was out of danger did he give vent to his pent-up wrath, in language the like of which he had not indulged in since the time he was pushed into the harbor. For the space of two hours succeeding the adventure, and while John was endeavoring to "catch his wind," after the time he had made, he was just in the humor to have literally paralyzed any luckless wight attempting to "kid" him about the fish bone episode, of allusions to which, even at the best of times, Jonnie fights shy. Should any of the lads around town desire to have a good chance of being elevated on the toe of Mr. Driscoll's brogan—as he was on the horns of the bull calf—they have only to mention to John that his late trial of speed ahead of the bull has given him a great record as a pedestrian.

LINDSAY.

Remove the Signs.—The Warder says that the people generally should be thankful to Deputy Reeve Melville for introducing a by-law on Monday evening last, to compel the removal of all projecting signs. The signs would be of more benefit to the owners if placed on the front of the buildings. A few persons may object to their removal, but after they see the improvement in the streets they will not regret the introduction of the by-law. The by-law has yet to receive the third reading, and it is to be hoped that it will be supported by every member of the council. It is a wonder that in a town like this some such step was not taken long ago. In Peterborough all projecting signs were removed last winter, in accordance with a by-law passed by the council of that place. The example set by Mr. Perrin, druggist, who has one of the handsomest fronts in the Province, is worthy of imitation by other enterprising merchants.

Having now got the dimensions of the various machines everything can be made ready for their reception.

Canada and the Queen.

I remember a curious incident that happened in Canada in connection with the British national anthem. In one of my lectures I describe the pathetic abandonment of state ceremony, at Sandringham, while the Prince of Wales lay sick there of what threatened so formidably to be a fatal illness. The audience listened spellbound. I uttered the sentence: "The Queen strolled up and down in front of the house, unattended, in the brief interval she allowed herself from the sick room." Suddenly came an interruption. A tall, gaunt figure in the crowd uprose, and, pointing at me a long finger on the end of a long arm, uttered the word "Stop!": Then facing the audience, he exclaimed: "Ladies and gentlemen! This loyal audience will now sing "God save the Queen!" The audience promptly stood up and obeyed with genuine fervor, I meanwhile patiently waiting the finale of the interlude. When it had finished, I proceeded with my narrative, and, as a contrast to the to the sorrow of Sandringham, depicted the happy pageant in St. Paul's Cathedral on the thanksgiving day for the Prince's recovery. It is the custom in Canada to propose a vote of thanks to the lecturer, and the chairman rose and uttered the usual formula. Again the tall, gaunt figure was on its legs. "Ladies and gentlemen," said he, "I rise to propose an amendment to the motion. I move that the lecturer be requested to repeat the portion of the lecture referring to our gracious sovereign." And repeat it I did.—Archibald Forbes in the May Century."

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

The Bentick Murder.

Hanover, May 6.—The inquest on the body of W. H. Miller began to-day. After hearing quite a number of witnesses, the case was given to the jury who were about an hour out. They then returned and gave the following verdict, which was signed by them all, "That William Henry Miller came to his death by a gunshot wound through the body and, other wounds about the head, and we find that Peter Weis, John Weis, Philapena Weis, and Barbara Miller, did on the night of the 22nd of April, 1882, feloniously, wilfully, and of malice aforethought, kill and murder the said William Henry Miller."

Care of Canaries.

Canaries are not so delicate as many suppose. I have one which is seven or eight years of age, and is very healthy. In addition to his seed and water, he has a piece of yeast bread every day, of which he is very fond, liking it equally as well when it is wet with water after it has become dry and hard, as he does when it is fresh. We also give him apple, orange, lettuce, celery tops, sweet potato and cracker. He never has hemp seed and rarely either sugar or cake, these being the things which are fattening, and frequently producing apoplexy. When he has plenty of bread, and something green, he eats very little seed. He always dislikes to be out of his cage, and when we force him out, as we sometimes are obliged to, in order to clean it, he comes back with the greatest delight. Scalding the cage is the best way to get rid of mites. One thing of which he is very fond, I forgot to mention, the seeds of green pepper. He will eat all the seeds off one core in a day. A little cayenne pepper in the drinking water is good for birds when they appear to be cold, or when they have diarrhœa.

A friend of mine has a bird which lived to such an advanced age that he was unable to crack his seed, and was fed on raw meat in addition to various other things.—Mrs. E. J F. in Household.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them, It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

POLICE COURT.

MALICIOUS INJURY TO PROPERTY.

MONDAY, May 8.—Ernest Sherwood and Bertram Tait, two young lads of very respectable parentage, were charged by Colonel Poole, with maliciously injuring his property, by breaking the windows of the old cabinet shop on the corner of George and Sherbrooke streets.

COLONEL POOLE in the course of his evidence stated that he saw the two lads charged with the offence, breaking his windows on Thursday last by throwing stones through them. He went down and caught them and after ascertaining their names he had them summoned. He stated that over 144 panes of glass and three sashes had been destroyed during the past year, all by boys throwing stones. He had never caught any person at it until he found the two defendants in the act and he determined to make an example of them.

Mr. G. B. SPROULE saw the defendants throw stones at the windows on the day in question, and heard glass break after every shot. He had noticed whole panes in some of the windows during the last week.

FREDERICK SPILLSBURY for the defence said he was standing close to the defendants and saw them throwing the stones. He did not hear glass break and he took particular notice that there were no whole panes in any of the windows, and his evidence in several respects differed from that of the other two witnesses.

The MAGISTRATE after reading the law to the defendants, said the charge was a serious one, and he was exceedingly sorry to see two such respectable young men in the court. He stated that he could fine them heavily and send them to the Central Prison, but in consideration of the fact that the prosecutor did not want to press the charge too hard he would be lenient this time in the hope that it would be a warning, not only them, but to all others. He would impose a fine of $2 each, and $2 costs each.

BEGGING.

Robert Scrimshaw, and old man aged 72 years was charged with begging by P. C. McGhee.

The prisoner, who claims Kingston as his home has been wandering around the town for some days, begging and sleeping wherever he could find a place He said he was a shoemaker by trade and was willing to work.

The magistrate allowed him to go, upon his promising to leave the town during the afternoon.

The prisoner who had been in gaol since Saturday, was highly pleased with his quarters and in answer to the usual questions he afforded much amusement to those in court, by his quaint style and answers. Before leaving he thought it proper to state that he had never been arrested bnt once before and that was in the Limestone city, simply for being "a little tipsy." He further stated that he worked in Peterborough forty years ago and although he knew the place well then, he was almost lost now. As he went out the door he bid all present "good bye."

FOUND DRUNK.

Gustavus Dundas was charged by P. C. McGhee with being drunk in a public place on Saturday.

The prisoner, who had been in gaol since his arrest, pleaded guilty.

The MAGISTRATE lectured the prisoner and said it was a shame to see him in such a predicament. He imposed a fine of $2 without costs.

The PRISONER then asked the Magistrate if the Court and Officers were responsible for any thing he had when arrested? If so he wanted to know where his horse and money were.

The MAGISTRATE said if a man lost his senses, the court and officers were not responsible.

The PRISONER said he had $5, but could only get $1.57.

P. C. MCGHEE said that $1.57 was all he could find on the prisoner. As regards the horse he had sent that home.

The PRISONER was not sure about his money but would find out how much he had paid another man, before he said anything more.

Real Estate.

Mr. C. W. Sawers has purchased from Mr. John Hewitt his property on the corner of Queen and Bridge streets, Lakefield, having about 130 feet frontage, for the sum of $1,000. This is said to be the most valuable building site in Lakefield, and as the value of the property there is certain to increase on account of its being the present terminus of the Trent Valley Canal, Mr. Sawers will no doubt make a handsome profit on his investment.

The Assizes.

Judge Osler opened the Assizes this afternoon. There are only three cases, none criminal.

The Reform Meeting.

Some of the Reformers of the West Riding met on Saturday and adjourned without selecting a candidate for the Commons.

Wood.

The steamer Fairy arrived on Saturday from Rice Lake with a load of hardwood for Mr. Tobias Fitzgerald. He intends bringing up a large quantity during the coming summer.

Notice.

Important unreserved sale of the St. James' Hotel Furniture, Post Office Block Peterborough, Tuesday, May 9th 82, at 10 o'clock a. m. Everything must and will be sold, as Mr. Daly is going to Winnipeg. Don't forget the day and date.

Carworks.

They are now endeavoring to establish a carworks factory at Belleville, with a capital of $100,000. Of this sum $60,000 has been subscribed, and Mr. Geo. A. Cox, according to the Intelligencer, is willing to subscribe $10,000, if $90,000 is raised in Belleville.

Gaseous.

The sudden darkness that came over the town on Saturday night, by the gas, going out, was caused by a sinking of the main near the gas house, this allowing a large quantity of water to get into the pipes. The difficulty was not remedied until 2 o'clock a.m. on Sunday.

True Blues.

Mr. M. Jamieson left on the 7 o'clock train this morning for Brantford, to attend the Grand Lodge of the True Blues to be held in that place. Quite a number of delegates from the surrounding districts are expected to be present. They will meet the Toronto delegates at Hamilton, where they will be entertained by the Hamilton brethren this evening, leaving Hamilton to-morrow morning and arriving in Brantford in time for the opening ceremonies.

The Weather.

The weather during the last two days has been really fine and warm, althought the nights are cool. To-day is warm and springlike. The probabilities have been verified remarkably well of late, with the exception of the thunder showers, promised a few days ago, but more rain is now promised and it is needed to promote vegetation. The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes—Strong winds and moderate gales from the east and south. Fair warm weather, followed by showers towards morning or tomorrow.

FENELON FALLS.

RUNAWAY.—The Gazette says that on Thursday morning Mr. Frank Read, son of Mr. John L. Read, of Bobcaygeon, came to Fenelon Falls in company with a hired man for a load of goods and when near Mr. J. D. Naylor's the horses took fright at something and ran away. The hired man jumped from the waggon, but Mr. Read hung on to the lines till one of them broke, when the team ran into the hollow near Mr. Pearson's and Mr. Read was thrown out, but fortunately was not much hurt. The horses continued their career until they reached Colborne street, and, instead of turning, kept straight on and tried to jump Mrs. Brandon's bars, by which one of them was rather badly cut, and parts of the harness were also broken. The horse that was injured fell, which caused its mate to stop, and some persons who saw the occurrence ran up and captured both of them.

AN EARLY DRIVE.—The first drive of logs, about 9,000 in number, this season, passed down the Fenelon River last week in charge of Mr. Thomas McIntyre. They were the property of Messrs. Smith & Fell, and came chiefly from the township of Galway. Mr. Smith informs us that it is several years since a drive of logs came down as early as the month of April.

LEASED.—Mr. Wm. Fielding has leased the Fenelon Falls tannery for a term of years to a party from Hampton in the township of Darlington, whose name we have not yet been able to ascertain, as neither he nor Mr. Fielding is at present in the village.

MEDICAL AND SCIENTFIC.

MILK VS. BEEF.—Mrs. I. writes to ask the difference in nutriment of a pound of beef and a pound of milk, to which we reply: A quart and a half of good, fresh, new milk is equal to a pound of beef in its nourishing qualities. If the milk costs four cents a quart, and the beef sixteen cents a pound, then milk is much the cheaper food. It is also cleaner and handsomer in its appearance, and there is a decided saving in preparing it. Milk needs no cooking. It costs something to cook beef, and there is considerable waste in the process. Whoever has observed a steak broiling and not noticed how the fat falls into the fire and burns in a blaze. Then the milk, if fresh and pure, is more healthful to the consumer. All flesh meat contains more or less effete matter, and some of this is deadly poison, if we may believe the chemists. If we were to take it in large quantities we should suffer more than we do. We do not now know how many of the minor ills of life come from this source. Milk, brown-bread and fruit form almost any ideal diet. Milk is best when new and fresh, and from healthy, properly-fed cows. It is a stepping stone from a diet composed of animal food to a vegetable diet.

CREAM OF CELERY.—Celery is unusually scarce now, and a little of it is well blanched and crisp. But even the somewhat inferior quality may be made quite palatable. Cut it into very small pieces, rejecting the toughest green portions. Add only water enough to keep it from burning, and boil it in a closely covered vessel for an hour, or until perfectly tender. Then add a sufficient quantity of milk, first thickened with a sufficient quantity of flour to each pint, previously rubbed smooth, with two tablespoonfuls of butter, and salt and pepper to the taste, very little of the pepper. Boil and serve as soon as the flour is thoroughly cooked. If made moderately thin with the milk, flour and butter, it can be rubbed through a colander, when it gives a delicious, cream-like soup. Smooth squares of bread well browned are frequently put into the soup when finished. A bowl of this, eaten with bread, the same as bread and milk, makes an excellent noon lunch.

CLEANING SPONGES.—Charles Roberts, F. R. C. S. in the British Medical Journal, writes on the means adopted to clean sponges from the organic and earthly materials taken up by the sponge from hard water. He finds that returning the sponge to its native element, or, what answers equally well, steeping it in strong salt and water, to which a few grains of iodine have been added, enables it to throw off its impurities and to regain its normal elasticity and absorbent properties, and at the same time to become completely disinfected. The process is not a rapid one, and iodine is only slightly soluble in salt water; so that very dirty sponges connot be purified in this way, and a preliminary washing in soap and warm water may be necessary. Sponges may be kept in this kind of pickle for any length of time without injury to their texture. A bath-sponge which has been treated in this way has the pleasant seaside smell which has been attributed to the presence of ozone, but is more probably do to iodine.

WASHERWOMAN'S ECZEMA.—Women who wash a great deal and use strong soap sometimes get sore hands, a kind of eczema, which is very troublesome; the epidermis falling off, the inflammation extending to the root of the nail, so as to prevent its healthy growth, and often an intolerable itching which prevents sound sleep at night. It is often difficult to cure unless work is stopped, which is generally impossible. The cause is to be found in the use of the strong soap, and keeping the hands wet for a long time. Soap and water seem to be a sort of poison to this disease. As a palliative it is a good thing to oil the hands thoroughly before putting them into the water. We have known a mother to wash her children in the same strong soap she used in washing cloths, and to bring out on some of them a serious eczema, which could not be cured till the use of this soap was discontinued. The mother thought it could not be the soap did it because one child escaped the disease. It was explained to her that this child was a healthy one, and his skin was not sensitive like that of the other children, and so it escaped. Some persons will have a violent eczema if they wear red flannel undershirts; a few others if they eat strawberries.—Herald of Health.

GEORGE ELIOT said: "Ignorance is not so damnable as humbug, but when it prescribes pills it may happen to do more harm."

IN THE SPRING of the year almost every one requires a good Blood Purifier, more especially in the month of May. We would earnestly advise our readers to try Dr. Careon's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. A few doses will soon convince you that it is the best remedy known for affections of the stomach, Bowels, Liver and Kidneys. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a amily medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. It will cure croup in a few minutes. A few bottles has often cured asthma. Colic has been cured by a teaspoonful dose. It cures with the utmost rapidity. It is really a wonderful medicine.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on accountof the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

THE IRISH DIFFICULTY

CAVENDISH AND BURKE

UP TO THE TIME OF GOING TO PRESS NO CLUE HAS BEEN OBTAINED.

Several Arrests have been Made, but only Conjecture—Expressions of Horror from All Around the Globe—Meeting of the House of Commons—The Very Latest.

TWO IDENTIFIED.

DUBLIN, May 8.—Most important information has just arrived. Two men named Courtenay and McBride, in the employment of Mr. O'Neill, a sculptor, were returning from Maynooth with a drag at eight o'clock on Saturday night. When within a mile and a quarter of the village of Lucan, which is four miles from Dublin on the Chapelizod road, they met a red backed car with a horse bathed in sweat and galloping at a very rapid pace.

FOUR MEN WERE ON THE CAR,

and appeared to be in a terrible state of excitement. They shouted to the driver of the drag, "clear the road." This he was unable to do in time, and as the car pulled up to prevent a collision, he had a good look at the men. One more excited than the rest struck at him with a heavy stick. He slashed in return with his whip. The main again aimed a blow, but a companion held his arm. The back of the car was by this time past, and the horse was again put to a gallop at a furious pace. Mr. Courtenay says that

HE CAN IDENTIFY TWO OF THE MEN.

He has given a most accurate description. He states that they were all respectably dressed. One wore a snuff-coloured dust coat. There was no number on the car. The driver was a young man. A rumour was current that the car-driver had been found beyond Lucan with his throat cut, but there was no confirmation of the report given by the police.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, May 8.—Absorbing interest was attached to the first meeting of Parliament since the assassination. The arrival of the members was watched by a large crowd, which vented its opinions in mingled groaning and cheering. Many members wore mourning bands on their hats, and some of the ladies in the members' lobby were also in mourning. In the House a solemn stillness reigned. Mr. Gladstone on entering was greeted with subdued applause, which he quickly acknowledged, and taking his seat he shaded his face with his hand. His speech was and was filled with halting sentences, a most unusual thing for him. He was followed by Sir Stafford Northcote, Mr. Parnell, Mr. Forster, and Mr. Lowther. Mr. Forster paid a tribute to the high character and ability of the murdered men. There was an attempt on the Opposition side to raise a hoot against Mr. Parnell, but at the stern cry of "Order" from all parts of the House it was instantly repressed. The proceedings lasted only twenty minutes, and were remarkable for their impressive intensity.

DELIVERED WITH DIFFICULTY,

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

LONDON, May.—Every part of the House of Commons was crowded this afternoon. At 4.20 o'clock Mr. Gladstone arose with great emotion and in a tremulous voice moved the adjournment of the House. He said the blackness of the crime and the horror it excited thoughout the entire kingdom was unparalleled. In the murder of Mr. Buke they had been robbed of one of the ablest and most upright members of the Civil Service. But the hand of the assassin came nearer home, and one of the noblest of hearts ceased beating while full of hope and love for Ireland. So far as the Government were concerned, said Mr. Gladstone, all previous arrangements

MUST BE RECAST.

He would on Thursday ask the House for leave to introduce a measure for the repression of crime in Ireland. He believed he would be assisted from all quarters of the House. On an early day he would introduce a measure dealing with the question of arrears of rent. Sir Stafford Northcote seconded Mr. Gladstone's motion for the adjournment. He promised that the Opposition would support the Government in measures for the repression of crime. He considered the occasion too sad for more than a passing tribute of respect to the deceased. Mr. Parnell expressed the detestation of all Irishmen for the crime. He believed it was committed in order to frustrate his cause. He did not deny that the Government might be compelled to take steps

TO RESTORE ORDER IN IRELAND.

He was of the opinion that the crime was the work of those to whom he had always been opposed. Mr. Forster and Mr. Lowther eulogized Mr. Burke, and the House adjourned till Thursday.

THE TONE OF THE PRESS.

LONDON, May 8.—The tone of the press is most reassuring. Outside of London no Liberal organ favours a retreat from the new policy in Ireland, and the extreme Nationalists lead the way in denouncing the crime. The London Times stands absolutely alone in the attempt to turn this appalling catastrophe into a calumnious personal attack and infamous attempt to inflame national passions. If the two murderers had been at the elbow of the leader writer they coul-dnot have dictated words more admirably calculated to serve their end.

MR. GLADSTONE'S OPINION.

LONDON, May 8.—Mr. Gladstone has telegraphed to the Viceroy of India:—"The object of this black act is plainly to arouse indignant passions, and embitter the relations between Great Britain and Irieland.

AN ADVOCATE OF MURDER.

The Conservative papers reprint a speech of Mr. Biggar, M. P., to the Cork Farmers' Club in March, 1880, extolling the example of the Nihilist Hartmann.

THE INQUEST.

At the inquest to-day in Dublin formal evidence identifying the victims was given. Mr. Johnson represented the Government, and spoke with considerable emotion.

MURDER TO CONCEAL MURDER.

DUBLIN, May 8.—It is rumoured that the driver of the car which took the assassins to and from the park was murdered by them to prevent discovery, and that his body has been found in Chapelizod.

THE CRIME DENOUNCED IN GAOL.

The suspects in Naas gaol have passed a resolution denouncing the crime and condoling with the widow of Lord Cavendish.

MOURNING IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The shutters are up on all the business houses here.

THE ASSASSINS APPARENTLY AMERICANS.

The assassins are said to be Americans in appearance.

VERDICT OF THE CORNER'S JURY.

The jury on the inquest returned a verdict of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown.

THE DUBLIN CORPORATION.

DUBLIN, May 8.—At a largely attended meeting of the corporation of the city resolutions were passed expressing horror and detestation of the assassinations, and declaring that until the perpetrators are brought to Justice Irishmen must feel dishonoured. The corporations of Cork, Londonderry, Wexford, and Limerick have taken similar action.

A FORLORN HOPE.

DUBLIN, May 8.—It is reported on the best authority that the car containing four persons, on Saturday night, drove out of the Knockmaroon gate of Phœnix park in the direction of Lucan. The horses were covered with foam and dust. This corroborates the evidence at the inquest to-day. If the police can follow up this clue there is some hope of capturing the murderers.

TO LADY CAVENDISH.

LONDON, May 8.—Mr. Gladstone called upon Lady Cavendish to-day. Both were much overcome during the interview. After she left for Chatsworth a telegram from the Ladies' Land League was received expressing a hope that she did not believe the Irish people were sunk so low as to murder one who brought a peace-offering to Ireland.

A CABINET MEETING.

LONDON, May 8.—A large crowd gathered in Downing street while the Cabinet meeting was in progress to-day, watching with great interest for any indication of the action of the Government. There will be another Council to-morrow.

OUTSIDE THE HOUSE.

LONDON, May 8.—A great crowd gathered outside the House of Commons. Mr. Bright and Lord Selburn were received with mixed applause and groans. Mr. Gladstone was vigorously hooted; also Mr. Bradlaugh. Mr. Forster was cheered.

ONE OF THE ASSASSINS ARRESTED.

DUBLIN, May 8.—Midnight.—A man named Charles Moore was arrested on suspicion at Maynooth last evening. He travelled by the 4 o'clock train from Dublin. It is stated that he intended to go to Longford, but feeling ill took a ticket for Maynooth. He almost fainted when arrested. He returned from America last Friday, answers the description of one of the murderers, and has also marks on his face. He was formerly in the army. Moore has a number of wounds about the body. It is reported another arrest has been effected at Kildare.

THE ASSASSINATION JUSTIFIED

NEW YORK, May 8.—Speaking of the assassinations, O'Donovan Rossa to-day said they who sow the wind must expect to reap the whirlwind. Long enough, too long, God knows, has all the murdering been on the English side and all the victims of the Irish. There's no necessity for us to make any guesses as to who or what was the cause of the murder or execution of those men. The deed was not done by those milk and water Land Leaguers, who prate of freeing Ireland, and ridding the country of landlordism without striking a blow. This blow has now been struck by men.

BRUTAL AND FIENDISH.

COHOES, May 9.—At a meeting last night the Land Leaguers adopted the following resolutions, as follows:—"We indignantly repudiate the assassination of Cavendish and Burke and denounce the act as a brutal and fiendish act.'

AMERICAN BOOTS.

DUBLIN, May 8.—An American who visited the scene of the murder scrutinized the footprints, and distinctly recognized the marks of the peculiar broad-toed boot commonly worn by Irish-Americans.

CAVENDISH'S REMAINS.

DUBLIN, May 8.—Lord Cavendish's remains were conveyed on a gun carriage from the viceregal to the wharf this evening, and placed on the steamer for transportation to England. Dragoons accompanied the remains, and all along the route the procession was received with evidences of sympathy by immense crowds.

THREATENING LETTER.

DUBLIN, May 8.—It is stated that a few days ago Mr. Burke received a letter warning him that if he did not clear out at once and follow the example of Mr. Forster he would have only three days to live.

MORE ARRESTS.

DUBLIN, May 9.—Three more arrests have been made at Kildare. The Dublin police do not consider them important.

BURKE'S SUCCESSOR.

LONDON, May 9.—It it rumoured that the Under Secretaryship of Ireland has been offered to Blake, one of the special Magistrates appointed by Forster.

LEAGUE MANIFESTO.

The following manifesto of the Land League was adopted this afternoon at a hurriedly summoned meeting:—

"To the people of Ireland:

"On the eve of what seemed a bright future for our country, that evil destiny which has apparently pursued us for centuries has struck at our hopes another blow which cannot be exaggerated in its disastrous consequences. In this hour of sorrowful gloom we venture to give expression to our profoundest sympathy with the people of Ireland in the calamity that has befallen our cause through this horrible deed, and with those who determined at the last hour that a policy of conciliation should supplant that of terrorism and national distrust. We earnestly hope the attitude and action of the Irish people will show to the world that an assassination such as has startled us almost to the abandonment of hope for our country's future is deeply religiously abhorrant to every feeling and instinct. We appeal to you to show by every manner of expression that admidst the universal feeling of horror which the assassination has excited, no people feel so deep detestation of its actrocity or deep sympathy with those whose hearts must be seared by it as the nation upon whose prosperity and reviving hopes it may entail consequences more ruinous than those that have fallen to the lot of unhappy Ireland during the present generation. We feel that no act that has ever been perpetrated in the country during the exciting struggles of the past fifty years has so stained the name of hospitable Ireland as the cowardly, unprovoked assassination of a friendly stranger, and that until the murderers of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke are brought to justice that stain will sully our country's name.

"CHARLES S. PARNELL.
"JOHN DILLON.
"M. DAVITT."

A LEAGUE PROCLAMATION.

Mr. James Mooney, as president of the Irish National Land League, has issued the following proclamation:—

"To the Land League of America:

"The execrable and cowardly assassination of Lord Fredrick Cavendish, the newly-appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Under Secretary Burke, has horrified the world, and is especially painful and abhorrent to every true friend of Ireland. We denounce the awful crime, and exhort our brethern in Ireland to use every effort to bring its perpetrators to justice and to show their detestation of the fiendish act, which only an arch-enemy of our race or some irresponsible idiot could have conceived or executed.

JAS. MOONEY,
"President Irish National Land League of America."

The Floods.

WINNIPEG, May 6.—The water in the Assiniboine is still rising, and is now very near the superstructure of the bridge. Grave anxiety is felt as to its being able to withstand the present freshet. It is believed the worst is over, as the fall of water up the stream is so great that a corresponding drop here is momentarily looked for. The whole region beyond the bridge is under water. St. Boniface, on the east side, in the vicinity of the hospital, is also submerged, and the highway is impassible for teams. The water is still rising in Red River, at the foot of Post-Office and Notre Dame streets having risen about three inches in the last twenty four hours. A number of people nearest the bank have been compelled to vacate and retire to higher ground. The water has been steadily rising all afternoon, but with the present warm weather and rapid fall at Emerson and other points up the stream a decline is hopefully looked for. Intense anxiety prevails regarding the Louise railway and traffic bridge. It is being weighted down by iron and stone placed at each abutment to prevent a washout, the water being now beyond the bridge. Although only three inches is now required to reach the girders. The swing is closed, and navigation interrupted until the river falls.

OBSTRUCTIONISTS.

THE special correspondent at Ottawa of the Montreal Witness, a staunch Reform journal, thus describes a portion of the proceedings in the House of Commons on Friday :—

"A discussion arose in reference to the Intercolonial Railway, in which the Opposition charged the Government with mismanagement and deterioration of rolling stock. Mr. Anglin spoke at great length, almost wholly repeating his speech made at a former occasion when the same subject was under discussion. During his remarks the members raised all sorts of noises, &c. Mr. Anglin persisted in speaking, and on concluding created laughter by thanking the House for the attention given."

This is only a specimen of the tactics of the Opposition, and Mr. Anglin is far from being the only offender in this respect. Member after member on the Opposition side has been "almost wholly repeating his speech made at a former occasion," except, indeed, when weathercocks like Messrs. Charlton and Paterson make equally long speeches to endeavor to refute their previous utterances.

It is all part of a deliberate system. While the Opposition journals and members complain of the length of the session, and with total disregard of truth accuse the Government of dilatoriness in bringing down and advancing their measures, their speakers in the House are endeavoring to prolong the session by tedious long-drawn-out repetitions of old speeches and buncombe resolutions so times as most to delay the business of the country.

Owing to the want of a good cause they cannot prevail in argument, or successfully attack the government measures or administration. Owing to their paucity of numbers in the House, corresponding to their diminished and diminishing band of supporters throughout the country, they cannot obtain a majority of the votes in Parliament, any more than they expect to at the polls. Thus, beaten both in argument and in the division lists, they have adopted the role of factious obstructionists, using every device to hinder the business of the country, so long as it may be conducted by their political opponents, and adding to the cost of legislation by their diarrhea of words, with the intention of blaming the Government hereafter for the expenditure.

Anyone examining the columns of Hansard or of the daily papers that give full reports, will see for himself how far greater is the amount of space monopolized by the exhaustless verbiage of this comparative handful, as contrasted with the smaller space occupied by their more numerous opponents. It must be remembered, too, that a large portion of the Conservative speeches are necessitated by these motions to waste time, which, in spite of their emptiness, cannot be suffered to remain altogether unanswered.

It is a miserable policy, and one which they will find will do them little service with the electors.

A very Important Insurance Case Decided.

Judgment has just been delivered by the Ontario Court of Appeal in the suit of Neill vs The Union Mutual Life Insurance Company. The Judgment affirms the decision of the Court of Queen's Bench. The facts of the case are somewhat peculiar. The policy of insurance was upon the life of the late John Neill, of Toronto, machinist. Among other conditions it was stipulated that if any premium should not be paid when due the consideration of the contract should be deemed to have failed and the company should be released from liability. By another clause, if any over-due premium was received it was upon the express condition that the assured was in good health. If the fact were otherwise the policy, it was provided, should not be regarded as brought again into effect by the receipt of such premium. In this case a cheque was given for a quarterly premium with a request to hold it for a few days as there were no funds. It was frequently presented for payment but not paid. On the 21st October funds for the cheque were provided, but it being after banking hours before the company was aware of this, the cheque was not presented. That night Mr. Neill was killed on the railway track. The premium receipt had never been given by the company. Under these circumstances the Courts hold that the company is relieved from liability; and as both Courts have been unanimous is their decision it is unlikely that the case will be carried further.

AT a meeting of the Halifax Cotton Company, on the 29th ult., it was decided to push on the work of building, to have the roof on the factory by August, and the machinery ready to run say by 1st January next.

THE SUTTON MYSTERY.

Arrest of the Alleged Murderer in Connecticut—Sequel to the Ghastly Discovery.

MONTREAL, May 7.—Some weeks since the people of Sutton Flats, very near to the United States border line and Sweetsburg, in the Eastern Townships, were startled by the ghastly find of a young man. While hunting he had come across the body of a human being half in and half out of a small stream. The skull was battered in as though huge rocks had been used to crush the life out of the victim. As no person had been missing from that neighbourhood the identity of the body was a mystery as great as that of the murder. That the body was that of a man done to death by violence no person doubted. It was at first believed that the body must be that of Capt. Jackson, an ex-British officer in reduced circumstances. Constable Pickel took the matter in hand and learned that two immigrants from England had been in the vicinity of Sutton Flats last fall looking for farm labour. One of them named J.P. Jackson looked very unfit for such work, while his companion, Wm. Richards, was stout, active, 50 years old, morose of nature. The men did not succeed well and one day started to leave Sutton Flats, Jackson was last seen alive in the company of Richards. The latter was leaving for Boston, when he was asked what become of the young man Jackson. He replied that he had gone west. The finding of the dead body and its identification was the first circumstance that gave Richards the lie. The body once identified, the next thing was to identify the murderer, and to do this he had to be found. Pickel took every precaution, and by communicating with Immigration Commissioner Ibbotson, of Montreal, learned the whereabouts of some of Richards' relatives in this country. A letter was sent to Mrs. W. Berse, a married daughter of Richards residing in Boston. The answer was returned, dated Harford, May 2, stating that her father was about going west. Pickel started at once for Harford, and following his clue, arrested Richards last night in Springfield, Mass. The murdered man, it appears, had about £70 sterling upon him when he left Montreal for Sutton Flats. He had been respectably connected from his general appearance, and came from England to Canada along with Richards to seek his fortune and benefit his health, little dreaming he was to find a bloody grave. From the appearance of the body, with the legs in the creek and reclining on the bank with one boot and stocking removed, Jackson is believed to have sat down to bathe his feet, and while sitting down was approached by his companion and quickly and suddenly despatched. Richards will be tried at Sweetsburg after extradition papers have been secured. He was much startled at his arrest, but there is nothing said as to his admission of the murder.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

LORD FREDERICK CAVENDISH.

Lord Frederick Charles Cavendish although comparatively a young man in years was an active Liberal, and for the son of an extensive landowning peer held fairly advanced views. He was the second son of the 7th Duke of Devonshire by Lady Blanche, 4th daughter of the 6th Earl of Carlisle. He was born at Compton Place, Eastbourne, in 1836, and educated at Trinity College, Cambridge. He married in 1864, the Hon. Lucy Coroline, 2nd daughter of the 4th Baron Lyttelton. His life was largely an official one. He was private secretary to Lord Granville from 1859 till 1864, and held the same relation to Mr. Gladstone from July, 1872 to August, 1873, when he was appointed a Lord of the Treasury, and held the position till February, 1874, when the Government resigned. On the advent of the Liberals to power he was appointed Financial Secretary to the Treasury in April, 1880. He sat for the north-west riding of Yorkshire since July, 1865, and was elected at the last general elections by 3,678 majority over the first Conservative candidate. In politics Dod describes him as "a Liberal, in favour of the "'total' abolition of church rates and complete "religious liberty." His Lordship's career has been a distinguished one, and calculated to give him a vast amount of departmental knowledge and training. That he was selected for the position which so well known a statesman as Mr. Forster failed to successfully fill is an indication of the high esteem in which he must have been held by his leader and colleagues. His Lordship owned no land of any extent in his own name, but the Devonshire family, as represented by the present Duke, are large landholders not only in England but in Ireland. The Duke of Devonshire holds 32,776 acres in the county of Cork, 3 acres in the county of Tiperary, and 27,540 acres in the county of Waterford, representing an aggregate rent roll of £31,698 per annum. His appointment to the Chief Secretaryship for Ireland last week was not received with satisfaction either from friend or opponent, as it was regarded as an indication that the Whig influence in the present Imperial Cabinet was still supreme. On Saturday last, however, midst the customary ceremonies at Dublin he was sworn in.

THE LATE MR. BURKE.

Thomas Haviland Burke, Under-Secretary for Ireland, had filled the post for many years, and though not much known to the outer world in England, was thoroughly well-known and disliked in Ireland as the man who in conjunction with the Inspector-General of Constabulary, at present Colonel Hillier, really gave the Chief Secretary all his information. Being a permanent official, his long and intimate acquaintance with the details of official life, and his thorough knowledge of Ireland, enabled him to act as a reference on every occasion. As a barrister of good abilities his legal learning stood him in good stead. His bane, however, was his officialism, beyond which he could not rise. A Galway Whig turned Tory by long continuance in office, a Roman Catholic of the Keogh of Fitzgerald type, he was thoroughly unacceptable both to priest and people, and was himself "the Castle"—the embodiment of all that is anti-Irish in the eyes of Nationalist and Fenian. His untimely end was doubtless not the result of a preconceived conspiracy—there had been ample opportunity for many years for any who wished to assassinate him. The conspirators had evidently intended the death of Lord Frederick Cavendish, whom, while walking on foot, Mr. Burke overtook on a car, and joined. His being with their intended victim gave them a chance of getting rid of the two Government officials who in their eyes represented the office whence Ireland's chief ills arose. By Mr. Burke's death the post of Under-Secretary, worth £2,000 a year and a splendid house, is placed at the disposal of the Irish Executive. Mr. Burke was no relation of the Earl Mayo, whose family name is Bourke.

Russian Legislation Against Jews.

Few things are stranger than the capricious manner in which laws effecting the Jews have been made in Russia. One sovereign would not admit them into the empire on the facetious ground that the Russians would cheat them; another encouraged them; a third again excluded them. In one part of Russia they have been forbidden to enter a town in Jewish costume; in another they have been cautioned, under the penalty of fine and imprisonment, against wearing any other. By recent legislation they have been declared incapable of holding land. The Emperor Nicholas on the other hand, tyrant as he was, and promulgator of many vexatious enactments against Jews, offered them peculiar advantages on condition of their becoming agriculturists. It had struck him, or somebody had persuaded him, that the Jews, producing nothing themselves, lived on the earnings of their Christian fellow-subjects, and he proposed to remedy this by turning his Hebrew subjects into cultivators of the soil. He stipulated, moreover, that Jewish land-owners and farmers should employ a Jewish cultivator who engaged two hundred Jewish peasants on his estate thereby acquired the dignity of hereditary nobility. But two hundred Jews willing to accept the wages of agricultural laborers were not to be found on or near any estate; and for this and some other cause, the Emperor Nicholas' Jewish land scheme turned out a failure. The notion entertained by some ethnologists, that the Jews as a race have a rooted aversion to agriculture, is hardly tenable. The truth is probably, that they have acquired, as the result of long continued persecution, a reasonable dislike to invest their money in any but the most portable forms of wealth.—St. James Gazette.

N. H. DOWNS' Vegetable Balsamic ELIXIR!

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable, the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms and the cure—viz.:

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Influenza, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis,

and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the lungs; then an inflammation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry; then becomes local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

CONSUMPTION

IT HEALS THE ULCERATED SURFACES

and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases. Price 25cts. and $1 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

MONTREAL, P. Q.

CLOUDS AND SUNSHINE.

BY GLENNIE V. WILDWOOD.

One Summer morn the sky was dark,
And all the early hours
The wild storm shut the sunshine out,
All seemed to crush the flowers;
And nature wore a gloomy frown,
And seemed to think no good
Was in the storm-king's ministry,
Or in the dismal flood.

But just above the dismal clouds
The sun surmised earth's grief,
And tried to drive away the storm
And come to her relief.
Awhile he labored patiently,
And sent his rays around
To see if in the dreary clouds
A weak spot could be found.

At last a merry sunbeam
Espied a little rent,
And darted through before the cloud
Could fathom its intent.
It seemed to laugh as down it sped
Mid glittering drops of rain,
And other sunbeams, laughing, too,
Came following in its train.

They gently kissed the drooping flowers,
And sent a merry breeze
To wake despondent nature up,
And shake the dripping trees.
They danced and laughed and sparkled,
They darted here and there;
They drove the gloomy clouds away
And left the earth sweet and fair.

And then, through all the summer day,
They shone so soft and warm,
All nature felt the the genial glow
And quite forgot the storm.
And yet the storm had done them good,
For grain and fruit and flowers,
Although they need the sunshine most,
Would die without the showers.

And we might learn a lesson here,
Amidst the storms to rest;
Our sorrows are not sent for naught,
For surely God knows best.
And He is watching up above—
He sees and knows our grief;
And rest assured, in His good time
He'll send a sweet relief.

THREE OBEDIENT HUSBANDS.

Their Wives Receiving Them After Being Out Late.

There were four of them together, and it was late. They had been drinking. Finally, one o them looked at the clock and said:—

"What will our wives say when we get home?"

"Let them say what they want to. Mine will tell me to go to the mischief," responded No .2.

"I'll tell you what we will do. Let us meet here in the morning and tell our experiences. Let the one who has refused to do what his wife told him to do when he got home pay for the evenings entertainment."

"That is a good idea. We will agree to that." So the party broke up and went to their respective homes.

Next morning they met at the appointed place and began to tell their experiences.

Said No. 1:

"When I opened the door my wife was awake. She said: "A pretty time of night for you to be coming home. You had better go out and sleep in the pig pen, for that's all you will come to, sooner or later, anyhow." Rather than pay for all we had drank last night, I did what she told me to. That lets me out."

Next!

No. 2 cleansed his throat, and said:

"When I got home I stumbled on a chair and my wife called: There you are again, you drunken brute! You had better wake up the children, and stagger about for a while so they can see what a drunken brute of a father they are afflicted with." I thought the best thing I could do was to obey; so I woke up the children and staggered around until my wife hinted to me to stop. She used a chair in conveying the hint. That lets me out."

Next!

No. 3 said.

"I was humming a tune, and my wife called out, 'There you are again! Hadn't you better give us a concert?' I said, 'certainly,' and began to sing as loud as I could, but she told me to stop, or she would throw something at me; so I stopped. That lets me out!"

Next!

No. 4 looked very disconsolate. He said:

"I reckon I'll have to pay. My wife told me to do something none of you would have done, if you had been in my place."

"What was it"

"She said: 'So you thought you would come home at last. Now, hadn't you better go to the well and drink a couple of buckets of water, just to astonish your stomach. This was more than I had bargained for, so it's my funeral."

IRON FOR DECORATIVE PURPOSES.

The prevention of corrosion in iron and steel has been secured by two different processes, of which Professor Barff and Mr. George Bower are the inventors. The Barff method consists of the submission of iron or steel, at red heat, to ordinary air and carbonic acid gas. In the one instance, the oxygen combining with the iron forms magnetic oxide, the only oxide of iron not affected by atmospheric conditions. In the other case, the magnetic oxide is formed by a series of oxidizing and deoxidizing operations, the carbonic acid gas being formed within the chamber where the articles are placed by the combustion of carbonic oxide. The first method is better for wrought iron, but more costly, while the Bower process is better for cast-iron and steel, and less expensive. A fusion of these interests has been effected, and one furnace has beee designed which does the work of the two separate furnaces, producing carbonic oxide, generating and superheating steam heating the chamber, and treating in it cast or wrought iron, and at cheaper rates. Thus the protection of the surface of iron and steel is secured. Enamelling is done with more facility and at less expence by first oxidizing the articles. Iron can be used in place of more expensive metals in decorative art, since a discovery by Mr. Bower that by brushing the surface of iron objects, treated by his process, with a metallic wire brush, some of the wire metal is deposited on the surface with beautiful effect. The magnetic oxide has a porous surface, and by friction the metal is taken from the wire and deposited in these pores. In this way gold, silver, nickel, copper, brass, bronze and other metallic alloys may be deposited by attrition on the iron or steel. By heating the article somewhat the metal becomes permanently fixed, and no other metal can afterwards be deposited on surface thus treated; nor do the brushes have any effect upon the surfaces not treated previously by the oxidizing process. This new system of ornamentation of iron and steel, and the protection of surfaces from oxidation, will add much to constructive and decorative possibilities with these metals.—Boston Advertiser.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1882.

St. John's S. S. Entertainment.

The date of the entertainment to be given in Bradburn's Hall for the benefit of St. John's Church Sunday School, has been fixed for Tuesday, May 16th. A few tickets have been issued with the wrong date, so the purchasers should bear this in mind.

Nuisances.

The body of a dead cat has been lying for some time on McDonnell street between George and Water street, and for the benefit of the heath of the neighborhood it would be well to remove it. There is another on the market square. The Health Inspectors had better look after the deceased felines.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following 24 hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly between the west and south. Fair, warm weather, with showers or thunder storms in some localities.

Fire.

Shortly after 8 o'clock on Monday night the loud clangor of the fire bells disturbed the town and the whole south western section was illuminated by a bright glare. The Fire Brigade, prompt as usual, were soon on the run and found that the burning building was an old shed or stable just south of the residence of Mr. E. Burnham on the gravel road. The building, which contained straw, burned fiercely, but as there was not the slightest danger of anything else burning, no water was thrown. The hooks soon pulled the building apart and left it to burn away, The loss is about $50 and there is no insurance.

News from Abroad.

The Peterborough correspondent of the Montreal Star favours that journal with the following information. We cannot imagine who they could find in Peterborough to write such utter rubbish:—

"The people in the East Riding are crazy abou William Mills coming out as member for the Ottawa House, in opposition to John Burnham. Mr. Mills is a very eloquent speaker and a gentleman well qualified to fill the office of member for the House of Commons. He worked out a great many reforms in the Council of Peterboro' while he was a member thereof. He is the right man in the right place, and a speaker that can match any member in the present House. J. J. Lundy, ex-Mayor, is the Opposition Candidate for the West Riding, and will, no doubt, get a big majority of votes over any candidate that can be got out against him. The Gerrymandering of the East Riding of Peterboro' will, of course, operate against Mr. Mills, still there are great hopes of his carrying the constituency."

"Hazel Kirke."

Mr. Thos. W. Brown, business manager of the Madison Square Theatre Company, of New York, is in town, and announces the pleasing intelligence that the above celebrated company will favor the citizens of Peterborough with a grand production of the pure and beautiful domestic drama, "Hazel Kirke," on Monday May 15th. It will be presented by the same company that participated in the remarkable run of the piece at the Madison Square Theatre, New York, where it had a continuous run of nearly two years—the longest on record—and it will be given here with the same superb scenic effects and careful attention to detail that has added so much to its popularity and success throughout the whole country. It has everywhere been greeted with unprecedented enthusiasm and unqualified approval. The great reputation of the play is no doubt partly due to the rare merit and superior quality of this celebrated company, which is generaly recognized as the leading dramatic organization travelling. It will no doubt be the greatest dramatic treat of the season.

AMALGAMATION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Among the advantages (?) of amalgamation are the following:—When there were two telegraph companies we paid 20 cents for a telegram. As soon as the companies were amalgamated, the charge was raised to 25 cents. Before the great Midland amalgamation took place we could obtain return tickets to Toronto for $4, good for 14 days. Now we have to pay $5.15 for the same tickets, good for only six days. Truly we are a favoured town, but who are the favoured ones?

A TRAVELLER.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

OPENING OF THE QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION BEFORE JUSTICE OSLER.

No Criminal Cases and the Customary Kids Only Three Cases for Trial, One Jury and two Non-jury—The Grand Jury—The Judge's Charge.

The spring sittings of the High Court of Justice, Queen's Bench Division, opened at the Court House on Monday afternoon, before His Lordship Justice Osler. The docket, as has been the case here on several recent occasions, is light, there being no criminal and only three civil cases in the calendar, none of them of any great public importance.

As is customary when no criminals are to be tried, His Lordship received a pair of white kids from the Sheriff.

THE GRAND JURY.

After routine business, the following gentlemen were sworn in as Grand Jurors:—

JOHN HULL, Foreman,

John Brown,	Hon. Robt. Hamilton,
Thos. Campbell,	Thos. Johnston,
Jno. Cameron,	Jas. McCliggott,
Hugh Collins,	R. B. McKee,
A. W. Dafoe,	W. O'Brien,
James Dolan,	Wm. Wilson,
R. Emmerson,	Jno. Young,
Jno. Flood,	C. Brealy,
Henry Garbutt,	C. D. Moore,

JUDGE OSLER informed the jurymen that he had much pleasure to state that he found by the calendar that there was no person in gaol awaiting trial, or any person out on bail to answer to a criminal charge. It was extremely gratifying to find that in such a large and populous County, such as Peterborough, that within the last six months no serious offence had been committed. The present was the sixth assize that he had attended this year, and in no less than three county towns, he found that the same state of affairs existed, and he further learned from the printed reports throughout the country generally there were very few cases of a serious nature. The people of this Province are in every respect law abiding, but in all countries murders and kindred crimes would occur, but in this there was a general feeling of security, and all must feel gratified that such was the case. We cannot feel too thankful, especially when we contrast our position with that of another country, in which doubtless a great many present felt a great interest, in which a deed that shocked the world had just occurred, as all had read in the morning papers. As regards the duties of the Grand Jury, it was not necessary for him to enlarge, as their was no business for them to do. Judging by appearances, he would say that many of the present Grand Jury had served in a similar capacity, if not in this court, at the Quarter Sessions. He would dismiss them to inspect the gaol and county buildings as their only duty, and if any abuses were brought to their notice, they could, if they so desired, make a presentment to him. They might also might inspect any public charity or institution of a similar kind, if any existed here and that done he would dismiss them from further attendance. Before closing he would draw their attention to the fact that some seven or eight persons, generally called vagrants, were confined in the couty gaol. This was a matter that came under the jurisdiction of the County Council alone, but as is generally the case, he thought that some members of that body might be on the jury, and they could act afterwards on the suggestions he was about to make. In some counties, notably, Simcoe and Waterloo, county poorhouses, in which the vagrants were taken care of had for some time been established. He had personally inspected several of these institutions and believed they were a great benefit. Those which had industrial farms attached were kept up at very small expense, by the vagrants, who, in this place as well as others had no place to go for refuge, except the county gaols. He did not desire to see the poor laws of the old country introduced here, but as there are some persons in every county who have to be kept at the public expence he made the suggestion, as he had done in other places, and it had generally been well received. He then dismissed the jury.

THE BAR.

Besides the members of the local bar Messrs. Hutchinson, Simpson and Leith, Bowmanville and Blackstock, of Toronto were present.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

Early in the afternoon the Grand Jury came into court and made the following presentment:—

To His Lordship Justice Osler:

We, the Grand Jury of our Sovereign Lady the Queen humbly present.

That we have examined the gaol as directed by your Lordship, and found every thing clean and in good order.

We beg to congratulate your Lordship that on this, your first official visit to Peterborough, you find a clear list as regards a criminal calendar and we are gratified at seeing your Lordship presented with the customary pair of white kid gloves.

We found confined in the gaol, six prisoners, five males and one female, apparently all helpless and unable to provide for themselves—all vagrants of old standing. None of the prisoners have any complaint to make against the gaoler.

We would respectfully recommend that it would be desirable if employment of some kind could be provided by the County Council for prisoners, convicted for short terms with hard labour, and that they would also afford employment to those who are unfortunote enough to be convicted as vagrants.

We would respectfully submit to the County Council the necessity there exists for a more commodious room for washing in the gaol.

We have to congratulate Your Lordship on your elevation to the bench, and we trust that you may be long spared to fill the position.

All which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) JOHN HULL,
Foreman.

A FAMILY OF CRANKS.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Scoville has obtained from Judge Donahue a writ of habeas corpus commanding Jno. W. Guiteau to produce the body of Mrs. Scoville in Court on May 9th, Scoville's petition alleges that his wife is illegally restrained of her liberty by Jno. W. Guiteau since the trial of her brother Charles, as she has shown strong evidence of mental disturbance, which has been increased by the actions of the persons who attempted to use her for the purpose of gaining notoriety. The petitioner says that he last saw his wife in company with their child and Jno. W. Guiteau on the 7th of May. Jno. W. will not inform the petitioner of his wife's whereabouts, because he does not want the question of her mental condition made public. He feels that his wife should have such care as he only can furnish and proper medical attention. When the writ was served on Guiteau he simply responded, "that's all right." Counsel says Scoville told him that the idea of helping her brother has taken possession of his wife like an insane delusion. John W. Guiteau says "If Scoville crowds me to the wall I shall show him up in his proper light. I do not know where Mrs. Scoville is, but I do know she is a terribly wronged woman, and he is a confounded fraud without parallel. His wife come on here to talk over family difficulties with me and I almost persuaded her to return to her husband. She is afraid of him and when he came to the hotel she slipped out of the door and ran away. He wants to take his little girl away from her and lock her up in an asylum, when the woman is perfectly sane. She did not deliver a lecture on Sunday as she feared her husband would carry off her child while she was speaking. I took her to a friend's house. I have been informed that she left there and I do not know where she is. I told Scoville that I did not know where his wife is, and if I did I would not tell him. The man is crazy himself." Guiteau further says that Scoville pounded on the door of the former's room at the Hotel from 5 a. m. till 7. 30 p. m., asking to be informed where his wife was, when the door was finally opened Scoville searched every part of room for the missing woman. Guiteau then sent for a detective who took Scoville away. Guiteau declares "I am not detaining or restraining his wife. He has declared his intention of breaking down the three. Guiteau has threatened to disgrace me and drive me out of New York, and I defy him to do it."

"Not Guilty."

BARRIE, May 6.—In the Innisfil murder case to-day the jury retired, and after an absence of little over on hour, returned stating that they could not agree, and making the rather novel suggestion that the prisoner be held until next Assizes and further evidence collected. His Lordship sent them back unceremoniously, and after half an hour's further consideration they returned with a verdict of "Not Guilty." The prisoner was immediately discharged. Mr. Colin Macdougall is deserving of praise for the fair manner in which as prosecutor he presented the case for the Crown, as also is Mr. Murray, the Government detective, for following up as he did such a slender clue.

THE CONTENTED MAN,
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

Pleasing Presentation.

Among the many hundreds of commercial travellers who visit our town during the course of a year, none are probably better known or liked than Mr. H. A. Galbraith, who represents the extensive firm of Messrs. McKinnon, Proctor & Co. of Toronto. He is exceedingly popular with his brother drummers and is one of the directors of the Commercial Travellers' Association, an organization that has a very large membership. Mr. J. E. McIntyre the genial host of the Oriental, has on different occasions received favours at the hands of Mr. Galbraith, particularly in naming the house, the name being suggested and the house christened by him. To show his appreciation, Mr. McIntyre, on Tuesday evening, invited Mr. Galbraith up to one of the parlors, where were assembled a number of travellers, attaches of the house, and a few friends. After some recitations, songs and music by those present, Mr. McIntyre stepped to the front, and after stating that he held Mr. Galbraith in great respect and regard, he thanked him for the many favors he had received at his hands and concluded by placing on his finger a magnificent diamond ring. Mr. Galbraith, who was taken entirely by surprise, expressed his gratitude for the handsome present, but expressed the opinion that in eulogizing the house he was performing but his duty. He had always found Mr. McIntyre a genial and estimable host and his house one of the best conducted on the road. He was a director of the Association, and when he extolled the merits of the Oriental and its host, he simply re-echoed the sentiments of all "the men on the road." He was extremely gratified for the gift and in years to come he would regard the ring with pleasure. No man could do more for his guests than Mr. McIntyre did and the travellers all knew it and would stand by and support him. He again expressed his heartfelt thanks and resumed his seat. Mr. P. M. Goff, Hamilton, a member of the Montreal Association also paid a high tribute to Mr. McIntyre and the Oriental and said that none of the guests could speak either of the hotel or the man except in terms of praise. Songs etc., followed for some time when the company broke up, much pleased with the pleasant time passed.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

Some Important Clues Found, and Arrests Made—The Police Just as Much in the Dark as Ever—The Excitement as Great as on Sunday—Funerals of the Victims.

AN IMPORTANT LINK.

DUBLIN, May 9.—Another important link in the evidence regarding the assassins' flight is supplied to the police by a carman who was washing his vehicle in the village of Chapelizod when a strange car dashed past, almost knocking him down. He remonstrated with the driver and men on the car, and took note of the horse and vehicle, which he is positive he can identify. The car proceeded up the Inchicore road. When within a quarter of a mile of the village of Inchicore it collided with a bread cart, the driver of which now comes forward with a statement which the police regard as the most important yet furnished. He is certain that he can identify even the harness of the horse, of which he took particular notice. Twelve coastguardsmen have been engaged this afternoon in dragging the river Liffey from the village of Chapelizod along the whole reach which skirts the public road. This precaution has been taken more to satisfy public opinion than in the hope of finding any trace of the assassins, who, the police are now satisfied, proceeded through the village of Chapelizod to Inchicore, thence on the Naas road in the direction of Dolphin's barn, beyond the southern suburbs of Dublin.

A GOVERNMENT REWARD.

DUBLIN, May 9.—No reward was offered in the Dublin Gazette to-night, which was a positive proof that the authorities were hopeful that the clue in their hands might lead to satisfactory results. But the Lord Lieutenant has just issued a proclamation offering a reward of £10,000 for such information as shall lead to the conviction of the assassins, £1,000 being offered for such private information as shall lead to the same result, and a free pardon to any accomplice not actually engaged in the perpetration of the crime who may give similar information, together with a special protection in any part of Her Majesty's dominions.

ANOTHER ARREST.

DUBLIN, May 9.—An important arrest has just been made at Tuam of the man believed to be the carman who drove the assassins. He cannot account for himself. He gave his name as Cloonan. The man closely resembles the description circulated by the police. Orders are issued for the arrest of all strangers and tramps who are unable to account for their movements. The police are hopeful of capturing the assassins. The officers have received evidence enabling them to indentify the assassins. It is also said the car in which the letter escaped has been traced to Leixlip, ten miles north-west of Dublin, where the men alighted to procure liquor.

THE MAYNOOTH PRISONER.

DUBLIN, May 9.—Chas. Moore, arrested at Maynooth, has been brought to Dublin. The evidence against him is weak.

THE NEW SECRETARY.

LONDON, May 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette confirms the report that Mr. George Otto Trevelyan has been appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland. A special policeman has been placed before Mr. Trevelyan's residence.

THE DUBLIN NEWSPAPERS,

DUBLIN, May 9.—All the newspapers appear in mourning.

THE VICTIMS' WOUNDS.

DUBLIN, May 9.—At the inquest yesterday the evidence given went to show the Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke were apparently stabbed simultaneously before and behind with long bowie knives. The wounds all appeared to have been inflicted by similar weapons.

MESSAGES OF SYMPATHY.

LONDON, May 9.—Mr. Gladstone announces the receipt of a flood of communication from every part of the kingdom expressive of horror and indignation at the assassinations. He says it is only just to state that none are more remarkable for fervour and sincerity than a large number from all parts of Irelard. He wishes to express his sense of the genuine feeling shown by the communcations, and his personal thanks for the sympathy manifested.

LANSDOWNE'S AMENDMENT.

LONDON, May 9.—In the House of Lords this evening the Marquis of Lansdowne announced that in consequence of the Ministerial statements relative to the impending measure for the protection of life and property in Ireland he had dropped his motion against the Irish policy of the Government. He wishes to impress upon the Government earnestly the necessity of not yielding to popular demands without the adoption of compensating measures for strengthening the law.

ATTACKING THE PARNELLITES.

LONDON, May 9.—The Times continues energetically to attack the Parnellite members of Parliament. It says:—"It is morally impossible to enter into an understanding with those who denounce outrage for the first time when they feel it cripples their positions. Though they profess to negotiate in the House of Commons for the bloodthirsty element of the Irish people, they are only powerful to excite disaffection. The cannot diminish the malignance of a whole class who wallow in blood like beasts of prey.

LIBERATION OF SUSPECTS.

DUBLIN, May 9.—Cloonan, supposed to be the carman who drove the assassins, has been remanded. The crowd hooted Moore on his arrival in Dublin. Moore was arraigned, but the police offered no evidence, and his account of his movements being considered satisfactory, he was discharged. The Limerick prisoner and Bailey and Orman were also discharged. The police still think they have a clue. An Irishman from America has been arrested at Castle Bellingham, and two other prisoners are under remand at Monahan.

FUNERAL OF MR. BURKE.

DUBLIN, May 9.—Mr. Burke's remains were buried at Glasnevin cemetery to-day. Crowds lined the streets along the route of the funeral; nearly all the shops were closed, and mourning was worn by many people.

MORE ABOUT THE MURDERS.

DUBLIN, May 9.—The following additional information regarding the assassinations has come to light. Two bicyclist fitters in the employ of the railway company passed the spot where the murders were committed. They saw the assassins strike the victims, and heard Lord Cavendish cry, "Ah, you villain," to his assailant, who stabbed him again. Lord Frederick fell against the bicycle of one of the fitters who was coming to his assistance, but the murderers, with their bloody knives, made towards him, and both bicyclists made away as fast as they could. They saw a car on the road awaiting the murderers, but the driver's back was turned. They saw a man stab Lord Cavendish in the back as he lay on the ground.

MR. BURKE'S SUCCESSOR.

LONDON, May 9.—Mr. Hamilton, permanent secretary to the Admiralty, has sailed for Ireland to take Mr. Burke's place for six months.

LORD CAVENDISH'S FUNERAL.

LONDON, May 9.—The remains of Lord Cavendish arrived at Chasworth to-day and have been laid out for public view in the chapel. Only one scar is visible across the nose. The Queen has sent a wreath for the coffin, and a letter of condolence, addressed to Lady Cavendish, accompanies the wreath. The interment takes place at Edenoor on Thursday afternoon. Business in the surrounding districs will be suspended during the whole day. It is expected that a deputation of the Duke of Devonshire's tenantry from Cork will participate in the procession. The Members of the Cabinet will act as pall-bearers.

AN ARREST IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 9.—A man has been arrested at Milford Haven whose appearance corresponds to the description of one of the murderers. It is surmised that he crossed over by a steam mackerel boat. He refuses to give an account of himself.

THE NEW SECRETARY.

DUBLIN, May 9.—The appointment of Mr. Trevelyan is favourably received by the Irish party. Mr. Trevelyan holds advanced opinions, and it is believed he sympathizes with the popular party in Irland.

CHIEF SECRETARYSHIP.

LONDON, May 8.—The Press Association announces that Mr. Forster has neither accepted nor been offered the Chief Secretaryship of Ireland. Sir Charles Dilke is mentioned among others as possible successor to Lord F. Cavendish. No definite decission is expected until after the funeral. The Standard says Sir Charles Dilke has declined the Chief Secretaryship for Ireland because the offer was not accompanied by a promise of a seat in the Cabinet.

THE NEW REPRESSION BILL.

LONDNO, May 8.—The bill which will be introduced for the prevention of crime in Ireland will include clauses dealing with secret societies, and providing for the trial of agrarian offences by special tribunals. It is probable that in cases of outrage a heavy fine in the shape of compensation will be imposed on the district in which the crime had been committed. It is expected that if the bill does not interfere with personal liberty and the right of public meeting, the Irish members will not offer serious opposition.

IN IRELAND.

LONDON, May 9.—The Times says, if it were true that the murder of Cavendish and Burke was done by American Irishmen, the Irish must not forget that Parnell has boasted of consolidating an alliance between the Irish in America and those at home. We are unable to accept the plea that the men who pursued the Land Leaguers' course are divested of all responsibility for the crime of which they deny all knowledge. Anna Parnell says she doubts if the Government's policy is correct when families in Clare whom Forster turned out are living in hovels and six hundred people in one county alone are liable to death by cold, it being illegal to help them. She remarks that if any persons are surprised that the assassin's arm is not idle they must not forget there is such a thing as human nature among Irishmen. O'Donnell, a member of Parliament for Dundorgan, Vice-President, and Hon. Secretary of the Irish Home Rule Confederation of Great Britain says, the most moderate vigilance would have absolutely prevented the tragedy at Dublin. The Irish police have once more proved themselves utterly unequal to prevent or repress crime. O'Donnell warns the authorities to work with redoubled zeal.

THE LEAGUE TREASURER.

PARIS, May 10.—Egan the treasurer of the Land League is reported saying that he could see no necessity for the League repudiating assassinations as no one in his senses would charge it with them. They will be a great blow to the League. Egan thinks that the murders are the work of individual fanacties and cannot be traced to any political organization. He says that the League will continue the agitation openly and will never be satisfied until independence in some form is obtained. The number of outrages would be diminshed by persistance in a conciliatory policy. Egan says he has every reason to believe that he is still in accord with Parnell, Dillon and Davitt.

DAYTON, N. J., May 10.—Last evening Mr. Baker fired five time at Lawyer Sheneck, whom he suspected of enticing his daughter from her home. She has been missing for a week. Sheneck was wounded in three places but not fatally. There is no evidence that he misled the young lady.

THE GREENBACKERS.

BELFAST, Me., May 10.—The Age, the leading greenback paper in Maine, urges the Greenback party to unite with the Democratic party. The Age shows that the Greenback vote has fallen off seventy since 1878.

CLAPTRAP RESOLUTIONS.

We learn from the Globe that at the abortive "mass" meeting of the Reformers of the West Riding, the two following resolutions were carried.

The first reads as follows:—

"That this convention regard with the utmost indignation the persistent attitude of hostility to the Province shown by the Dominion Government in yielding to the pressure of Quebec dictation and domination, and, in obedience to these behests, refusing to ratify the boundary award, by which refusal this Province is deprived and defrauded of a vast area of revenue-producing territory, rich in timber and minerals; by interfering with the Local Legislature of this Province and nullifying the same by an arbitrary exercise of the veto power; by the acme of political iniquity and insult in the proposed passage of the Bill for the redistribution of seats, which seems to be an infamous scheme for their retaining by their own legislation, and giving themselves a perpetual lease thereof; and that we hereby express our warmest reprobation of these unjust discriminations against Ontario, and also our resentment of the last insult, pledging ourselves to remember them by a united front at the polls."

The assertion of the pressure of Quebec dictation and domination is mere claptrap, for they know well that so far from the refusal to ratify the boundary award being at their behest and defrauding this Province of territory, the leader of their Quebec wing, Mr. Laurier, advocated the ratification on the ground that a legal finding would probably give Ontario more territory than the unfair award did. The exercise of the veto power was not arbitrary, but was to prevent the arbitrary spoliation by Mr. Mowat of a political opponent. The Redistribution of Seats Bill can in no sense be called a discrimination against Ontario, for it is simply a measure to provide for the increased representation which the census shows to be our due, and at the same time to equalize the population of the constituencies, thus carrying out a cherished idea of the Reform party, even though in many cases the change is prejudical to Conservative interests.

The other resolution, which is equally hollow runs as follows:—

"That this convention, with the greatest pleasure takes this opportunity of placing on record an expression of its entire confidence in the personal and political integrity and masterly ability of the leader of Her Majesty's loyal Opposition, Hon. Edward Blake, of heartily subscribing to his political platform, founded as it is on the time-honoured principles of true Reform, and of pledging ourselves to use all our efforts and influence to place at the head of the Government of Canada a statesman who through long years of active political life has never stained his name by a corrupt act nor given his supporters cause to regret the confidence reposed in him; that we also reiterate our confidence in Hon. Mr. Mowat and his colleagues in the Government of Ontario, and in the name of West Peterborough thank him and them for the assiduous zeal and ability with which they have stood up for the rights and interests of Ontario, and the fidelity with which they have discharged the duties of lofty trust reposed in them."

No one disputes Mr. Blake's great ability, but unfortunately legal ability does not always coexist with practical statesmanship. And what is the Hon. Edward Blake's political platform? We know that one plank in it used to be "the representation of minorities," and we believe that in this respect he will carry out his old views, and still represent a minority. As to the rest of his platform, it is about time that he should enlighten the country, which is in the dark on this subject.

It is certainly the height of impudence to thank Mr. Mowat and his colleagues for their zeal in standing up for the rights and interests of Ontario when for the sake of making political capital they have betrayed those interests which were intrusted to them, declining to join in a just settlement of the boundary question, and endeavouring to yield up territory to which they themselves admit we have a rightful claim.

The resolutions are worthy of such a failure as this "mass" meeting proved to be. The Reform leaders of the West Riding must find a better cry than any of these before they can hope to stir up their dispirited followers. It is not with such flagrant absurdities that they can persuade the electors that they are not better off under the present capable administration than under their incompetent predecessors.

By the by we find in these resolutions no reference to the detested National Policy. Is not opposition to it a portion of Mr. Blake's platform? If so why did he fulminate against it in the Maritime Provinces, advising his hearers to trade with the United States rather than with us? Why do his chief colleagues, Sir R. Cartwright, Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Mills, Mr. Burpee and others fill page upon page of Hansard with their denunciations of it. Why do their chief organ the Globe and its satellites rage against it, and invent evidence to discredit it? The total obsence of any mention of the N. P. in these resolutions is a tacit, but therefore only more striking admission that it is useless to conjure with the present tariff as a bug bear—that the people of Peterborough are too well satisfied with the prosperity caused by a practical and patriotic commercial policy, for any attack upon it to be of service in enlisting their sympathies. With such testimony to the success of the present tariff and to the prosperity which it has fostered. it is really hardly necessary for us to call upon those who are reaping the beuefits of it to support those who with wise statesmanship conceived it and carried it out so successfully to the great gain of the whole Dominion. The people of Peterborough know when they are well off and have no desire for a change.

DIRTY WORK.

The Globe interviewer is still at his dirty work of inventing evidence to damage the industries of the country. The Guelph Herald has been requested to publish the following letter:—

To the Editor of the Toronto Globe.

DEAR SIR,—In your commissioner's report of the N. P. in Guelph to-day there are a few inaccuracies which I would like to correct, under the head "Sewing Machines, etc." I gave no information whatever; your reporter saw our Mr. Anderson (formerly book-keeper for Mr. Wilkie). No doubt his information was gleaned from him, at least I have no means of knowing what wages were in 1878, &c. In your last paragraph, under the head "Duties on Coal," I am made to say—re Nova Scotia coal—that it was, I think, a political shipment intended for effect. I DID NOT SAY SO. I am sorry my statement of figures should be used against Mr. James Goldie; more so from the fact that I am indebted to Mr. Thos. Goldie for the address of the firms in Nova Scotia supplying coal. Please publish this in your next issue and oblige,

Yours truly,

D. McCRAE,

SPORTING NEWS.

HANLAN AND SANDWICHES—THE CHAMPION TAKING AN OUTING.

LONDON, April 22.—Things are rather dull here this week, though we got a little excitement out of the Epsom City and Suburban meeting. There is something very like retaliation upon the United States for their equine victories of last season, in the fact of a "cast-off" from Mr. Lorillard's stable winning the important City and Suburban Stakes for an English nobleman, Passaic was not regarded as good enough at all to keep by Jacob Pincus, the trainer. That acute gentleman has been particularly careful not to part with a single horse which he deemed possessing any merit at all: but he let Passaic go as absolutely worthless, and now Lord Rossmore, by the aid of the horse, has won $125,000 in a single coup. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth amongst the American contingent anent this affair, for Passaic won in gallant style, and it must be owned that he was opposed by some very meritorious performers. I encountered Mr. David Walker with a select squadron of Canadians upon Epsom Downs, and I believe they all pinned their faith to Wallenstein, who was ridden by Fred. Archer, the wonder. Well, I came across Hanlan, comfortably seated in an open barouche, and flanked by about half a hundred weight of beef sandwiches. The champion did not look particularly happy. He pensively observed that racing was good enough in its way—exciting and all that kind of thing, but he would just as soon be taking a practice spin from Putney to Mortlake or Barnes. He is in the prime of condition, and could very well afford to take half a day's recreation. It may interest you to know that his chief supporter, Mr. W. J. Innes, lost nearly $5,000 over the City and Suburban. Trickett was reported to have resolved to seize the opporitunity of Hanlan's absence for the purpose of rowing a trial. Still there were emissaries about, and I believe he finally abandoned his intentions. Laycock, with Pearce, are expected this afternoon. There is nothing more to say at present, as the championship race will probably have been rowed ere this reaches you.

COLONIAL OARSMEN.

Says an English correspondent:—Directly Laycock heard that Trickett had been matched against Hanlan he determined to make an effort to get to the Mother Country, in order to be at the side of his "old pal." Pearce also threw in his lot with Laycock, and the pair took third-class passages, but, says a Melbourne correspondent, I believe some friends subscribed the necessary amount to place both men in better quarters. Laycock pays all his own expences, and no doubt will be prepared to give Mr. Innis his revenge if he wishes to match Largan or any of his Thames men against him; in fact, I daresay Pearce will be quite willing to measure blades with men of his class. It is hoped here that the British public will provide a big stake for the British colonials—Hanlan, Laycock, Ross, Trickett, and Pearce—to have a cut in for; and it Boyd and other Englishmen like to try their hands, so much the better. The Yankees have talked a lot about their men, but I don't suppose any of them will put in an appearance to tackle the Colonials.

SPLASHES.

So great were Hanlan's opportunities to make money by selling out either of the last two races (in England) with Boyd and Trickett that even some of the Toronto admirers were afraid he might be tempted. The odds were heavy in his favor, and if he had been dishonest he might have made arrangements for taking them up through third parties, and so won a fortune. The pretence of feeling sick, the device of breaking an oar, an upset in rough water, any of these things whuld have lost the race and yet left him free from suspicion. But he rowed his best with his usual dogged honesty, and contented himself with the stakes.—Detroit Free Press.

SYDNEY SMITH being ill, his physician advised him to "take a walk upon an empty stomach.' "Upon whose"? asked Sydney. Still better steps would be the purchase of Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," which are especially valuable to those who are obliged to live sedentary lives or are afflicted with any chronic disease of the stomach or bowels. THREE MEN DROWNED.

Distressing Calamity—A Row-boat Capsized with its Occupants.

A terrible drowning accident, by which three men lost their lives, occurred a short distance out from and above the lighthouse at the mouth of the Oswegatchie river on Thursday. The men were Charles Inman, better known as "White Cloud," formerly of Malone, Henry Boyce, of Canton, and Smith of Gouverneur. Chas Davis of Ogdensburg was in the party, but was saved by the steamer "Florence," after having been in the water about one hour and a half. The party left Ogdensburg early in the evening in a row-boat for Prescott, where they remained till about 9 o'clock. At that hour they started on the return trip, and had reached the point where the accident occurred when the man who was rowing complained that he was compelled to do all the rowing. One of the others offered to take the oars, and as they stood up to change places the boat was capsized and all were thrown into the water. Davis, the survivor, says that three of the men got hold of the boat all at one end; the other sank at once. He moved around to the other end of the boat and commenced shouting vigorously. The water was very rough, and in a short time a wave washed "White Cloud" off the bottom of the boat and he sank out of sight. Davis told the other man still clinging to the boat to halloo and did so himself. He says the man never spoke, and soon after was washed off and disappeared. After Davis was in the water about an hour and a half, as he estimates it, a steam yacht came and picked him up. He immediately swooned and remembers nothing more till he came to his senses at his own home opposite the Windsor House, and found his wife doing her best to resuscitate him. 'White Cloud' Inman leaves a wife who lives on Montgomery street, in Ogdensburg. Boyce has a sister living in the same neighborhood. But little is known of Smith, the Gouverneur man. Davis says all the men were the worse of liquor but himself, and Mr. Owen, who assisted in the rescue, thinks his statement is correct, as the shouts for help were made by the man saved.

EARLY CLOSING

WHILE I AM FULLY IN ACCORD with the spirit of the Early Closing Movement, which was started about a week ago, I find it impossible to comply with it any longer. I have already found many of my customers drop in about 7 o'clock, who are unable to do their shopping at any other hour of the day. Having no Clerks to keep in after 7 o'clock, and being left alone to attend to all calls after regular working hours, I find it impossible to close at the hour required. I have therefore decided to keep open until my former usual hour, on and after this date.

Respectfully,

FRESH FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Sundry Seasonable Suggestions for the Current Month's Work.

ABOUT REPAIRING BUILDINGS.

The barns are usually empty at this season, and now is the best time to make any necessary repairs. If experience has shown the stables to be inconvenient, let the improvements be made before the barns are again filled. There may be some holes in the roof, and a little patching may save ten times its cost, if done in season; in short, leaks of every kind about the farm building should be promptly stopped. Look into the granary for mouse holes, through which the profits of a whole field may pass. They may be closed with a strip of tin. The work of half a day in looking for and closing these places, may be the most profitable of any done on the farm. The roofs, the floors, the sides, the doors, and all other parts of the barns, should now be put in good order, and another coat of paint be applied if the last one is beginning to wear through. A stitch in time will save more than nine in making such repairs.

CARE OF PASTURES.

A good permanent pasture, handy to the barn-yard, is very convenient, almost a necessity, on every well regulated farm. Such a field needs to be well fertilized and cared for, that it may give the best returns in an abundant supply of green food, for farm stock. A top-dressing of fine well-rotted manure in winter is excellent, but if not done, a dressing of 50 to 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre may be applied. It is best to sow this just before a shower, that the rain may carry this very soluable food to the roots of the plants. After supplying the necessary fertilizers, it is important not to overstock the pasture. Let the adjustment between the number of animals and the capacity of the field by such, that there may be good feeding throughout the whole season. If such a pasture has a natural spring, its value is much increased. The next to this is a well provided with a wind mill, for raising an abundant supply of water.

HAYING MACHINERY.

The modern progressive farmer has many labor-saving machines within his reach to aid him in making hay. The scythe is servicable in cutting the grass in fence corners and around trees, but further than this it does best when hanging out of harm's way in the barn. A rough field is now seldom a good excuse for not using the horse mower. Ground too rough for this implement, should be put in proper condition, or be left as a pasture. A "tedder" is a valuable aid, as it facilitates drying, and therefore the quicker housing of hay, thus escaping storms that ruin much hay made in the old, slow way. All of these machines, from the mower to the horse fork, should be in good trim for work before the time for using them. Every bolt, screw, hinge, and pulley, ought to examined now and put into place. This is the proper work for the rainy days, before the grass is ready to cut. See to those little things—making such purchases as may be necessary, thus keeping ahead of the work.

TREATMENT OF BONES.

Bones accumulate on every farm, and a hunt for them will bring out many more than one would expect to find. When properly treated, they furnish very valuable food for growing plants. Whole bones, as they are thrown out from the kitchen, are so slowly decomposed, that they are of little use, unless applied very largely. They need to be broken up or made fine in some way that the large amount of phospheric acid, etc., contained in them may be available. It is not practicable for ordinary farmers to have bone mills, and the next best thing is to break them up somewhat with an axe or heavy hammer, and mix them with unleached ashes, keeping the heap moist enough so that the alkali will "eat" them and render the bones soft. The bones thus treated will crumble to fine pieces when dried, and are then ready to be spread upon the land. Every farmer should see that all bones are thus made into a valeable home-made-fertilizer.

HOW THE MONEY GOES.

The Queen's Household Expenses—Leakages Which ought to be Stopped.

A recent article in Chambers' Journal gives information which it may be safely asserted was not known before by one per cent of her Majesty's subjects as to the details of expenditure in her household, and will eventually, probably, do more to ultimately reduce the cost of royal maintenance in time to come than a hundred diatribes thereanent of radical members of Parliament; and chiefly for this reason, that thousands of loyal persons will feel very indignant at the enormous salaries paid for positions in which no sort of intellectual power is called into play, and which are of the most menial character. The head cook's $3,500 a year may pass. He is presumably an artist, but four master cook's at $1,800 a year, board and lodging, and the privilege of taking four apprentices at premiums of from $750 to $1,000 each, seems pretty stiff. For selecting wines and superintending the cellar the enormous salary of $2,500 is given. The "gentlemen porters who draw good salaries" are only required to be on duty every other week. The staff, nine, of lamplighters, is retained as before the introduction of gas! The two chiefs of these functionaries have board and lodging allowance and $500 a year. The keeper of the privy purse gets $10,000 a year—the same as a permanent Under Secretary of State, whose work is more arduous—for writing cheques chiefly. The state band of music, which only appears on state occasions, costs nearly $10,000. This is independent of the private band. There are five pages of the back stairs who get $2,000 a year each, about as much as the pay of a Lieutenant-Colonel and what a clerk in a Government office gets after some twelve years' service and a competitive examination. Six pages of the presence, with salaries of $900 a year, and of course, board and lodging, attend on the lords, ladies and maids of honor at breakfast and luncheon; but, lest this labor should prove too exhaustive, they have three pages' men to wait on them. While these pages have $2,000 a year, a similar salary with an addition of a fee on hearing a play, but without board and lodging, is given to the examiner of plays. Although there is no tennis court the master of the tennis court gets $650, and a "burgomaster," an officer whose duties are not attempted to be explained, and two watermen, $1,000 a year each.

IN THE SPRING of the year almost every one requires a good Blood Purifier, more especially in the month of May. We would earnestly advise our readers to try Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. A few doses will soon convince you that it is the best remedy known for affections of the stomach, Bowels, Liver and Kidneys. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

"I severely sprained my ankle while searching for geological specimens, and suffered severly until I tried St. Jacobs Oil. It cured me, leaving me in a mood to extol the Great German Remedy."

"AH, dear!" sighed Miss Fitzroy, as she yawned wearily, "there isn't anything to occupy one's mind now. I've made toilet cushions and tidies, and embroidered slippers, and painted majolica jugs, until I am weary of life. I believe I'll go down into the kitchen and watch Janet make bread. I suppose I ought to know how many pints of yeast it takes to a loaf." And she penetrated to the business part of the house only to find out that bread was raised from the baker's cart.

The Cavendish Family.

The founder of this great English noble family seems to have been Sir John Cavendish, Lord Chief Justice in the reign of Edward III. and of Richard II. His son, an esquire in the suite of the last named King, is said to have aided Sir William Walworth, Lord Mayor of London to kill Wat Tyler; and the rioters at Bury St. Edmund's killed the Chief Justice in revenge. Five generations later, two brothers Cavendish were employed by Cardinal Wolsey at the Court of Henry VIII. Sir William Cavendish rendered much service to the King's Government in the business of confiscating the property of the monasteries. He continued to hold the office of treasurer to the chamber in the reigns of Edward VI. and Queen Mary: and large estates were given to him, which were augmented by his marriage with the heiress of Hardwick, in Derbyshire. His son, William, the builder of Chatsworth, was raised to the Peerage as Baron Cavendish, in 1605, and Earl of Devonshire, 1618; while a younger son, Charles married the Baroness Ogle, and gave birth to "the Loyal Duke of Newcastle." The fourth Earl of Devonshire, in 1684, was created Marquis Hartington and Duke of Devonshire, being one of the powerful Whig chiefs of the revolution in 1688, and associated with the Government of King William III. The house of Cavendish has steadily adhered to the Whig party since that great initial epoch of modern political history. The third Duke of Devonshire was Lord-Lieutenand of Ireland from 1737 to 1744. From one of his grandsons sprang a younger branch of the Cavendish family, in whose favor the Earldom of Burlington was revived about fifty years ago. The sixth Duke of Devonshire William Spencer Cavendish, K.G., who is well remembered as the patron of horticulture, and of the arts and sciences in general, died unmarried in January, 1858, when his cousin, William Earl of Burlington, succeeded as seventh Duke of Devonshire.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

P. B. C.

Is it not time this fine weather that the members of the Peterborough Boating Club should be practicing if they wish to maintain their reputation? We understand that the four oared boats are in order.

Canadian Enterprise abroad.

Within the past few days the publishing firm of W. J. Gage & Co. have received an order from Bombay for a consignment of the admirable Readers which they published recently for use in Canadian Schools.

Lost his Watch.

On Sunday afternoon a young man who was doing some acrobatic business on Dickson's dam, lost his watch, which slipped out of his pocket and went over the dam and out of sight. He will confine his exhibitions of agility to dry land in the future. The watch was a valuable silver one.

Run Over.

A very small child was run over by a furious team on Hunter Street, near Bethune, on Tuesday. The horses were frightened by an approaching train and ran over the child, who was playing on the side of the street. Happily the infant was not seriously injured, a slight cut being the only mark noticeable.

Trent Valley Navigation.

We have just received an official copy of the supplementary estimates for the year ending June 1883. The items in regard to the navigation of these waters are as follows:—

Trent River navigation, for the construction of locks and the improvement of navigation between Lakefield and Balsam Lake	$290,000
Survey of Trent Valley navigation	8,000

River Trent and Newcastle District Works, additional amount required for repairs	3,250
Total	$302,250

The Assizes.

The Assizes closed on Tuesday, all the business having been disposed of. The only jury case was one from Bowmanville, that of Joseph R. Errington v. Peter Coleman, which was an action brought against a bailiff to recover the value of some barley wrongly seized by the latter in a suit against one James Ferris. Under the ruling of the Judge the matter was narrowed itself down to the value of 28 bushels of tailing, as the bulk of the barley had been placed at the plaintiff's disposal. The jury brought in a verdict that the barley was worth 90 cents per bushel, and the chaff or tailing worth $10. Decision on the other points was reserved. The case of Toole vs. Bradburn, an action on account was settled by defendant paying $525. The third and last case that of Jamieson vs. Shields, from the country, regarding a mortgage was also settled satisfactorily, and the court adjourned.

Baird's Minstrels.

Baird's Famous Minstrel Troupe arrived on the noon train to-day, and are quartered at the Caisse House. The street parade was certainly one of the best ever seen here, and the band was far above the average; the zouaves led by Major Gorman, were indeed a feature of the procession and the masterly and artistic manner in which they went through difficult evolutions all along the line of march, was the subject of much favourable comment. Judging by the notices in our exchanges, the troupe is first class in every respect, a thing to be anticipated from a man of Mr. Baird's standing in the profession. The programme is one of rare excellence in the Minstrel line, and the Company is said to embrace some of the foremost artists in the profession. We fully expect to see the hall crowded in every part. They play this evening only. In reference to this Company one of our leading exchanges says:—

Baird's Minstrels had the largest house of the season Friday night. We have had all the Minstrels, but the last was the best. There were thirty-five performers, and they gave the best performance ever given on the Opera House boards. Off the stage the members of the company are perfect gentlemen, and a finer looking set of fellows never paraded our streets.

POLICE COURT.

THE FIRST "LINKER."

WEDNESDAY May 10.—Michael McGuire a "missing Link" navvy, was charged by Chief Johnson with being drunk on the street. Prisoner admitted the charge and thought it was no great crime. He was no "vag" but was on the opposite side and he could prove it. Fine $1 or 10 days in goal with hard labor.

NUMBER TWO.

Marshall Sager, a ditto was charged with the same offence. Prisoner acknowledged that he took a few "snifters" and that he "felt his whiskey." Fine $1 or 10 days in goal with hard labor.

A FIRST CLASS VAG.

MARSHALL SAGER was charged with vagrancy and begging.

PRISONER said he was not inside of any door, but on the street.

MR. JNO. MCCLELLAND, sworn—He saw prisoner demanding his breakfast this morning, at his residence. Prisoner said he was a poor man, without money and without work. He was talking to the servant. The girl refused him anything to eat. He ordered him away and he refused to go, so he informed the Chief of Police and had him arrested.

Fine $2 or 15 days in Gaol.

BEGGAR AND VAG.

MICHAEL MCGUIRE was charged with a similar offence.

He pleaded not guilty.

MR. MCCLELLAND, said that the prisoner was in company with the other prisoner. This man made the demand and was very abusive.

Fine $10 or two months in gaol.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

WILLIAM STORMS was charged with assault with intent to maim Christopher Fagin, near Lakefield, on Monday last.

MR. J. HENRY appeared for the prisoner who pleaded not guilty.

The MAGISTRATE said he could not dispose of the case as it did not occur in town. He could only take the evidence for the prosecution and if it was sufficient, commit the prisoner for trial.

JAMES CADDIGAN, sworn—He saw Storms and Fagin on Monday, near Lakefield. The men were working on the drive. The two had some words and prisoner asked the other for his "time." Fagin is Foreman. Fagin said something to prisoner, who ran at him, he tripped up on a rope, got down on him and bit his lip off. One of the men interfered and separated the two who were fighting. Witness then left.

To MR. HENRY,—He was about ten feet away. He did not see Fagin strike the Prisoner. He did not notice whether Storms was marked at the time or not. He did not see Fagin strike at all. He saw prisoner bite Fagin's lip off. There were no blows struck before the row that he saw. He did not hear Fagin use any abusive language.

CHRISTOPHER FAGIN,—Sworn—He is a Foreman on the river. Storms was working for him and brought a bottle of whiskey in the crib. Prisoner said the witness was angry, which he denied. Prisoner asked for his time and witness told him he would give it to him when he was ready. Prisoner then walked up to him caught hold of him and he tripped over a rope. Prisoner jumped on him and bit his lower lip off and also bit one of his thumbs. Witness then struck at prisoner and he had to bite one of his fingers in self defence. One of the men interfered and separated them and put a stop to the fight.

To MR. HENRY,—The prisoner was almost stupefied and used bad language. Witness did not use any insulting language. Prisoner bit him like a dog. He had to bite in self defence. His thumb is nearly off. Prisoner had hold of the thumb when McDonald interfered. As soon as witness bit prisoner, he cried "enough." He did not strike prisoner until he was down. Prisoner, when he commenced the attack, was "as pale as a sheet."

CHARLES MCDONALD—sworn.—He did not see the beginning of the fight, he was inside of the crib and heard a scuffle. He went outside and saw Fagin fall. Fagin was in such a position that he could not release himself. Prisoner was lying on top of Fagin and their two faces were close together. He saw blood on their faces and thought something serious was going on. He caught the men and tried to separate them. He had to choke prisoner. He could see blood, but no wounds. He then caught Storms around the body and rolled him over after lifting him up. The two men had their arms around each others necks. He got between the two and held them at arms length. Both men had their thumbs in each others mouths. Storms cried "enough" and the two parted, Storms tried to get away but witness threw him down, and Fagin got up. Fagin was covered with blood. The biting must have been done when the men were first down. They came together again and exchanged blows. He got them apart and then for the first time noticed that Fagin was badly bitten.

To MR. HENRY.—The two men must have had holds when they fell. They were released when he threw Storms. Fagin could have kicked Storms on the head, but he did not see him do it.

The Magistrate thought that there was sufficient evidence to commit the prisoner for trial and he accordingly did so.

A CROSS CHARGE.

Christopher Fagin was charged with committing an assault on William Storms.

The defendant pleaded not guilty. The case was allowed to stand for the present.

A BAD CASE.

William Albert Jonathan Tighe alias Ross, aged about 14 years, who has the reputation of being a very hard case, was charged with assaulting his gradmother.

He pleaded guilty and was sent to gaol for one month.

A Suspicious Fire.

We are informed that on Monday night, fire was started in three places in the house on the market square belonging to Mr. E. Chamberlain, and occupied by Mr. James Johnson. The flames were extinguished before they had got much head-way. It looks suspiciously like incendiarism.

Building Operations.

Building operations are remarkably brisk at present, a large number of new dwellings in almost every quarter of the town being in course of erection. The buildings are nearly all of the better class, very few flimsy affairs being noticeable. House hunters are to be met with every day, but any house that is not occupied now is hardly worth living in.

Mantles made to order at Turnbull & Gray's. A Perfect Fit and First-Class Work guaranteed.

A $100 Smash.

On Saturday evening some men were ordered to remove a large packing case, that stood in the Arcade, in which plate glass had been brought from Scotland. The man who had charge told the workmen that the box was empty, and in consequence they were rather careless in handling it. They let it fall on the cart and heard something smash. They then opened the case and found a pulverized plate of glass, once worth $100. They were mad. Next time they handle an empty case full of glass, they will examine it more closely.

Brutal Fight.

A gentleman who has just returned from Young's Point informs us that a most brutal fight took place there on Monday. The contestants were two river-drivers, one of whom had his lower lip and a portion of his chin bitten off. The cannibal was taken into custody. The fight occurred just about the time that Judge Osler was congratulating the Grand Jury upon the fact that our large and populous county was almost entirely free from crime. It is to be hoped that the flesh eater will receive his just deserts.

Northumberland Rural Decanal Chapter.

The next meeting will be held at Grafton on Tuesday, the 9th of May. Divine services at eight o'clock p. m., on which occasion the Rev. F. W. Squiere will be the preacher. On the following morning there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at eight o'clock. Subject for discussion: Hebrews i., Greek text. Those members of the Chapter who propose attending the meeting are requested to write to Archdeacon Wilson to that effect, and to take surplice and stole. Vincent Clementi, B.A., Sec.-Treas., Peterborough.

Railway Notes.

An Ottawa despatch says that it is understood that the Credit Valley and Ontario and Quebec have practically consolidated their interests; that work on the latter has begun at Perth and is being prosecuted with vigor, the intention being that the line from Montreal through to Toronto shall be completed by the fall of next year, thus making an independent through route in connection with the American lines from Quebec to Chicago.

Mr. J. C. Bailey, Chief Engineer of the Toronto and Ottawa and Consulting Engineer of the Midland, is in town. He has been over the Missing Link Line and is pleased with the appearance of things.

A number of dump cars for the Link works have arrived and carpenters are busily engaged in manufacturing more on Aylmer street, north of Brock, so that we have a car factory, in miniature, in full blast.

The steam excavator has at last arrived at the scene of operation and will soon be at work. Another similar machine has arrived and will be taken from Omemee. We also understand that it is contemplated to purchase a third to work between the other two.

A Midland Railway Board meeting is in progress this afternoon. All the Canadian Directors are present.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. It will cure croup in a few minutes. A few bottles has often cured asthma. Colic has been cured by a teaspoonful dose. It cures with the utmost rapidity. It is really a wonderful medicine.

MEDICINES taken into the Stomach in concentrated form such as Pills and Powders, are most injurious. The great substitute for these nauseous litttle Calomel pills is Dr. Carson,s Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They cleanse the bowels stimulate the Liver and Kidneys, and cure all stomach disorders, such as Dyspepsia and Indigestion. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

THE CONTENTED MAN,

Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1882.

FAR FROM MERRY.

'It seems that we have given offence by being merry over the failure of the recent Reform Convention. Well we will admit that we were too unkind to display so little sympathy, for certainly there was no merriment perceptible in the faces of the scanty band as they quitted the scene of that terrible fiasco. Two futile attempts are made to mitigate the bad offect of this failure. We are told that "no nomination was made because there had been no definite decision come to before hand in the matter of a choice." This to use a slang expression is "too thin." Why, the meeting was advertised for the very purpose of making a nomination, the chairman on opening the meeting, and the first and principal speaker, Mr. Bertram, announced that the question to be considered was the selection of a candidate. The truth is that they could not proceed with the business for which they had met, because they were too few in number to nominate a candidate with any decency.

Then they compare this meeting with that at which the conservatives nominated Mr. Hilliard. The absurdity of this is evident, for the Reform Convention was called by advertisement and editorial as a "mass" meeting of the party, while the conservative meeting was one of delegates to transact the business for which they were appointed. But to give a show of reason to the comparison they have to descend to deliberate falsehood. The conservative meeting is said to have been "small, unrepresentative and divided." This is totally and wilfully false. So far from being small, it was larger, though only a meeting of delegates, than the "mass" meeting of Reformers. Instead of being unrepresentative, the different divisions were well represented by their chosen men. Far from being divided, the meeting was absolutely unanimous on the questions that came before it.

It was a business meeting and satistactorily performed the business for which it met. The Reform Convention was called as a mass meeting, and was a complete failure, not able to transact the business for which it was summoned, and utterly useless except to show that the "masses" will not respond to an invitation to oppose the present government.

THE IRISH DIFFICULTY

CAVENDISH AND BURKE

WHOLESALE ARRESTS OF PERSONS ON SUSPICION FOR THE MURDERS.

Nothing New of any Importance—Cavindish's Funeral—The Police and Dectectives on the Elert—Watching Limerick—Minor Matters Regarding the State.

CONTINUED ARRESTS.

DUBLIN, May 11.—The police continue making arrests all over the country, but these seem to be for the sake of appearances rather than otherwise. There is no clue to the murderers.

NOT MOURNING.

NEW YORK, May 11.—At the Land League meeting last night James Redpath said that he would not wear crape for Cavendish, or Burke.

THE LAND LEAGUE TREASURER.

DUBLIN, May 11.—In reference to the suggestion that the Land League should offer a reward of £20,000 for the conviction of the assassins, Mr. Egan, the treasurer of the Land League, telegraphed from Paris:—"Remembering as I do the innocent victims who in the history of our country have been handed over to the gallows by wretched informers in order to earn the coveted blood money, and the awful danger that in the present excited state of public feeling crime may be added to crime by the possible sacrifice of innocent men, I am determined that if one penny of the Land League funds were voted for such a purpose as that I would at once resign the Treasurership.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

LONDON, May 10.—The Standard says that if the Phœnix park victims were butchered with American knives, the murderers must have been paid with American gold, and if this be so, is there not a duty resting with the Executive of the United States, and a corresponding right invested in the British Government, to suppress those collecting incendary funds under the shelter of a foreign friendly flag?

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

DUBLIN, May 10.—The Chamber of Commerce held a very crowded meeting this afternoon. Mr. McGaw, in the course of his remarks, called upon both Catholic and Protestants alike to unite and put down the crime that was now raging like a pestilence through the land. To murder a man in a cottage was as great a crime as to murder Lord Cavendish. He said the traders and the men of business wanted peace and quiet to carry on business and develop the resources of the country. An address to the Lord-Lieutenant was adopted.

MANSION HOUSE MEETING.

DUBLIN, May 10.—Three thousand persons met at the Mansion house to-day. Mr. Pim in his address urged all Irishmen to try and assist to bring the murderers to justice. Amid hisses and interruption, Mr. Moyers, ex-Lord Mayor, said that the criminals could not possibly remain undiscovered unless they had the sympathy or assistance of others, and that no one could give the country credit for a desire to punish the murderers unless it was shown by its acts.

THE ARRESTS.

DUBLIN, May 10.—The arrests thus far include Cloonan, the supposed car-drive, taken at Tuam, and Harris, alias Price, taken at Tipperary.

AMONG THE PRISONERS.

DUBLIN, May 10.—It is reported that three detectives have been gaoled, ostensibly on suspicion of being the assassins, but really for the purpose of bringing them in contact with the prisoners to be arrested hereafter.

A STRANGE STORY.

DUBLIN, May 10.—A young Irishman has informed the Southport police that he was offered £100 in Dublin a few days ago to assist at the assassination of Lord Cavendish and Under-Secretary Burke, but refused the offer. He also says that he can place his hands on the assassins. The police have detained him, but have refused to give his name, merely stating that although they do not place much credence in his story, they intend taking him to Dublin to see if any part of it is true.

THE IRISH DEMANDS.

LONDON, May 10.—It is stated here that the Irish party in the House of Commons will ask the Government to carry on the Arrears' Bill clause by clause, with the new protective measure.

HOME RULE PLACARDS.

DUBLIN, May 10.—A number of placards were posted in this city during last night announcing the formation of the National Association of Ireland, the object of which is the restoration of Irish legislative independence, and calling a meeting for the 15th inst, of those who wish to be enrolled as members. The placards contained hostile references to the Dublin Castle officials and to the Government. It is not believed that these placards were posted by any of the regular organized Irish societies here, but it is thought they were put up by persons opposed to them, who seeing a favourable opportunity wished to bring them into contempt.

CAVENDISH'S FUNERAL.

LONDON, May 10.—Nearly five hundred members of Parliament will attend the funeral of Lord F. Cavendish.

A DOUBTFUL STORY.

DUBLIN, May 10.—One of the bicyclists says Lord F. Cavendish got up after he was knocked down. He saw one of the men brandishing a large butcher's knife. The story told by these men is not believed.

A PRISONER RELEASED.

DUALIN, May 10.—Heybourne, the American Irishman suspected of complicity in the assassination, has been released.

THE NEW REGIME.

DUBLIN, May 10.—Mr. Trevelyan's appointment is well received by every one except the Castle officials. In the public offices, especially in the Constabulary department, there will be a huge shaking up of the dry bones and a general remodelling all through. Lord Spencer was always popular, and cheers greet him whenever he appears in public. He was loudly cheered to-day as he drove home on coming from a Privy Council meeting in the Castle. He has issued strict orders to the police to act less on haphazard in arresting suspicious looking persons, and on examining the evidence against Hepburne, the American Irishman is custody, gave orders for his immediate release.

PARLIAMENTARY.

LONDON, May 10.—This afternoon Lord Richard Grosvenor, Joint Secretary to the Treasury, in the absence of Mr. Gladstone, moved that on rising to-night the House should adjourn until 9 o'clock to-morrow night, in order to allow the members to attend the funeral of Lord Frederick Cavendish. The motion was unanimously adopted.

THE IRISHWOMEN'S TRIBUTE.

LONDON, May 10.—The feeling of the London Irish towards the bereaved Lady Frederick Cavendish is thoroughly sympathetic. The Irish women of this city yesterday sent a magnificent wreath of flowers to be placed on the coffin of Lord Frederick Cavendish at the funeral to-morrow, and it is said a deputation from some of the Nationalist lodges will go down to participate in the performance of the last sad rites.

TIMELY WARNING.

DUBLIN, May 11.—It is stated that while Morris the Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas was walking in Phœnix Park on Saturday a rough looking man said "the chief and under secretaries have been murdered and you are the next man spotted."

ON SUSPICION.

DUBLIN, May 11.—Further arrests have been made in Drogheda, Longford and the County Meath, in connection with the murder of Cavendish and Burke. Three men have been arrested in County Meath for having what are supposed to be blood stains on their clothes.

DISCREDITED.

The police now discredit the statements of the man who asserted that he was offered a hundred pounds to assist in the murder.

THE SPRING ASSIZES.

The following were the cases tried at the Court:—

ERRINGTON VS. COLEMAN.—An action against a bailiff for value of goods claimed to be wrongly seized. The jury found the value of the goods in question and other points were reserved. St, John H. Hutchinson for plaintiff. D. B. Simpson and A. Leith for defendant.

MIDLAND RAILWAY VS. ONTARIO ROLLING MILLS CO.—This was a suit to recover the balance alleged to be due for old rails, and for breach of a second contract. They claim about $40,000. Adjourned to Toronto. J. K. Kerr, Q. C. and E. H. D. Hall for plaintiff. B. B Osler, Q. C. and W. Laidlaw for defendant.

TOOLE VS. BRADBURN.—This was a suit to recover a claim due on an account sold by assignee of plaintiff, and subsequently bought from purchaser by plaintiff. A contra claim was set up. There were complicated accounts and a judgment was finally agreed to for $525 to be paid to plaintiff. J. K. Kerr, Q. C. and E. H. D. Hall for plaintiff. G. Edmison and R. E. Wood for defendent.

JAMESON VS. SHIELDS.—Suit to forclose a mortgage. Defence, that amount mentioned in mortgage was not properly due and that it covered more land than was intended. Plaintiff to have decree and to give defendant lease for her life, of portion claimed not to be in the mortgage and to pay guardian's costs. B. B. Osler, Q. C. and D. W. Dumble for plaintiff. J. K. Kerr, Q. C. for widow, R. H. Dennistoun for executor and E. H. D. Hall for infants.

The court then closed.

Baird's Minstrels.

The Opera House was filled on Wednesday night to witness the performance of Baird's minstrels. Those who were present anticipated a treat and they were not disappointed. The performance from beginning to end was one of the best ever given here, and better than all many new and interesting features were introduced that met with great favor from the audience. The entertainment was exceedingly, laughable and was altogether free from vulgarity of any kind. The overture was excellent, the music and singing being of a high order, far superior to that heard in the average minstrel show. Major Gorman and his cadets did some fine drilling and the former handled his rifle in a truly astonishing manner. The "Big Four" in their songs and dances created much merriment and were obliged to appear time and again. Frank West in his banjo solos, songs and burlesque oration was excellent. Harry Horton has a wonderful voice and were his sex not known he could easily pass for a female. The four clog dancers were received with much favor. Howard as the aged negro was the best we have ever seen, and gave a representation true to life. Billy McAllister manipulated the bones in an artistic manner and his solo was really excellent. The novel feature of the show was the dancing of the "Midget Four," two boys dancing on the heads of two others, and the four dancing together. It was certainly startling and out of the usual run. The farce "The faithful watchdog" created roars of laughter and was a fitting finale to a really admirable entertainment. Mr. Baird and his troupe are gentlemen and we have much pleasure in commending the company as first class in every particular.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

On Thursday concurrence was resumed.

Mr. Rykert exposed the wilful falsehoods in the Reform campaign sheet, exaggerating the amount of exemption from taxation of the Rail way Syndicate, by stating that many articles are exempted, upon which they really have to pay duty.

Totally unable to answer him the Opposition sat silent without the manliness to admit the fact.

On Saturday Mr. Blake really secured a victory. He postponed the consideration of the Redistribution Bill till Monday by raising a point of order. The leader of the Opposition is great on points of order.

Sir R. Cartwright moved another of the series of obstructionary amendments to going into Committee of Supply, charging the Government with extravagance.

Sir L. Tilley in reply showed conclusively that the increase of expenditure was caused by the growth of the country and by the carrying out of remunerative public works.

Mr. Mackenzie made an unusually violent speech for him, accusing Conservative members of stirring up the Ottawa working men to attack him, but refusing to name them, though he said he could. He instanced the Weights and Measures Act as one cause of his own large expenditure.

Mr. Bowell completely turned the tables upon him, by showing that the late Government had prematurely appointed their friends as Weights and Measures Inspectors and had paid them $50,000 while they had no work to do.

After further discussion the amendment was negatived by 99 to 47.

On Monday on the second reading of the Redistribution Bill, Mr. Plumb made a valedictory speech for his constituency Niagara, which though a Conservative seat had been swept away because of its small population.

Mr. Blake made a speech, which was three parts abuse and one part figures, grouped to suit himself, and a defence of Mr. Mowat's gerrymandering.

Mr. Bowell censured him severely for calling his opponents "conspirators" and taunted him with his conspiracy with Mr. Scott, the Speaker, and Mr. E. B. Wood, a colleague of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald, to unseat him from power. He accused Mr. Blake of obtaining his information from a colleague who had improperly opened another person's telegram. Mr. Huntington, venturing to interfere was confronted with his own record. He proceeded to support the measure, and to contrast it with the unfair manipulation of Mr. Mowat.

After a long discussion Mr. Blake's amendment was negatived by 111 to 51, and another amendment by Mr. Mills was voted down by 112 to 52. The Bill was then read a second time.

On Tuesday the House went into Committee on the Redistribution of Seats Bill and some amendments proposed by the Government were carried.

On Wednesday in Committee of Supply Mr. Mackenzie objected to the vote of $290,000 for the Trent Valley navigation, saying that it was a great mistake to build any new canal. As to this canal he thought it was a great piece of folly.

Messrs. Cameron, McCallum, Bowell, Hilliard and Burnham, spoke in support of the grant and the item was passed.

Moved by Councillor HULL, seconded by Councillor COX,—That this Council do now adjourn.

It was decided at the Council meeting to meet on June 7th next as Court of Revision.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board took place in the Council Room, Lakefield, on Tuesday evening last.

The minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. ISBISTER,—That this Board do now adjourn.—Carried.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

It was painful to behold the dissappointment pictured on many of our leading mens' countenances on Friday after the daily papers were received containing the news that $25,000 was the amount placed in the supplementary estimates for the Trent Valley Canal. A great deal of chaffing was the result after it was learned that the correct amount was $290,000; but no one seemed to have much advantage in the matter, all seemed to be about alike, Grit or Tory. Of course nearly everyone could boast afterwards that they knew it was a mistake at the time. This circumstance shows the great interest in the scheme by the people here.

FISH.

A quantity of young fry (white and trout) was brought to Lakefield on Friday last by Mr. Parker of Newcastle accompanied by Mr. Hilliard, M. P. of West Peterborough. The Cruiser was in readiness to take the party and fish to Stony Lake. Several persons from Lakefield accompanied the party, but Mr, Hilliard was unable to go further than Lakefield on account of not receiving a notice of the shipment. Mr. Cochrane, Fishery Overseer, was at Stony Lake waiting, where he was taken on board and the Cruiser proceeded to Ship Island, where a part of the fry were turned adrift to shift for themselves, the balance was deposited at Bochinquo Narrows and the party returned home well pleased with the trip. Dr. Bell and our Fishery Overseer seemed to take advantage of Mr. Parker's presence to increase their knowledge of little fishes.

COW KILLED.

On Saturday last one of the finest cows in this part of the country, the property of Mr. Isaac Garbutt, Sr., was killed at the railway crossing on Reid street, at about the centre of the village, by being struck by the engine. Mr. Garbutt delivered at the cheese factory here last summer from the milk of the same cow in two and a half months 2,200 lbs. of milk. A great many complaints are made by the people of this village of the speed at which trains are run in the corporation.

NEW RACEWAY.

Water was let into the new race in Lakefield on Tuesday last. The new raceway, extending as it does past Queen street, will not only add greatly to the appearance of the village, but will be a matter of very great convenience to its citizens in the matter of water supply for horses or cattle. Quite a number of people were on hand to see the sight. A considerable amount of amusement was caused just as the raceway was nearly filled, by a horse going to drink. The animal rushed down the bank evidently not realizing the extra amount of water until it was necessary for it to swim to get out.

LARGE CALF.

Mr. LeFevere informs your correspondent that Mr. Adams, on Mrs. Preston's farm, Smith, has the largest calf he has seen for a long time. It was calved on the last day of March. Mr. LeFevere, who is an excellent judge, says that it would be very hard to beat.

TIMBER ARRIVED.

Mr. R. C. Strickland, our respected Reeve, left Lakefield on Wednesday for Longford mills, where two drives, having 4,000 peices of square timber, have arrived for the purpose of having it shipped at once by Midland and Northern railways to Port Hope. The drives are run through in less than a month, which is considered excellent time. The Messrs. Strickland had two excellent foremen on these drives, viz., Messrs. Burrett and Dion, of Peterborough.

PORK.

The steamer Cruiser took five tons of pork from Lakefield to the back country.

REPRESENTATIVE.

At the last meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43 C. O. F., of Lakefield, Dr. Bell, was appointed to represent the Court at the High Court meeting, which is to be held in Guelph, in June next.

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW CHEESE FACTORY.—Our cheese factory is now an established fact; the building is almost completed, and we expect to see it in full operation in a few days. At a meeting held in the Town Hall lately, by-laws, and regulations, prepared by Mr. Thomas Telford, were submitted to the meeting, and were adopted with only some slight alterations. The details are being pushed forward as fast as possible by the directors. As for the success of the Myrtle Cheese Factory, the name unanimously selected at the meeting, under the management of Mr. W. Cribbens, we have no doubt as to the result.

METEOROLOGY.—Mr. Thomas Telford, has been appointed by the Bureau of Statistics, to collect and furnish to the Meteorological Office, Toronto, the necessary information as to the weather, etc., so that his contributions will also assist in carrying out the object for which the Bureau was formed, as he has for some time furnished our local papers with a monthly statement of the weather. The instruments and appliances now received from the Society will greatly aid him in giving more complete reports.

BRIDGENORTH.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEARLY A FIRE.—W. B. Kelly's storehouse on the wharf come very near being destroyed by fire last week, had it not been for Mrs. Martin seeing the smoke in time and telling Mr. Martin, her husband, He ran with a pail, and the lake being within about four feet of the store house, he managed to keep down the flames till he got more help. There is a lot of saw-dust lying around, and the fire is supposed to have originated from a steamboat, which had gone out only a few minutes before.

THE CROPS.—The spring crops are making poor headway, owing to the cold frosty weather, we have been having, but the ground has been dryer than is generally the case in the spring of the year. The recent warm rain will do a great amount of good. The fall wheat on low wet land has suffered greatly of late, but on dry land it is looking favourable.

EARLY CLOSING

WHILE I AM FULLY IN ACCORD with the spirit of the Early Closing Movement, which was started about a week ago, I find it impossible to comply with it any longer. I have already found many of my customers drop in about 7 o'clock, who are unable to do their shopping at any other hour of the day. Having no Clerks to keep in after 7 o'clock, and being left alone to attend to all calls after regular working hours, I find it impossible to close at the hour required. I have therefore decided to keep open until my former usual hour, on and after this date.

NORTH-WEST TERRITORY.

The Territory Divided into Four Districts —Geographical Boundaries of Each

OTTAWA, May 9.—The order-in-Council passed yesterday divides the North-West Territory into four districts, as follows :—

ASSINIBOIA, containing bout 95,000 square miles, is bounded on the south by the international boundary, on the east by the western boundary of Manitoba, on the north by the ninth correction line, Dominion Lands System surveys, near 55nd parellel ; on the west by a line dividing the 10th and 11th ranges townships numbered from the fourth initial meridian, Dominion Lands System.

SASKATCHEWAN, containing 114,000 square miles, is bounded on the south by Assiniboia, on the east by Lake Winnipeg and Nelson river, on the north by the 18th correction line, survey system, and on the west by a continuation northward of the western boundary of Assiniboia.

ALBERTA, about 100,000 square miles, is bounded on the south by the international boundary, on the east by Assiniboia and Saskatchewan, on the west by British Columbia, and on the north by the 18th correction line near the 55th parellel.

ATHABASKA, containing about 122,000 square miles, is bounded on the south by Alberta, on the west by British Columbia, and on the east by a line between the 10th and 11th range townships, already mentioned, until that intersects Athabaska lake and Slave lake to the 32nd correction line, which forms the northern boundary of the district and is near the 60th parellel.

Saskatchewan district includes nearly the whole main Saskatchewan and a part of South Saskatchewan, and contains such well-known places as Battleford, Carleton, and Prince Albert. The Forks of the Saskatchewan, where the Press Colonization Company is located, is almost exactly in the centre of the district.

Assiniboia including Qu'Appelle, South Saskatchewan, and Souris rivers, and contains Fort Pelly, Fort Ellice, Touchwood Hills, etc.

Alberta includes the Battle, Bow, and Belly river countries.

Athabaska takes in the celebrated Peace river district.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SAVAGE AND COWARDLY ATTACK.—A young drunken desperado, named W. Storms, brutally assailed the foreman of Mr. Hazlitt's drive, Mr. Christie Fagan, on the forenoon of Monday 8th May. Storms had been absent from his duties from the Saturday previous, and not going to work along with the other men on Monday morning, the foreman asked the reason, and from words to blows followed. Both fighting pretty keenly until Storms got Fagan down and commenced bull dog style, viz., biting, aud chewing, until he managed to bite the flesh from the chin of Fagan's face, and chewed one of his thumbs nearly off. Storms was under the influence of liquor, still that is no excuse for disfiguring Fagan for life. The proper place for such brutes in human form is the penitentiary for a number of years. In the Old Country he would get seven or ten years penal servitude. Mr. P. Young sent the prisoner in charge of 2 constables to the gaol at Peterborough to be tried. This place has been for the last 10 or 12 years so quiet and orderly that there are no handcuffs around, but the Clerk of the Peace will have to be applied to for this very requisite thing. As a good many rough characters pass through here on sawlog drives during the summer season it is just as well to have them on hand.

SAW-LOG DRIVES.—Saw-log drives No. 1 of the season passed through here about ten days ago, consisting of several thousand peices belonging to McDonald Bros., of Little Lake saw mills. Drive No. 2 belonging to Mr. Hazlitt, of Peterboroug, passed through hear on Saturday last consisting of 4,000 pecies en route to the Dickson estate mills—Mr. C. Fagan, foreman.

THE CRUISER.—Last Friday your correspondent was kindly invited to a sail on the steamer Cruiser as far as Boschink narrows. A gentleman from Mr. Wilmot's establishment, Newcastle, was on board with three large tanks full of young salmon and white fish, which were deposited on Stony Lake waters. Several gentlemen interested in the culture of fish were on board, including our energetic fish inspector, Mr. George Cochrane, and Mr. Jas. G. Rogers, of Peterborough, who had been up fishing for salmon along with Mr. Cochrane for a few days, and had bad luck. We wondered if there was no way of having the small fry tamed before committing them to the waters, so that they would bite well when fully matured.

THE CROPS.—Since the rain on Monday and the warm weather combined, the fall wheat, grass, and the spring crops look splendid. We have had a very backward spring, and heavy frosts, but presume it will be better in the long run.

THE DELEGATES.—This section of Smith was well represented in Peterborough at the meeting of the Liberal Conservative Association, for the purpose of selecting a candidate, viz., by Messrs. Thos. Hetherington, W. Young, Jas. E. Kearney, and J. Stewart.

A MISHAP.—On Sunday forenoon last, a young man who can steer a boat well, but evidently could not steer well with a horse and buggy, upset the rig by turning Stewart's corner too sharp, and upset the occupants, comprising two of the fair sex and himself. If it had not been for a resident of the place passing at the time, probably things would have turned out worse than they did. As it was, one of the ladies was pretty badly bruised—Moral—don't drive too fast around the corners, it is getting to be too fashionable around here to do so.

The Condemned Man.

Vankoughnet, the condemned felon, has a ward for the day and cell during the night, so that there can be nochance of his carrying out an escape were he so inclined. His demonstrations of grief are quite frequent. His appetite is not greatly diminished. Each week as it passes is carefully noted by the scratch of a pin upon the door-post. He hopes for clemency, and gives reasons why he should receive it. To several he has said that he shot Richardson ; but he attributes the crime to jealousy. He was wronged, he says, and stole the gun, bought the powder, shot, and caps, and struck down one of the alleged destroyers of his happiness. Vankoughnet has not only told one person this story, but several. The counsel for Vankoughnet said he did not place much reliance in the statement. The man he considers an imbecile, and on these grounds will have petitions prepared asking for a commutation of the sentence to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary.

Killed on the Track.

WOODBRIDGE, May 9.—Early this morning the body of a woman was discovered in a dreadfully mutilated condition on the Toronto, Grey, & Bruce Railway track, about one mile south of this station. It proved to be a Mrs. Gardner, who lived near where the corpse was found, and who had been from home since early yesterday morning. It is evident that she had been run over by a train passing in the night, but at what time it is not known. An inquest will be held this evening and further facts elicited.

FROM ALL OVER.

THE families of two men lynched for cattle stealing at Pueblo, Col., have sued the county for $50,000, on the ground that the men were not properly protected by the officers.

COMPOSED of powerful drugs so compounded as to produce almost miraculous cure is the history of Kendall's Spavin Cure. See advertisement.

A HUNGRY rat devoured fifteen birds in Cleveland, Ohio, in one night recently, and in consequence grew so corpulent that he couldn't escape from the cage. The rat was killed with much promptness.

AT the gate of the cemetery at Avignon, in France, the parents of a child certified to have died of croup insisted on having the coffin opened to take a last look. The child was found breathing, and was expected to be saved.

AS indicating that the world does move, it is noted that when a member of the Kentucky Senate got drunk the other day and assaulted one of his fellows there was not a single shot fired in the row that followed.

SMITH'S GERMAN WORM REMEDY.—R. Morrison, of the Dominion Electrotype Foundry, 597 Craig street, Montreal, says one dose of Dr. Smith's great German Worm Remedy removed 13 large worms from his child, 4 years old.

A LONG-HAIRED Leadville man who went to Chicago thus explained himself when the police got him safely in gaol :—"Well, they told me that poeple would cut my throat here if you had a dollar, and I thought it was one of them fellers that tackled me. I had $250 in my pocket, and it looked as if he struck me for it, so I shot him."

A BENGALISE version of Sir Theodore Martin's "Life of the Prince Consort" is about to be published in Calcutta, with a dedication, by permission, to the Governor-General, by Mr. Gopal Chandara Mukhopadyaya, who has already won a considerable literary reputation by his work entitled "Victoria Rajsuya," or history of the imperial assemblage at Delhi.

MR. CLIF. P. KENNEDY, general passenger agent of the L., N., A., & Chicago Railway, Louisville, Ky., says : "Those who are suffering from rheumatism and general bodily ailments coming from diseases of a similar nature, should use St. Jacobs Oil. I was cured of a case of rheumatism of twenty years standing by St. Jacobs Oil, after everything else had failed."

THE New Orleans (La.) Times-Democrat of April 25 says :—"For the same reason that England has perpetuated in commemorative marble the form of Cromwell, and has preserved as a crowning glory the fame of Hampden, America will guard with an equal pride of possession the names of Davis and of Lincoln, of Lee and of Grant." Possibly this isn't true.

IN THE SPRING of the year almost every one requires a good Blood Purifier, more especially in the month of May. We would earnestly advise our readers to try Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. A few doses will soon convince you that it is the best remedy known for affections of the stomach, Bowels, Liver and Kidneys. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

ALL efforts have failed to indentify a murderer at Bucyrus, Ohio. He calls himself John Smith, and says that is a good enough name to take to the scaffold. He wantonly killed a marshal, who was trying to arrest him for drunkenness, and he is now under sentence of death. His only purpose now is to die without being discovered by his relatives and friends.

AN Ohio suitor, unable to make the young woman say yes, threatened to shoot himself in her presence. Thereupon she relented. But next day, having considered the matter carefully, she wrote to him that she would not keep the promise made under coercion, and that, while she strongly advised him against suicide, she should feel no responsibility about him. He blew his brains out.

WE CONTRACTED to insert Mack's Magnetic Medicine because we were assured that the firm was composed of reliable and honorable gentlemen, and also, because the medicine was recommended as being all and more than the advertisement claimed. We are informed by druggists that it is the best selling article they have, and that it gives satisfaction to their customers. See advertisement in another column.

THE publisher of the Cincinnati Freie Press had an odd strike the other night, when the whole editorial force walked out, and carried with them every line of "copy" produced by their combined efforts during the day. The publisher hired a new reporter from Louisville for very small pay, and the whole force didn't like him anyway, so they struck against cheap labour and Kentuckians.

A RUDE fellow, who addressed an insulting remark to the wife of ex-Mayor Caleb Saunders, of Lawrence, Mass., as she was leaving the theatre in that town, a few nights ago, under the impression that she was without an escort, was promptly floored by a blow from the fist of the vigorous husband. A doctor and a policeman were then summoned. The former sewed up a wound an inch and a half in length near the fellow's right eye, and the latter locked him up for appearance before the Police Court in the morning.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

$200.00 Reward !

Will be paid for the detection and conviction of any person selling or dealing in any bogus, counterfeit or imitation Hop Bitters, especially Bitters or preparations with the word Hop or Hops in their name or connected therewith, that is entended to mislead and cheat the public, or for any preparation put in any form, pretending to be the same as Hop Bitters. The genuine have a cluster of Green Hops (notice this) printed on the white label, and are the purest and best medicine on earth, for Kidney, Liver and Nervous Diseases. Beware of all others, and of all pretended formulas or recipes of Hop Bitterf published in papers or for sales as they are frauds and swindles. Whoever deals in any but the genuine will be prosecuted. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N. Y.

N. H. DOWNS' ELIXIR!

N. H. DOWNS' Vegetable Balsamic ELIXIR!

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable, the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms and the cure—viz.:

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Influenza, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis,

and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the lungs; then an inflammation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry; then becomes local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration, and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases. Price 25cts. and $1 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CONSUMPTION

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic ; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Cricket.

The Clubs forming the Ontario Cricket Association have been divided off into sections. Cobourg, Port Hope and Peterborough form one Section and are to play against each other. The victors are to play against the victors in the next section and so on until only two teams are left, who will then play off for the championship.

Personal.

Mr. A. F. Huffman, of the Dafoe House, Belleville, was in town yesterday, to see the "boom."

Messrs. D. W. Dumble, W. Toole, and H. Carver, have returned from the Northwest.

Mr. Alexander McFarlane has returned from Australia, where he has been for the last six or seven years. His many friends will keep him busy for some time shaking hands. Like all the others who has left here, fortune has smiled on him.

A Prophet.

The following prophetic verses, which appear in the independent Toronto Telegram, will undoubtedly be proved true in this country :—

"Rock me to sleep, Gordon,
Rock me to sleep
Feelings of faintness
All over me creep.

No more Ontario's
Safe as of yore,
Rock me to sleep for we're
Out five years more."

"To my Dear Friend."—By Ed. Blake.

Lacrosse.

The Victorias of Toronto are endeavoring very hard to arrange a match with Peterborough on the 24th of May. They offer to play for the junior championship, which they claim to hold, but to the best of our knowledge they have not a tittle of a right to any such claim. A match may take place, but it is not known for certain yet whether such will be the case or not.

A meeting of the Lacrosse Club to make arrangements for a match with a Toronto Club on the 24th of May, takes place to-night at the Caisse House.

Railway Notes.

There has been up to the present time about 140,000 feet of square timber rafted alongside the Grand Junction dock this season at Belleville.

The Ontario says that the new grain elevator which the Midland Railway Company purpose building at Belleville will be located on their present dock at the foot of Front-street.

The contract for the construction of the Midland Railway from Bridgewater to Perth has been let.

The Midland Directors have been over the link from here to Omemee. They appear satisfied with the progress that has been made.

Clerical Appointments.

The Kingston News says that the Right Rev. Bishop Cleary has just made the following changes in the location of his clergy. The Rev. Michael Donohue, having been relieved of the burden of pastoral office in Erinsville at his own request, has been appointed to Belleville, as assistant to Monsignore Farrelly ; the Rev. J. T. Hogan has been transferred from the Cathedral, Kingston, to the position of Pastor in Erinsville ; the Rev. Patrick Hartigan from Peterborough, to the Cathedral ; the Rev. James Connolly from Madoc to Peterborough ; the Rev. John Fleming from Lindsay to Madoc ; and Rev. Morgan C. O'Brien from Brockville to Trenton, as assistant to the Rev. Henry Brettargh.

I. O. G. T.

At the last regular meeting of Carswell Lodge I. O. G. T., the following officers were installed for the ensuing term :—

HOT FIRE AT HASTINGS.

THE FIRE FIEND, AIDED BY THE WIND, SWEEPS AWAY MANY BUILDINGS.

The Chief Business Portion of the Village in Ashes—List of Places Destroyed—Estimated Loss Between $60,000 and $70,000—Scenes and Incidents.

Once more the fire fiend has been busy, and now the chief portion of the thriving village of Hastings is one mass of ruins. The facts as far as can ascertained at the time of writing are as follows :—About two o'clock this morning flames were observed issuing from the rear end of Bailey's carriage shop, on the west side of Bridge street. Aided by the wind which was the fire spread north to the carriage shop of McNicholls, then to the dwelling house owned by T. Coughlin Sr., and occupied by a family named McIlmoyl and to C. Striker's carpenter shop, immediately adjoining. In the meantime the flames spread southward, consuming Peters' storehouse, containing of hardware, salt, plaster and general merchandise and from thence to the stables owned by the same gentleman. The angry demon, gaining strength as it went, soon fell foul of Brennan's Royal Hotel, owend by Fowlds brothers and that building

BLOWING A PERFECT GALE,

AN IMMENSE QUANTITY

WAS SOON LAID LOW,

together with T. Howard's harness shop and T. Connor's general store, bakery and dwelling. The flames leapt across the street as if the distance was only a few inches and made a furious attack on Geo. Jackson's drug store, containing in addition to the drugs, a large stock of hardware and boots and shoes speedily swept it out of existence Hurley's brick store and dwelling followed rapidly by a number of small stores, occupied by Dr. Bogart as a drug store, A Wilson as a harness shop, H. F. Holland's law office, Dr. Clarke's surgery, S. B. Chaffey, druggist, the post and telegraph offices and Fowlds brothers' office.

WAS THE NEXT VICTIM,

WITH UNDIMINISHED APPETITE

the fire continued on, licking up everything in its way. The building owned and occupied on the ground flat by James Fife, on the second flat as a tailor shop and dwelling by James Christie and on the third floor by Captain Howard, as the Star office, with its contents,

SOON VANISHED IN SMOKE.

Simiultaneously with the last named structure, the Coughlin House block owned and occupied by T. Coughlin, jr., as a hotel, burst into flames, which penetrated the windows from the rear and swept through the fine building, with its thick brick walls, iron sills and metal roof, supposed, before being put to the test,

TO BE FIREPROOF,

leaving not a vestige of material that could be consumed. The stables, sheds etc, in the rear having been laid low, the fire was stopped, partly because the high wind had abated considerably giving the villagers a better chance to cope with the furious flames. About 7 o'clock all danger of its future spread was over, it having raged for fully five hours.

THE LOSSES.

The total loss cannot fall short of $60,000 and by some it is estimated at a much higher amount. As to the individual losses and insurance it is impossible to speak as there are no means of obtaining the necessary information.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

As might be anticipated, from the great excitement prevailing on such an occasion, several narrow escapes occurred, principally persons who were endeavoring to save their household goods from the firey monster. Mr. McNichol was dragged from his building just in time to save his life or we would have been called on to add the loss of human life to that of valuable property.

VERY LITTE SAVED.

Owing to the rapid spread of the flames, very little property was saved, many losing all they possessed on earth. More might have been rescued from the fire, but for the fact that it was anticipated that it would have been checked long before it was.

A GOVERNMENT LOSS.

In the rear of the Star office was the armoury of the Hasting's company of the 57 battalion, Peterborough Rangers, Captain Howard, containing the arms, clothing, and the accoutrements of the company, all of which were consumed.

NO FIRE APPLIANCES.

Notwithstanding the fact that the village has on different former occasions suffered from fire, and that such a large number of valuable buildings were at the mercy of the flames, no appliance of any kind existed, wherewith to check a conflagration. Within a stone's throw of the burned district is the river, furnishing an abundant supply of water and almost unlimited power suitable for driving a wheel. This fire will furnish food for reflection, and according to the old adage, although it does on this occasion seem like locking the stable after the horse is stolen, the Civic Fathers of Hastings will never become too old to learn something, and we would suggest, and the suggestion has been made before, that they go to the expense of a few hundred dollars, purchase a wheel and a few hundred feet of horse, sufficient to cover the business portion of the town and they can then bid defiance to the destroyer.

ITS EFFECT.

The fire cannot but have a dampening effect on the village for a time at least, but the majority of those who have been ruthlessly turned from ther homes, can afford to rebuild and will doubtless do so, so that in a short time we expect to see Hastings, like the fabled Phœnix of old, arise from its ashes.

THE "STAR."

We derive the greater part of our information from Captain Howard, of the Hasting's Star, who has just come from the scene of destruction, not without marks of his share in the contest with the flames. Captain Howard's is a particularly hard case, as some little time ago he was a sufferer from a fire, having his dwelling house destroyed. He is making arrangements to issue his next week's number and to renew his plant so as to have his office in working order again as soon as possible.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities to-day are as follows :—Lakes, continued strong winds and gales from the east and north-eaft to-day, decreasing in force by to-morrow ; cloudy cool weather, with occasional rain, followed by clearing weather to-morrow.

True Blues.

At the meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of True Blues at Guelph, Mr. M. Jameson of this town was elected one of the Grand Lecturers and Mr. Wm. Clegg a District Deputy Grand Master. Port Hope was selected as the next place of meeting. The reports showed a large increase in membership. It was decided to establish a united benevolent fund and a uniform regalia, consisting of a cross sash of blue silk with cuffs of the same material, and a cap, was adopted.

THE SMALLPOX.

Progress of the Epidemic at Windsor, Ont.—Patients and the Pest-House.

DETROIT, May 9.—Windsor again has the smallpox scare, and this time with a fair amount of cause, as between Sunday night and Monday afternoon no less than seven new cases were found by the Board of Health. The first person found to be afflicted by the disease was Miss Anna Bartlett, daughter of the police magistrate of Windsor, who was pronounced sick on Sunday. On Monday the following persons were discovered to be attacked by the same disease :—Mrs. Carom, Bruce avenue ; Jos. Gignac, son of Thos. Gignac, corner of Chatham and Dougall streets ; another young child of the Askews, who died of the disease ; Mr. Beliedoc, who worked near Mr. Askew's house ; Master Cronk, Windsor avenue, and a coloured boy named Lennox. The old cases, who are at present in the pest-house, are Gordon Crank, Mrs. Brown, and one of the Askew children, making in all ten cases in Windsor. Dr. Coventry, chairman of the Board of Health, says there must be some concealed case in town from which most of these cases have arisen, and a vigorous effort will be made to discover it. When the Board of Health was about to remove Miss Bartlett to the pest-house Mr. Bartlett positively refused to let it be done, giving his reasons that the building was not fit to put any sick person into. When Dr. Coventry heard this he at once telegraphed to Dr. Oldright, chief health officer of Ontario, for instructions, and made up his mind that if no word was received from that official before evening he would resign his position as chairman of the Board of Health, as he is determined to enforce the law whoever the object may be. About eight in the evening the doctor received a telegram from Dr. Oldright, telling him by all means to have the patient removed to the pest-house, even if it were necessary to use the police to do it. As Mr. Bartlett is head of the police force by reason of being police magistrate that could not be done, and so the matter stands at present. Dr. Coventry concluded not to resign until the arrival of Dr. Oldright from Toronto. He is expected to be in Windsor by this evening. Mr. Bartlett is determined not to let his daughter be taken from his house if there is any lawful way of keeping her there.

WINDSOR, O., May 9.—The Board of Health found two new cases of smallpox to-day, making eight cases in all in the two days, and about twelve since the outbreak. Only one death has occurred so far. Some difficulty has been experienced in moving patients to the hospital, their friends taking the stand that it is not a fit place under the present circumstances.

MEDICINES taken into the Stomach in concentrated form such as Pills and Powders, are most injurious. The great substitute for these nauseous littrle Calomel pills is Dr. Carson,s Stomach and Constipation Bitters. THE CONTENTED MAN, Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

PARNELL'S LIFE THREATENED.

LIVERPOOL, May 11.—The Post asserts that the American Fenians are dissatisfied with Mr. Parnell's attitude, and it is believed they intend to murder him.

PROTECTION FOR PARNELL.

DUBLIN, May 11.—Mr. Parnell has applied for and received police protection, owing to a rumour current and threatening letters he has received that he is a marked man.

ANOTHER ARREST.

DUBLIN, May 11.—Doherty, who recently returned from America, has been arrested at Belfast. He was subsequently released.

HAVE THEY ESCAPED?

DUBLIN, May 11.—Disappointment is generally expressed at the failure of the police to discover anything important concerning the identity of the assassins, and the feeling is growing that they have escaped.

THE "DAILY NEWS."

LONDON, May 11.—The Daily News this morning deplores the failure of the Irish police to detect crime. In England the sentiment of the people is with the law, while in Ireland the disposition is to screen criminals, and the sympathy of the rural population is with agrarian crime, which gives it impunity. When they are ready to give up Moonlighters or to refuse them shelter, outrages will rapidly diminish.

INTERFERING.

DUBLIN, May 11.—The postmaster of Navan to-day shot a man named Connell dead. He attempted to stop a mail car.

SUSPICIOUS PURCHASES.

DUBLIN, May 11.—The ironmongers of this city state that several knives 10 inches long have recently been purchased by suspicious persons.

A FARMER SHOT.

DUBLIN, May 11.—Farmer Barrett, while entering his home to-day, was fired at and mortally wounded. Barrett was warned not to take a farm from which a tenant was evicted.

A NEST OF VIPERS.

LONDON, May 11.—Last week's issue of United Ireland denounced the Castle officials as a nest of vipers, and said the rats in the cellars of the Castle had better beware of traps, as the vermin were going to have a bad time.

IRISH REPUBLICANS.

DUBLIN, May 11.—The Irish Republican Brotherhood has issued a proclamation approving of the "Dublin executions." It says:—"The monster Burke preyed upon the lives and liberties of his countrymen for many years, and deserved death a thousand times at our hands. As to Lord Cavendish the lineal decendant of the infamous Broghill, who hanged MacEagan, the Bishop of Ross, because he would not betray his country, his very name stinks in the nostrils of the Irish people, by the iniquities of his brother, Lord Hartington, and wholesale evictions of his father, the Duke of Devonshire. This organization tolerated the vagaries of Mr. Parnell and his safe treasure mongers until he has filled the Bastiles of the country with the victims of useless parliamentary agitation, which left 20,000 persons homeless last year, and drove millions of the flower of our people to exile. This ceases to be harmless when a truce is made by which he himself and his friends are allowed to go free, and eighty of Ireland's bravest son's are left to languish in prison, to be exiled or assassinated. We call upon all our brothers in America, particularly upon all advanced Nationalists, to aid by every means in their power the men who carried out this execution, and we hereby daclare they deserve well of their country."

TURKISH TROOPS IN EGYPT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 11.—Preparations are being made whereby thirty thousand men could be speedily embarked for Egypt.

AN ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

HAGUE, May 11.—The steamer Willem Barentz has started for the Arctic region in search of the Leigh Smith expedition party.

COLLIERY ACCIDENT.

BERLIN, May 11.—A terrible explosion of firedamp occured to-day in the Pluto mine at the town of Bochum, Westphalia. The bodies of 56 victims have thus far been recovered, and a number of other persons are missing.

THE JEANNETTE PARTY.

LONDON, May 11.—The Standard, in a leading article on the voyage of the Jeannette says:—"When the Jeannette sailed from San Francisco on the 8th of July, 1879, a better equipped, better manned, or more amply found vessel of its kind never started out on a vain quest. Under her old name of Pandora, the little steamer had already braved the Arctic ice. Many of her crew of thirty-three men were able to claim some experience in the kind of work they had undertaken. No money had been spared to strengthen the ship within and without, and it lavish expenditure on stores, instruments, and material comforts could have insured success, the Jeannnette seemed destined to occupy a famous place among the few crafts which have attempted to penetrate the unknown region by way of Behrings Straits." Speaking of the retreat, the Standard says:—"The journey to the Siberian coast, when it comes to be told in minuter details than that which we are able to present to our readers this morning, will form one of the most startling narratives in the annals of Arctic explorations." The article concludes by saying:—"As Dr. Petermann long before his death abandoned the so called hypothesis of the identity of Wrangel land and Greenland, and as the Rodgers proved the insularity of the former region, even the merit of showing that Greenland is an island cannot be accorded them. That they suffered nobly and died like men, dared much and did their best, will be the verdict of the world on the dead commander and his gallant companions, of whose heroism their country has every reason to be proud.

A REVOLUTION.

LONDON, May 11.—A despatch from Cairo says Egypt is in a state of revolution. The Ministry have summoned the Chamber of Notables without the assent of the Khedive, and the President of the Chamber refuses to hold communications with the Khedive. Ababi Pasha and England support the Khedive.

TO BE IMPEACHED.

CAIRO, May 11.—An extraordinary session of the Egyptian Parliament has been summoned to impeach the Khedive for taking instructions from the Porte on questions of internal autonomy. The Sultan has telegraphed the Khedive to have no apprehension in regard to the outcome of the extraordinary session of the Egyptian Parliament summoned to impeach him, stating that the Porte will act immediately with the power to prevent his deposition.

FUNERAL OF CAVENDISH.

LONDNN, May 11.—The funeral of Lord F. Cavendish took place to-day at Chatsworth from the residence of his father, the Duke of Devonshire, Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Forster, and fully 300 members of Parliament being present. The Queen sent a handsome wreath of flowers, which together with one sent by an Irishwoman of London was the chief attraction. There were many beautiful floral offerings, with which the coffin was surrounded. After the service for the dead according to the the rites of the Church of England was celebrated, the body was conveyed to Edensie, where it was buried. The Duke of Devonshire, the Marquis of Hartington, Mr. Gladstone and Earl Granville werc the chief mourners, and preceded the hearse containidg the body of Lord Cavendish. As it was being conveyed to the the cemetary an immense concourse of people lined the way to the cemetary, while at the cemetary a large crowd had taken up every available position not likely to retard the passage of the procession, all of whom seemed deeply affected, the men standing with uncovered heads while the procession was passing.

AMERICAN.

THE GENEVA AWARD

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The House to-day took up the Geneva Award bill. It is proposed by the House Judiciary Committee to pay this money to the war premium claimants and those claimants whose property was destroyed by the exculpated cruisers. The minority of the committee will offer a substitute, proposing a reference of all classes of claimants to the Court of Claims. It is too soon to predict the outcome of the contest, but, judging from the action of the House hitherto, the subutitute will probably be defeated, and the original bill be passed. The debate will likely continue for two or three days.

THE GUITEAU TRIAL.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—In the Guiteau case to-day Mr. Reed quoted Lord Mansfield to show it is the duty of courts to sustain technicalities when they appear in law. District Attorney Corkhill then began the opening argument for the prosecution. He argued the question of jurisdiction. He quoted numerous authorities in support of the view that a murder should be considered as committed at the place where the fatal blow is struck. He also argued that the evidence admitted for the prosecution to rebut the defence of insanity was competent and properly admitted. He discussed the exception to the evidence of Guiteau's former wife, claiming that the confidential communications between husband and wife should not be invaded by the prosecution. Mr. Davidge said the indictment in this case was based upon the statute 1,790, which says:—"Whoever within the jurisdiction of the United States shall commit murder shall suffer death." He maintained that the defence proceeded upon two fallacies. First, that the plain language of the statute of the United States is to be overridden by common law. Second, that there is any doctrine in common law that a crime in one county or jurisdiction ceases to be a crime if the death occurs in another county.

BURLINGTON, ONT.

Special to the Review, May 12.

The schoner Gulnair rides safely at her anchorage. She holds about the same position as she held last night. Her flag of distress has been taken down. The sea runs so high that it is impossible for an ordinary boat to reach her, with the high sea that is running. There ought to be a life boat kept at this end of thel ake, there would not be any difficulty in getting a crew to launch her for the salvation of those whose lives were in peril, It is thought likely that the Gulnair will ride out this storm.

THE PRIVATE DOCKS of Messrs. McCulloch, Baxter, Dalton and Neland, are all washed away. The Redpath dock is totally destroyed. Bunton's dock has commenced breaking up.

MEDICINES taken into the Stomach in concentrated form such as Pills and Powders, are most injurious. The great substitute for these nauseous litttle Calomel pills is Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They cleanse the bowels stimulate the Liver and Kidneys, and cure all stomach disorders, such as Dyspepsia and Indigestion. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a amily medicine. Immediate relief will follow its use. It relieves pain, cures chilblains, frost bites, scalds, burns, corns, rheumatism, neuralgia, &c. For internal use it is none the less wonderful. One or two doses frequently cure sore throat. It will cure croup in a few minutes. A few bottles has often cured asthma. Colic has been cured by a teaspoonful dose. It cures with the utmost rapidity. It is really a wonderful medicine.

THE EAST RIDING.

CIRCULARS have been issued, calling a meeting of the officers and delegates of the Liberal Conservative Association of East Peterborough, at Norwood on Tuesday the 23rd inst. at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the constituency at the next general election for the House of Commons. A full attendance is particularly requested.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

WE must own that we are disappointed that not even in one instance can the Examiner shake itself free from party trammels, and act for the public good. We had hoped that it would continue to make one exception in the case of the Trent Valley Navigation.

In its last issue, however, fearing that the very satisfactory appropriation of $290,000 may redound to the credit of the Government, it basely asserts that it is a bribe to the constituencies and that there is no intention of going on with the works, which it says falsely might as well have been begun years ago.

We will therefore give a brief history of the matter, not for the information of the Examiner, which is sinning knowingly against the truth, but to prevent others from being deceived by its misstatements.

In 1878 the nature of the transaction by which Mr. Mackenzie proposed to hand over this navigation to Mr. Mowat, that he might accommodate some of his political supporters, was pointed out by the REVIEW, and we showed how such a transfer might injure the prospects of this old project. This brought down upon us the censure of the Globe and its satellites, and so much attention was attracted to the subject that on the downfall of the Mackenzie administration the order in Council making the transfer was rescinded.

In consequence of the interest thus excited Mr. Stark, C. E., was sent to make a survey in 1879, which he did in conjunction with the Engineer in Charge, and the report was favourable. In 1880 followed the visit of Sir C. Tupper and Mr. Bowell and their pledges that the work should be undertaken when the finances permitted. In 1881 an appropriation was made for a detailed survey, which was nearly accomplished, and this session we have a substantial grant for construction.

Thus this important project has been set on foot with unusual rapidity, the stages for the brief period of five years, including the present one, being :—

1st. Agitation for it.
2nd. Preliminary survey.
3rd. Report of survey and Ministerial visit.
4th. Appropriation and detailed survey.
5th. Construction.

How then could the building of the canal have been begun "years ago," as the Examiner asserts, to damage the Government if possible. We regret that it should now take this despicable course to injure a project so beneficial to the country and to this locality in particular, remembering as we do that it, in common with the whole press of the district (with the exception of that of jealous Lindsay on its Scugog and Styx Canal), came to our support in advocating the project.

However, we are now in a fair way to obtain the speedy opening of this inland navigation, and the Examiner cannot stop it, even if it does its best to throw cold water upon an improvement made by its political opponents, and poohpoohed by its political friends.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

IN Committee Sir John Macdonald moved that the township of Torbolton be placed in the County of Carleton, and the township of Huntley in North Lanark to meet the views expressed by Mr. Macdonell, (Lanark) and the Opposition. Even this however did not please Mr. Macdonell, who still abused the measure, though with yet another inconsistency he said he believed he would be returned. Hit high or hit low, you cannot please would-be martyrs.

Mr. Blake complained of want of time for consideration, when Sir John neatly retorted that there had been just eight times the notice given of this bill that had been given by Mr. Blake to the disposal of the whole surplus of the Province of Ontario.

It is hard to please some people. Mr. Blake in committee complained that the Bill took the Conservative township of Doon from Haldimand to strengthen Mr. McCallum in Monck, when Sir John Mackonald, explained that Mr. Thompson, the Reform member for Haldimand had asked him to put Doon into Monck and he did it, yet Mr. Thompson voted against it.

AGRICULTURAL RETURNS.

We extract from the agricultural returns of the new Bureau of Industries of Ontario, the following information as to this locality :—

FIRST MIDLAND GROOP.

The East Midland counties occupy what may be called the Lake country of Ontario. The whole region, but the northern portion of it especially, is a network of lakes and rivers. It is consequently well adapted for grazing purposes, and is likely to be more famous in the future for its herds of cattle and sheep than for the quality and productiveness of its cereals. Being, too, on the border-land of the Laurentian system, it is difficult to use modern labour-saving implements to any advantage. The reaper, the mower, and the drill cannot be of much service in a land strewn with primitive rocks. But there is much good wheat land in Victoria, Peterborough and Hastings, and spring grains can be grown profitably in all the counties of the group.

The fall wheat appears to have suffered less this year from winter exposure and spring frosts than in the westerly counties of the Province; but then it must be borne in mind that the acreage under crop is very much less. In Kent and Huron the area under fall wheat is to the area cleared in the proportion of 1 to 5, while in the best townships of Victoria and Peterborough it is in the proportion of 1 to 13.

Clover has suffered the same fate as in all other sections of the Province; it will not be more than half a crop.

Farmers had a good store of fodder throughout the winter, and live stock are reported in fair condition. "Pink-eye" raged everywhere, but it does not appear that many horses died of it. The supply of fat and store cattle is short.

COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

Favourable reports as received of the condition of fall wheat in all the southern townships of this county. It wintered well, notwithstanding the light covering of snow, and but little damage had been done by spring frosts at the date of the returns. The crop was best on loamy soils, but on low and undrained lands it has been partially winter-killed. No injury has been done by worms or insects. In the northern townships of the county very little fall wheat is grown.

Winter rye is grown extensively in Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer townships, and the crop is in good condition. One correspondent says "It never looked better." In North Monaghan it is reported "extra good." In Otonabee very little is grown—not more than a dozen fields. One correspondent in this township reports: "Our soil is chiefly a heavy clay, and rye is only grown on the poorer soils."

The clover crop is considerably injured by the winter and spring frosts. On undrained heavy soils it is nearly all "heaved" out; on higher lands less injury has been done. In Smith township last year's seeding is said to be the worst, but elsewhere the old clover has suffered most. "All killed" is the general expression in North Monaghan. On the whole, it will not average half a crop over the county.

Live stock are in fair order. Hay and straw were abundant for feeding purposes, but there was a scarcity of roots. Cattle and sheep are healthy; "pink-eye" has been prevalent among horses, causing many mares to lose their foals; pigs are plentiful and poor.

Very good progress has been made with spring work, owing to the dry season. Ploughing began about the 15th, and spring wheat, barley and peas were extensively sown before the 24th. Vegetation is very backward, on account of frosty nights and drying winds during the day. It is believed that the fruit trees are safe.

The bulk of the wheat is marketed, but in Otonabee, Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer there is a considerable quantity yet in farmer's hands. Oats is scarce and hay abundant.

Horses have been sent largely to the North-West and to the Montreal and New York markets. Store cattle or three years old and over were picked up by drovers last fall. Fat cattle are reported in "considerable numbers" in the township of Smith, but elsewhere very few are to be found. Peterborough is a good grazing county; it is well watered, and the grass is rich and nourishing.

GENERAL REMARKS.

"We never consider our fall wheat safe until after the 18th of May." The county is well adapted for stock raising and the growth of spring crops." "Wheat and barley the chief crops." "People are taking more interest in feeding and raising cattle for the English market." "Night frosts hard on fall wheat, grass fruit trees." "The promise for the season was never better."

ST. CATHARINES COUNTERFEITERS.

HAMILTON, May 9.—In regard to the St. Catharines counterfeiters, Burton Maitland and A. C. Fredericks, the parties wanted for issuing counterfeit 25 and 50 cent pieces and American bills, who made their head-quarters in the Broadway Block, St. Catharines, and have been operating nearly two years, the following particulars have been obtained. Though those parties have been suspected yet there was not sufficient clue to make an arrest. A reporter was informed by a fellow-boarder that Fredericks, previous to his going to St. Catharines, boarded at 7 Park street South, in this city, and was getting up an advertising map to hang in hotels. This was in June, 1880. At this house it is stated that Fredericks' wife formed an attachment for a border named Maloney. Things becoming warm, Maloney left for Buffalo. On his way to Buffalo he stopped at St. Catharines about two weeks, where—at the Russell House—he met the confederate Maitland, alias Dehl, who told Malone that he was one of Pinkerton's detectives in quest of a gang of counterfeiters, whom he had traced to St. Catharines. Afterwards Maitland told Maloney that the gang had wanted him to join with them, and at the same time made offers to Maloney to go in with them. This Maloney refused to do, and left for Buffalo, but before going told him to see Fredericks and the woman in Hamilton, which apparently Maitland had done, as they have been operating together since that time in the counterfeiting business, under the guise of advertising agents. In January, 1881, Maloney returned to St. Catharines, where he came in contact with Fredricks and wife and Maitland. At this juncture Maloney was charged with threatening Mrs. Fredericks, and appearing in Court and making no defence he was bound over to keep the peace for three months, which Maloney states was a false charge. Maloney then went to Toronto and engaged in commercial and other matters, which he is now following. In May, 1881, Maitland and Fredericks were in Toronto, when Maitland again approached Maloney, and said that Fredericks had nothing against him, and told Maloney that he had caught a fellow that day passing counterfeit money. He afterwards hinted to Maloney that they would not object to his being a confederate in their transactions. Later on during last fall Maloney was informed by Mr. Greene, then of the Russell House, St. Catharines, that there was a large amount of counterfeit bills being passed in that city, whereupon Maloney laid information to Government Detective O'Neil at Ottawa through Detective Flynn, of Toronto, It is believed that one party concerned in this affair is very wealthy, consequently there is no want of funds to carry on the business successfully. Some four months ago Maloney gave Chief Stewart, of the Hamilton Police force, information asking him to take steps and capture the gang. Mr. Stewart refused, as he had no power to act out of the county of Wentworth. Mr. Stewart, however, handed the matter and information over to the Ontario Government, so that as far as he is concerned there cannot be any negligence attached to him.

Abusing the Sense of Taste.

The sense of taste, like all others, is capable of cultivation, and may add greatly to our pleasures, while also serving a useful purpose, and yet no other one of our five senses is more frequently made to minister to human degradation. The fault begins in childhood—even in infancy—and here is the most fruitful source of the intemperance that devastates the land. The notion is very common that stimulants are craved by every one. Those who assert this, are probably themselves the victims of stimulants, and thus misjudge the desire for them to be universal. But thousands can testify that no such craving is even consciously felt. Much observation and inquiry has convinced me, that this craving is not natural, that it does not exist when the stomach is supplied habitually with healthful nourishment and with that alone. This mistake is the result of another erroneous notion, viz: that children naturally crave sugar, candy, pickles, and other artificial sweets and acids. Human stomachs, and the taste that should serve them, are usually led astray, almost from birth. The infant is fed to supply it with nourishment required for its growth, health, and comfort. It is a duty and a privilege to make that food as agreeable to the taste as we can, without interfering with health comfort, or growth. It has been proved over and over again in private experience, that babies and children well nourished on plain food, are healthy and happy without sugar, except as they get it in their natural vegetable and animal food. They get all the acids they need in the same way, especially from a moderate amount of fruit, and their teeth are sound, and their spirits lively. Supply the same well-fed children with candies, at first they care little for them, but a craving is easily cultivated, and the more they have, the more they want, unless made so sick by overeating of sweets, as to associate them with the pain they have imposed. This seldom happens. Following the craving for sweets, or the excessive eating of fats, thus cultivated, comes the morbid desire for pickles. Cloyed and wearied by concentrated and indigestible substances, the appetite refuses plain food and nourishment, and the stomach is too weak and weary to carry on its natural healthful work. Of course it needs, first rest, and then careful nourishment, made very easy at first, until the stomach recovers its power. This is seldom realized, and the lash is applied instead, in the form of some kind of stimulant, which shall make the weary stomach work, whether it feels like it or not. This gives temporary relief, but the craving for stimulants is very speedily established. In some cases it may be inherited—"the sins of the parents visited upon the children."

Unexpected Stage "Business."

One of the most sensational scenes in Victor Nessler's opera The Ratcatcher of Hanlan is that representing the exodus of rodents from Hanlan, brought about by the tuneful spells of Singuf the Charmer. Whilst this fantastic personage is singing his incantation, thousands upon thousands of rats invade the stage, emerging from doors and windows of the houses composing the "set," from crevices in the walls, and from holes in the ground. In the leading opera houses of Germany no pains and expense have been spared in order to impart a realistic character to this rat episode. The mimic rodents are "made up" as lifelike as may be, and scamper about the stage as vivaciously as though they were really flesh and blood instead of skin and stuffing. So excellently manager is this particular "effect" at the Dresden Opera House, that a few night ago, upon the occasion of the "Ratcatcher's" first performance in that theatre, the property rats fairly took in the worthy old cat perpetually retained upon the strength of the establishment in consideration of her long and valuable services. Ths conscientious creature while watching the stage "business" with placid interest from her favourite corner behind one of the wings suddenly perceived what she believed to be a host of her natural foes in the very act of committing an audacious trespass within the sacred limits of her territorial jurisdiction, she straightway bounded upon the stage, and, to the delight of the audience, furiously attack the legion of "counterfeit presentments" that occupied the boards. No sooner however had actual contact with the property rats enlightened her respecting their fictitious nature than she majestically retired. In obedience to an enthusiastic recall, she was brought on a few minutes later in the arms of a "super" to receive the tribute of applause her spirited conduct had so richly earned.

FRENCH LEAVE.

Two Convicts Escape from the Central Prison—One is Returned.

TORONTO, May 11.—On Tuesday evening last James Moore and John Walter Brooks, two convicts confined in the Central Prison, escaped from the institution. Moore had been sentenced on the 31st December last to one year's imprisonment for stealing 55 yards of carpet, the property of the Grand Trunk railway, and again on the 15th of February he was sentenced to another year for stealing a valise, also the property of the Grand Trunk railway. Once more, on the 3rd April, he was sentenced to fifteen months' additional for stealing another valise. Brooks is a well known burglar, and had already served various terms. Last Saturday night he was arrested for stealing a valise from the Union station, and on the following Monday was sent to Central prison for twenty-three months.

HOW THE ESCAPE WAS MADE.

Every Tuesday evening for the half-year which closed with last month a clergyman, sent by the Ministerial Aid Society, has delivered a sermon to the prisoners in the Central prison. At the usual hour last Tuesday evening the convicts were assembled, and marched from their cells to the chapel. In the corridor there is one staircase leading to the chapel, and another leading to the kitchen. While the prisoners were passing through this corridor, Moore and Brooks slipped from the ranks, and ran down into the kitchen. They were unnoticed by the guards, as their fellow-prisoners screened them from view. Reaching the kitchen they secured a heavy hammer, and with it obtained entrance into an inner room. Meeting an iron grated door they broke through it with the hammer, and thus effected an entrance into the butcher's room. A wooden door and another iron door were soon smashed, and the convicts found themselves in the yard on the east side of the building. Hiding behind a woodpile they awaited a favourable opportunity, and then getting over the fence proceeded towards the Lake Shore road. They were observed by Mr. Laird, of the Mercer Reformatory, and he gave the alarm. Pursuit was immediately entered upon, and after a thorough search of the Exhibition buildings and surroundings, Moore was at length traced to and discovered in a shed near the Old Fort. Brooks is still at large. Last Tuesday, also, a man named Alex. Currie was liberated by mistake. A pardon had arrived from Ottawa for a convict named Silas Currie, and Alexander contrived to pass himself off as the pardoned man. Both men were discharged, but the mistake having been discovered they were both re-arrested.—Mail.

SCENE OF THE TRAGEDY.

The Phœnix Park, in which the double assassination took place, has been immortalized in every Irish novel and every tourist's book about Ireland. It is a park in every sense of the word. Its area of 1,752 acres, extending some three miles in length by about two miles in width is diversified by long-reaching, verdant stretches of velvety turf, broken by well-wooded glades, and studded with palatial buildings. It lies west of the city, and is approached from the quays that line the Liffey, which runs in the valley immediately to the south. Between the Park and the Liffey is a public road leading to Lucan, Maynooth and other well known localities, including Chapelizod with its paper mills and thread factories. The park is entered through lofty iron gates leading to a broad macadamized road, with gravel walks on each side for pedestrians. Immediately in front on the south or left side is a huge granite obelisk erected to commemorate the victories of Wellington. The main drive, which on fine afternoons is always crowded with splendid equipages and dashing riders, is prolonged through the whole extent, cross roads branching off at intervals leading to various localities more or less well known to readers of Lever's novels, such as the Fifteen Acres, more like 250 acres, the scene of many a duel in the old days of the Irish Parliament, and more lately of O'Connell, now the ground selected for those reviews which have made Dublin famous. On the north or right side are the Constabulary Barracks, which serve as a depot for the recruits, horse and foot. Not far from these, in a glade where wood and water are pleasingly blended, are the Zoological Gardens, which, save for their position, present no special features of interest. On each side of the main drive are the official residences of the Under-Secretary and Chief Secretary together with the vice-regal lodge. Each stands by itself, and is surrounded by grounds beautifully laid out, with spacious hothouses and conservatories. Close by the vice regal lodge is a cricket ground, in which of old the Earl of Carlisle, when Lord Lieutenant, used to assemble all the cricketing talent of the kingdom. At the cross-roads is a pillar surmounted by the apocryphal phœnix rising from fiercely conventional flames of very bright gold, which, on a very sunny day reflect the light after a wonderfully realistic fashion. Close by this are some magnificent trees, under which are often gathered herds of graceful deer led by antlered monarchs of the forest, "harts of many tynes," Close by this the unfortunate victims of the assassins' fury fell. Their proceedings could easily pass unnoticed. It is true that at various lodges there are military guards, and that an armed guard is always on duty at the Constabulary Barracks. But the affair took place at twilight, so that even if the spot were in full view of these troops in the daylight, the struggle might pass unnoticed in the dim light.

PORT HOPE.

FAREWELL SUPPER.—The Times says that it being known that it was the intention of Dr. Corbett to leave Port Hope for the Nort-West, a few friends went to work and prepared for him a complimentary dinner. Mr. A. A. Adams, of the Queen's hotel, so popular as a carterer, was entrusted with the task, and it is needless to say that the spread did justice to the occasion. About 75 of the prominent citizens of Port Hope assembled on Thursday evening last, to do honor to the doctor, who has ever been a favorite in town. At nine o'clock the guests were seated to a most elaborate repast. The Mayor occupied the chair, and Messrs. D. Chisholm and J. G. King, the vice-chairs. A very enjoyable evening was spent and all present united in wishing the guest of the evening success in his new home.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. James Stone, sail maker, a resident of Protestant Hill, while engaged in sewing at a sail in Toronto a short time ago, run a needle into one of his fingers, but its not giving him much trouble, he kept on working for several days. The wound must have been poisoned in some way, for he has been laid up for several days with a very bad hand, which has been lanced several times, and it is not yet certain that the finger may not have to be amputated. Dr. Clemesha has the case in charge.

A DISEASE called anthracosis is giving much trouble to miners. It is caused by the constant inhaling of coal dust. The fine particles, being rounded, do not for a considerable time give great inconvenience. Finally, certain portions of the lungs become so loaded with the coal dust that they break down, and the victims dies of marasmus.

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL is at the head of the list for all purposes of a family medicine. It is used with unprecedented success, both internally and externally. It cures sore throat, burns, scalds, frost bites; relieves, and often cures asthma.

THE corporation of London has exchanged 50 acres of Epping Forest for $40,000 and 184 acres, formerly the pleasure grounds of Wanstead House, adjoining the forest, now a public pleasure ground of over 6,000 acres. Wanstead was build 150 years ago by Sir J. Child, a millionaire banker merchant, and was one of the dozen forest houses in England.

OF all the Banquet Halls of the past or present, that chosen by a German manufacturer is the strangest. He gave a dinner recently, to celebrate the completion of the largest steam boiler in the world, in the boiler itself. Inside was arranged a table for thirty guests, while racks for the food and wine were arranged along the sides.

ALL efforts have failed to indentify a murderer at Bucyrus, Ohio. He calls himself John Smith, and says that is a good enough name to take to the scaffold. He wantonly killed a marshal, who was trying to arrest him for drunkenness, and he is now under sentence of death. His only purpose now is to die without being discovered by his relatives and friends.

THE Chinese are helping the Methodists in Chicago. A church was in debt, and an orchestra of converted Chinamen volunteered to give a concert. The entertainment drew $260, and the musicians refused with scorn to even accept the payment of their car fares. Nor was the music altogether an infliction, for a piano and a flute were used as well as one-string fiddles and gongs.

FIVE children were deserted by their parents at Newcomerstown, Ohio. The oldest was 12 and the youngest a baby. The only food in the house was some cornmeal, and they ate it as long as it lasted. Then they were two days without a mouthful of anything but water. It was not until the infant died that they informed the neighbors of their plight.

IN THE SPRING of the year almost every one requires a good Blood Purifier, more especially in the month of May. We would earnestly advise our readers to try Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. A few doses will soon convince you that it is the best remedy known for affections of the stomach, Bowels, Liver and Kidneys. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

MICHAEL Kane was bitten by a dog in Philadelphia at the same time that drunkenness had brought him to the verge of delirium tremens. He mistook the vagaries of his mind for symptoms of hydrophobia, and nobody could convince him that he did not have the latter disease. He died after five days of this delusion, partly from alcoholism, but chiefly from fright.

WE CONTRACTED to insert Mack's Magnetic Medicine because we were assured that the firm was composed of reliable and honorable gentlemen, and also, because the medicine was recommended as being all and more than the advertisement claimed. We are informed by druggists that it is the best selling article they have, and that it gives satisfaction to their customers. See advertisement in another column.

AN Omaha man, in danger of losing his house by the foreclosure of a mortgage, sold his wife to her admirer for the $200 needed to satisfy the claim. That was two years ago, at which time the proceeding caused considerable comment. The new couple lived amicably together until lately, when the original husband, having prospered during his period of bachelorhood, bought back the woman at an advance of $50.

THE purchaser of an old house at Edgar's Ferry, Ky., saw that the floor in one spot was nailed down far more securely than anywhere else. Curiosity led him to remove the boards. Underneath was a small mound of earth, from which he dug out the bones of three human beings. It is believed that a dead-and-gone occupant of the house was a murderer of travellers.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1882.

Medical.

Mr. H. H. Graham, of our town, has had the degree of M. B. conferred upon him at Trinity University, Toronto. Mr. Graham took honors at both Trinity School of Medicine and Trinity University.

A Cold School.

Owing to the long continued cold weather the supply of wood at the south ward school gave out, and on Thursday the teachers dismised their rooms, as they were too cold for the children to remain in. Who is responsible for such a state of affairs?

Recognized.

The man, Marshall Sager, sent to gaol the other day as a vagrant, will be recognized as the man who was convicted for throwing stones at the Grand Junction train, near Hastings, about a year ago, for which offence he served a term in gaol.

Street Cleaning.

Very good progress has been made during the last few days with the work of cleaning George street. The mud has been scraped in heaps on each side of the road, but the rain has washed the most of it away again and considerable more work will be the result.

Across the Track.

As the morning train for Belleville was on its way down on Thursday, an obstruction was noticed on the track in a cut near Birdsall's crossing. A closer inspection showed that a large tree had fallen across the track. It was removed with some difficulty and the train speeded on its way.

Shipment of Cattle.

Mr. J. Duncan, of Buffalo, has during the present week shipped to Buffalo three carloads of fine beef cattle to feed the lovers of beef in that city. He has a large number still on hand and will ship again in a few days. They were purchased principally from Messrs. Redmond and Simpson.

Wanted.

A sidewalk is badly wanted on the west side of Bethune street. A portion of the old walk, which was bad enough, has been torn up and a hollow that existed at the spot, filled up with street scrapings. Now pedestrians are compelled to walk in the mud or take the railway track for it.

Developing the Country.

The Belleville Intelligencer, commenting upon the appropriation for the Trent Valley Navigation says :—

"This news will be received with great satisfaction throughout the whole district which will be affected by the canal, and particularly by the people of Trenton and the western part of this county, who have for many years endeavored to secure the carrying out of the project. The policy of the Grits was to abandon the Trent Works and give to private parties the land that was overflowed by the dams necessary for the maintenance of the navigation, which were to have been torn down. The present Government nipped that scheme in the bud very soon after coming into office, and the intention thus indicated of constructing the canal has thus early, thanks to the abundant revenue produced by the N. P., been entered upon. We congratulate all concerned upon the result."

Telegraphed for Aid.

The people of Hastings, while the great fire was in progress on Thursday morning, tried to "raise" Peterborough in the hope of securing our steam fire engine and Brigade to assist them in subduing the flames. At such an early hour of course it was impossible, but at any rate it was a useless task, as the Silsby is about played out, and as regards our ability to cope with a conflagration we are very nearly as badly off as Hastings. We are short of hose and the flues in the boiler of the engine are leaking so badly that the fire is put out almost as fast as it can be lit. This state of affairs has existed for some time and in our opinion it should be remedied at once, or we are liable at any time to be swept out of existence. True, we are very fortunate as regards fires, but at the same time it seems preposterous that a town of the size and importance of Peterborough should depend solely on a foundered fire engine for protection. Work on the waterworks is progressing favourably and in that there is some consolation.

Direct Shipment.

Mr. Geo. C. Rogers to-day shipped by the Midland, direct for Liverpool, one thousand barrels of fine flour. The shipment was made in eight cars holding 125 barrels each. We hope that this is only the commencement of an extensive transatlantic trade.

Looking For Work.

A number of navvys, some of whom have walked from the Cove below Quebec, have been lying around the town during the last two or three days looking for work on the Midland extension. Those who are sober enough have got jobs and there is plenty of work for the others as soon as they "straighten up."

Lacrosse.

At the meeting of the Lacrosse Club at the Caisse House last night, the Secretary was instructed to communicate with one of the Toronto clubs with reference to a match here on the 24th of May, the game to be played in the morning. Since the above was written a telegram has been received stating that the "Independents" will be on hand.

Number One Company, Attention.

The Company will meet at the Drill Shed on Wednesday evening next at half past seven sharp, to make arrangements about going into camp in June. Every member on the roll must be present. A number of smart recruits are wanted to fill up the Company. As this will be the first appearance of the Battalion in brigade camp for several years, "Number One" is determined to make a creditable appearance.

Messages From the Bishops.

A joint telegram has, we learn, been forwarded to Mr. Gladstone by the Roman Catholic Bishops of London, Hamilton, Kingston, with Bishops Jamot and O'Mahony, expressing their deep abborrence of the assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke, as un-Christian, un-Catholic and un-Irish, and confidently hoping that the assassins shall not be found to be Irishmen.

The Weather.

The cold, miserable, wet weather still continues, and we are promised nothing but a repetition of the weather of the last week. It is just about time that the man who has charge of the weather let up and gave us a change for the better. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows :—Strong winds and gales from the east and north, cloudy to rainy weather.

The Great Play.

The legion of theatre goers in Peterborough will on Monday next, the 15th instant, at Bradburn's Hall, have an opportunity to witness a play, the merits of which have been almost unceasingly lauded by the press the world over for the past three years, and been the well spring of so much genuine entertainment for millions. We allude to "Hazel Kirke," to be produced on the above date by the celebrated Madison Square Theatre Company, great original cast and all. The popularity of the piece may be easily divined, if the average mind is able to comprehend the startling fact that the "one thousand consecutive performance" is a matter of history. It is a wonderfully charming play, teems with delightful passages, and when the curtain falls upon the final act, leaves the spectator dazed—regretting that the spell, as it were, has ceased. Secure seats at once. Box sheet at Davidson's.

Railway Notes.

A correspondent of the Post writes that the work on the missing link is now being pushed on in an energetic manner. Men and carts are on the scene at work in almost every bank from Powles' big cut to Peterborough. The cuts known as Doube's and Scully's are going to take a tremendous lot of work. A hollow between Doube's and Shearin's hills is 1,300 yards long, and the bank will have to be raised over seventy feet high; but the hill on the west side is principally white sand, which will make the task of filling much easier. The filling at Tully's cut is not quite so extensive, but the banks on both sides are very stiff clay, making the task of cutting much more laborious. For this reason a steam shovel is on the way from Peterborough to Tully's hill.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that Mr. H. Corby has just arranged rates with the Midland Railway Company for the hauling of thirty cars of corn from Midland City to the siding of the Alma Mills, over the G. J. Railway. The corn is to be brought to Midland City from Chicago. This is probably the first instance of the Midland system of railways being used by any of our local business men for the transport of goods from Chicago or the far west.

T. V. C.

The Lindsay Post says that on Monday morning Mr. Alfred Belcher, brother of the superintendent of the Trent canal works, passed through town for Fenelon Falls where he will undertake a survey as to the location of the locks at that point. It is expected that the locks will be located near Smith & Co's saw mill. There will be two lifts necessitated, as the height to be overcome is a trifle over 24 feet, giving a lift of 12 feet to each lock. At the same time another party will make a survey of the water course from Buckhorn lake around to Buckhorn and Lovesick and Stoney and Clear lakes to Lakefield. A third party will take up the survey of the proposed direct cut from Lakefield to Chemong lake. Aside from the queston of practicability and cost of engineering operations there is the important question of steam to be considered. The difference of level in either route is almost identical; one would require about the same amount of lockage as the other. But the speed of a tow of barges would be so much greater in open water and in the natural channel that it might prove to be the most expeditious to take up the Buckhorn route. The present surveys about to be instituted will settle this point. The locks at Bobcaygeon will, it is believed, be much enlarged and improved.

Lindsay's Opera House.

The Warder says that on Tuesday evening last the council decided to lease the opera house to Mr. T. Bradburn, of Peterborough, for a term of ten years, at a rent of $100 a year, payable quarterly in advance. Mr. Bradburn says he will convert the hall into one of the neatest opera houses between Toronto and Montreal.

True Blues.

The following are the newly elected officers of the Grand Lodge Orange True Blues :—W. F. Allan, Guelph, Grand Master; R. Newman, Toronto, Deputy Grand Master; R. Henderson London, Grand Chaplain; J. H. Smith, Hamilton, Grand Secretary; H. Stevenson, Hamilton, Grand Treasurer.

A Row—A Dip.

One of the young men employed in the Midland offices, fancying that he was intended by nature for a Hanlan, purchased a shell for the munificent sum of $3.50. On Tuesday evening he concluded to give his first aquatic exhibition and accordingly invited a number of his friends down to the boat house, in order that they might witness his prowess. Now we may remark here, that although the young man is no novice at riding in the cars, still when it comes to a waterway, the smallest craft he ever boarded, previous to this occasion, was one of Calcutt's Palace Scows, the largest size. The shell was launched after some trouble and our hero having doffed his boots, a very heavy pair, and his outer garments, leaving on only his woollens, with the assistance of two others took his seat and shoved out. He just got his oars in position for rowing when over went the shell and our hero, being a good swimmer soon reached the platform in front of the boat house, dragging his shell after him. After emptying the water out, nothing daunted, he again took his seat and again upset. He went through the same manœuvre at least half a dozen times and at last gave up in disgust. He now feels confident that he will not shine as an aquatic star, that is to say, not just at present. He now has a shell for sale and being tired Hawkin it about he will dispose of it at a bargain.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to preform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decides for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease.

THE CONTENTED MAN, Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

A RUPTURE.

LONDON, May 12.—The Standard says that the peace patched up between the Government and the Irish members is entirely broken. The Irish members complain bitterly of the abandonment of the policy of conciliation, and intend to offer strenuous opposition to the passage of the Repression bill.

THE NEW BILL.

LONDON, May 12.—The Globe prints the following prominently:—"We have reason to believe that the whole of the provisions of the new Coercion bill were recommended by Mr. Forster previous to his resignation of the Irish Chief Secretaryship."

SUPPOSED TO BE NIHILISTS.

DUBLIN, May 12.—Palmer, who has acted as a volunteer detective in several important cases and writes over the signature of "War Hawk," says he has reason to know that the arrests of the assassins will be facilitated if the Government gives a guarantee not to surrender the informer, in the event of his being claimed by the Russian or German police.

IS IT DYNAMITE?

DUBLIN, May 12.—A suspicious looking canister was discovered outside the Lord Mayor's mansion to-night. It is to be examined to-morrow.

CROP FAILURE.

MADRID, May 12.—To relieve the distress in the provinces where the crops have failed, the Ministers have prepared a bill, that the Cortes will vote immediately, authorizing the imports of foreign corn, flour, and cereals to be free of duty for a year and a loan of forty million dollars for public works. Measures to prevent agrarian disturbances have been agreed upon.

IN EGYPT.

PARIS, May 12.—The Government has sent telegrams to Toulon and Algiers, and there is reason to believe that the French Ambassador has been instructed to propose to the English Government that an Anglo-French squadron be immediately despatched to Alexandria.

BEFORE A MAGISTRATE.

LONDON, May 12.—Martin Quinn was before a magistrate at Preston to-day on suspicion of being implicated in the murders of Lord Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke, and was remanded to give the police a further opportunity of obtaining evidence against him.

THE LEAGUE FUNDS.

DUBLIN, May 12.—It is reported that the American Fenians, being dissatisfied with Mr. Parnell's attitude, threaten to embargo the Land League funds.

AN AMERICAN ARRESTED.

DUBLIN, May 12.—Forrest Walker, supposed to be an American, has been arrested at Belfast, on the suspicion of being concerned in the assassinations. He has been remanded for a week.

OPPOSITION.

LONDON, May 12.—On the second reading of the Repression bill Mr. O'Donnell will move that the prevalence of outrage and disaffection in Ireland is largely due to the unjust eviction of 40,000 people, who will be further exasperated by the new Act.

OPINIONS ON THE BILL.

LONDON, May 12.—The Freeman's Journal declares that the Repression bill is one of the most tyrannical enactments of modern times, and is perhaps the fiercest Coercion Act ever proposed for Ireland. The champions at liberty since the assassination on Saturday have been helpless. It will be their duty to withstand the bill, though they may be defeated. The Pall Mall Gazette, in an article on the Repression bill, says fate seems to be preparing all that is worst for England and Ireland.

DISAPPROVED.

CAIRO, May 12.—The Chamber of Notables disapprove of their convocation by the Ministry. Arabi Bey is urging the Ministry to extreme measures. In the event of Turkish intervention, Arabi intends to withdraw with his troops into the citadel, taking the principal Turkish pashas as hostages.

DISCREDITED.

LONDON, May 12.—A Dublin despatch says the police and people are beginning to discredit the theory that Irish Americans were implicated in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke. This leads to the deduction that some Ribbon lodge is implicated in the crime. Great hope is felt that the reward offered will induce some member to became an informer.

INAPPROPRIATE.

LONDON, May 12.—The Standard expresses a feeling of regret which it is said is generally felt, that the court drawing-room yesterday was not postponed to a more appropriate time.

THE REPRESSIVE BILL.

LONDON, May 12.—In the House of Commons last night Sir Stafford Northcote said the Opposition desired to give the Government all the assistance in their power, but held them responsible for the way they discharged their duty. Mr. Forster said force was no remedy, but it was often necessary, and never more necessary than now. Mr. Bright said the bill was not aimed at political opponents but against crime. If it were an Irishman he should rather welcome the measure, as enabling the people to pursue their daily duties in confidence that protection would be afforded by the law. Mr. Parnell said he wished to join in the expression as to the temperate spirit shown by England during the past few days, but that spirit was not displayed in the proposed bill, which he regarded as the most stringent ever proposed and which would result in a hundred-fold greater failure than what had gone before. Mr. Dillon characterized Mr. Forster's speech as blood-thirsty, but withdrew the words on the Speaker's demand. He fiercely denounced the bill. He said that the continuation of the present policy of the Government would be merely to play into the hands of the assassins. The only way to deal with Ireland was to accept the aid of himself and his friends. As the Government refused, they could only stand aside and watch the result of the conflict between England with repression, and Ireland with retaliation. Mr. Goschen repudiated the prevailing notion that the Kingdom was to look to members steeped in treason for the protection of life and property in Ireland. The objectionable phrase being challenged, Mr. Goschen substituted "members who had signed the no rent manifesto." The Repression bill then passed its first reading by a vote of 327 to 22. The minority was composed entirely of Home Rulers.

TRACKING THE ASSASSINS.

DUBLIN, May 12.—The police have traced the car with the four assassins to the centre of Dublin, where they alighted. It has been ascertained that a cab accompanied the car to the scene of the murder. It is believed the cab conveyed the four men who pointed out the victims by a signal, and who saw that the murder was carried out. These men subsequently re-entered the cab and drove back to the city.

AMERICAN.

STORED ELECTRICITY.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Walter B. Whiting and Nicholas Decker arrived on the steamship Labrador from Havre. They showed during the whole passage that electricity can be "stored," and carried around as safely and conveniently as a traveller's ordinary luggage, ready for immediate use. They brought eighteen boxes of the stored electricity. Each box is about 18 inches high and 36 inches long. The lamps which they supplied were lighted in presence of United States Consul Glover in Havre, and kept burning the entire voyage. The engine-room was entirely lighted by them. The lamps are very small, one of them used in the state-room being only of five candle-power. The lights are not affected by the motion of the ship or the sea air. The experiments are pronounced by the passengers and officers as very satisfactory.

TELEGRAPHIC SCIENCE.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 12.—A special despatch from Canton, Ohio, says Mr. S. V. Essick has invented and patented an instrument which bids fair to revolutionize telegraphy. The primary invention is an automatic telegraphic transmitter, which in its appearance and operation resembles the modern type-writer. The Morse transmitter now in general use requires one impulse of the finger and hand on the single key of the instrument for each dot, and 82 impulses are required for the representation of the 26 letters of the alphabet. The new transmitter requires, like the type-writer, but one impulse for each letter of the alphabet. The message may be "taken" by sound or paper when transmitted by the new instrument, although the operator can send so fast that the ear cannot discriminate between the sounds, and taking by sound is impossible because of the rapidity of the succession of the alphabetic sound. To remedy this, or rather profit by this speed in transmission, a "receiver" has been invented and patented by the same gentleman, which takes the message at the destination, and writes it out in type-writer style. The invention has been tested on wires of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railroad, and it is expected that one wire fitted with the new transmitter and receiver will do the work of three with the instruments in present use, while the liability of error in transmission is very materially lessened. With the new instruments in use, telegraphy will be much less difficult to learn than now, as any person who can operate a type-writer can telegraph.

To hand last week another shipment of Straw Hats for Ladies and Children. Turnbull & Gray.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

PARNELL'S PLANS.

PARIS, May 13.—La France publishes an interview of its London correspondent with Parnell before the Repression act was introduced. Parnell imputes the assassination of Cavendish and Burke to Fenian Fanatics. He states that since the Government adopted the conciliatory policy, the Land League have withdrawn the "no rent" manifesto, but have not thought it necessary to make public the fact by a new manifesto. We have simply sent word round to our friends. He says moreover, it was being disregarded by many farmers who were paying rent. Parnell declares that he desires the formation of a British confederation, with a Supreme Parliament and Local Parliaments for England, Ireland and the other parties to the Confederation.

STEAMERS WATCHED.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The detective force at Queenstown has been increased. Passengers from and for America are closely watched. Several English detectives have sailed for New York.

MORE DETECTIVES

LONDON, May 13.—It is understood in official circles that the Imperial Government will organize a detective force for Ireland.

BLASTING POWDER.

LONDON, May 13.—The canister discovered on the railway near the Lord Mayor's mansion last night was filled with blasting powder.

PROTECTING PARNELL.

LONDON, May 13.—The application for police protection for Parnell was made without his knowledge by another Home Rule member of Parliament.

SERIOUS SITTATION.

CAIRO, May 13.—The situation here is very serious. The Ministry, backed by the army, threaten to depose the Khedive, and in the event of armed intervention to expel the Europeans. The Khedive shows great firmness. The Ministry have convoked the Chamber of Notables illegally, but the president refused to preside. He is supported by many of the members. Well-informed Europeans are sending their families to Alexandria for safety. Fears are entertained that Arabi will coerce the Chamber or run amuck with the soldiers. There is no American consul here at present. The American Government should take measures to protect its archives, now in charge of the dragoman, in the event of possible disturbance. The reported execution of the false prophet in the Soudan is untrue.

A DEATH WARNING.

LONDON, May 13.—Dr. Kay Assistant Under-Secretary for Ireland has received a death warning.

AMERICAN.

BOLD BURGLARS.

LEDGEDAL, Pa., May 13.—Masked burglars entered the store of W. Morse on Wednesday night and bound and gagged the clerk and stole a hundred dollars from his wallet and began drilling the safe containing a large amount of money, but were frightened away before they could open it. No arrests have been made.

THE GREAT THROUGH LINE.

TUSCAN, May 13.—But nine miles of track laying remains to be done in Texas to make through railroad connection between San Francisco and New Orleans. It is expected that the works will be completed by September 1st.

RUN ON A BANK.

JERSEY CITY, May 13.—$82,000 was drawn out of the Provident Institution for savings bank depositors yesterday. The managers are fully prepared for a run to-day.

FAILED.

NEW YORK, May 13.—H. Tracy Arnold & Co., the well known mining stock brokers, failed yesterday with liabilities not less than $100,000.

SARAH'S WILL.

NEW YORK, May 13.—In the contest over the will of Sarah Burr, who left $3,000,000 to religious and benevolent societies, a former servant yesterday testified that Miss Burr lived almost as meanly as the poorest occupant of the most wretched tenement in the city, and was a miser of the most revolting kind.

A BIG HAUL.

NORFOLK, Va., May 13.—600,000 herrings were caught in one haul the other day at a fishery in Croton Sound.

BY LIGHTNING.

PETERSBURG, Va., May 13.—During a storm at Black Creek Mary Smith and her child were killed by lightning.

THE PERUVIAN CO.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The World's Philadelphia special says Dr. Franklin Stewart states that the original Cochet claim was divided into 20 parts. Stewart took a fifteenth of the whole and was induced to part with his interest to Shipherd, on the payment of one dollar on an understanding that Shipherd was to purchase all the remainder of the claim. Other parties refused to sell their shares, but Shipherd organized the Peruvian Co., with a capital of $2,500,000. The shares transferred to Shipherd by Stewart was only the basis of the Company. Shipherd elected himself President and one Hyman Secretary. In the Company as far as Stewart knows Shipherd was the only stockholder. He pronounces Shipherd the smartest man he ever saw and declares that the latter has been making capital for months out of the Peruvian Company although the whole thing is a sham and false from the begining to the end. He professes to be afraid of Shipherd and denies that he will tell all he knows.

A. T. STEWART'S HEIRS.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Rufus Andrews, in a letter to the Assembly Judiciary committee states that in 1878 Alexander Stewart and Ann Bailey, brought an action against Cornelia Stewart and Henry Victor, to recover a portion of the estate of A. T. Stewart. Plaintiff's claimed to be the heirs. Plaintiff's attorney was S. F. Kneeland. John Shafer made a motion apparently on behalf of Alexander Stewart to relieve Kneeland as attorney, and have himself substituted in place of Kneeland, and then Ann Bailey was to be gotten rid off. Alexander Stewart discontinued the suit, and the whole was hushed up and settled. Andrews charges Alexander Stewart that he never employed Shafer but Hilton did. Hilton or his agents paid Shafer $25,000, and out of that sum was paid $5,000 for the publication of Shafer's papers in the press, and there was paid for the purpose of influencing the decision of Westbrook $5,000.

A SHIP RAILWAY.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Admiral Ammen's letter to Senator Warner Miller, questioning the feasibilty of Captain Eads to enter the Oceanic ship railroad scheme has attracted a good deal of attention in Congressional circles.

DERELICTION OF DUTY.

HAVANA, May 13.—The Treasurer of the Custom House, Lopes Helegrin, has been removed because duties amounting to $500,000 owed by various firms has not been collected.

PIGEON POPPING.

SPARTON, Wis., May 13.—A pigeon roost near here is a half a mile wide by ten miles long. The birds number millions, Sportsmen have already trapped thousands.

SHIPPING DISASTER.

SANDY HOOK, May 13.—The Plinis passengers numbering forty are all saved. Her cargo consisted of twenty-five thousand bags of coffee. The vessel will probably be a total loss. She became immanageable during a gale at sea having broken over and extinguished the fire in the engine room.

THE TARIFF CHANGES.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The World's Washington special says there are about 200 applications for places on the Tariff Commission. The friends of the President say he will not appoint a Commission of political partisans, and will see that every great interest affected by the tariff will be represented on the Commission. It is said that the President will place only well informed men on the Commision in order to enable them to fight the issues face to face in Commission.

CAMPBELLFORD.

DRAUGHTS.—The Herald says that the "Herd Laddie" found no more difficulty playing draughts with the opponents who engaged him to play here, than he has elsewhere. Mr. Wylie manages to secure a game with as much apparent ease when playing with skilled players, as if he was contending over the board with a novice. He is indeed a wonderful player at draughts, what may be called a prodigy. A charge of ten cents was made to persons who wished to see him play. He stopped at the Queens hotel, and spent part of this week in the village.

ON TRAMP.—Eight Pilgrims, former residents of Campbellford, with some others, are now on their way to Fort Qu'Appelle, 360 miles beyond Winnipeg. The company consists of Messrs. M. A. Hawley, C. W. Turner, John Ogilvie, William Johnston, Jonh Lauder, H. and R. Skinner, and John Waddell, who have been joined by a number of their acquaintances to make the trip as "travellers o'er Arabia's wilds." With the assistance of an experienced person as Mr. Ogilvie, acting as guide, the party will no doubt enjoy themselves.

RETURNED TO HIS OLD CHARGE.—Rev. R. B. Denike, who has laboured on the M. E. Circuit, here, so faithfully, and with so much acceptance among his congregations, for two years past, has been returned another year to the same charge. The appointment is mutually agreeable to the congregation and acceptable to Mr. Denike.

NORWOOD.

RAILWAY MATTERS.—The Register says that Mr. Pearce had an interview in Toronto, last week, with Mr. Osler, President of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, for the purpose of ascertaining whether a grant of two miles of right of way would be sufficient inducement to have the route of that road changed so as to run through the village. Mr. Osler said that he would have the proposed change investigated immediately, and if found satisfactory would adopt it.

VERY NEARLY.—Mr. Jas. Andrews, of Dummer, narrowly escaped losing his dwelling house, barns, &c., the other day. It appears that the hired man had been smoking in the barn-yard and accidentally dropped a coal from his pipe, which soon set the loose straw on fire. The prompt action of Mr. Andrews and his man soon set matters right, but not before Mr. A. had his hands and face badly scorched.

POISON IVY.—A case of poisoning from the handling of this vine occurred in the east end of the village the other day. Mr. J. Harper, Sen., is the victim of having pulled the roots of the vine without any protection to his hands. He is recovering as rapidly as could be expected.

WOLF BOUNTY.—We thought wolves were a thing of the past in this neighborhood, but it appears not, as Mr. D. Barrie, who resides about five miles out of the village, presented Mr. Drain with the head of one the other day, and claimed the bounty—$6.00

Mantles made to order at Turnbull & Gray's. A Perfect Fit and First-Class Work guaranteed.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

WHY ARE WE BILIOUS?—Why do we have sick headache? Why do we feel weak and tried with little or no appetite? Why that coating of the tongue and that bad taste of the mouth? Your liver is out of order, and does not do its work as nature designs. Baxter Mandrake Bitters act directly on the liver, stomach and bowels, and will relieve you at once. They are the best medicine known for costiveness, which is the starting point of ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of all the complaints that human flesh is heir to.

MEDICINES taken into the Stomach in concentrated form such as Pills and Powders, are most injurious. The great substitute for these nauseous littrle Calomel pills is Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They cleanse the bowels stimulate the Liver and Kidneys, and cure all stomach disorders, such as Dyspepsia and Indigestion. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1882.

A WIDE DIFFERENCE.

It is charged that the Conservatives defend the Redistribution Bill by saying that Mr. Mowat did the same thing, and that though they blamed him at the time they make his example an excuse for imitating him.

This is a complete misrepresentation of our position, and Mr. Mowat's gerrymandering is held up as a thing to be avoided, not to be imitated. At the same time it is very fairly pointed out that the Reformers supported Mr. Mowat in doing the very things which they falsely accuse Sir John Macdonald of doing, while they blame the latter in the coarsest terms, as they did because he would not make more extensive changes in 1872.

The two cases are widely different. Mr. Mowat was not compelled by law to add to the Provincial Legislature, neither was he urged by consideration of the public good which might better have been served by a reduction. He simply added six new constituencies that he might have an opportunity of making safe seats for his supporters at the next election. And how did he carry out this plot?

We are told that Sir John need not have interfered with fifty constituencies, because he had by law to find seats for four additional members. Mr. Mowat was not compelled by law to create one new seat, but of his own will, he interfered with thirty-four constituencies, which he created, altered, or abolished.

We are told that Sir John does wrong to alter county and riding boundaries. Mr. Mowat did this in numerous cases, but for example we will take the constituency of Dufferin, which was carved out of five ridings, taking Mono from Cardwell, Melancthon from South Grey, Amaranth from Nort Wellington, East Garafraxa and Orangeville from Central Wellington, and Mulmur from South Simcoe. But not content with this, Mr. Mowat actually cut in half many townships, the important unit in local affairs, and placed their severed memberes in different constituencies.

Sir John is blamed for making changes to equalize the population, and again in some cases he is blamed because the members are not exactly similar. Mr. Mowat in his voluntary changes made the inequality greater than before, his only rule seeming to have been to benefit the party. For instance Niagara was abolished because it was represented by a Conservative, and Cornwall was retained because it was represented by a Reformer, and so on systematically in cases too numerous to mention.

In short Mr. Mowat, not to comply with the law, but to aid his party of his own good will, added six members to the Provincial House, and disturbed thirty-four constituencies. In doing this he wilfully increased instead of diminishing the disparity between the electorates, though representation by population was an old Reform war cry. To secure as many seats as possible, he tampered with not only county and riding but even township boundaries, though municipal organization is far more important in Provincial than Dominion affairs. Yet Reformers supported Mr. Mowat in this dishonest legislation, and defend him now.

Sir John Macdonald on the other hand, being compelled by law to find four seats for the additional members to which the census showed Ontario to be entitled to, took the opportunity to equalize the constituencies. The first step being to abolish two small Conservative constituencies, he thus had six seats to provide, which he has done, by a re-arrangement, equalizing as far as possible, and to a very great extent, the population to be represented, and doing this with as little interference with municipalities as could be. Yet Reformers, who supported Mr. Mowat in gerrymandering the constituencies, blame and villify Sir John Macdonald for equalizing them.

A PRUDENT OMMISSION.

The resolutions passed at the recent abortive "mass" meeting to select a Reform candidate for the West Riding of Peterborough are chiefly remarkable for their omissions. Not only do they contain nothing about the N. P., as we have already mentioned, but they also omit all reference to the bargain with the Canadian Pacific Railway Syndicate, as to which the Reform members and Reform journals have been howling so dolefully. It is a prudent omission, for we have in Peterborough too many men who are acquainted with the facts, who know how well the Syndicate is serving the country, and how zealously it is pushing on the construction of the railway, to leave any chance of making any political capital here out of this advantageous bargain for the country.

LINDSAY.

Down They Come.—The Post says that the council have passed the by-law making it compulsory on our merchants to take down all cross-signs. So far from objecting to the proposition nearly all the merchants on the north side of Kent street signed the petition presented to the council. A printed notice will be sent to each merchant, advising him of the action of the council. It is to be hoped that all will accede gracefully to the situation, and that the day the signs are taken down will be a landmark in the calendar, as it were.

Fire.—During Sunday morning service at the Methodist church a messenger rushed in and imparted the startling intelligence that Mr. Hettiger's house was on fire. As that gentleman has already been through one fire, or rather one fire through him, he decended from the gallery of the church with suddeness. Fortunately the alarm turned out to be an exaggerated one. A drum had caught fire from an overheated stove. The chimney of the house blazed for a few moments. Of course the congregation hurried out to see the fire, and once out neglected to return.

Sudden Death.—Much sympathy is felt for Mr. George McHugh in the sudden death of his second son, a fine boy of five and a-half years. He and his elder brother were playing in the field a couple of days ago, and that night both were restless and suffered from pain. Next day Dr. Kemp was called in, and as the boy was vomiting proper remedies were administered, but unfortunately without avail, and the boy died in the afternoon. The elder brother is also very ill. A report was current that the boys had eaten some wild carrot or parsnip or in some way got some poisonous substance, but Mr. McHugh considers this very unlikely as he had them under his eye on the day in question.

Surprise.—A couple of our citizens met with a surprise apiece on Saturday evening. A Kent-st. man had employed a carpenter, a rather stout, Power-ful man, to fix the roof of the house. After putting up a couple of slices of fret-work cornice the workman, while stepping back to admire the effect, tumbled through the scaffold to the ground, about twenty feet, knocking down the largest part of the scaffolding. His employer helped him home, and upon returning was surprised to see the embellishment which had been put on with such care drop off and smash to pieces.

They Must do It.—Mayor Taylor has been notified by the school board through the chairman, Mr. Grace, that the board of education are determined to compell the council to submit the by-law. Legal steps will at once be taken to get the alleged lever under the stubborn council which is to result in their overthrow. The council, apparently, do not recognize what a fearful thing it is to have the law let loose on them. It means bondage and chains, and we are not quite sure but stripes too. It will, however, be a reassuring thought to these gentlemen that even if they are locked up like village Hampdens that the gastronomical regulations of our gaols are much more liberal than they were six months ago. The board evidently expect that the council shall sit on the stove of repentance.

Industry.—The walls of the Sylvester works are going up rapidly at the rate of about ten thousand bricks per day. The structure, faced with white brick, promises to be exceedingly handsome, and is of the most substantial character. A new and powerful engine has been ordered from Messrs. Kiley & Co., Hamilton. The drainage along the front of the premises needs looking after, and will no doubt be attended to by the council shortly.

Emigrant Children.—The Warder says that about thirty-five or forty emigrant children from Father Nugent's home, Liverpool, arrived here on Tuesday, under the direction of Father Stafford. Most of them were spoken for before they arrived. They are bright, intelligent looking children.

COBOURG.

He Bears the Kind Wishes of All.—The Sentinel-Star says that the Rev. Mr. Jeffrey, who for the last three years has held the pastorate of the Methodist Church, will leave here in July, to take another charge During his stay in our midst the Rev. gentleman has made a host of friends, not only in his own congregation, but among the members of all other denominations, who regret that the connection is so soon to be severed. At the last Managers' meeting of the Church the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Moved by Mr. James Crossen, seconded by Mr. D. H. Minaker,—That as at the end of the present quarter, the pastoral term of the Rev. T. W. Jeffery, will be closed by the regulations of our Church, we desire to express our gratitude to the Great Head of the Church for the blessings received under his ministry, especially manifest in the great interest in the Social means of grace, the large attendance upon public worship and general interest in the Church, manifest among our young people, and we earnestly pray that the Divine blessing may accompany him and the one who so devotedly and successfully shares his labours to the new field of toil to which the church may appoint them.

Fire.—A fire occured on the premises of Mr. Robt. Hogg, Lot 5, 2nd concession Hamilton, on Saturday last, by which the barn and contents, with three horses, were burned. We believe there was some insurance.

Fire.—On Sunday morning last an unoccupied frame dwelling in Harwood, owned by Mr. Robt. Drope, was destroyed by fire. The building had been occupied up to within a short time before the fire, but the occupants stole away during the silent watches of the night, and the fire is supposed to have originated from some buring soot left in the chimney.

Accident.—On Saturday afternoon as Mrs. A. B. Appleby and Mrs. A. Pratt were driving on Hibernia street, a young lad hit the horse with a stick, causing it to start suddenly, and upsetting the buggy throwing out the occupants, injuring them considerably. Fortunately the top of the buggy was down at the time, otherwise the accident would have proved a very serious one.

New Bell.—The Presbyterian Church here is to have a new bell. For over fifteen years the old one has been unused, having got broken shortly after it was put up. The new bell has been cast, and will be here in a few days. The difference between the price allowed for the bell metal of the old bell, and the cost of the new one, has been kindly donated to the church by R. Mullholland, Esq.

Government Buildings.—In the supplementary estimates the sum of $14,000 has been placed, to purchase and fit up the Bank of Montreal buildings, on the cornor of Division and King streets, for the Customs, Inland Revenue, Post Office, etc. The building is a very substantial and handsome one, worthy any city, and the Government bought it at an exceedingly low price, $12,500, about one third the original cost.

In Port.—The schooner John Magee, of Oswego, arrived in port on Friday with 600 tons of coal for the woolen mills, and a quantity of Cleveland stone for Mr. McDonald's marble factory.

THE NEW IRISH BILL.

Its Introduction in the House of Commons —Provisions of the New Measure.

London, May 11.—In the House of Commons Sir William Harcourt introduced a bill for the repression of crime in Ireland. He characterized the prevalence of crime there as a national digrace and said the time has arrived for the entire House to unite in repressing it. The case we deplore to-day is not a solitary one. Crime is a plague spot on Ireland, and I believe the Irish people desire its removal. It springs from secret societies and must be extirpated. The main spring of crime is the expectation of impunity which is only too well founded. The Government has therefore concluded that it is necessary in places where ordinary law is not observed, that special tribunals consisting of three judges be appointed by the Lord Lieutenant to try cases without a jury. The judgment of the court must be unanimous. Appeal cases can be made to the supreme court. The judgment of the latter is to be given by a majority of judges of the supreme court which may diminish but cannot increase the severity of sentence. The bill gives power to search for secret apparatus of murder, such as arms, threatening letters, etc,; power to enter houses day or night under the warrant of the Lord Lieutenant; power to arrest persons prowling about at night unable to give an account of themselves, who may be dealt with summarily; power to arrest strangers, as crimes are generally committed by foreign emissaries, the hospitality of England not being for such persons as the agents of O'Donovan Rossa; and power to remove foreigners considered dangerous to peace. The government therefore intend to revive the alien act. Secret societies will be dealt with summarily and membership thereof will constitute an offence under the act. Cases of aggravated assault will be treated in a summary manner. Power is given to repress intimidation and unlawful meetings, the latter to be dealt with summarily. Newspapers containing seditious or inflammatory matter will be suppressed and the proprietors required to enter recognizances not to repeat the offence. Justices can compel the attendance of witnesses intending to abscond. The Lord Lieutenant can appoint additional police where necessary at the cost of the districts concerned. Compensation for murder and outrage will be required of the district where they occur. Outrages will be dealt with summarily by courts consisting of two stipendiary magistrates.

Sir William announces that the government intended to reserve for consideration any further alteration in the jury system. He admitted this bill was extraordinary, but declared it was necessary to meet the extraordinary circumstances. The operation of the bill will be limited to three years. The government would do all in their power to prevent innocent persons suffering from its action. He added this measure would shortly be followed by one dealing with arrears of rent.

N. H. DOWNS' Vegetable Balsamic ELIXIR!

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable, the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms and the cure—viz.:

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Influenza, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis,

and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the lungs; then as inflammation, when the cough is more observable, but a hard dry—it then becomes loose, fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complains, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

CONSUMPTION

IT HEALS THE ULCERATED SURFACES

and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases. Price 25cts. and $1 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

THE EARLY RAIN.

Down through the misty air,
Down from the glooms above,
Falling, pattering everywhere,
The rain comes quick with love.
Softly the missel-thrush
Sings in the golden storm;
The robin under a laurel bush
Waits for to-morrow morn.

Drip, drip, drip from the eaves,
Pit, pit, pit on the pane,
Swish, swish, swish on the drenched leaves,
List! 'tis the song of the rain.
Grasses are bending low,
Green is the corn and thick;
You can almost see the nettles grow,
They grow so strong and quick.

Soft is the wind from the west,
Softer the rain's low sigh;
The sparrow washes his smoky breast,
And watches the gloomy sky.
Stirred are the boughs by the breeze,
Scarcely a leaf was still,
Something is moving among the trees
Like a restless spirit of ill.

Standing watching the rain,
Do you not seem to hear
The voice of God outspeaking again
To man's ungrateful ear?
Promising plenty and peace,
Garner's with treasure heaped,
That seed-time and harvest shall not cease
Till the harvest of earth be reaped.

AFTER FIVE YEARS.

(From Belgravia.)

Beautiful she looked as she lay there in quiet slumber in the drawing-room of the Howard mansion, which is situated in the town of Deepdale, in the eastern part of Suffolk. Her complexion was of that marble whiteness which contrasts so well with black hair; clearly defined eyebrows; long and heavy eyelashes; a full red mouth; a straight, delicate nose; a beautiful chin; in fact, a face of exquisite loveliness. She might have made a fit model for a madonna, only that there was too much pride, and too little meekness, in the cantour of her face.

If she is lovely in repose, what must she be when animation and activity light up her wonderful face? Ask him who stands by her; he will tell you of her rare beauty and her exquisite figure. In short, she seems "a daughter of the gods, divinely fair."

He who stands by her side and looks at her so lovingly, is Guy Wilford, who loves her so passionately, so devotedly, but who also loves her in vain; for he is the son of a poor gentleman, while she is the daughter of the wealthiest man in Deepdale.

Guy had come to see Mr. Howard on some matters pertaining to his profession (that of a lawyer), and had been ushered into the drawing room to await his appearance. There, on the couch, lay Helen Howard—asleep. Guy stood looking at her when Mr. Howard entered the room. He seemed considerably surprised at witnessing such a tableaux. He must have read the lovelight in Guy's eyes, for he crossed over to him, laid his hand on his shoulder and said in a kind voice, "Wilford, you love my daughter? Ah, I know you do. Well, my boy, you have my permission to woo her; though whether you win or not, she will decide. I know of no man to whom I would more readily give my daughter than to you. Money does not make the man in my estimation." And he smiled pleasantly on perceiving the joyous look on Guy's face as he caught his hands, thanking him and declaring his love for his daughter.

"Well, well, Guy, I understood you," said Mr. Howard, with a shake of his head. "But don't be so enthusiastic or you will arouse my lady. Come, we will withdraw before she discovers our presence."

They left the room quietly, Helen sleeping on, all unconscious of what had transpired.

* * * * *

"Helen, do you love me? Will you be my wife?"

Guy Wilford leaned toward her as he spoke, reaching out his hands; but she put them back coldly, saying, "Mr. Wilford, if I hadn't anticipated a declaration of love I should have excused myself from seeing you this afternoon. I have given no encouragement to warrant such a course, and you will excuse me, but I think you too presumptuous. I have always regarded you as a friend, but never supposed you would aspire to Helen Howard's love—or money."

"Helen—Miss Howard, you wrong me!" cried Guy. "I have naught but the purest love for you. I am sorry that I have so displeased you by my presumption, but I could remain in uncertainty no longer. Since you look so unfavorably upon my love, I bid you farewell."

And almost before she was aware of it he was gone.

She wished then she could take back all the harsh words she had spoken. Not that he had shown any suffering or sorrow, but she herself experienced a lonely feeling, as if she had deprived herself of some good. And this was increased on hearing of his departure for India, where he would remain for five years or more.

Her father guessed the cause of Guy Wilford's departure. He knew the man's noble nature, and that it was Helen he loved and not her money; but he said nothing when she told him all about it.

Helen was more brilliant than ever that season; nothwithstanding which she was always possessed of a dissatisfied feeling, which seemed to mar all pleasure. She could not define it. She at first tried company as a remedy, but she soon discovered faults and flaws in those whom she regarded as her friends. So at last she begged her father to take her abroad, which he did.

Three years passed before she returned to Deepdale. They had gone through all the countries of the continent, met with a great many new forms and faces, and yet Helen Howard was Helen Howard still. Old friends again flocked around her, and she threatened to become as much a belle as of old.

Rosa Carrington came to stay with her—a gushing, bright young lady of 18 or thereabouts. One evening a large party had congregated on the lawn of the Howard Mansion, carrying on a perfect tide of conversation, when Miss Rose exclaimed, "News—news! Who can guess? Brother Harry tells a good piece of news. The one who guesses shall have the right of the first introduction."

"Half told, petite Rose," said Helen; "some one is coming. It must be no less personage than the grand mogul, to disturb my little lady's equanimity so."

Then there were cries of "Who? Who? We can never guess—let us know," &c., before Rose would condescend to satisfy their curiosity.

"Well, you all remember Guy Wilford, who flourished in this town about five years ago, and who left very suddenly for India? It is no less a person than he, come back wealthy, polished, travelled—the handsomest man in the world, my brother says, with the form of an Apollos, the pride of Lucifer, the wealth of Croesus, the—Helen are you ill! What is the matter?" she suddenly cried, as she happened to glance where Helen stood, and saw her reeling and trying to support herself by the column.

Guy Wilford was instantly forgotten: all attention was now turned to Helen. She soon recovered, and excused herself on a plea of sickness, and retired to her room.

"Why should I be disturbed because Guy Wilford has come? I don't love him. Pshaw! I'm foolish."

She laid herself down in her bed and tried to sleep, for she felt weak and faint.

She was now possessed of a desire to see Guy, which was increasing every day. She heard no more of him until about two weeks after that first announcement, when Rose received intelligence that Guy Wilford would accompany her brother to the ball, which was to be given to one of the leading families of the town. She determined to be present.

On the night of the ball Helen Howard stood before her mirror, just from the hands of her maid. Beautiful she always was, but this night she was superb. A slight flush lit up her usual pale face, increasing her loveliness tenfold. She was attired in a robe of dove color, draped with black lace, the marble shoulder fairly gleaming against the costly fabric. Her eyes almost outvied the diamond on her neck and hair. She felt strangely uneasy.

Upon entering the ballroom, Helen saw Guy Wilford, the centre of an admiring group. Five years since she last saw him? Ah, me; how things had changed.

She had no chance to speak to him till the latter part of the evening, when Rose Carrington brought him to her and introduced them, thinking they had'nt never met. She was glad that he hurried her off to dance; for she felt faint now that she was at last with him again.

They seperated after the dance, Helen retiring into a deep bay window, complaining of weariness.

He soon returned, hardly expecting to find her alone, and requested her to accompany him to the conservatory to view a large cactus they had been discussing.

Whilst there, almost before he knew it, he had her in his arms telling her how he loved her, and asking her again to become his wife. Oh! how happy and peaceful she felt at last! After five long years she had found contentment. They had much to say to each other! and though she danced little, and was in the company of him whom she had once termed presumptuous, she afterwards said that it was the most pleasant evening she had ever spent in five years.

Rose Carrington often visits Mrs. Wilford, and declares that she never saw such a case of "love at first sight." Helen never told her what had happened five years ago.

B. F. STILLWELL, Esq., corner Twelfth and Broadway, Oakland, Cal., had been confined to his room for days with a severe sprain. In answer to a San Francisco newspaper reporter he said:—"My speedy recovery is due entirely to St. Jacobs Oil. My injury was a severe and painful one. Other remedies failed to benefit me. With the use of the Oil the swelling disappeared quickly, as did also the pain, and I am as well as ever. Credit to what credit belongs, I say."

A New Lamp.

The use of projections on a screen as an aid in instruction is now widely appreciated; but in absence of the electric or calcium light (which is often not procurable) it may prove difficult to get light sufficiently intense for large images. Dr. Reguard has lately devised a lamp of simple character, the light of which is equal to about half that of the calcium lights, and which should find various uses besides the one indicated. The idea is burning on a metallic net a mixture of air and petroleum vapor. The apparatus consists merely of a common Bunsen burner, terminated by a small cage of platinum wire. The petroleum vapor mixture takes the place of the gas, being supplied through an india-rubber tube at the bottom from apparatus of well-known form, an air current from a bellows being sent through petroleum in a stoppered vessel, whence, charged with vapor, it passes to the lamp. The intense heat in burning of the mixture renders the platinum cage brightly incandescent. To send all the light in one direction a bent nozzle of trumpet shape, closed with platinum net, may be adopted to the Bunsen burnet. By use of a fan-blower to supply the air current, several lamps may be kept in action, for the lighting of halls, workshops, etc., the effect being much like that of incandescent electric lamps. A large weighted bellow will keep the lamps going for several hours. The lamp would be useful to doctors in examination of the throat, ear, etc. The cost of maintenance is trifling.

A New Mother Shipton.

When lawyers fail to take a fee,
And juries never disagree;
When politicians are content,
And landlords don't collect their rent;
When Boston folks give up their beans;
When parties smash all the machines;
When naughty children all die young,
And girls are born without a tongue;
When ladies don't take time to hop;
And office-holders never flop;
When preachers cut their sermons short,
And all the folks to church resort;
When back subscribers all have paid,
And editors have fortunes made;
Such happenings will sure portend
This world must soon come to an end.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1882.

Personal.

Mr. H. J. Beemer, the contractor for the "Missing Link" is in town looking after the work.

Entertainment.

There will be an entertainment consisting of tableaux, charades &c., at Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, for the benefit of the funds of St. John's Church Sunday School, and there should be a good audience.

Waterworks.

We notice in the Insurance Society the following paragraph :—

"Brockville is to have waterworks with pumping power sufficient for a city of $30,000. The company erecting the works will supply 100 hydrants for fire purposes, at $60 per year each. The town can after ten years purchase the works, their value to be fixed by arbitration.

North Monaghan Assessment.

A copy of the assessment roll of North Manoghan for the present year may be seen by those interested at the residence of Mr. Joseph Bennett, Sr., in that Township. The Clerk, Mr. John Wood, may be seen on business connected with the Township every Saturday at the REVIEW office from 2 till 3 o'clock.

Mechanics' Institute.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute will be held in the rooms of the institute, on Monday evening at 7 o'clock, for the election of the Board of Directors and for other business. There should be a full attendance to support this useful and flourishing institution.

The Hastings Fire.

Only about eight or nine places of business are left in Hastings. The ruins present a very desolate appearance, especially from the rail way. Many of those who were burned out are making preparations to rebuild, and before long we expect to see the thriving village resume its wonted appearance. We have seen quite a number of persons who witnessed the fire, and all unite in saying that it was the fiercest they ever looked at.

The Weather.

At last there is a ray of sunshine and the public anticipate some fine weather. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows :—Fresh to strong easterly to northerly winds, gradually clearing weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature, followed to-morrow by moderate to fresh north and north-westerly winds and fine warmer weather.

Presentation.

We take the following from the Madoc Review :—"When it was learned in this village that Rev. Father Connelly, assistant R. C. Priest in this village, was about to be removed from Madoc to Peterborough, by order of the Bishop, the members of his congregation here resolved not to let him depart without some tangible evidence of their esteem and love for him. Accordingly before he left on Tuesday he was met by a representation of the congregation and presented with a very flattering address, accompanied by a purse containing over two hundred dollars. The following is the address :

To The Rev. James Connelly :

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—We, the Catholic congregation of Madoc, hear with the deepest regret that you are being removed from amongst us, still, if it is the will of our beloved Bishop to remove you, then we bow in submission. It is now nearly two years since you were appointed as assistant Priest for this parish, during that time you, by your kind and loving manner, have so endeared yourself to us that we cannot find words to express that deep feeling that is in the hearts of all those that have become acquainted with you.

We now wish and always will pray that God may direct you in all you undertakings, may you be one of of the brightest stars in our Holy Religion. In conclusion, we beg of you to accept of this small donation as a slight token of that lasting friendship we will always bear towards you.

Singed on behalf of the congregation,

CAPT. O'NEILL, JOHN GILLEN,
MICHEAL GILLEN, DENIS FOX,
THOMAS MCCANN.

Father Connelly was completely taken by surprise, but returned his acknowledgment in a few feeling remarks expressive of his love for the members of the Madoc congregation, and regret to be severed from them. We may add that Father Connelly was unusually well esteemed in this village, and carried away with him the best wishes of the whole community."

SHADE TREES.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Can you explain how it is that in our "backwoods town" shade trees, the common maple, elm, and basswood, actually cost more than choice standard apple trees from first class nurseries? This spring the writer received from the nursery of John Dougall, at Windsor, a number of large standard apple trees, of selected varieties, carefully packed, which cost laid down here, freight and all included, just 20½ cents apiece. Wanting to plant some maples for shade trees, I was asked 25 cents apiece for them, and these were not easy to get either, as there is apparently only one man engaged in supplying them. No wonder that the planting goes on so slowly.

Would it not be a good plan if the council would advertise for tenders for say 1,000 young shade trees. I think they could be supplied by farmers at 10 cents apiece, and at that give as much margin for profit as for drawing cordwood at even last winter's high prices. Then let the council either give them away or sell them at cost. Even yet, this year, we could with advantage have a tree planting day if we could only get trees to plant.

Yours, &c.,

STRAIGHTFORWARD COURSE.

The following letter from the member for the East Riding appears in the Examiner :—

To the Editor of the Examiner :

SIR,—I notice in several of the late issues of your paper that you charged me with shirking the votes on the Boundary question and Mr. Blake's motion in reference to Commercial Treaties. On both these occasions I was unavoidably absent form Ottawa, but if I had been present, I should have voted in each case with the majority. Sitting in the House of Commons, representing not local or provincial interests only, but those of the whole Dominion as well, I should have voted to refer the question of the Boundary to a judicial decision, so as to have it settled satisfactorily to the other Provinces of the Dominion, and, at the same time, ensure Ontario obtaining her rights. You speak of Ontario being robbed by this vote. Robbers do not usually appeal to the Courts. As Mr. Blake's motion was virtually a separation from Great Britian, I could not, as a strong supporter of British connection, have voted for it. I hope you will publish this explanation in your next issue.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN BURNHAM.

Ottawa, May 1, 1883.

Railway Notes.

The contract for the construction of the Toronto and Ottawa division of the Midland Railway from Bridgewater to Perth, a distance of over sixty miles has been let to Mr. H. J. Beemer, a gentleman who will push the work through to completion as fast as possible. During a conversation with him last night we learn that he proposes to commence work at once and already he has sent one of his foremen down to Quebec to engage some two hundred workmen, who will be placed along the line. The work will be rather more difficult than the "Missing Link" as there is a large quantity of blasting to be done. The contract will be completed by the end of the year and then there will be direct communication betweeen Toronto and Ottawa, a thing that has been desired for many years.

There are now over two hundred men at work between here and Omemee, besides a very large number of horses. A party of newly arrived emigrants were sent out yesterday, Mr. Beemer having provided houses for them and their families. The majority of the men employed are old hands at the business and are expert shoveller's, having worked on many of the Canadian roads while they were under construction.

Courteous Language.

The Hamilton Spectator says the Grits are justly indignant because Mr. Rykert, during the Redistribution debate, alluded to Mr Mowat as "the little Premier." Mr. Mowat may be small potatoes in the estimation of Mr. Rykert, but insomuch as he is the biggest Premier the Grits have on hand, or are likely to have for sometime, Mr. Rykert's disparaging epithet is simply atrocious. He should take a leaf out of the book of his mild-spoken opponents, who invariably treat the Tory Premier with the greatest courtesy, and allude to him in the most respectful language. For instance the Brantford Expositor—which, by the way, is one of the most gentlemanly Grit newspapers in the Province—in alluding to Sir John the other day, made use of this elegant expression : "His rogue's countenance is a fit index to his coward's soul." Mr. Rykert ought to be ashamed of himself."

PERHAPS the destruction of forest along the banks of the Mississppi and its tributaries may explain in a measure the terrible floods that have drenched the country and impoverished the people. As soon as the rain falls it is not absorbed by the land at all, as would be the case were the primitive forests still standing. Instead of flowing off rapidly, and swelling the rivers suddenly, it would be retarded by the trees as leaves, and the natural channels would be large enough to carry off the surplus water as fast as it filtered into them."

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

THE CONTENTED MAN,
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this] class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on accountof the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Of Mr. John Hewett one of our Oldest and Most Respected Citizens.

Seldom are we called upon to chronicle a mysterious disappearance, but on the present occasion it becomes necessary to do so. The person in this case is no child or new comer, but Mr. John Hewett, residing on McDonnell street, aged about 75 years, who has resided in this vicinity for the last forty years and who is well known and respected by his numerous acquaintances. For some time past his intellect, owing to his advanced age, has been somewhat impaired, and unless attended, he was permitted to take but short walksas he sometimes got bewildered if he made made turns.

On Sunday evening about 6.30 o'clock he proposed taking a walk and promised his wife that he would not go very far away. As he did not return when expected a search was instituted, but without success. This morning at an early hour the neighbors and police were informed of the occurrence, inquiries were made and search parties were sent out in all directions. All that had been ascertained up to the time of going to press was the fact that Mr. Hewett had been observed on Charlotte street about 8 p. m. on Sunday, by a gentleman who supposed that he was returning from Church.

The missing man is aged about 75 years, but does not appear that old. He is about 5 feet 10 inches high, has grey sidewhiskers and hair, is partially bald and walks with a cane. He was dressed in a suit of dark clothes and had on a black stiff hat. He has a rather prominent nose.

As may be expected his family are in a terrible state of excitement. Any information regarding him may be given to the Police Officers or left at Mr. Hewitt's house.

"Hazel Kirke."

The renowned Madison Square, New York, Theatre Company perform Hazel Kirke to-night. The company is said to be the best on the road and their performance a regular treat. Don't fail to attend and witness the play that had the longest run on record.

MEDICINES taken into the Stomach in concentrated form such as Pills and Powders, are most injurious. The great substitute for these nauseous litttle Calomel pills is Dr. Carson,s Stomach and Constipation Bitters. They cleanse the bowels stimulate the Liver and Kidneys, and cure all stomach disorders, such as Dyspepsia and Indigestion. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

CONFIDENCE IN GLADSTONE.

LONDON, May 13.—Mr. Forster speaking in Bradford last night, said the confidence of the Liberal party in Mr. Gladstone is unabated.

STILL IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, May. 13.—From information received it would appear that the assassins are still in Dublin, and the conclusion is drawn that they are afraid if separated one would turn traitor.

TWELVE PERSONS.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The information gathered on Saturday shows at least twelve persons were engaged in the tragedy. It is believed that in the cab which stood near the scene of the murder, loitering and under the trees, were armed men ready to affect a rescue in case the actual assassins were surprised.

RELATED TO BURNS.

GLASGOW, May 13.—It appears that Gilbert Burns Begg, nephew of Robert Burns, aged 81, is an inmate of the poor-house at Glasgow. The Christian Leader, a Scottish paper, appeals to the charitable on his behalf. While he occupies a pauper's place, it says, it is vain to talk of gratitude to the bard of Coila.

FEMALE STUDENTS.

LONDON, May 13.—The distribution of diplomas and certificates made to the female students of the London University is an event of unusual interest this week, because of the first appearance of "the sweet girl graduates" in academy costumes. The costumes are really very pretty. Sir George Jessel, the vice-chancellor, remarked that if they would wear it in the drawing-room it might further the objects, which, in spite of ardent devotion to study, were still dear to the female heart.

TIME ENOUGH YET.

LONDON, May 13.—The Times says it is not too late for Mr. Parnell and his friends to range themselves on the side of the Government. That is the only way they can render real assistance

BREACH OF PROMISE.

DUBLIN, May 13.—Mr. Biggar, as was presumed last week, is threatened with an action for a breach of promise. The damages are laid at £5,000. The lady is a relative of the Treasurer of the Land League.

INCREASING THE RATE.

LONDON, May 13.—The Anglo-American Telegraph Company's tariff from New York and Canada to the United Kingdom, France, and Germany will be increased on May 22nd to fifty cents a word. Government messages will be charged half rate. Press messages, twenty-five cents and twelve and a half cents. The tariff by the Direct Cable will be also fifty cents a word. No alteration will be made in the press rates.

ALL QUIET.

LONDON, May 13.—There is little of interest to note outside the political arena. Mr. Pease's motion in reference to capital punishment would have created interest at any other time. Mr. Pease wishes the law to recognize murder in two degree, somewhat as in the United States, so that the judge may have the power in cases like that of Dr. Lamson to give other than a capital sentence.

THE ASSASSINS.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The police have now issued descriptions of the four men on the car. Two are described to be about 30 years of age, with sandy hair; one about 35, stout built, dark complexion, and a hollow on the bridge of his nose, and the other about twenty, with a small black mustache. The driver is described as between 35 and 40, with a red, bloated face.

SUSPECTED CAR DRIVER.

BELFAST, May 13.—Corvin, arrested on suspicion of being the car driver of the assassins' car, has been discharged. The police are becoming despondent of securing the assassins.

MIRACULOUS CURE.

KNOCK, May 13.—"A marvellous cure was effected here to-day. A boy, aged 7, born a cripple, was cured and is walking and leaping about now, praise be to Mary, Mother of God. "SISTER M. FRANCES STARK."

TROOPS FOR DUNABERG.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 13.—Count Ignatieff has ordered troops to Dunaberg to suppress agrarian disturbances directed against the German land owners.

WRECK OF A TRANSPORT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 13.—A Turkish transport has gone ashore in the Bosphorus and fifty soldiers were drowned.

RUSSIAN CRUELTY.

ODESSA, May 13.—An Austrian physician, who visited the Jewish hospital at Odessa, found 125 horribly mutilated persons there, the Russians having poured petroleum into their wounds.

THE EMPRESS OF RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 13.—The Imperial family have gone to Peterhoff in view of the appproaching accouchement of the Empress.

A SPECIAL OFFER.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The Government has issued a special proclamation offering a reward of £500 for information leading to the arrest of anyone harbouring the assassins or assisting their escape. Persons harbouring the assassins are liable to be sentenced to penal servitude for life. It is believed the assassins are still in Dublin, their car having been traced back to the city.

THE LORD-LIEUTENANT.

LONDON, May 13.—Since the finding of the canister of powder at the Mansion house, London, the police guards at the law courts and Earl Spencer's escort have been increased.

DEATH IN THE PULPIT.

DUBLIN, May 15.—While Canon Murphy was preaching a sermon to-day against the outrages, in St. Kevin's chapel, he was noticed to raise his hand to his head suddenly, reel, and fall over in the pulpit. Several members of the congregation, among them a physician, rushed to his assistance, when it was discovered that he was dead. The greatest excitement ensued among the congregation, and the services were brought to an abrupt termination. Physicians announced that his death was caused by apoplexy.

A DISGRACE TO JOURNALISM.

We have too often had occasion to point out the wilful falsifications with which the more debased and unscrupulous of the Reform journals oppose the national policy. But a recent performance of the Examiner's throws all others into the shade, and places that journal in the bad pre-eminence of being the champion for mendicity.

In an editorial in its last issue the Examiner says:—

"But perhaps the information elicited by Dr. Orton's questions, directed to and answered only by parties that were considered "right," will not be cavilled at. "Has the tariff raised the price of woollen goods?" "Yes," say 389 witnesses. "No," 172. Has it raised the price of cotton goods? Yes, 348. No, 224. The price of hardware? Yes, 351. No, 182. Here are 1666 witnesses, selected carefully by Dr. Orton from the faithful of the party as supporters of the N. P. Yet over two-thirds of this "packed" jury give the verdict that 'the cost of living, as affected by the use of the three articles dealt with, has increased."

It seems almost incredible that it should be so, but there is not one word of truth in this quotation; every statement in it is a direct and deliberate falsehood invented for the purpose of deceiving its readers as to the effect of the present tariff. We have the official report of Dr. Orton's Committee before us, and here are the facts: Instead of 389 witnesses saying that the tariff had raised the price of woollen goods, as the Examiner states, only 172 said so, while 389 said that it did not raise the price, though [the Examiner gives the number as 172. As to cotton goods, 348 denied that the tariff had increased the price, instead of 224, and only 225 said there was an increase instead of 348. So of hardware, 351 said there had been no increase instead of 182, and 193 assert that there is an increase instead of 351. Thus instead of two thirds of this "jury" giving a verdict that the cost of these three articles had been increased, nearly two thirds of them state that they have not been increased. These tabulated replies were given, not by "parties who were considered right," not by selected supporters of the N. P., not by a packed jury, as the Examiner calumniously states, but by a most intelligent and impartial selection. As is stated in the same official report, copies of the questions were sent to each of the Ontario Reeves, and seven copies to each Ontario member of the House of Commons, with instructions to forward them to the presidents of Agricultural Societies and other leading and intelligent farmers in their several constituencies. In the other provinces all the lists were sent through the members to leading farmers. Even in the matter of the number of replies the Examiner must add another gratuitous untruth, apparently out of mere love for falsehood, for 1666 witnesses the report shows that there were only 720 in all, nearly a third of whom, 228, are Ontario Reeves, whose answers are about in the same proportion favourable.

It seems almost inconceivable that any Canadian journalist can have fallen to such ignominious depths of baseness. It must, we should think, have been a gradual descent, but imagine how the conscience must have been seared and deadened by the practice of this mean and cowardly vice, before venturing upon such reckless falsehood. Such baseness, such dastardly roguery is appalling to contemplate. With the proofs before it that its contentions that the tariff is injurious to the farming community is erroneous, with the proofs before it that the national policy is benefitting the country, the Examiner suppresses them, and then in the hope that its agricultural readers may not read the official report, it takes the desperate step of committing this forgery. One spark of honesty—one trace of manliness—would have made such a mean and dirty trick impossible for it.

As some of our readers may be hardly able to believe that such a contemptible act could have been committed, we invite any one who would judge for himself to call at the REVIEW office and inspect with his own eyes the official report.

QUEER GEOGRAPHY.

If the Lindsay Post will allow us to give it a piece of advice, we would suggest that it should purchase a map of Canada and study the geography of this Province. While at the bookseller's the devil might also be instructed to procure a copy of an old law, which seems to be unknown in the Post sanctum, the Decalogue, the ninth section of which runs:—"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour."

The Post does not like the Re-distribution Bill, so for want of arguments it inflicts upon its readers bad language and bad maps.

Map No. 1 is a forgery. It is called "North Brant," but it is entirely different in shape from the new Riding so entitled. East Brantford is represented of the wrong shape and in the wrong position, so as to show a gap between the two townships, which does not exist, as really they bound each other. The Riding is, in fact, very compact. The relative position of Paris is also falsified in this map.

Map No. 2 is an absurdity. It is labelled North Norfolk. Apparently some Windham schoolboy has been set the task of drawing a map of the Riding from memory and has failed ignominiously. Not a single one of the townships comprised in it, is given in its correct position.

Map No. 3 is a piece of dishonesty, both the suggestio falsi and the suppressio veri being employed. North Ontario as therein depicted is certainly very long and narrow, but so it always has been. This shape indeed is necessitated by the fact that it was and is squeezed in between the County of Victoria and Lake Simcoe. As Mr. Mowat encourages the idea of draining that Lake perhaps North Ontario will thus obtain an extension to the westward, which will render it less narrow. As an additional member has been given to Ontario, two townships to the southward were taken from the North Riding, and as it was thus left without sufficient population several townships have been transferred to it to the northward from Muskoka, which had a surplus population. These are the only changes made. Scugog, before confederation and after confederation, was in North Ontario and still remains there. It also still remains in Lake Scugog, and therefore cannot very well touch any constituency.

Please, Mr. Post, purchase the map, and by no means forget the Decalogue.

STORIES ABOUT THE QUEEN

Her Majesty's Antipathy to signing Death Warrants—A Breach of Etiquette.

Some interesting stories are told of the early days, when the Queen was obliged to sign death warrants, before she was relieved from that odious duty, and a sign manual substituted by Parliament. On several occasions the Queen may be said to have begged off the life of offenders. And on one occasion with a hand trembling from eagerness and emotion, she wrote "pardoned" across the fatal scroll. A great degree of reticence is very properly imposed on all connected with the court. Her Majesty, on principle, has alway steadily discouraged anything in the way of gossip or trivial conversation respecting the affairs of the household. So many persons are brought into passing, and somewhat intimate, connection with royalty, that it is obvious that the sanctity of the vie intime of the court could not be maintained unless such a rule were carefully observed. We remember knowing a lady, who was credited with being a private correspondent of Her Majesty's for years, from her youth; but the most distant allusion to this interesting circumstance never escaped her. Others, though not quite so reticent, are alway guarded and careful.

A draft of a treaty of amity and commerce was sent out from England to Madagascar, and on the margin these words were writen: "Queen Victoria asks, as a personal favour to herself, that the Queen of Madagascar will allow no persecution of the Christians." A month afterwards the treaty was signed in Madagascar, with the insertion of the following words: "In accordance with the wish of Queen Victoria, the Queen of Madagascar engages there shall be no persecution of the Christians in Madagascar."

A pleasant little story went the round of Cambridge University illustrative of wonderful old Whewell, who raised himself from the position of a sizar to be the Master, and subsequently the benefactor, of his college. When the Queen was his guest at Trinity Lodge, or rather took possession of it in her own right, the morning after her arrival, Whewell saluted her with friendly but uncourtly warmth. "Good morning, your Majesty. How d'ye do? Hope your Majesty slept well. Fine morning." The Queen returned a gracious answer—it would not be in her Majesty's nature to do otherwise—but the lords and ladies in attendance were awe-stricken at the frightful breach of etiquette that had been committed, but of which, probably, no one thought less of than did the Queen herself. A similar breach of etiquette is related by Lord Campbell of Lord Brougham. Brougham had quarrelled with all the world, and among the rest he was wrathful toward the blameless Prince. The Prince thought to appease him by asking him to dine with the Queen. He went and dined; but widened his breach with the court by leaving the palace immediately after dinner, instead of going with the rest of the gentlemen into the gallery, into which the Queen had retired with the ladies, and where she is in the habit of conversing with her guests. He afterwards retried to make amends by attending the Queen's drawing-room—a condescension he had not before practised since her accession; but here again he was unfortunate (although I really believe he wished to be civil and respectful) by speaking to the Queen ex mero motu as he passed her, and telling her that "he was to cross over to Paris in a few days, where he should see Louis Philippe, and that if her Majesty had any letter or message for the King of the French, it would give him much pleasure to have the honour of being the bearer of them." Lord Brougham was certainly honoured by no commission from the Queen on that occasion.—London Society.

HANLAN AND ROSS.

Decided to Row on Red River July 3rd—Hanlan's Departure from England.

LONDON, May 12.—Hanlan has been kept busy with fetes and exhibitions, but has now pretty well got through his programme here. On Monday he will leave London for Birmingham to give a last exhibition in England, and will sail for America on Tuesday from Liverpool. As on his previous trips he has made hosts of friends, and his departure will be celebrated by something special. It was hoped that he would give some promise to return and coach one of the university eights next year, but he has not done so. His departure for home on Tuesday is necessitated by the conclusion of an agreement with Wallace Ross to row at Winnipeg on July 3rd for the championship of the world. The champion persists in his announced intention to retire after this race, if successful. None here think he will be otherwise, although Ross is acknowledged to be the most formidable opponent he has ever encountered.

WINDSOR'S SMALL-POX.

Two More Cases—What is Being done Against it.

WINDSOR, May 11.—A special meeting of the Council was held last evening on the small-pox question, to which the Board of Health reported, recommending the Council to provide means for public vaccination; that $500 should be placed to the credit of the Board for expenses already incurred, and to provide additional isolated pest houses. In reply to inquiry as to whether the pest house was in condition to receive patients, Dr. Coventry produced the plan of the hospital (the old barracks). Dr. Aikman moved for a committee to act with the Health Roard, and that $1,000 be placed to their credit. Adopted. Dr. Carney endorsed Dr. Coventry's action, and favored immediate removal of patients to the hospital as the only proper prevention of the spread of the disease. Magistrate Bartlet explained his course and acknowledged himself amenable to fine. Public vaccinators for three wards were then appointed and the Council adjourned.

Joseph Weeks, living on Sol. White's farm, midway between Sandwich and Windsor, has been taken down since last report, and a case on Wellington avenue—the wife of a shoemaker working for Mr. Safford—was also reported this morning.

Miss Shoecraft's death is looked for at any moment, but most of the other cases are doing well.

A meeting of the new committee was to have been held this morning by appointment, but only two members attended. These two were the Mayor (Dr. Coventry), and Dr. Aikman. Dr. Coventry thinks many persons have been unwittingly exposed to the disease, and apprehends another outbreak in ten days or two weeks.

A CHAPTER ON GARDENS.

PARSNIP.—Sow as early as the ground will permit, in deep loamy soil, in rows fifteen inches apart, and thin to six inches in the rows. To keep well in the ground over winter, draw a little earth over the tops. The Hollow-Crowned is the best.

PEAS.—Peas require good ground, enrich with well-rotted manure; fresh manure is injurous. They are usually grown in double drills (that is, two drills) eight inches apart. By doing so, one row of sticks will serve for two rows of peas. The space between the double drills will be about three feet or less, according to the height of the peas. Sow early sorts rather thick, and they will withstand dry weather and yield better than those sown thin. They may be soaked a few hours in warm water previous to sowing. The improved Daniel Burke and Alpha are among the first for earliness; for late the Champion of Enland is superior.

RADISH.—The radish must make a rapid growth to be fit for use. It will then be crisp and tender, and of mild flavor. If grown slowly it will be hard, fibrous and disagreeably pungent. As soon as the ground can be worked select a warm, sunny location, with a sandy soil for out-door beds, and sow at intervals of ten or twelve days for a succession throughout the season. The winter radishes should be sown in July or August—about the time of turnip sowing. Sow half an inch deep in drills nine inches apart. The best early kinds of radishes are the Long Scarlet and French Breakfast.

SQUASH.—The summer or bush varieties may be planted five feet apart; the fall and winter kinds eight or ten feet apart. Treatment same as cucumbers and melons. They thrive best in a rich, warm soil. The summer Crook-neck and White bush are the favorite summer kinds; the Hubbard and Boston Marrow are the best for winter.

TURNIPS FOR GARDEN.—For early crops sow as early in the spring as the ground can be worked, in drills, twelve inches apart, and thin to six or eight inshes; and for general crops up to the middle of August. They succeed best in a light sandy or gravelly soil, abundantly enriched with manure. The red top and white top Strap leaf are the best early turnips; for late the Yellow Globe and Golden Ball are good.

TOMATOES.—As soon as the danger of frost is passed, plant out three or four feet apart each way. It will hasten the swelling and ripening of the fruit at least a week or ten days, to cut off the vine a little below the clusters, and as often as it starts into growth to pinch out all the young shoots. The acme is a fine smooth early tomato. The Canada Victoria Trophy (red) and Golden Trophy are excellent. For canning many prefer the Paragon and Hathaway's Excelsior.

No one will for a moment suppose that this is more than a concise aud abbreviated list. The whole space might have been profitably devoted to a single kind of vegetable, but this is sufficient for the general farmer's garden, and there are more vegetables here mentioned than will be found in the majority of them.

THE SAGE MYSTERY.

Repetition of the Story that Alfred Wood Killed Him—Death of Wood.

The Hamilton Spectator maintains the reliableness of the story published some time ago that the murderer of John B. Sage, of Brantford, was a young man named Wood, who, in a quarrel over a game of billiards, struck the deceased with a billiard cue. The Spectator this morning says:—

There now seems to be no reasonable doubt that the mystery of the murder of John B. Sage of Brantford, has at last been cleared up. It is also morally certain that the hand that slew Sage is cold in death, and that the murderer will never in this world be punished for his crime.

It will be remembered that, last winter, the Spectator published a letter from an undertaker in Brooklyn, N. Y., which letter set forth the fact that a young man from this part of the country had died of small-pox in the hospital there. The dead man had no friends in Brooklyn, and the undertaker wrote to the Spectator in hope that the letter might catch the eye of some person in Canada who was interested in the dead man. This letter was followed sometime after by another from William Barr, of Brooklyn, who said that the dead man, whose name was Alfred Wood, had, during his last illness, told his landlady that he had killed a man in Canada by striking him on the head with a billiard cue. Barr followed his letter up with another, giving a description of Wood, and corroborating his following statement.

MR. BARR'S STATEMENT.

On Thursday, the Mr. Barr, above mentioned, visited the Spectator office and made the following statement:—

I was introduced, said Mr. Barr, to Alfred Wood at the house of Mrs. Taylor, 106 Tillary street, Brooklyn, New York, where we both boarded. In conversation with him I learned that he came from Canada, and as I am a Canadian myself, and knowing Hamilton and Brantford pretty well, we got talking about these places. He told me he had been a brakeman on the Grand Trunk and that when he was paid off he went to Brantford, where he worked for Mr. Cockshutt. He was well posted about Brantford, and spoke of the Cockshutt road, Bow Park farm, and other places. After talking a while he seemed anxious to stop the conversation about Brantford, and afterwards I always found him disinclined to talk about Canada. Once when I came down to breakfast I said to him: "It's a fine day, suppose we take a run up to Canada?" He said "It wouldn't be very healthy for me to go there. If I could go free it would be all right." Wood was a blacksmith helper in Brooklyn, and worked on the day shift. He applied to the foreman to be put on the night shift, and was changed. He told a fellowworkman that every time he saw a strang er come into the shop he thought it was a detective from Canada after him. Mrs. Taylor told me that if anybody chanced to knock at the door when Wood was at his meals, he would get up and go to his room; he seemed to be in constant terror of somebody or something. Some time after I left Mrs. Taylor's Wood was taken sick of small-pox. He told Mrs. Taylor that he had a great secret to tell her, and asked her to watch for the coming of the hospital ambulance, saying that he would tell her when it arrived. She saw the ambulance coming and told him so. Then he said:—

"When I was in Brantford, Canada, I engaged in a game of billiards; I struck a man on the head with a cue, and he fell dead; I murdered him, and if I stayed there I would get 25 years, or be hanged."

After Wood was taken to the hospital, and during the delirium of the fever, he continued shouting that the "detectives from Canada" were after him. His ravings were most horrible, and he died an awful death. He told a woman that if he could get papers signed to allow him to go back to Canada a free man he would willingly work a year in New York for nothing.

A SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCE.

Some time after I wrote to the Spectator Eliza Metler came along. She had two men with her, and she told me they were detectives from Canada. She afterwards told Mrs. Taylor that they were New York Central conductors. She said she lived at Fort Erie, and that she was Wood's mother-in-law. She said she wanted to get a certificate of his death, as he had left her daughter in a critical condition. She told me she was going to see the undertaker to get the certificate, but I found out afterwards that she did not go. She acted very strangely, and I tell you there is something crooked about her. She said that when she got back to Fort Erie she would have the whole business advertised in the papers, and that she would send me a copy; but she never did either. She said she saw an account of Wood's death in the Spectator, and that was how she came to go to Brooklyn.

Before she came she sent a letter:—

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 15, 1882.

The Band.

The members of the band are requested by the Bandmaster to meet at the Hall to-night at 7.30, to make arrangement for the 24th.

The Hastings Fire.

As near as can be estimated the total loss by the fire at Hastings is $52,810 on which there are insurance policies to the amount of over $15,000.

Personal.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin of the Lindsay Post called on us to-day.

Mr. James Ormond formerly a resident of Peterborough is in town on a visit.

Excursion to Belleville.

We understand that the Oddfellows are endevouring to run an excursion to Belleville on the 24th of May. We have not yet learned particulars.

Life Insurance.

Mr. John Burnham, the general agent of the Confederation Life Association is now at the Oriental, on business for that company, and will no doubt call upon some of our readers. This is a Canadian Company and stands high.

The Waterworks.

The first consignment of pipes for the Water. works has now arrived at Montreal, so that the company will soon be in a position to lay them. This however will do nothing towards securing us fire protection unless the Council takes some action in the matter. Perhaps we will get hydrants after George Street is reduced to the same condition as the late flourshing village of Hastings.

Broke His Leg.

On Sunday afternoon a number of young men and boys were amusing themselves by playing ball, running, jumping, etc., in the large field west of Mr. E. Burnham's residence. Among the others was a young fellow named Ottosen, who, while jumping, had the misfortune to fall in a hole and break his right leg below the knee. He was immediately conveyed home and medical attendance secured. There is rather too much of this Sabbath desecration going on in town especially in the outskirts and it would be a good idea for the police to put a stop to it, and the perhaps no more accidents of the above nature would occur. Dr. Sproule, who has charge of the case, says that the break is a very bad one.

Incendiary Fire.

About half past eight o'clock on Saturday night an alarm was sounded for a fire in number one ward, and immediately an immense throng of people hastened down George street, but not the slightest blaze was discernable and many thought that the alarm was a false one. The brigade of course responded, but when opposite the opera house, a messenger stated that the fire had been subdued. Inquiry revealed the fact that a portion of an unoccupied house adjoining the residence of Mr. James Johnston in rear of the Chamberlian block, south of the market square, had again been fired, but the flames being noticed before they had made much headway were soon extinguished. This is the fourth time within a week that attempts have been made to fire this same building and it is incumbent on the authorities to ascertain, if possible, who the firebugs are.

Firebugs at Work.

We are informed by Mr. James Johnston that a fifth attempt to fire his house was made on Saturday night shortly after eleven o'clock, a young man with a dark suit of clothes and wearing a stiff black hat was seen to enter the unoccupied portion of the house, with a handful of shavings, which he procured from a building now being erected in an adjoining yard. The would be incendiary was seen by no less than three persons, so we are credibly informed. We cannot understand the object in attempting to burn the building in question as it is hardly worth the trouble of setting it off. A visit to the place shows traces of no less than five fires, all of which from their position must have been set. At the present time, when our fire protection is so poor, on account of the almost unserviceable condition of the Silsby, we think it the duty of the council or police to place a watchman on the premises or a conflagration that might sweep the whole block may take place on any night.

NO. 1 COMPANY 57th BATTALION.

The Organization of the Company—An Old Volunteer Force.

We have recently come across a small pamphlet containing the by-laws of the "First Volunteer Militia Rifle Company of Peterborough," which was the name by which the present company was formerly known. The company was organized on the 21st February, 1857, so that it has been in existance a quarter of a century, and is one of the oldest companies in the Dominion. Among the rules of the company the following points are of interest, as showing that it was in those days in reality a volunteer company. Each member was required to pay a fee of 25 cents a month to meet current expenses in addition to an entrance fee of $1 on joining, and was required to furnish and pay for his own uniform. Any member appearing at drill deficient in equipment, accoutrement or uniform was subject to a fine, and any member absent from any meeting without a proper excuse was fined 12½ cents, while absence from ordered parade without a proper excuse entailed a fine of 50 cents. A regular cash book was kept by the Treasurer, showing the fees and subscriptions paid in and the moneys paid out. Singularly enough the first name entered in the cashbook as a contributor to the funds, under date of June 8th 1857, is that of J. W. Edwards, the eldest brother of the present captain of the company. New members were elected by ballot, a practise which has recently been revived in "Number One." The by-laws as published have the following note appended:—

"The above by-laws are approved, by order of His Excellency the Right Honorable the Commander in Chief. (Signed.) D. Rottenburge, Colonel, Adjutant General."

The original roll containing the following names, some of them now representing staid citizens who would hardly be suspected of such enthusiasm in their younger days. (It must be remembered however that this was 25 years ago.) W. A. Scott, Captain; Edwin Poole, Lieutenant; R. S. Patterson, Ensign; John Kennedy, Adjutant; Michael Lavell, M. D. Surgeon; Thomas White, jr. Color Sergeant; A. H. Rackett, Bandmaster; Sergeants, Wm. Johnston, Alex. Morrow and Lewis McGregor; Corporals, Wm. Croft, James A. Hall and T. Theobold; Privates, J. Armor, Templeton Brown, J. Barnes, Henry Clarke, Joseph Cobb, Wm. Cumming, Samuel Douglass, E. B. Edmonds, Thomas Fowlis, Alex. Graham, J. Gallon, Edward Green, Erasmus Green, Daniel Haggart, George Haslehurst, F. W. Heather, Milo A. Hawley, George Jeffrey, James Jeffrey, W. Kennedy, Jas. Kennedy, John Kennedy, jr. Martyn Lasher, S. Logan, W. Mocock, James Mitchell, T. Menzies, E. Mannel, Gregor McGregor, W. J. Macomb, Alex. McDonald, George McMillen, W. McCullough, Stephen Norton, John Perry, Francis Rickie, Jas. Ritchie, Joseph Sodie, Thos. H. Thornton, Jos. B. Spencely, John Spencely, Lewis Spry, Richard White, Hugh Wilson, Wm. Wilson, Richard Winch, Alex. McGregor.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, May 15.—"Patsey" Glen paid his usual half yearly visit to the Police Court this morning. It was the same old charge, that of vagrancy. Of "Patsey" it has been truly said that "he receives six months, twice a year" regularly. He said he had no home and was not able to work and asked to be sent to the gaol, where he felt perfectly at home, although he had to do a little light work sometimes. He was accommodated for the ensuing half year, and perhaps longer, he will pass the time in durance vile.

The Fiend.

A Bobcaygen telegram informs us that the Forest House was badly damaged by fire this afternoon. The loss or insurance is not stated. The building is owned by Mr. James Campbell of Peterborough.

Sudden Death.

A young man, aged about 18 years, named John Fitzgerald who has been working for Fitzgerald and Stanger for some time, died suddenly on Sunday from inflammation of the brain. He had only been ailing for two or three days. He was related to Messrs. Tobias and George Fitzgerald.

The Weather.

After the nasty, wet, sloppy weather the sunshine of the last two has been greatly appreciated. Fine weather is also promised. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 10 a. m. to-day by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Lakes—Moderate to fresh northerly winds, fine weather. Stationary or slightly higher temperatures, continued fine warm weather to-morrow.

Railway Notes.

This is pay day on the Midland Railway and on the "Missing Link."

It is found very difficult to procure men enough to work on the railway works.

The Steam Excavator is now at the pit and will be at work in a few days. The other machine has started from Omemee.

Large numbers of persons from town drove out yesterday to the railway works and inspected the steam shovel which is now in position for working.

We understand that work is to be immediately commenced between Bridgewater and Perth and the line from Toronto to Ottawa in ful working order within a year.

The connection between the Midland and Grand Trunk, by which Midland trains will be run into the G. T. R. station before coming down into Belleville, was made on Saturday, and the new arrangement will come into force this week.

IN THE SPRING of the year almost every one requires a good Blood Purifier, more especially in the month of May. We would earnestly advise our readers to try Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. A few doses will soon convince you that it is the best remedy known for affections of the stomach, Bowels, Liver and Kidneys. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

OUR PENCILS.

Whege the Manufacturers, Faber & Co., get Their Cedar.

Cedar Keys is altogether a very lovely group of islands, numbering between thirty and forty isles, often very minute, and the largest not over a mile long. The principal ones are Atsena Otie, Cedar, Piney Point, and Way, Snake and Seahorse Keys, which inclose the port. Seahorse Key lies at the entrance, and is ninety feet high, the loftiest land between Key West and Pensacola. It seems placed there as a breakwater, and a pedestal for the lighthouse which crowns it. It is encircled by a beautiful beach of soft, creamy sand, and is haunted by various legends. Lafitte, the smuggler, is said, with some reason, to have made this islet one of his haunts in the days of his power.

Atsena Otie, which is an Indian name, was originally inhabited by the Indians, and was the first of the group occupied by the whites. The wigwams vanished when Mr. Parsons, then a quartermaster in the army, caused a house to be erected there during the Seminole war. The timbers were brought there already fitted, as he told me. They began to erect the building in the morning, and at night he slept in it, and on the following day filled it with Government stores. A charming beach, fringed with cabbage palms and palmettoes, encircles the isle, and some picturesque residences are grouped in the centre. But Atsena Otie is also the site of the cedar mills of Faber & Co., the famous pencil manufacturer.

This firm was established in 1761, and the present head of the house, A. W. von Faber—he has been ennobled—is the great-grandson of the founder. The manufactory is at Stein, in Bavaria; agencies also exist at Vienna, Paris and London, and a very important branch establishment was founded in New York over twenty years ago, which not only manufactures the cheaper grades of pencil, but also, more recently, gold pens and pen handles of excellent quality. Five hundred different kinds of pencils are manufactured by the Fabers. Most of these depend on two materials for their construction—the lead, or graphite, which comes from the celebrated mine of Aibert, in Siberia, and the wood of the cedar tree. To many it will be a surprise to learn that all the cedar employed in pencil making comes from the State of Florida, and is shipped at Cedar Keys. The requisites in wood used for this purpose are a very fine grain, and what is rare with such wood, softness. Red cedar of the best quality possess these conditions. There are many varieties of cedar, of which two are common in the United States. Of these the white cedar, mistakenly called the cypress, is very common in Florida, and grows to a great height. The red cedar grows almost everywhere, North and South, but it is only that which is found in Florida that is available for pencil making, that which grows elsewhere being coarser, more fibrous, and more full of knots. In Florida the red cedar reaches a height of twenty-five to thirty-five feet, and is divided into the poor quality which can be made into cigar boxes and the like, and the superior sort adapted for pencils. The supply is obtained in the regions watered by the Withlacoochee, the Suwanee, and several other streams emptying into the Gulf of Mexico north and south of Cedar Keys. But as they are all too shallow for ships of large size, the cedar, after being felled in the forests, is hewn into square logs, somewhat larger than railroad ties, and taken to Cedar Keys in flat-bottomed schooner-rigged droghers, decked over, and of light draught. At Cedar Keys the logs are made into rafts, and floated out to ships which anchor off Seahorse Key when drawing too much water to enter the port. The Fabers control over half the supply, and ship all the pencil boards which go to Europe, whether for their own or other pencil factories. These boards are all sawn at the mill of Atsena Otie by a very delicate process. They are the exact length of the pencil, and of two thicknesses—one for the groove into which the graphite is laid, and the other to lay over it and complete the pencil. The amount shipped annually averages one million cubic feet, trimmed and ready to be made into pencils and boxes.

It is evident that this traffic gives a bustling air of thrift to Cedar Keys, quite unusual in a Southern sea-board town. The negroes employed in it are a shrewd, comical class. I was particularly interested in one old fellow who was mending his mainsail, and singing Methodist hymns to himself on a pleasant spring morning. His children played in the sand and chatted to him the while, and his nondescript hat near by on the beach was more picturesque than elegant.

Besides the cedar traffic, Cedar Keys is every year gaining in importance as a distributing port for the turtles, the oysters, the oranges, and the vegetables found on the west coast, or grown at Tampa or Silver Spring. The turtles alone are worth $10,000 annually. As a railroad and steamboat terminus, and the starting point of a proposed fast mail line to Cuba, which would meet a certain demand, it seems to have the promise of a growing prosperity. A few good hotels would also make it an attractive resort in winter, as it is healthy at that season. The Indian or shell mounds of Cedar Keys should also be mentioned as objects of much scientific interest. Composed entirely of oyster shells, and containing remains of pottery, rising to a height of from thirty to sixty feet, and overgrown by live-oaks or vines and palmettoes, the question of their origin will long continue a problem to the geologist or archæologist.

DUNHAM, P. Q., March 10th, 1879.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—About a year ago I fell in the road on to some ice and was badly hurt in the hip joint, which caused me much suffering. I tried various remedies, but none gave relief until I tried Kendall's Spavin Cure. I applied it full strength twice a day for two weeks during last October, and it effected a perfect cure I have since then been well and free from lameness It is very valuable for man as well as or beast.

THE CONTENTED MAN,
Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

WE give our readers in this issue reports of of the more important speeches in the discussion on the appropriation of $290,000 for the opening of the Trent Valley Navigation. It will be seen that Mr. Mackenzie opposed the works, only acting consistently in this with his past record, his endeavour to hand over this important waterway to Mr. Mowat, and his misstatement in the House that the works would cost seven times the amount estimated by the Government Engineers. His confession of ignorance on the subject was disgraceful to him, after having been so long in charge of the department, and shows the little regard he paid to the wants of the country when he was too careless to inform himself with regard to such an important project.

Other prominent leaders of the Reformers, it appears, also opposed the grant, so it will be seen how little hope there is for this much desired work if the Reformers obtain power.

The members of both East and West Peterborough did their part, as might have been expected of them, in support of the project.

The absurd claim of the Peterborough Examiner, read by Mr. Hector Cameron, that placing Mr. Blake in power would secure the construction of the work, was put on its right light, as a mere effort to make political capital, by this opposition of its party leaders, as it had been indeed by its throwing cold water on the progress of the work now that it is undertaken by the present adminstration.

It is plainly evident who are the friends of the project, and under whose auspices we will be likely to see it carried out.

Those who wish to see our magnificent inland waters utilized for the carriage of the produce of the west to the markets of the east, and for the conveyance of the raw materials and manufactured goods of the factories that will then be encouraged to avail themselves of our abundant water power, will certainly wish to retain in power those who can fill the public treasury and employ it for the development of the country, rather than restore those whose reign was noted for its deficits, and for the neglect of such projects for the improvement of the country.

WHY ARE WE BILIOUS?—Why do we have sick headache? Why do we feel weak and tried with little or no appetite? Why that coating of the tongue and that bad taste of the mouth? Your liver is out of order, and does not do its work as nature designs. Baxter Mandrake Bitters act directly on the liver, stomach and bowels, and will relieve you at once. They are the best medicine known for costiveness, which is the starting point of ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of all the complaints that human flesh is heir to.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE ASSASSINS' DRIVER.

DUBLIN, May 15.—The assassins dispersed when the car returned to the stable on the night of the murder. The police suspect who the driver is, and have him under surveillance. He may be arrested, but the detectives have no chance of bringing home his guilt unless an informer comes forward. The persons who witnessed the assassins' flight have been shown the car, horse, and suspected driver, but their evidence as to indentity is conflicting and unsatisfactory.

THAT POWDER.

LONDON, May 15.—The Common Council offer a reward of £500 for the conviction of the persons guilty of placing a canister of power on the railing of the Mansion house of Friday.

THE BALLINA AFFAIR.

LONDON, May 15.—In the house of Commons to-day the Attorney-General for Ireland announced that the sub-inspector commanding the police when a crowd was fired upon recently at Ballina has been relieved from duty.

SPIRITUALIST VOLUNTEERS.

LONDON, May 15.—A number of spiritualists have been pestering the authorities with the results of their divinations as to the hiding place of the assassins, the names of the murderers, and the number of the car. Their suggestions meet with no attention.

SCENE IN THE HOUSE.

LONDON, May 15.—Mr. Parnell read his letter attentively. He was listened to and received with signs of moderate approbation here and there. After a long silence, Mr. Forster, with slow and ponderous deliberation, rose and asked Mr. Parnell whether he had read the whole letter. Instantly there was a tremendous uproar and vociferous cheers from the Opposition. Mr. Parnell replied that he read from a copy of his own letter. Captain O'Shea read a paragraph omitted by Mr. Parnell stating that if the reforms specified were made the Land Leaguers might act cordially with the Liberal principles. The reading was received with cheers from the Opposition benches.

EXPULSION OF ALIENS.

DUBLIN, May 15.—The text of the Repression bill shows that an alien may be expelled from Ireland, and may subsequently be expelled from Great Britain.

AMERICAN.

ROCHESTER DYNAMITERS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 15.—Wm. Quinn and James Doyle, young Irishmen of the Ninth ward, have been arrested charged with exploding a dynamite bomb on Lyell street, in this city, at eight o'clock last evening. By the light of matches the bomb was carefully placed in an ice wagon. Its handlers then retired several rods and threw stones at it, finally hitting and exploding it. There was a tremendous report, which was heard for a mile or two, the wagon was blown to atoms, and the front was blown from a grocery store adjacent. Several children and two adults say they witnessed the entire proceedings, and fully identify Quinn and Doyle as the perpetrators, though the latter have denied it. They pleaded not guilty, and have been held in $1,000 bail for examination. The police are looking for five similar bombs said to be in the possession of Doyle and Quinn. No motive for the dangerous proceeding is yet assigned.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGE.

PALESTINE, Ind., May 15.—Hessner's saloon was blown up with dynamite on Saturday by radical temperance men. An old man up-stairs had his leg broken. This is the third time the saloon has been blown up. An indignation meeting was held and a reward for the perpetrators offered.

THE SUTTON MURDER.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 15.—William Richards, an Englishman arrested at Waterbury two weeks ago for the murder of Joseph Jackson, a brother immigrant, at Abercorn, Quebec, last July, has confessed. He says they quarrelled over a little money. Jackson struck him in the face. Richards then knocked Jackson down, his skull being fractured by striking a stone. Richard carried Jackson to the abyss and threw him down, the fall mangling his body. Richards went down and rifled Jackson's pocket of $10. Extradition proceeding have been commenced.

THE MARINE BICYCLE.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 15.—The marine bicycle is a decided novelty in Buffalo. It will be introduced here this season. The motive power is a screw propeller worked by the wheel exactly as the land machine. The float is in the style of a catamaran, each boat being 22 inches long and 7 inches wide. These have air-tight compartments and are perfectly safe, so much so that an experienced rider has no trouble or danger even in the heaviest sea. The speed will be from eight to ten miles an hour. An awning overhead can be utilized as a sail when the wind is favorable.

GUITEAU'S FATE.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—It is learned authoritatively that a unanimous decision upon the Guiteau exceptions will be rendered by the District Supreme Court next Monday. There is no longer any doubt that it will overrule all the exceptions, and consequently affirm the sentence of the court below. It is understood that one judge was inclined to attach much importance to the question against the competency of Mrs. Dunmire's testimony, and that another found considerable difficulty in coming to an agreement with his colleagues on the question of jurisdiction; but although these two judges may perhaps take occasion to express opinions in some degree dissenting from their colleagues' processes of reasoning on these points, the decision itself will be as above stated.

CONFLAGRATION.

The Village of Danville, Quebec, Reduced to Ashes—Fanned by a Hurricane.

RICHMOND STATION, Que., May 15.—This forenoon in Montreal rumors were current that the Village of Danville had taken fire in the morning and had been burned down completely, involving a loss of nearly $200,000, and also that of several lives. The pretty little town of Danville is situated in the valley through which the G. T. R. runs to Quebec, and as the country is of a rolling description nature provides beautiful spots for private dwellings. The scene presented was one of the utmost sadness. Ruins of the finest buildings in the place were all that were left, while in the case of buildings exclusively of wood there was no trace save the nails, the ashes having been blown away to the four winds. About four o'clock fire wns discovered coming from the boiler-room of Goodhue's tannery.

A STORMY SCENE.

LONDON, May 16.—Mr. Gladstone, replying to a request from Sir S. Northcote for further information regarding the negotiations with the suspects, replied that it was not conducive to the maintenance of law and order to explain the details. He had had no communication with Parnell and there were no official communications or stipulations. In consequence of Mr. Gladstone's answer, Mr. Balfour (Conservative) moved the adjournment of the House. A long debate is expected. Mr. Balfour said that the compact with the suspects was unexampled in infamy. Mr. Gladstone, speaking with great passion, declared that there was not a word of truth in the charge that a compact existed, and that such assertions were a disgrace to those making them.

WAR IN CHILI.

LUNA, April 26.—At Nahueirpuquio recently the Chilian troops had a battle with Indian natives armed with lances and slings. The Chilians were ordered to give no quarter. Over a hundred Indians were killed. Two Chilians were wounded. Two days afterwards the Indians attacked the Chilians, but were repulsed with great slaughter. The Indians are fighting against oppression. The spirit of revolt is spreading.

A PREACHER'S BENDER.

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—Dr. Lafton, pastor of the 3rd Baptist Church, left town on Friday on a train. It is alleged that he put his arm around a lady with whom he was sitting. He returned home and said he offered no insult to the lady and that the men whipped him without cause and the bottle contained rock and rye and clycerine prescribed by a physician.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

Debate on the Appropriation—Mr. Mackenzie Opposes It.

We take from Hansard the following copious extracts from the official report of the discussion on the appropriation of £290,000 for the Trent Valley Navigation :—

Sir RICHARD J. CARTWRIGHT. What is the plan under which the hon. gentleman proposes to improve that navigation, and what is the length of navigation he hopes to get?

Sir CHARLES TUPPER. The hon. gentleman is aware that the subject of the Trent navigation has been engaging the attention of the Government for the past year. A very careful survey was entered upon for the purpose of ascertaining the cost of getting a depth of five feet of water throughout the whole system on the Trent navigation. That survey has been vigorously prosecuted during the past season, but it was, owing to its difficult and extended character, impossible to make such an exact and accurate location survey as to give with anything like accuracy what the cost would be. We shall presently come to an additional item of $8,000 to prosecute that survey to its completion during the present season. It was found, however, that by the expenditure of the amount expended in the Estimates we would accomplish a great object in opening up internal water communications in that section of the country. The hon. gentleman knows that at present there is clear communication from below Hastings to Peterborough, and from Lakefield, near Peterborough, by the expenditure proposed at Buckhorn, Burley Rapids and Fenelon Falls, communication can be obtained from the railway at Lakefield to the railway at Coboconk, from which there is railway communication to Toronto. About sixty-five miles of navigation will be opened in this way, and a large section of country will also be opened up by connection with the latter waters. These works will open up a navigation altogether of some 150 miles.

Sir RICHARD J. CARTWRIGHT. To what point does the hon. Minister hope to extend this system finally?

Sir CHARLES TUPPER. That is a question which I would not like to answer, because it will require a survey in order to be in a position to look the question fair in the face and say what expenditure would be involved in building the line of communication which has been known as the Trent Navigation.

Mr. ANGLIN. Nowadays, no one, as a matter of choice, would transfer freight from railways to steamers if railway communication throughout can be had.

Mr. MACKENZIE. I think the hon. gentleman is committing a great mistake in beginning a new canal in the present state of transportation eastward. We have expended about $12,000,000 on the new Welland Canal, and so far as I know there is only one vessel, and that one on the stocks, at all suitable for the navigation of that canal, showing that progress by rail is reaching a point that sets our canal navigation at defiance. I asked some of the principal shippers how it was that after the Government expended so much money on that work that they did not use it more, and I was told by them that they had great doubts whether it would pay to carry grain by vessels at all or not. At any rate the hon. gentleman should have a completed scheme before Parliament instead of building a canal in the middle of the country, without beginning or end. No man can vote for that intelligently; nobody knows where it is; there is no map before us, no plan, no report of an engineer, nothing on which we can base any argument.

Sir CHARLES TUPPER. Before concurrence I will lay upon the Table of the House the report of the engineer and a map showing what is to be done.

Mr. CAMERON (Victoria). I do not agree with the hon. member for Lambton that the days of canals is past; but I do not intend to discuss that question to-night. The hon. gentleman says that nobody knows where this proposed canal is to be. It seems very strange that such a remark should come from him, considering that for so many years he held the position of Minister of Public Works, and that a large number of these Trent works were done under his charge, and I suppose that with that devotion to the duties of his office that he always showed, he made himself thoroughly familiar with the position and character of these works. The subject has been discussed in this House on more than one occasion, and I think the members know pretty well where the canal is. I look upon it as a most important work to the general interests of the Dominion, and not only to the locality. This canal, when completed, will afford the shortest route for the transmission of grain from the Georgian Bay by way of the Trent River and the St. Lawrence River to Montreal. Grain can be carried from the whole of the North-West and the Western States, through Lake Michigan, Lake Superior and Lake Huron to the Georgian Bay, where there are excellent harbors, and then transhipped to barges, which will be able to pass through this canal without any change of barge till they reach the ships at Montreal. A great portion of the grain trade now carried to American ports would in that way be carried to Montreal. Therefore I say that this is a matter in which the people of the Dominion at large are very much concerned. It would afford a saving of some 400 miles of navigation which is necessitated by the present route through Lake Huron, Lake St. Clair, Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, and would constitute a far shorter and more valuable route than that now existing by the Welland Canal. With regard to the general policy of building canals, it is to be regretted that the hon. member for Lambton did not long ago come to the conclusion that he has apparently come to now, that all the money that has been expended on the Welland Canal and other canals is thrown away, because if he had acted on that view when he had a large majority at his back in this House he would, if his views are right, have saved to the country the expenditure of a large amount of money. I am glad for one reason that he has expressed himself satisfactorily, because in the newspapers supporting the party to which he belongs in the neighborhood where this canal is proposed to be built, it has been put forward that if the people want that canal built they have to return Mr. Blake and his party to power. For instance, the Peterborough Examiner, which is the organ of the party in the county of Peterborough, and which is edited by a man who stands very high in the confidence of the party in that neighborhood, in an article on the subject, after referring to the fact that the Session has nearly closed, winds up by saying:

"If the Government do not build the work at once, Mr. Blake and his party will. We await the issue."

In an article published on the 31st March, 1881, in the same paper, there is this passage :

"We believe we are justified in saying that nothing would more effectually secure the construction of this important work than the placing of Mr. Edward Blake in power."

I am sure the hon. member for Lambton speaks the opinions of the Opposition generally upon this subject, and if he does it is quite evident that this newspaper does not. If the Opposition take the position that the canal is a useless work, that all the money spent upon it will be thrown away, as a matter of course in the event of Mr. Blake and his friends coming into power we cannot hope that a dollar will be spent upon it or that the work will be continued. I am quite prepared, if necessary, to show the great usefulness which this work will be to the country at large as well as to the neighborhood, if completed. The construction of locks at Fenelon Falls was not much, as a lock exists now at Balsam Rapids, and one at Bobcaygeon will open navigation to the extent of upwards of 100 miles, and by the removal of obstructions at Buckhorn and at Burleigh Rapids, navigation will be opened to Lakefield, and an immense advantage will be conferred on all the inhabitants of that section of the country. They feel, and I think with some right, that when the Government is in a position, which fortunately it is, to expend a large amount of money on public works, that district should not be neglected, especially when the work in question is one of great benefit, not only to the neighborhood, but to the whole Dominion.

Mr. MACKENZIE, I am glad the hon. member for Victoria has spoken, for I have got more information from him than from the Minister. I knew nothing about a barge navigation of four or five feet, but the hon. gentleman has the facts at his fingers' ends.

Mr. CAMERON (Victoria). The report was laid on the Table of the House last Session.

Mr. MACKENZIE. We are not in last Session, but in this Session.

Mr. CAMERON. Another report was laid on the Table this Session.

Mr. MACKENZIE. I never saw it, and I rather think the hon. gentleman's information is private.

Mr. CAMERON. I read the report of last Session. Though I have not read a report for this Session, I am sure there was one.

Mr. BOWELL. I must express my surprise at the confession of the hon. member for Lampton of ignorance as to this work. A gentleman of his industry, and who has given so much attention to public work, should not have forgotten all about this one, when the first report on it was made by Mr. Birch, as long ago as 1835. The route has been surveyed a number of times since and several reports have been made as to its stability. The hon. gentleman's ignorance is also strange when we reflect that one of the last acts of his Government was to transfer all those works to the Ontario Government; and when we remember that agreements had been made with some of the gentlemen lying along the line of that proposed line, by which they had purchased the drowned lines, and dams were to be cut down which assisted the navigation along that route, and that they were about making a pretty good speculation out of the transaction. However when the present Government came into power, always recognizing the importance of opening up that inland navigation, they set aside the Order in Council transferring those works for nothing to the Ontario Government, who as I have already said, were about having the dams blown out, and the lands which had been paid for by old Canada transferred to private parties. In addition to that there has been portions of that navigation which have been assisted by the Ontario Government since Confederation by the construction of some small dams and a small canal connecting one or two of the lakes, and when this question was before the House a few years ago it met with the determined opposition of hon. gentlemen opposite. I am glad that many of them have been converted to this scheme, either by their silence or by the conviction of its necessity in the interests of the country. When the question was discussed two or three years ago there was a little opposition to it. I think we know what quelled that opposition, when we reflect that certain influential politicians living along that line intimated to the leader of the present Opposition that it was not in their interest to oppose it. Consequently we had no opposition till to-night from the hon. member for Lampton. I was in hopes that every man on the Opposition side who has given the slightes attention to this matter had been converted to the belief that it was necessary in the interest of the country. I am not surprised at the remark of the hon. member for West Hastings, because if this is ever completed, it will terminate at the Bay of Quinte in his constituency. It must be very gratifying to him to know that the Government have taken a very great interest in this work from its organization. If the Government have had no other support from the hon. gentleman, I am glad to know he is willing to support them in this work, which will be of such paramount importance to the constituency he represents.

Mr. MACKENZIE. The proper course, as I have always held, is, that if works of this kind are to be kept at all they should be kept by the Local Government. The Rideau Canal is another case similar to that. We expend $50,000 per year on it, and only receive $6,000 or $7,000 per year revenue from it. What is the use of that canal to the trade of the country, surrounded as it is by railways. With regard to the transfer of this navigation, I was not the first Minister of Public Works that purposed this course; the present Minister of Public Works took the initiative in that matter.

Mr. BOWELL. That is true, but the hon. gentleman should have been candid enough to state that when the hon. Minister of Public Works offered to transfer them to the Local Government, it was with the destinct understanding that they should be kept up. The hon. gentleman transferred them without any such condition.

Mr. CAMERON (Victoria). He transferred them although he had the distinct statement of the Ontario Government that they would not keep them up, and the only Statute authorizing the transfer stipulating that such works can only be transferred for the purpose of maintaining them.

Mr. MACKENZIE. I do not intend to discuss that matter to-night further than to say that the works were practically mixed up then. They cost $6,000 per year and their revenue last year was $290.57.

Sir CHARLES TUPPER. As the hon. gentleman has complained of my not giving him sufficient information in reference to this I will read the report. It is as follows :—

"COPY OF REPORT TO COUNCIL, NO. 17,495,

APRIL 8, 1882.

"(Order in Council, No. 94,566, April 17, 1882.)

"The undersigned has the honor to represent that from time to time during many years past, as shown in successive annual and other reports, the establishment of a line of water communication between Lake Ontario, at the mouth of the river Trent, and Lake Huron, through the utilizing of existing river and lake waters, has been under consideration.

"That in 1833 a survey of a section of country extending from the mouth of the Trent to Rice Lake, was made by Mr. N. H. Baird, and in 1835 a further survey was made by him, dealing with the remaining section between Rice Lake and Lake Simcoe. The contemplated course being as follows:—'Through the River Trent, Rice Lake, the River Otonabee, and lakes Clear, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon, and Cameron to Lake Balsam, the summit water, about 166 miles from Trenton. From Lake Balsam by a canal and the River Talbot to Lake Simcoe: thence by the River Severn to Georgian Bay, Lake Huron, the total distance being about 235 miles.'

"That operations were thereupon commenced, but were subsequently in 1839, suspended, owing to a lack of funds, and that in 1841 at the time of the Union, the scheme of forming a line of through communication was laid aside. The works were, however, utilized and others were executed to aid in the passage of timber, for which purpose and for what use they have, in part at least, been maintained ever since. The dimensions of the Dominion Locks are 133 feet 6 inches in length, by 33 feet in width, with 5 feet of water on the sills.

"That in consequence of representations made and the reception of various petitions from parties interested, an appropriation was voted during the last Session of Parliament to cover the cost of a further survey and examination of the rivers and lakes lying between the Bay of Quinte and Georgian Bay, and that under date the 20th inst. a report has been received from Mr. Thomas Rubidge, the engineer appointed to conduct such survey.

"That under instructions, Mr. Rubidge has directed his attention more specially to the determination of points where the construction of works would afford the greatest immediate advantage to local navigation, such works being at the same time, an integral part of any greater scheme of through communication which may hereafter be carried out. His report accordingly deals exclusively with that chain of lakes designated by him the 'Back Lakes,' which form the head waters of the River Otonabee and extends from Lake Kitchiwanno to Balsam Lake, the summit waters of the projected canal, this chain forming part of the main line of communication recommended by Mr. Baird.

"That Mr. Rubidge's report favors the construction of the following works, the estimated cost of which is given :

"1. Fenelon Falls, two locks and swing bridge, opening out the route from Balsam Lake to Mud and Scugog Lakes.....	$100,000
"2. Buckhorn Rapids, one lock connecting Pigeon and Buckhorn Lakes with Deer Bay.....	50,000
"3. Burleigh Chute and Falls, three locks and dam, to connect Deer Bay with Stoney and Clear lakes.....	140,000
	$290,000

"That by the works named communication would be opened between Lakefield at the head of the Otonabee Rapids, about six miles from the town of Peterborough, and Lake Sturgeon, a distance of 45 miles; thence to Coboconk on Gull River, flowing into Balsam Lake, a distance of 15 miles, a southern route being opened from Lake Sturgeon to Port Perry on Lake Scugog, a distance of 35 miles, by means of an existing lock at Lindsay, built by the Ontario Government in 1879.

"That in addition to the above the construction of these works would open up some 55 miles of lateral navigation, making a total of 150 miles, bringing a very considerable extent of country into direct communication with the western and southern railway systems of Ontario.

"That a report made by the Chief Engineer on the 29th ultimo, shows that the upward route to be followed by a vessel upon the completion of the works suggested, would be as follows :—

"Starting from Lakefield, a lock at Young's Point, built by the Government of the Province of Ontario, gives access to Clear Lake and Stoney Lake, at the head of which the two proposed new locks at Burleigh Falls and the one new lock at Burleigh Chute, would open communication with Deer Bay, a further new lock at Buckhorn Rapids giving a passage to Pigeon Lake: at Bobcaygeon a lock was built in 1857 by the Canadian Government, connecting Pigeon Lake with Sturgeon Lake, while the construction of the two new locks at Fenelon Falls would afford access from Sturgeon into Cameron's Lake; whence by means of a lock built by the Ontario Government, a vessel could pass up to Coboconk, and so through to Balsam Lake, the summit waters; of the several works specified, the Chief Engineer considers those at Fenelon Falls to be the most important.

"The Minister recognizing the fact that the interests of a very large section of country would be served by the opening up of navigation in this district, and that the works as above set forth are the best calculated to meet immediate requirements, while being at the same time of use in any further development in this direction, recommends that the sum of $290,000 be placed in the Supplementary Estimates for the years 1882 and 1883, to be laid before Parliament during its present Session."

Mr. HILLIARD. I am sorry to hear the hon. gentleman speak so disparagingly of our waterways; I think they are able to maintain themselves. The fact that we find such a great difference in railway rates between summer and winter should cause us to maintain our waterways. I contend that this waterway is worthy the attention of the Government. If the hon. member for Lambton should visit those water stretches I am sure he would call them magnificent. Between the Bay of Quinte and Georgian Bay we have 160 miles of navigable waters. I maintain that freight can be carried cheaper through this route than by any other route. Here we have complete land-locked navigation perfectly safe and free from storms. It is desirable that the Dominion Government should adopt some plan to avoid the numerous accidents that occur on the larger lakes. Take as an instance the accident that occured last fall on Lake Ontario, when the Zimmerman was lost. When we consider that the great North-West is opening up, and requires some mode of transporting its products to the east, it certainly behoves us to look to our waterways. The system of farming in the West is different from that in Ontario. In the West they thresh the wheat in the field, while in Ontario they put their wheat in the barn before threshing it, and it there goes through a certain sweating process that prepares it for a long transportation. The wheat of the West, on the other hand, is not in condition to go into the hold of a vessel to be carried through to Montreal, though it might very well go to the terminus of this canal and pass through the elevator at that point. I contend that by the advantages that this route has to offer, we need fear no competition on the question of transit from the great West. We read in a report of the State Engineer, at New York, that that "miserable ditch," the Erie Canal, is able to compete with their first railways, and I think, therefore, we need not have any doubt as to the success of this route.

Mr. BURNHAM. I think the hon. member for West Hastings is correct to some extent in what he says in regard to the late Mr. Keeler. Mr. Keeler did favor the removal of the lower dam at Chisholm, but only in the event of the canal system not being taken up by the Dominion Government. But he was not in favor of the abolition of those dams, nor was he opposed to the Trent Valley navigation. The ex-Minister spoke of the ignorance that prevailed respecting the proposed work. If he had taken the same interest in the internal navigation of the country as the present Minister of Railways and Canals, and had visited the country and gone over the route and ascertained for himself whether such a system could not be carried out, he would have been in a bettet position to have spoken on the matter. After this report was brought in by Mr. Keeler the Government sent Mr. Stark, a competent engineer, and he made a report, which was laid on the Table of the House, in which was given an approximate cost of the canal. A perusal of that report establishes the fact that that canal is a practicable one, and that the system proposed by Mr. Baird was one which should be carried out. I hope the Government will this year carry on the survey, and will be able to show next Session that Mr. Stark's survey on the estimate can be carried out.

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR!

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable, the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms and the cure—viz.:

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Influenza, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis,

and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the lungs, then an inflammation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry; then becomes local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

CONSUMPTION

IT HEALS THE ULCERATED SURFACES

and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are so far drying & nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases. Price 25cts. and $1 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

MONTREAL, P. Q.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

Three gay little lads on a winter's night
Sat cracking their nuts by the pine-tops' light—
Sat cracking their nuts, and laughing with glee
At the wonderful things they would go and see.
That was forty years ago,
Round the cot and pine wood fen,
Now a noble city stands
There with many toiling hands,
And the little lads are men.

Said Harry; "I really don't know which is best,
To shoulder my rifle and go to the West,
Or to harpoon the whales in the Arctic seas;
But I shall be sure to do one of these."
That was forty years ago—
And the hunter never went
He's a man of stocks and shares,
Great among the "Bulls" and "Bears,"
And a railroad president.

Little Willy said, slowly: "I hate the noise
And crowd of cities; and I shall go, boys,
To some far Western prairie and pitch my tent,
And live like Robinson, content."
That was forty years ago,
Willy is a merchant bold;
Will's name's in every land
Every market feels his hand,
And his word is good as gold.

Now Jack had been reading a wonderful tale,
And he said:—"I shall go, if my plans do not fail,
To be Captain Al' Baba, and to find me a cave,
With forty good robbers, all clever and brave."
That was forty years ago,
Jack's a Judge of sternest sort;
No one stands like him for Law;
Thieves and gamblers stand in awe
Of his unrelenting Court.

FENELON FALLS.

A MYSTERY.—The Gazette says that on Friday of last week the body of Mr. Francis Pilkie, a French Canadian who died in this village, was taken to Lindsay for interment in the Catholic burying-ground, and Mr. A. Lalibarte, his father, and two other countrymen of the deceased accompanied it. While returning home in a light spring waggon, Mr. Laliberte took out his pocket-book for the purpose of returning 50 cents which he had borrowed from his father earlier in the day, and, having done so, closed the pocket-book, which contained seven or eight dollars, and put it into his outside pocket of his overcoat, on the side next to the person who occupied the same seat. He thought it was safe, but when he reached the Falls it was gone, and what became of it is a mystery; for it could hardly have been jercked out of the waggon, which had a deep box, and the road was smooth and level. If the pocket book was lost, the finder must know who it belonged to, as it had Mr. Laliberte's name, business and address written at full length on the inside of the flap.

A CHILD SCALDED.—Last Wednesday evening Mr. John Louden's only child, a little girl about 18 months' old, was badily scalded on the left cheek, shoulder and arm, and also under the armpit. Mrs. Louden had boiled some potatoes, and just as she poured the water from them into a tin pan on the stove hearth, the child slipped out of a rocking-chair in which her mother had placed her, and caught at the pan to save herself from falling. Mrs. Louden seized it at the same moment, but not quite quickly enough to prevent some of the hot water being spilt over the little one. Fortunately there was a quantity of paint oil in the house, and with this the scalded parts were bathed while Mr. Louden ran up town and returned with Dr. Wilson, who applied other remedies. We are sorry to hear this (Friday) morning that the poor little patient is in a critical condition.

GOOD WEIGHT.—Mr. John Cullis, of Fenelon, was in this village on Wednesday with a couple of fat cattle for the butcher, and while here he told somebody, who told us, that he had that morning weighed a heifer calf, three months old, and that it turned the skale at 350 lbs. Unfortunately our informant could not give us any particulars concerning the animal; but we are tolerably safe in asserting that it is either a pure Durham or a good grade, as Mr. Cullis is far too enlightened and progressive a farmer to waste time and money in raising "native" cattle.

STEAMER SUNK.—As the steamer Coboconk was approaching the Rosedals locks, on her way to the Falls, she ran against a snag, which knocked so large a hole in her bottom that she filled and sank as soon as she entered the locks, where she now lies.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

HOW TO MAKE PLANTS GROW.—Collect some soot from a chimney or a stove where wood is used as fuel, put in into an old pitcher and pour hot water on it. When cool use it to water your plants every few days. The effect upon plants is wonderful in producing a rapid growth of thrifty shoots and a greater number of thick, richly-tinted leaves.

THE CHILDREN'S BED. In making preparations in the flower garden, do not forget the children's bed. If they are old enough to take care of it themselves, all the better, but let there be a place filled with common and pleasing flowers, where they can go and pluck at will and not be in fear of the injunction. "don't touch."

RIDDING SHEEP OF LICE.—We receive many inquiries as to the best means of ridding sheep of lice and other parasites. The Ninth Annual Report of the New Jersey Board of Agriculture just at hand, states that Little's "Sheep Dip" has been adopted with complete success on the sheep farm of the Secretary of State (Henry E. Kelsey), located in Sussex County. This dip or fluid which is rapidly coming into use in the United States has, it is claimed, no poisonous qualities, and can be used to destroy lice on other animals as well as sheep; it is also used as an internal remedy for worms, and as a wash for sores.

SEPARATING HONEY.—A correspondent, who has not hives enough to warrant the purchase of an "Extractor" asks how he can separate the honey from the comb without one. There are two methods. One is to break up the combs and place them on a colander, and allow the honey to drain from them into a pan, occasionally stirring the mass. Another is to place the combs in a vessel and gradually heat. The wax will melt and rise to the top; when cool, this may be separated from the honey below, as a solid cake. At the same time any impurities will settle to the bottom of the honey from which it should be carefully poured.

THE LAWN MOWER.—There is one question which we cannot answer; that is, "Which is the best Lawn Mower?"—Of late years we have not seen a poor one, and there are several so nearly perfect, that it can not be difficult to select one that will do good service. Lawn Mowers are now offered at such moderate prices that one can not afford to mow a grass plot of even moderate size, in the old way, with scythe and sickle. The mowing of the lawn is so easily done with the mower that there is danger that it may be used to excess. In spring and early summer, while the grass is growing, it can hardly be used too often, but as hot weather comes on and the growth of grass is checked, the cutting should be less frequent. It is well to bear in mind that grass is governed in its growth by the same laws that hold with all other plants. The amount of root growth depends on that of the stems and leaves. A certain amount of cutting of the foliage tends to increase its vigor, and at the same time there will be a corresponding growth of root. But we may cut too much, especially in hot weather—and weaken both top and root growth. The only general rule that can be given is, when the grass is growing rapidly, mow often; when hot weather checks the growth, mow less frequently; do not follow any set time for mowing, but be governed by the condition of the grass and the weather.

THE new stave and barrel factory, at Picton, Ont., is now almost ready for operation. It is the intention of the owners to manufacture 35,000 or 40,000 barrels—or sufficient for the shipment of the season's crop of apples—and also to manufacture large quantities of staves for shipment.

THE Chronicle says Messrs. McLachlin Bros., Arnprior, are making arrangements to have their mills and lumber yard lighted by electricity this season. They also intend building waterworks, with hydrants at convenient distances, all through their lumber yard, for the purpose of acquiring more efficient protection against fire. Their forethought and enterprise in this direction is worthy of emulation.

THE prospectus of a large carriage factory, to be established at St. Catharines, has been issued. It is intended to manufacture street cars, railway cars, wagons, and buggies, and the concern will be called the St. Catharines Manufacturing Company. It will employ between 80 and 100 men at the start. Capital, $75,000, in shares of $100 each. The stock books are opened, and a large amount of stock has already been subscribed.

THE Monetary Times says that the manufacture of wooden houses, in sections which can be taken apart and readily transported to our prairie lands, or to northwestern villages, is an important and likely industry. Such houses have been made in Chicago and St. Paul, for Dakota and Minnesota, and we believe they are made in Ottawa for Manitoba. We are glad to notice the formation of a company with a capital of $120,000 for the manufacture of prairie houses. The principals are stated to be Robt. Hay, M.P., Mr. Colby, M.P., Hon. Dr. Schultz, Messrs. Dawson, E. A. Pew, of Welland, and Hilaire, of Montreal. The factory will be situated at Welland.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—From the Kingston (Ont.) Daily Whig.—This old medicine, the ever-effective healer of ills that flesh is heir to, is still before the public in its full favor. It stated on its career of mercy (for a good medicine is a merciful agent), forty years ago, and is to-day sought after by the children of the men who first sought out its virtue and established its name. Were it not for its merits it would long since have "died and left no sign," like many a once popular curative has done even in the last five years. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is no artificial, deleterious compound, certain to afford temporary relief only by cutting its way by powerful agents through vitality, yet leaving a worse injury behind it. It is a vegetable, and by natural remedies works off complaints from a slight cold to a threatening consumption. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1882.

First of the Season.

The first drowning accident of the season occurred last night, by which a young boy aged about five years, named Francis Giblin Gain, lost his life. It appears from what we learn that the victim, whose parents reside opposite the Market Square, was wandering at the bank of the river, when he fell in. The first trace was finding his hat, which was floating on the top of the water. Strenuous efforts have been made to raise the body, but without success when we went to press.

On The Street.

No less than nine cows perambulated McDonnell street this morning. Let us see is there not some kind of a by-law to stop it?

Carworks.

The Belleville carworks company appears to be getting on swimmingly. A company has been provisionally formed, and $65,000 out of the $100,000 stock required has been subscribed.

Court of Revision.

The first sitting of the Court of Revision on the assessment roll of the town of Peterborough for the year 1882 will be held at the Council Chamber on Thursday May 25th, at 7.30 o'clock.

First of the Season.

Long Bros. have commenced their delicious Ice Cream and Soda Water. All will be pleased to know this. Now is the time to enjoy yourselves and Long Bros. is the place to go.

Found.

Mr. John Hewett was found at Mount Pleasant, about 12 or 14 miles from town on Sunday night. A telegram to the Chief of Police conveyed the intelligence. He is at home now.

Ashburnham Conservatives.

A meeting of the Liberal Conservatives of the village of Ashburnham will be held at the Council Chamber, Ashburnham, for the purpose of forming an association, on Monday evening next at 7.30 p. m.

Midland Railway Traffic Returns.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending May 6th, 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $4,222.65; freight, $18,053.98; total, $22,276.63, as compared with $15,518.14 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $6,758.49; and the aggregate traffic to date is $296,688.67, being an increase of $95,414.54 over 1881.

Died in Peace.

The Emmerson, Manitoba, Daily International which was a very spicy sheet while it lasted, has given up the ghost. Friend Douglas has come to the conclusion that if he desires to make money, and we have no doubt he does, he will not publish any longer at a loss. The weekly will be published as of yore. The promise is made that when the "Four Corners" are able to support a daily journal the International will be resurrected.

Waterworks.

Although the promoters are making but very little noise about it, the construction of the waterworks is rapidly going on. The pipes for the mains have been shipped from Glasgow, and we have been shown the invoice. We hope to see the works in operation before many months pass.

T. V. C.

The Gazette says that Mr. Belcher, of Peterborough, arrived at Fenelen Falls, on Friday, and on Monday morning commenced work with his assistants laying out the route of the canal which will run along Water street between the grove and the river. It is generally understood that ground will be broken as soon as Mr. Belcher's preliminaries are completed, and, if so, we may expect to see a strong force of navvies diligently wielding picks and shovels within a period that may now be counted by days.

Confederation Life Association.

We have before us the tenth annual report of this association, and it cannot prove otherwise than highly satisfactory to those holding its policies. While the new business of the year and the nett income shows a large increase, the death claims have been very light, proving that great care has been exercised by the company's officials in selecting them. As this company is conducted upon the mutual principal these satisfactory results are shared in by all its policy holders, and as a consequence the large sum of $161,714.30 has been or is now about to be paid to them out of the operations of the last twelve months, and making a total $1,058,612 returned to its policy holders during the ten years this company has been in operation. But this is not all. The policy holders not only have ninty per cent of the profits divided among them, but they have what is of first importance to those insuring their lives, the security of a subscribed stock of $1,000,000 of which $80,000 is now paid up, which ought to be as good a guarentee as it is possible to obtain outside of a government one.

IN THE SPRING of the year almost every one requires a good Blood Purifier, more especially in the month of May. We would earnestly advise our readers to try Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. A few doses will soon convince you that it is the best remedy known for affections of the stomach, Bowels, Liver and Kidneys. In large bottles at 50 cents. J. D. Tully, Agent.

Entertainment.

Our readers should not forget the entertainment to-night at Bradburn's Hall for the benefit of the Sunday School fund of St. John's church. There has been much pains taken in getting up the various tableaux and charades, and those who attend will be well entertained.

THE CONTENTED MAN, Who is He?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1882.

EAST PETERBOROUGH.

W. E. Roxburgh, of Norwood, the Blake Candidate.

At a meeting of the supporters of the Liberal party held at Norwood on Tuesday last, Mr. W. E. Roxburgh of that village was nominated to contest East Peterborough at the approaching election for the House of Commons, in the interest of Mr. Blake. We clip the following report of Mr. Roxburgh's speech in accepting the nomination from the Globe of Wednesday :—

"Mr. Roxburgh then came forward, and being received with applause again and again repeated, proceeded to deliver in his best style a stirring address. He referred to the present as being the most important and critical era in the history of the country, and one that demanded the utmost exertion of every Reformer, to endeavour to retain the rights and privileges won by nearly half a century of hard fighting in the cause of constitutional government. He referred tersely, but tellingly, to the manner in which the present Government had manipulated our magnificent North-West possessions, by which a wide avenue had been opened to land speculators, greatly to the detriment of the true interests of Canada, and the retarding of the settlement of the country. The Boundary Award and the National Policy were briefly alluded to, one as an outrage and insult to Ontario, and the other as a gigantic fraud, through whose operations the interests of the few were promoted to the injury of the many. The whole policy of the Government ignored the true interests of the country, and was calculated chiefly for the aggrandizement of the party and their retention in power at whatever cost. He concluded by accepting the nomination as heartily as it had been tendered, and pledged himself to use every legitimate means in his power, and to spare no reasonable personal exertion and sacrifice to carry the banner of Reform triumphantly to victory, whenever the day of contest came."

Mr. Roxburgh's acceptance was followed by the passing of a string of resolutions, which we presume are intended to define the platform upon which he purposes to appeal to the electors,—at any rate we hope so, as they are just the kind of resolutions which any friend of the Dominion Government would desire to fight.

THE Globe has the cool effrontory in reference to a suggestion that the Reformers should gerrymander Ontario for the Local Legislature, to say that "Mr. Mowat is much too honest and high-minded to be guily tof such a deed." Why, Mr. Mowat in 1874 added six members and cut up over thirty constituencies to secure a party advantage, and did this with utter disregard to population. He has gerrymandered Ontario already.

"I keep that wonderful medicine, St. Jacobs Oil, both at my home and office, and esteem it, without any exception, the most efficacious remedy in the world for rheumatism, etc.," says Supt. O'Neill, of the Dominion Police, Ottawa, Canada.
